Our dear love has too soon passed
Beyond our present sight...
Has left us and the world we know
Without his radiant light.
But we know that like a candle
His lovely light does shine
And brightens up another place
More perfect... more divine.
And in the realm of heaven
Where he shines so warm and bright
Our loved one lives forevermore
In God's eternal light.

My sons and I wish to thank our wonderful neighbors on Henrick Drive, our church family at Maple Grove, Pastor Don Matthews, Lynn and Carol Newman, and numerous friends and co-workers for their continuing expressions of love and concern. May God bless you, for you are such a blessing!

ROSE TO PERFORM -- The Frostburg State University Campus Activities Board is sponsoring singer and performer Jennifer Rose on Tuesday, Feb. 8, at 8 p.m. in the lounge of the University's Lane Center. Rose has been described as "clear, gentle, touching and pure." Her versatility includes the western ballad, a moving sacred hymn, a patriotic tune, and an operatic aria. This performance is free and open to the public. A 1992 graduate of Berea College in Kentucky, Rose received a bachelor's degree in music and performed with and for a variety of college singing groups and organizations. She has danced and sung folk music with the Berea College Country Dancers in Japan and Denmark and throughout the Eastern United States. Her albums feature traditional ballads and hymns of Appalachia, all-time favorite hymns and carols, and cowboy songs. For more information, persons may call the Lane Center Information Desk at (301) 689-4411.

Program Saves Some $8 Million In Prescriptions

Nelson J. Sabatini, secretary of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH), has announced that a computerized system for processing prescriptions for Medical Assistance (Medicaid) and Pharmacy Assistance recipients has saved the state nearly $8 million in its first year of operation by detecting whether prescriptions are being re-filled too early or are duplicates.

"The system works by preventing fraud and abuse and also alerts pharmacists that a patient is taking something else that might interact with the prescribed medication," said Sabatini. "It can also tell if a patient is not taking enough of their medicine for it to be effective."

The "Point of Sale and Prospective Drug Utilization Review" links all Maryland pharmacies that fill Medicaid prescriptions into a computer system operated by First Health Services Corporation of Richmond, Va.

When recipients submit prescriptions to be filled, the pharmacist can check the computer system for the patient's prescription history. "Point of Sale" also speeds up the time it takes to process claims so that the pharmacists are paid more quickly. "This program forms partnerships between patients and pharmacists in better monitoring their health and preventing dangerous drug interactions," said Governor William Donald Schaefer. "This is especially significant for the elderly who often are required to take a number of prescription drugs."

The $8 million savings represents about seven percent of the cost of the Medical Assistance pharmacy program and the state's Pharmacy Assistance program, which pays for prescription drugs for low-income people not eligible for Medical Assistance.

Rams Lose Again To Allegany, But Defeat Keyser, Frankfort

For the second time in a week, the Southern High boys' varsity took it on the chin from the undefeated Allegany, losing to the Campers 65-39 in Oakland Saturday night. But then Coach Tom Bosley's team came back to record an 83-75 victory over host Keyser and a 50-49 defeat of Frankfort last night on the Falcons' court. The Rams are now 8-5 and will face a difficult test Friday night at Northern.

As in the first game with Allegany just the previous Saturday night, the unbeaten Campers proved to be just too powerful for the Rams as the game progressed. Southern was once again competitive in the first quarter and trailed by just five points, 20-15, at its end. But the Campers poured it on in the second quarter to take a commanding 45-25 advantage by halftime. They led 53-31 after three periods and easily recorded their 19th straight win.

Four Campers finished in double figures, with D.J. Jessie and Jake Deremer netting 14 points each, Michael Fields hitting 12, and Denny Salas contributing 10.

None of the Rams managed to reach double figures. Jeremy Sanders led the team with nine points, while Brian Reams, Mark Dawson, and Doug Copeland each finished with six.

"Allegany (13-0) played harder tonight than any other time I have seen them this year," stated Southern Coach Tom Bosley. "They just out-manned us."

One bright spot of the evening for Southern fans was the result of the preliminary game, which was an easy 52-28 victory for the Southern junior varsity over the Allegany jayvees. Jim Pampelinto and Scott Shahan led the Rams in scoring with 11 and 10 points, respectively, while Eric An-draws and Colby Ellsworth each scored nine points to pace the Campers.

The cold shooting of the Rams came to an end Tuesday night in their win over Keyser, as they jumped out to a 26-9 lead by the end of the first quarter. The Golden Tornado rallied in the second quarter to cut Southern's lead to a single point, 31-30, by halftime, but the Rams out-scored the home team in the third period, 28-16, to take a 59-46 lead into the final quarter.

Mark Elliott had one of his best games of the season, as he pumped in a team-high 23 points. Dawson was close behind with 19 points, Reams finished with 18, and Brian Carlson scored 10.

Keyser also produced some hot shooting, hitting 13 buckets from three-point range. Chad Wilt, who led all scorers with his 27 points, hit seven long shots, while Eli Rhodes, who finished with 23 points, nailed the other six three-pointers. The loss dropped the Rams to 4-7.

In the preliminary game the Southern jayvees edged the Keyser junior varsity, 43-41, to record their seventh win in 10 games. Shahan paced the Rams' scoring with 13 points.

Last night's contest with Frankfort went right down to the wire, as the lead exchanged hands on numerous occasions and the score remained within a few points from the opening tip-off.

The Falcons (6-6) led 12-8 at the end of the first period, Southern was on top 21-19 at halftime, and the score was tied at 31-31 after three periods. But the Rams made good on their free throws down the stretch to secure the win.

Brian Reams and Mark Elliott finished with 14 points each to lead Southern's offense, while John Long scored 14 points, Todd Perito netted 13, and Jason Renotas scored 10 for the Falcons.

Following the Northern game this Friday, the Rams are slated to host Westmar next Tuesday.

Huskies Keep On Winning, Whip Union And Salisbury

The Northern High boys' varsity is on a roll, as the Huskies won their ninth and 10th games of the season this week and stretched their winning streak to eight straight.

Coach Harv Speicher's team defeated Union Friday evening in double overtime, 77-70, at Mt. Storm and then topped host Salisbury last night, 64-52. The Huskies, who have dropped just two contests this season, will play again this Friday night at home against a strong Southern High team.

Five Huskies finished in double figures against Union on Friday, with Derek Mason leading the way with 14 points.

Northern held a 14-11 lead at the end of the first quarter before falling behind and staying behind until the fourth period. The Tigers led by three, 29-26, at halftime and were up 43-35 at the end of the third quarter.

The Northern offense caught fire in the final regulation period and outscored the home team, 20-12, to knot the score at 55-55 and send the contest into overtime.

Each team scored nine points in the first overtime period. A shot at the buzzer by Union's Denny Kosanic forced the second overtime with the score tied at 64-64.

The Huskies won the contest at the foul line, particularly in the second overtime period, when they converted nine of 13 attempts. They finished with a 22-for-31 effort at the free throw line, compared to an 18-for-26 performance by the Tigers. Six players, three from each side, fouled out of the game, as 53 personals were called by the officials.

Joining Mason in double figures for the Huskies were Bill Younkun and Rob Speicher with 13 points

Food For Thought

by
Chef Francesco Pisano
McClives Restaurant

Where do gingerbread men live? Why, in little houses made of graham crackers "glued" together with confectioner's icing! Use one square per side of a house, trimmed to support a peaked roof made of more crackers. Great centerpiece for a dessert bash or a kid's party!

Broccoli is more than "just okay" when it's tossed in Oriental sesame oil and lemon juice before serving.

Fast soup in the microwave: cut up 4 cups vegetables into 1/2-inch dice, plus an 8-ounce diced potato. Add 2 cups water, salt and pepper and a small sliced onion, micro-cook on high for 20 to 25 minutes. Puree in the blender, add a cup of milk and reheat until hot.

To decorate a party pie, roll out the top crust, then cut out stars or other designs with a cookie cutter.

Easy for a crowd: mix together 1/4 cup or more dijon mustard with lots of salt and pepper, rosemary, thyme and minced garlic or garlic powder. Smear all over cut-up chicken. Let stand an hour, then bake 45 minutes to an hour at 350 degrees.

The meal's terrific...and we do the dishes!

IN LOVING MEMORY OF

12/26/86 - 2/4/91

Dear Little Precious,

The memory of that dreadful day

Will never go away.

Without a warning TJ was no longer here.

Our baby, our darling whom we love so dear.

Today marks three long years.

Yet we still shed tears.

Our family is no longer whole.

We lost a precious baby, a special soul.

Our lives have never been the same.

Yet our loss is heaven's gain.

Loved and sadly missed,

An-Pop, An-Mom, Aunt Lavine, Aunt Autumn,

In the Huskies' crushing of Westmar Monday night, seven Northern grapplers won on pins, including Hordubay, Brandon Baumgardner (140), Green, Bowser, D.J. Durst (160), Collins, and Steve Savage. Geis was a winner via technical fall and Burdock and Jason Savage (171) were forfeit victors.

The only pin for the Wildcats (2-6) was recorded by Louie Kitzmiller in the 130-pound bout. Howard Wilhelm (119) and Aaron Wilson (135) were decision winners.

Ram Matmen Mash Morgantown Before Topping Keyser, Westmar

The Southern High School wrestling team captured three straight wins in dual meet competition this past week, recording a 41-23 victory over Morgantown High last Thursday, a 42-24 defeat of Keyser on Tuesday, and a 54-16 drubbing of Westmar last night. All three matches were held on the Southern mats.

One pin, three decisions, and four forfeits accounted for the Rams' points against Morgantown last Thursday evening.

Nathan Rickman, a freshman who normally wrestles at 119, pinned Jason Lint in just 52 seconds in the 125-pound bout. Jason Burgess (130), Pete Strawser (145), and Kevin Andrews (152) won decisions for the Rams, while Paul Tepper (103), Jack Kight (171), Sonny Livengood (189), and Wes Robinette (heavyweight) all won on forfeits.

John Hayes (119), Brian Friend (140), and Homero Castanier (160) won on pins for Morgantown.

Coach Dan Clark's squad recorded five pins and a pair of decisions Tuesday night against the Golden Tornado of Keyser, a team that finished second in the recent Potomac Valley Conference Tournament. The Rams had placed fourth in the PVC tourney.

Burgess, Strawser, Dave Crocco (160), Livengood, and Hinebaugh were all pin

Lakers Upset Owls, Edged By Howard, Top CCAC-South

A big 87-83 upset win over host Prince George's Community College, ranked eighth nationally, on Saturday, a three-point loss (91-88) to nationally ranked Howard CC on Sunday, and a 76-67 defeat of host CCAC-South last night were the results of three games this past week involving the Garrett Community College Lakers, who are now 16-4 on the season.

Wes Tubbs led the Lakers in scoring Saturday against the Owls of Prince George's CC, who had yet to lose a JUCO contest this season. Tubbs finished with a game-high 30 points with seven field goals and eight of nine free throws, and was one of four Lakers to finish in double figures. He also pulled down 12 rebounds.

The Lakers enjoyed leads of 12 points twice during the first half and were on top by that many at intermission, 37-25. They maintained an arm's-length lead throughout the second half, but got careless and almost gave the game away in the final moments, as they committed three straight turnovers with less than two minutes remaining. The Owls took advantage of those turnovers to cut the Lakers' lead to one point, 77-76.

A key jump shot by Shane Scott, followed by a bucket by Tubbs off an assist by George Hilton put Garrett CC (87)

Jermaine Jones 1-2-3, Kenny Gross 0-3-4, Jason Breneman 2-0-4, Wes Tubbs 7-8-30, Shane Scott 4-5-15, Oliver Jones 5-0-10, Troy Sexton 3-2-29, George Hilton 3-7-10. Totals: 29-26-34 87.

Prince George's (83) Darn Beering 2-5-10, Jamal Hamesley 6-14-15, Rico Boardley 0-0-0, Chris Jackson 1-0-2, Reggie Frisby 8-3-24, Everett Scott 1-0-2, Dwight Drake 7-0-14, George Jones 2-0-4, Romeo Roach 0-2-2, Kareem Bolden 3-3-4 10. Totals: 30-14-19 83.

Halftime score: GCC 37, Prince George's 25.

Three-point goals: PG 9 (Beering, 1 Hamesley, 2 Frisby, 5 Bolden), GCC 3 (Scott, 2 Sexton). Total fouls: GCC 14, PG 23. Fouled out: none.

the Lakers back up by five, 81-76. They concluded their scoring and wrapped up the win by converting six of their final eight free throws.

Also reaching double figures for Garrett were Scott with 15 points, Hilton with 13 points and four blocked shots, and Oliver Jones with 10 points.

Reggie Frisby paced PG's scoring with 24 points, Jamal Hamesley finished with 15, Dwight Drake netted 14, and Darrin Beering scored 10.

The loss dropped the Owls to 12-4 overall and 7-1 in the JUCO standings.

"We played a great game with the exception of the last few minutes," stated GCC Coach Dennis Gibson. "Wes (Tubbs) had a super game for us, and Scott hit the crucial bucket when we needed it near the end."

The Lakers also played well Sunday at Howard CC, as they kept pace with their hosts, ranked sixth in the nation in Division III. A 29-for-37 effort at the foul line was among the Lakers' highlights.

Howard was on top at halftime, 47-42, and held on down the stretch for the win, as the Lakers outscored them in the second half, 46-44.

Tubbs led four Lakers in double figures, as he finished with 17 points. Scott and Oliver Jones each scored 16 points and Kenny Gross added 11. Tubbs and Jermaine Jones pulled down 11 and 10 rebounds, respectively.

Kamau Street and Randolph Edison paced Howard with 22 and 21 points, respectively, while D. Johnson finished with 18.

CCAC-South was riding a seven-game win streak coming into last night's game against the Lakers, who held the host team to just two points in the final two and a half minutes to secure the win.

The contest was close

RACKING UP POINTS this week for the Garrett Community College Lakers were #34, Wes Tubbs, pictured above left in a game Sunday against nationally ranked Howard Community College. Tubbs finished with 17 points in that game, after recording 30 points in an upset win over Prince George's CC, also nationally ranked, on Saturday.

At right, Troy Sexton puts up two against the PG Owls, while #40 Oliver Jones prepares to go after the rebound in the event Sexton's shot doesn't fall. The Lakers recorded a 76-67 win over CCAC-South last night and are currently 16-4 on the season.

Northern Girls Win Three More; Record Now 10-3

The Northern High School girls' varsity upped its season mark to 10-3 this past week by recording three more victories.

The Huskies defeated host Salisbury on Saturday, 47-37, whipped Mount Savage on Monday, 53-39, on the Indians' court, and then embarrassed host Hyndman Tuesday evening, 67-18.

The Huskies struggled in the first half against Salisbury on Saturday, as they trailed 11-6 at the end of the first quarter and were down 22-18 at halftime. But they took control in the third quarter, both offensively and defensively, to out-score the Elks in the period, 18-1, and take a commanding 36-23 lead into the final stanza.

Lisa Stephens led the third-quarter charge as she scored 10 of her game-high 19 points in that period. Laura Swartzwelder recorded 11 points and Ellida Schofield, who grabbed 15 rebounds and had five steals, chipped in with eight points. Michele McCarty dished out five assists.

Leading the Elks' offense was Jessica Robertson, who scored all 12 of her points in the first half. Jill Benning finished with nine points.

The Northern junior varsity team improved its season record to 7-2 by winning the preliminary game, 34-20, over the Salisbury jayvees. Mindy McCarty scored 10 points to pace the Huskies, while Jen McKenzie netted six to lead the Elks.

The Huskies took control of Monday's game at Mt. Savage in the opening moments, as they jumped out to a 22-10 lead by the end of the first period.

Northern led 34-22 at halftime and was up by 21 points, 47-26, by the end of the third quarter.

Stephens and Schofield led Northern's scoring with 13 and 12 points, respec-

Southern Girls Win Ninth By Edging Campers

The Southern High School girls' varsity raised its record to 9-3 last night with a 48-43 defeat of host Allegany.

The contest was close from the opening tipoff, with the Rams moving out to a 14-6 lead, Allegany cutting the margin to three points, 21-18, by halftime, and the Rams trailing by two, 32-20, after three periods. The lead changed hands at least a dozen times.

Southern performed well at the foul line, particularly in the fourth quarter, to seal the win. The Rams hit 14 of 20 free throws, while the Campers were nine-for-11.

Carrie Newcomb led the Rams in scoring with 16 points, while Josie Coviello finished with 13.

Leading all scorers was Allegany's Becca Wagoner, who hit 18 points, grabbed 10 rebounds, and blocked five shots. Jennifer Knieriem scored 12 points and pulled 13 rebounds.

The Southern junior varsity coasted to victory in the preliminary game, whipping the Camper jayvees, 44-22.

Coach Don Stemple's Rams will do battle with the 10-2 Northern Huskies this Saturday evening and host Mt. Savage on Monday.

Garrett Women Defeat ACC, Lose To Hagerstown, Harford

Behind a 26-point scoring effort by Michele Duling, the Garrett Community College women's basketball team topped arch rival Allegany CC last Thursday night in McHenry, 71-60.

Duling, who was leading the nation in scoring in Division III last week, recorded only 12 points Saturday night, however, as the Lakers dropped a 72-51 decision to host Hagerstown Junior College. She then poured in 27 points Tuesday at Bel Air, but the Lakers were edged in the game by Harford Community College, 56-54.

The results left Coach Dennis Gibson's squad with a 4-4 record, a mark which they will attempt to improve this evening at Frederick CC.

Against the ACC Trojans, the Lakers were ahead by three points early in the first half before the visitors went on an 11-0 run to take a 19-11 advantage. The Lakers responded with a 13-point surge to take a 24-19 lead and were on top 33-26 at halftime.

ACC came back early in the second half to tie the score at 37 apiece, but the Lakers pulled away again and never trailed in that half. The Trojans cut the margin to five points, 65-60, with 1:30 left in the game. But Duling scored five of the Lakers' last six points to secure the victory.

Also reaching double figures for Garrett were Missy LaRue with 14 points and Danna Friend with 10. Dawn DeShong finished with nine points, while Keisha Slayton led in rebounds with five. Duling was also credited with 10 of the Lakers' 16 assists and six of the team's 11 steals.

Tina Smith, Amy Beeman, and Traci Lawson each recorded 12 points to pace the Trojans' scoring. Lawson also grabbed a game-high 11 rebounds, as ACC out-rebounded the Lakers, 42-27. The loss dropped ACC to 1-10.

The Lakers stayed close to the Hawks of Hagerstown JC on Saturday, trailing by eight points at the half, 28-20. But the home team pulled away in the second half to record the easy win.

Wanda Swartzwelder paced Garrett's scoring with 16 points, while Duling

In Tuesday's game at Harford, the Lakers trailed by as many as 14 points in the first half before cutting the home team's advantage to seven points, 31-24, by halftime.

Garrett utilized a man-to-man defense effectively in the second half and tied the score at 52-52 on a bucket by Cara Wachter with just 30 seconds left in the game. Harford responded with a basket and then Duling tied the score again with a shot from the top of the key.

The Lakers had an opportunity to win the game with just four seconds left, but was called for a walk on the inbound pass and Paula Beaubutte, who finished with 26 points, hit a shot at the buzzer to give Harford the win.

Duling was the only Laker to reach double figures with her 27 points. Jan Chasta scored 14 for Harford.

In the back row are Elks Dave Switzer, Mark Grimm, Lin Gonder (coordinator), and Dave Ringer. The six winners advance to the District Finals, to be held in Hagerstown this Saturday. The Elks' Hoop Shoot is now in its 22nd year of national competition. Over three million youth are expected to participate this year.

Bernard Returns To National Racing Circuit

Pro stock bike veteran Jim Bernard of McHenry, who sat out the 1993 season, will return to the sport in 1994 as John Myers teammate on George Bryce's Star Racing Team. Bernard will ride the Suzuki GSXR motorcycle that Star Racing owner Bryce rode at several NHRA national events last season.

"I wanted to continue with the two-bike program in 1994 because we learned a lot, but riding the bike diluted my ability to get John down the track as quickly as we possibly could," said Bryce. "I think Jim is the right man for the job. He's a great rider, and he will make the Star Racing team stronger. We can learn a lot from each other, and I'm really looking forward to it."

Bernard already has had a fitting for the bike at Star Racing's Americus, Ga., workshop and began riding in mid-January in a major pre-season testing program. Sessions are planned at Gainesville Raceway in Florida and Houston Raceway Park in Texas.

THINK OF GROWING FLOWERS AND VEGETABLES

For many people the happiest time of the winter is when they sit by a warm fire and scan flower and vegetable catalogs. Have you noticed that the catalog companies seem to know all about that? Growing flowers, fruits and vegetables does something for us money cannot buy. It is work, but during January and February the labor seems a long way off. Of course we envision our crop to look at least as good as the picture in the magazine. We can come very close if we inform ourselves exactly how to do it. Not from someone who has something to sell, but from a reliable source that is unbiased and understands the quality of research.

Some people prefer starting seeds themselves and then transplant them to the garden. Too often the transplants are spindly and by the time they establish themselves in the garden soil, they are far behind other plants defeating the purpose of starting plants yourself. Other than having ripe produce earlier, people also have a loyalty to certain plant varieties which are hard to find in stores.

A variety of containers are available to start your plants in. Slower growing plants (tomato, pepper, cabbage, broccoli), may be started in small containers or trays and then transferred to larger ones, however, this procedure exposes the small plants to transplant shock and does take extra time for the gardener.

Cucumbers, muskmelon, squash, and pumpkin plants grow fast and may be started in a container large enough for the mature plant. Peat pots or pellets, fiber blocks, plastic pots and trays and a variety of household containers may all be used to start your plants in. The container does not matter as much as the ability of excess water to drain through the bottom.

If regular, unsterilized soil is used to start the plants you may see other seeds sprout and nematodes, fungi and bacteria may give the plants problems. Commercial soil mixes are made of peat moss, vermiculite, pine bark and other organic materials. Nutrients may be added, but read the label carefully to know for sure. Pure vermiculite has low fertility and plants started in it will need to be transplanted soon after sprouting.

Seedlings will not need light until they emerge from the medium. Six hours of direct sunlight are ideal, but few of us can provide that to our growing plants. Artificial light is a good substitute. Place 40-watt fluorescent tubes 6-8 inches above the tops of the plants. Combining this light with some window light will give good results. Turn lights off and on at the same time each day.

Crops that can tolerate frost germinate at temperatures between 45 and 90 degrees F and should be grown at 60 to 70 degrees F during the day and 50 degrees F at night. Vegetables that are susceptible to frost germinate at 70 to 90 degrees F, should be grown at 70 to 75 degrees F during the day and 60 at night.

Water plants only when needed, add fertilizer only if needed. As with house plants, over watering promotes diseases and poor root growth.

Diseases affecting your starter plants often are caused by fungi and molds, DAMPING OFF is probably the most common disease. Fungi attack the plant near the soil level, when the stem collapses, the plant falls over and dies. Using a soilless growing medium and watering less, so the medium can dry between watering, will reduce this problem. Peat pots and other organic materials sometimes develop a brown or white mold. However, this does not cause a plant problem and careful watering will minimize this growth. Nobody who uses tobacco should thoroughly wash their hands before handling tomato and pepper plants. These plants are susceptible to the tobacco mosaic virus.

Plants should be hardened before transplanting them outdoors. Do not let them grow too large, tomato and pepper plants should be about 6-8 inches tall; cucumber and related vine crops should have their second true leaf. Remove any flowers before moving the plant. Also, read the back of the seed packet for helpful suggestions. Reduce temperatures and moisture or expose the plant slowly to outdoor conditions for 7 to 10 days.

Plants should be hardened before transplanting them outdoors. Do not let them grow too large, tomato and pepper plants should be about 6-8 inches tall;

The time between starting seeds and having them ready to transplant outdoors varies greatly with the plants' needs and the conditions under which they are grown. The following are approximate times.

2-3 weeks: cucumber, muskmelon, pumpkin, squash, and watermelon.

5-7 weeks: tomato, head lettuce, broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, and brussels sprouts.

6-8 weeks: eggplant and pepper.

 Q. My son wants to collect Hot Wheels. Is there any future?
 A. Mattel makes over 40 million Hot Wheels each year. The 1/64th-scale cars are sold in over 100 countries. The first Hot Wheels were made in 1968 and 16 different models were made that year. In the past 25 years, over 560 different models have been made and each model has been made in several colors.
 Age, rarity and condition help determine the price. It is said that the very rare car called the "Beach Bomb" sold for $1,000. Many of the early cars have sold for $300 but most of them are worth much less. Look for cars with red lines around the tires; they were made before 1977. The date stamped on the bottom of a car is a copyright date and it is only an indication of the year the first car of that design was made. Your car may have been made later. Special cars that promote an event, product, or cars with wild paint styles and NASCAR models are in demand.
 Collecting can be educational. Your son will learn to do research, organize material and work within the law of supply and demand. There are many collectors of automotive toys, and prices have gone up.
 Q. How was a mote spoon used?
 A. It is often difficult to understand the use of an antique because today's lifestyles are so different. Imagine trying to explain a flashlight battery to a person who had only used candles. The mote spoon was first made in the 17th century. It resembles a teaspoon but it has a longer pointed handle and the bowl of the spoon is perforated so it could be a type of strainer.
 We first learned that mote spoons were used with teasets. The pointed end was used to loosen the tea leaves that became stuck in the holes at the base of the spout. The spoon bowl served as a skimmer to remove the loose leaves that were floating in the tea. Now experts think the spoon was used to scoop up dry tea leaves to put in the pot before the water was added. In the 18th century, the tea leaves often came with bits of foreign material and lots of dust. The mote spoon bowl could be filled with leaves, then tapped lightly to strain out the dust and small insects.

DINE OUT WITHOUT FEAR: I'm starting a new feature in how you can dine out and still eat healthfully. Some of the most healthful cuisines are among the world's finest. That includes Italian, Mexican, Chinese, Japanese and the cuisine that has set the standards for fine dining for centuries, French. I'll talk to restaurateurs about the healthful aspects of their foods.

This week, Robert Treboux, owner of the perennially trendy Le Veau D'Or in Manhattan, makes the case for fine French dining.

"I am not surprised that the health authorities now recognize that you can dine both well and healthfully on French food. Some say it's the red wine, if you take it in moderation. But it's more than that. We believe in using fresh foods whenever possible. This ensures that both taste and nutrients are at their best when the food is freshest. Most people who do not experience fine French cooking are surprised to learn that we use a lot of vegetables. And, of course, we love our bread, and now everyone is saying how important it is to have bread in the diet. Also, we believe that there is more to eating than simply taking food into the body. We believe that it's good for you to be relaxed when you dine, and it's especially nice to dine with people you enjoy being with. You should feel that the meal is an experience to enjoy to the fullest."

Home Tips

SQUEEZE PLAY — Do the toothpaste tubes that won't roll up as you use them bug you? Try putting a paper clamp on the bottom after each turn. It works for me! June M., Torrington, Wyo.

PICTURE THIS — A lot of articles are hard to find in the larger stores. I always take along a picture of what I'm looking for that I've cut from the newspaper or ad insert. If I need a rain check, all the information is right there for the clerk to note.

There are a awful lot of nice, helpful clerks and managers in these stores. Yolanda R., Fort Worth, Texas CHARITY TIP — The holidays may be over but there are still a lot of people who are homeless and need our help. One easy way to do this is by using coupons. Some stores offer "Buy one, get one free" coupons. If you don't need the extra something, turn it over to the local food bank. Also, when there are great specials, buy extra and help the needy. Thelma M., Norwalk, Conn.

MAKING SCENTS — I recently heard that if you cut an orange in half, scoop out the pulp and fill it with salt, it would act as an air freshener. I substituted a lemon for the orange and was really surprised at how well it worked. It has the nicest citrus scent and it only costs pennies. Gina S., Palm City, Fla.

WITHIN REACH — I have two paper-towel dispensers. In one I put the thin cheaper towels for small cleanup jobs and in the other, I put the thicker towels for big cleanups. It saves quite a bit each month. Donna B., Middletown, N.Y.

Local CPA Firm Earns High Marks In Peer Review

Rodeheaver & Associates, an Oakland-based accounting firm, was recently notified that it has successfully completed an independent peer review of its accounting and auditing practice. The review was conducted by a team of specially trained CPAs from outside the western Maryland geographic area under guidelines established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. The reviewers concluded that the firm complies with the stringent quality control standards set by the AICPA.

Peer reviews are required for membership in the Private Companies Practice Section of the AICPA's Division for CPA Firms. The division is a voluntary self-regulatory organization of firms established to promote quality performance within the public accounting profession. Rodeheaver & Associates has been a member of the PCPS since 1984 and is committed to providing quality services to its clients, according to Randle Rodeheaver, managing partner in the firm. PCPS members are required to adhere to the highest standards of quality control within the accounting profession.

In evaluating the firm, the reviewers made an independent assessment of the firm's quality control policies and procedures and inspected the working papers and reports on a representative sample of accounting and auditing engagements. They also inspected the firm's administrative files and interviewed professional staff. In its evaluation, among other things, the reviewers considered the firm's hiring practices, the adequacy of staff supervision and professional training as it relates to the firm's industry concentrations.

For bankers, attorneys and general business people in need of CPA services, peer review reports provide an objective and comprehensive summary that can be used in selecting and evaluating a CPA firm. The firm's report has been placed in the public files of the Division for CPA Firms. A free copy of the firm's peer review report can be obtained from the firm or from the Division Coordinator, AICPA Division for CPA Firms, Harborside Financial Center, 201 Plaza Three, Jersey City, NJ 07311-3881.

Rodeheaver also announced that all of the firm's professional staff completed in excess of 40 hours of continuing professional education in 1993. These courses are designed to supplement on-the-job experience and expose staff members to new concepts and techniques for further improvements of client services. In the area of taxation, staff members attended courses in corporate and partnership taxation, individual income tax update, divorce taxation, income taxation of estates and trusts, nonprofit taxation, employment laws, IRS offers in compromise, and state taxes. In the area of accounting and auditing, staff members attended courses in single audit and sampling considerations for governmental audits, understanding the construction industry and financial reporting, accounting principles and financial statements for homeowners associations, compliance auditing, audits of student financial assistance programs, and governmental and non-profit financial reporting updates.

The firm's offices are located at 6000 Thayer Center, Oakland, and 315 Second Street, Parsons, W.Va.

Grant To Reduce Hazards Of Lead Paint Awarded

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced this week that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) was awarded $6 million from HUD's Lead Paint Hazard Reduction Grant Program.

"Maryland is clearly one of the nation's leaders in identifying lead paint hazards," said Gov. Schaefer. "We are also in the forefront when dealing with the removal of lead-based paint and treating lead poisoned children."

"This HUD grant will allow us to deliver prompt results and obtain important knowledge about cost effective lead paint reduction techniques," said DHCD Secretary Jacqueline Rogers. "We will also provide intensive tenant education about lead paint poisoning and continue to make advances in the testing of lead sick children in Maryland."

DHCD will use this grant to reduce lead-based hazards in 600 units of low income, privately-owned rental developments. Every attempt will be made to undertake projects in each region of the state. Rental developments will be selected in areas with the most pressing and acute needs. All property owners participating in this reduction plan must endorse a management agreement that insures that tenants are educated about the dangers of lead paint poisoning and how to reduce the hazards of this critical problem.

Within DHCD, the lead agency will be the Community Development Administration (CDA), the state's housing finance agency. CDA will work closely with the Maryland Department of the Environment to institute a three level approach to lead paint reduction. Part of this three level approach will include intensive cleaning with phosphate detergents, wet scraping of deteriorating paint, repainting, replacing windows, enclosing walls with gypsum board and clearance testing.

Amateur Radio Training Classes Are Scheduled

The Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Service (GCARES) will sponsor training classes for any person interested in amateur radio. Sessions will begin at 7 p.m. every Friday at the community service meeting room adjacent to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

There is no charge for the classes, and all interested persons are welcome to attend. A spokesperson for GCARES noted that the training sessions may be of particular interest to beginners.

GCARES is a non-profit group of area radio operators dedicated to serving emergency communication needs upon the request of proper authorities. The club, organized in October 1992, currently has 20 licensed operators and 10 associate members. The group maintains a club repeater with an antenna height of 3,020 feet, which makes communication into neighboring states available.

The spokesperson explained that a repeater phone patch allows the licensed radio operators to access 911 in emergency situations as well as regular local seven-digit telephone numbers. The site also monitors the National Weather Service continuously.

The GCARES regular club meeting is held on the first Friday of each month at the community service meeting room. All persons interested in obtaining an FCC license or those who wish to upgrade their license are encouraged to attend. For more information, persons may contact Jim McRobie Sr. at 334-2864, or Don Friend at 334-2604.

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

The Floor Store

Grantsville's newest business is The Floor Store, owned and operated by Paul and Maryanna Durst. Located on North Pennsylvania Avenue, the store will specialize in sales and installation of both residential and commercial flooring - carpeting as well as hard surfaced flooring such as vinyl, tile and ceramic.

Durst has been in the flooring business for 23 years. He worked at Masts, starting as an installer helper, and working his way up to sales and management. His two experienced installers, Greg Miller of Springs, Pa., and Chuck Norris of Meyersdale, Pa., were also former flooring mechanics at Masts.

A native of Garrett County, Durst still lives in Grantsville with his family. His wife, Maryanna works with him in the shop. Their son, Andrew, is a junior at Frostburg State University, and their daughter, Melinda, is a senior at Northern High School.

Durst says that he has been involved with the people of the area for a lot of years. "Hopefully, a lot of them will remember me and follow me in my new business," he says. "I'm hoping to be equated with 'value for the dollar' and as a 'quality oriented' store." He adds that he wants to help his customers meet their flooring needs and desires within their budget.

He actively keeps up with fast paced changes in the carpet industry, and considers himself a carpet counselor. "I like to steer the customer to the flooring product they're hoping to find," Durst says. "We treat installation as a craft - a specialty."

Although the installers are out early, store hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday; and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. Durst says he is also willing to meet with people by appointment. To reach The Floor Store, those interested should call (301) 895-3955.

OVFD Planning 100th; Wants To Borrow Photos

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department is making plans for its 100th anniversary celebration, slated for May of this year. Among those plans is the publication of a commemorative booklet and various exhibits that will be on display at the fire hall during an open house.

The OVFD is in the process of gathering old fire photographs and video material for use in both the booklet and in the displays. Photos and films of past parades, or any other events that involved the Oakland VFD, are also being sought.

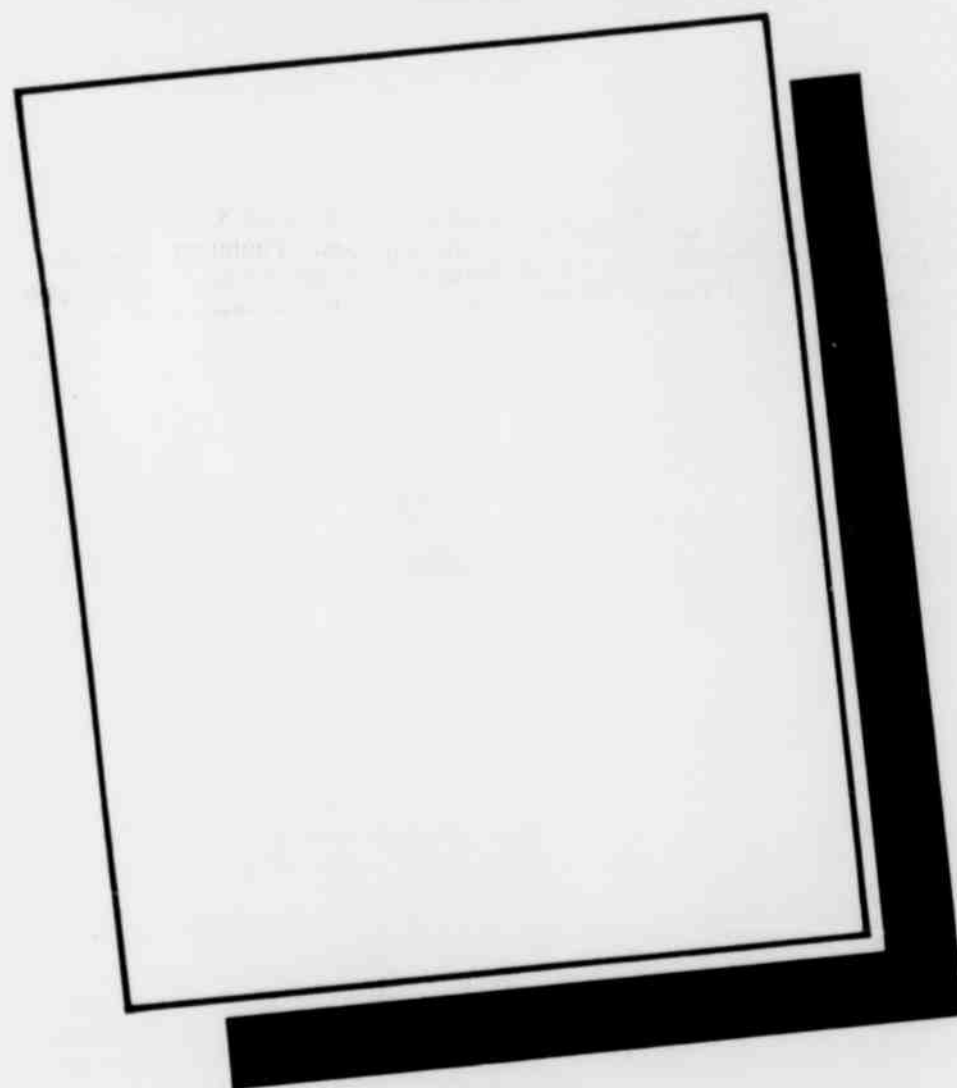

According to a spokesman for the OVFD, all borrowed materials will be copied and promptly returned unharmed. All persons who contribute will have their names posted with their photos at the display.

Anyone having such items and willing to lend them to the organization is asked to contact Ken DeWitt, Jim Feather, Crabtree Photography (334-3344), The Republican newspaper office, or any member of the Oakland VFD.

Annual Dinner, Program Set At Frostburg State

The Eighth Annual St. Valentine's Dinner and Music Program will be held Saturday, February 12, at the Frostburg Church of the Brethren, located on the corner of Beall and Stoyer streets, Frostburg. A sit-down dinner will be served beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Tickets are available from Pastor T. William Preston at 301-689-9476 or Marshall and Lisa Caton at 301-689-3631 for a donation of $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12 years of age. Ticket sales are limited because of seating capacity in the dining hall. A new parking lot is available at the rear of the church.

At 7 p.m. a musical program, open to the public, will be presented with special selections by Marshall Caton and a gospel music concert by the Jubilation Gospel Quartet.

Bachel-Ball Couple To Wed

Kenneth and Dorothy Bachtel of Oakland announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Frances Marie, to Shawn Timothy Ball, son of Juanita and Harvey Hudgens, also of Oakland.

Ms. Bachtel is currently attending Tennessee State University and Volunteer State Community College.

She is majoring in physical therapy. She is employed by Service Merchandise Co.

Mr. Ball is currently employed by Walter Knestrick Contractor, Inc., of Nashville. He is an apprentice carpenter. He is also attending training from Associated Builders and Contractors.

The wedding will take place October 1, 1994, at 1 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House. Invitations will be sent; however, all friends and family are invited to attend.

Schmidt-Rinker Vows Exchanged In May Double-Ring Ceremony

Leona André Schmidt and Dale Travis Rinker were married May 1, 1993, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. The Rev. Robert P. Johnson performed the 4 p.m. candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmidt, Accident. The groom is the son of Dale Rinker, Aurora, and Mrs. Ann Riley, Deer Park.

Organist was Cindy Carr. Mark Bittner, Frostburg, friend of the groom, was the vocalist. He sang, Suddenly, When We Created Love and The Lord's Prayer.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight ivory satin, featuring an illusion yoke, stand-up bridal collar, and a lace applied bodice. A full satin skirt, and a cathedral-length train were highlighted with lace motifs and cut-out appliques. The lace pattern continued through the leg-of-mutton sleeves, and a satin bow enhanced the back waist.

The bride chose a headpiece of rolled satin roses, sequined leaves and shooting pearls, with cathedral-length bridal illusion.

She completed her ensemble with something old, a pair of Black Hills gold earrings, a gift from the groom; something new, a pair of pink ice earrings, a gift from the groom's mother; something borrowed, an antique cameo, pinned to an heirloom handkerchief, from the groom's mother; and a garter for something blue.

She carried a cascading bouquet of azaleas, roses, African violets, gardenias, wedding stars, lilies-of-the-valley, and ivy-accented sequined pearl sprays.

Matron of honor was Wendy Wilhelm, Avilton, friend of the bride. Maid of honor was Jenny Beachy, Grantsville, friend of the bride. They wore pink satin tea-length dresses, covered with black lace, which featured black velvet fitted bodices and pink lace-covered back bows.

Bridesmaids were Jodi Hershberger, Grantsville, Jessica Savage, Hazelton, W.Va., and Jenny Lytle, Friendsville, all friends of the bride. Their burgundy satin dresses were fashioned like those of the matron and maid of honor.

The attendants' gowns were from Iran's fashions in Frostburg. They each wore Australian Crystal earrings, a gift from the bride, and carried ivory lace fans, featuring roses and bows.

Amanda Wood and Rebecca Friend, both from Accident, cousins of the bride, served as flower girls. They wore rose-printed jumpsuits with matching lace-edged, rose-printed shirts and hats. They carried pink baskets, decorated with pink and burgundy ribbons, fashioned by the bride and matron of honor, containing roses, violets and other springtime flowers. All other flowers for the wedding party were fashioned by the Party House, Oakland.

Brandon Lewis, Oakland, nephew of the groom, was the ring bearer.

Best men were David Wildesen, Oakland, friend of the bride and groom, and Andy Schmidt, Accident.

Stoner-Paugh Engagement Noted

Charlie and Loretta Stoner, Oakland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jessica, to David Jason Paugh, son of David Paugh, Deer Park, and Brenda Hayes, Fort Ashby, W.Va.

Miss Stoner is a graduate of Southern High School and is currently employed by the First United National Bank and Trust, Oakland.

Mr. Paugh is also a graduate of Southern and is employed by PCM Construction.

A wedding date has not been set.

THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND -- THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1994 A-15

brother of the bride. Groomsmen were David Conrad, Aurora, and Butch Beaver, Terra Alta, friends of the groom, and Scott Schmidt, Accident, brother of the bride.

The groom and ring bearer wore Bill Blass, high-fashion, full dress tuxedos with tails, satin-covered buttons and notch lapels, ivory-colored shirts, black vests and bow ties. The best men and groomsmen wore similar tuxedos, with coral stained-glass cummerbunds and bow ties.

Guest book attendant and bird seed distributor was Barbara Bieou, Wilson, W.Va., sister of the groom. Jennifer Frost, Igloo, W.Va., friend of the groom, and Jeff Helbig, Oakland, assisted with the wedding preparations. Videographers were R.J. Picou of Wilson, brother-in-law of the groom, Rex Schmidt, Grantsville, uncle of the bride, and Karen Frankhouser, Oakland, friend of the bride. The photographer was Judy Wilt, Oakland.

Prior to the ceremony, the mothers of the couple lit candles on the altar,

Tasker-Baker Engagement Noted

Dianna Rhodes and Stephen and Valerie Tasker announce the engagement of their daughter, Stephanie Kay Tasker, to Jerry Michael Baker Jr., son of Jerry and Ramona Baker.

Miss Tasker is a 1992 graduate of Southern High School and is currently employed at Treasure Island, Oakland. She plans to attend the International School of Beauty.

Mr. Baker is also a 1992 graduate of Southern and is presently employed by Garrett Mine Supply, Oakland.

A date for the wedding will be set upon Miss Tasker's completion of school.

Chocolate Event Set In Frostburg

A Chocolate/Crafts Extravaganza will be held in Frostburg on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 11 and 12, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the historic Failing's Hotel Gunter. This fund-raising project is planned in cooperation with the Frostburg Area Ambulance Service and the Fun Factory, under the direction of James A. Stevenson. Exhibitions of chocolate confectionery and valentine craft products will be featured in this promotional exposition. Local artisans and presentations by area chocolate vendors will also be featured.

Other community groups sponsoring information at the Chocolate/Crafts Extravaganza will be the Frostburg Museum, local Allegany County historians, representatives of the Frostburg business community, and creations from a local chef. Another highlight is a silent auction sale of chocolates which will be held as part of the exhibition to benefit the ambulance service.

The Allegany County Public Library will present a Chocolate Story Hour from 1 to 2 p.m. on Saturday at the Frostburg Branch Library located on Main Street, under the direction of Nancy Hargosh, branch director.

Craft items will also be a specialty of the fund-raising program. Vendors will be on hand with homemade crafts and items such as grapevine wreaths, various country crafts, and unique valentine specialty items.

which were later used to light the unity candle. The bride and groom exchanged personal vows and, upon leaving the altar, gave their mothers each a long-stemmed pink rose.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom were taken to the reception at the American Legion, Oakland, in a horse-drawn carriage, provided by Sunny Slope Stables, Deer Park. A buffet dinner was served by Goehring's, Accident. The wedding cake was topped with a porcelain music box which played We've Only Just Begun. Entertainment was provided by D.J. "Mr. Z," McHenry. John Arnold, Huntington, W.Va., uncle of the bride, offered prayer at the reception.

A rehearsal dinner in Aurora was hosted by the groom's parents.

Following a honeymoon trip to Black Water Falls, Davis, Nashville, Tenn., Pigeon Forge, Tenn., and visits with relatives in Huntington, and Clarksville, Tenn., the couple resides in Aurora.

The bride was honored with three bridal showers, hosted by her family, friends and co-workers. A bachelor party was given for the groom by his friends and groomsmen.

BFS Officials

Continued from Page A-1 being diverted by Bishop and Groves for personal use from 1988-93, which included instances of building and remodeling homes, purchasing jewelry, insurance, country club dues and trips.

Two confidential sources were reportedly responsible for information gathered to obtain the warrants. The informants contacted the IRS in August and October 1993, and turned documents over to the government, which included reports of charging personal purchases to the business, exchanging rebate checks from distributors for cash, and taking kickbacks from construction firms that built the convenience stores.

Bishop bought Bruceton Farm Service, Inc., in 1974, after a career with Southern States, and reported sales to be $680,000 that year. In 1993, sales for BFS were in excess of $50 million, according to reports. The company has subsequently grown from five employees to more than 400, and operates some 20 convenience stores in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Other holdings include five bulk plants in the tri-state area and four agricultural outlets in Maryland and West Virginia.

Gypsy Moth

Simms reported that a combination of Dimilin and B.t. (Bacillus thuringiensis) will be used in the spray program, with B.t. being applied around all areas of water and high residential zones. He said the formulation of B.t. has been improved somewhat allowing it to adhere to surfaces more easily and for a longer period of time. He also said that a stronger concentration of the formula has now been approved for use.

Although Simms noted that Dimilin is more effective in killing the moths, the product also has a reputation of affecting a wider range of insect and animal life than does B.t., a bacterium.

All landowners in affected areas will soon be notified by the Department of Agriculture. Individuals whose land is scheduled to be sprayed may exercise the option of not participating in the program.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Maryland Department of Agriculture, at 301-777-3601, or the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-1988. Persons are asked not to call the office, however, to find out if their property is located in the suppression area.

Results Released

After completion of the investigation and review of all evidence and documentation, the conclusion reached by the assigned investigators is that Lewis failed to keep right of center, which caused the collision.

Mary Louise Wilson, Wanda Maphis, Richard Gerlach, Mateva and Orval Teets, Ellis and Mary June Harvey and Harley and Betty Willesen attended the 5th Sunday Sing at McHenry United Methodist Church.

The Brotherhood will meet at Hayes United Methodist Church, Tuesday, Feb. 8, at 7:30 p.m.

The Youth Fellowship had a "lock in" at the church last Friday night.

On Sunday, Feb. 6, Bishop Clifton Ives will bring the message at the district worship service at Grace United Methodist Church, Keyser, W.Va., at 3 p.m. The "Week in Hunger" offerings for World Hunger from Romney District churches will be presented at the service.

Swanton United Methodist Women will meet Tuesday, Feb. 8, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, with women's groups from Oakland, Mtn. Lake Park and Kitzmiller for the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial service.

GRANTSVILLE

HEART FUND PARTIES

The Grantsville Ladies met at the Grantsville American Legion Post 214 and planned for the regular 500 Card parties for the year. Mary Alice Broadwater is serving as chairman of the parties which will be held at Legion Post 214. The first one will be played on Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. Other ladies will be helping her, and the proceeds will go to the American Heart Association.

Anyone interested in playing 500 Card parties is invited to attend the parties. Prizes will be given and refreshments served.

The fee is $5 per person.

W.O.W. MEETING

On January 24, the Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 41 met at the Woodmen building with James Guthrie in charge of the meeting.

Representative Ed Lytle was a guest.

The books were audited and the trustees signed them for the year of 1993.

Jurisdictional Sentry Lillian Guthrie conducted the installation of officers for 1994. They are: Janis Pope, president; Patricia Pope, vice president; Alice Younk, escort; Thomas Bender, secretary; Charles C. Bender, treasurer; Harry Pope, watchman; Louise Butler, sentry; Lillian Guthrie, musician; and the trustees are Walter Younk, Harold Butler, and Scott Pope.

Janis Pope was then given the gavel and closed the meeting. Walter and Alice Younk were unable to be there because of ill health.

The next meeting is planned for Feb. 14 at 8 p.m.

PERSONALS

Paul Krause is a patient in Meyersdale Community Hospital.

Dalton Broadwater is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Charles C. Bender has been confined to his home with pneumonia.

Rev. James Show from Farmington, Pa., spent several hours visiting Walter and Alice Younk on Wednesday.

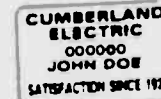

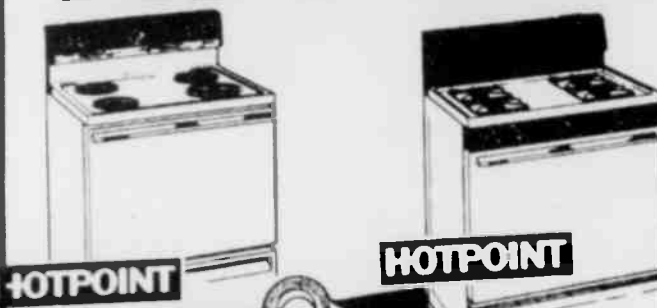

Human skin weighs in at a total of about six pounds.

BPW Offering Scholarship For Local Women

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) is currently offering a scholarship to an eligible female, 50 years or older, who is living, working, or attending school in Garrett County.

Women who may apply are those who are high school graduates (or equivalency), and who enroll or are enrolled in a vocational, technical, or academic program at an accredited institution which will lead to the earning of a certificate of completion or a degree.

The total amount available is $600 per year, with the amount awarded to be determined based on financial need. Prior year applicants and recipients may re-apply if all criteria is met.

Recipients will be chosen on the basis of the following: proof of acceptance, letters of recommendation, financial need, and other information contained in the application.

The winner must enter school or be continuing her education no later than the term following her scholarship acceptance. Recipients are responsible for having their grade records forwarded to the chairperson of the committee. Incomplete applications will not be considered. Qualified applicants will be interviewed by the committee members.

The BPW spokesperson said the scholarship program was initiated in 1982 to encourage women to take advantage of a more responsible position, make a career change, or re-enter the working world.

Inquiries about the scholarship program may be directed to any BPW member or to the chairman of the committee, Bea Crocco, at Rt. 1, Box 7934, Oakland MD 21550; or telephone: 334-2147 daytime or 334-3153 evenings.

The application deadline is March 31.

WEPCO Tickets To Go On Sale

Tickets for WEPCO Federal Credit Union's 44th Annual Membership Meeting will go on sale Monday, February 7, according to a release from the organization.

The meeting will be held Saturday, March 12, at the Victory Post #155 American Legion in Westernport. A dinner will be served at 6 p.m. and a brief business meeting will begin at approximately 7:30 p.m., after which door prizes will be awarded. A dance featuring the sounds of Main Street will follow from 9 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

Members are encouraged to attend the membership meeting for the presentation of the official annual report and the announcement of any upcoming changes of new services at the credit union, by management and board of directors.

Tickets are $7 for both members and non-members and will be sold at both offices of the credit union. Ticket sales will end at 5 p.m. on Monday, March 7. For additional information, persons may contact either credit union office by calling Bloomington at (301) 334-3081 or 1-800-292-8139 or Oakland at (301) 334-1431.

WHO WINS?

February 6, 1994

Background Scripture: Luke 18:15-30

Devotional Reading: Matthew 19:13-30

You've heard that line, "The person with the most toys wins!" Although used facetiously for the most part, that saying is a reflection of the value by which our society operates: success is determined by our possessions; the more we have, the more successful we are.

Of course, as Christians, we do not acknowledge that principle—but more than likely we live by it. Even in the church we can see this value at work. Which do we regard as the successful churches? Answer: those with the largest memberships and edifices. Which ministers are judged as the most successful? Answer: those with the largest churches. (They also get the largest salaries.) No matter what we profess, materialism adulterates religion as much as the rest of society.

The big question is not so much "Who wins?" but what is winning? What is success? In other words, in the long run, what is really important? In Luke 18 "winning" is described in three different ways. When they bring infants to him for blessing, Jesus says to his grumbling disciples: "For to such belongs the kingdom of God" (18:17). When the ruler comes to Jesus, he asks about the same reality, saying, "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" (18:18). And, when Jesus speaks of how hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God, his disciples ask: "Then who can be saved?" (18:26).

WHAT COUNTS? The "kingdom of God," "eternal life," and "saved"—three different terms, but all pretty much expressing the same idea: the supreme reality in the life of each of us. Ultimately, this is what life is about: living in God's kingdom, experiencing eternal life, being saved. When we leave this material world, this is our eternal destiny, our eventual destination. In short, it is the most important issue of our existence and all others pale by comparison.

Sometimes, when I seem overwhelmed by the present moment, I try to place it in the perspective of eternity. When I pass on to God of life beyond, how important will this matter be? How will it affect my participation in the kingdom of God? What will it matter my eternal life? Without fail, the answer that comes to me assures me that this matter, as important as it may seem right now, will be of no consequence.

If this is true—and I believe it is—why do we spend so much of our time and effort on matters which in the perspective of eternity mean so little? It is because we trust in things more than we trust in God. That's why Jesus says to his disciples: "Let the children come to me, and do not hinder them: for to such belongs the kingdom of God." The response of children is that of simple and unquestioning trust. That is what faith is all about—entrusting ourselves to God and his goodness, living as if we believe God is our greatest and most ultimate need.

TOYS OR GOD? That is also the issue that is at stake with the ruler who asks Jesus, "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" Despite what the ruler says about his desire of eternal life, he indicates by his response to Jesus that he trusts, not in God, but in his material wealth. That's why Luke tells us: "...when he heard this he became sad for he was very rich" (18:23).

It is not that being rich in itself keeps us from the kingdom of God. Being rich is not the problem but depending upon riches for our salvation is. God does not reject the rich man because of his wealth, but often the rich man does not accept the grace of God because he clings to material things. The ruler did not possess his goods; they possessed him.

Much of life comes down to our choices between toys or God. Choosing God is the only way we can win.

COVER STORY

CBS to blanket the Winter Olympic Games

BY JEFF PLASS

So what if they're a couple of years early, the Olympic Winter Games are here. And from the moment the torch is lit to the closing ceremony, CBS has it covered.

From Saturday, Feb. 12, to Sunday, Feb. 27, CBS will dedicate approximately 120 hours of coverage—more than for any other Winter Olympics—to bringing the spectacle of the XVII Games into America's homes.

"No event rivals the majesty of the Winter Games," says Howard Stringer, president, CBS/Broadcast Group. "The drama, the competition and the staggering beauty of the venues make this one of the most compelling events of any television season."

Paula Zahn and Harry Smith will provide weekday morning coverage from a 16th-century barn on Lake Mjøsa, across from Lillehammer.

"I think it's just going to be a beautiful shot," Zahn says. "You'll see the lake, you'll see the mountains, you'll see the valley, and we'll be in the middle of it."

Athletes from more than 70 countries will be competing in 12 sports spread out over 61 events. CBS Sports announcer Pat O'Brien will again anchor late-night daily recap broadcasts. O'Brien is notably excited about this year's Games.

"The most thrilling part about covering the Olympics," O'Brien says, "is actually covering the Olympics. To be in the middle of a world event as opposed to a Final Four or a World Series, which really isn't a world event. To be right there in the middle of it and to have access to all the athletes and sort of be involved in one of the focuses of a world event is a thrill for any broadcaster."

CBS Sports' Greg Gumbel will be the prime-time anchor of the Games. Gumbel previously served as co-anchor of the network's weekday morning broadcasts of the 1992 Winter Games in Albertville, France. He and his colleagues will bring viewers features they might not see otherwise.

"Every competition has its own stories within," Gumbel says. "In mogul skiing, Donna Wemebrecht is a terrifically interesting story because she won the gold medal in Albertville, and then ripped up her knee. Now the question is, is she still the best in the world?"

And O'Brien looks to the ice with a keen eye.

"With Brian Boitano returning and with Viktor Petrenko in there, the men's field should be maybe the best ever. I look for Brian to do really well for us, if not win the gold. But the night that he and Petrenko pair up and go after each other should really be something."

"We should be strong in speedskating with Dan Jansen," O'Brien goes on. "He's putting up incredible numbers; burning up the ice, if that's possible. Bonnie Blair as well."

From the bobbed runs in Hunderfossen to the speed skating ovals in Hamar, from the manned blimp to the goal-cam, coverage of the Olympic Winter Games is here like never before, and CBS has got it all wrapped up.

IN FOCUS

James Garner and Joanne Woodward play Ira and Maggie Moran in "Breathing Lessons," based on the 1989 Pulitzer Prize-winning novel by Anne Tyler. The "Hallmark Hall of Fame" film airs Sunday, Feb. 6, on CBS.

Maggie is a dreamer with often unrealistic expectations while her husband Ira is more of a realist. But their differences are eased and their marriage is reaffirmed during an eventful journey to attend a funeral.

CABLE OVERVIEW

Valdez, Smits give 'Cisco' a '90s sensibility on TNT

BY JOHN CROOK

Jimmy Smits ("L.A. Law") and Cheech Marin of the comedy duo Cheech and Chong saddle up as a legendary Western hero and his irascible sidekick, in "The Cisco Kid," a TNT original movie premiering Sunday, Feb. 6. Director Luis Valdez ("La Bamba"), who also co-wrote the teleplay, says the movie was a long-hoped-for pet project for him.

"Anybody who grew up when I did experienced the American Western at its peak," Valdez says. "In this production, we've captured the flavor and chemistry of the '50s TV series, but given it a '90s sensibility with a more equal relationship between Cisco (Smits) and Pancho (Marin) and a greater emphasis on the characters."

Valdez says he made Cisco independently wealthy, to free the character from the "bandito" stereotype. "He's now free to roam this vast Western landscape in search of something—an identity," the director adds. "Cisco's quest is the existential quest of everyone in this century looking for himself."

If these high-flung words conjure images of Cisco and Pancho sitting around a campfire and discussing their inner children, viewers can rest assured that TNT's movie—which features a supporting cast including Sadie Frost ("Bram Stoker's Dracula"), Ron Perlman (TV's "Beauty and the Beast") and Pedro Armendariz ("Acapulco Heat")—is, before all else, a tongue-in-cheek romp.

Cisco and Pancho first meet in this version as they are being led in shackles before a prison firing squad. "I can't believe this," Cisco mutters, his expression betraying both amazement and irritation. "I think they're really going to kill us!" That scene, which ends with an escape that is as inevitable as it is improbable, perfectly sets up both characters, as well as the tone of the adventures to follow.

Celine Dion reprises her "Beauty and the Beast" duet with Peabo Bryson during "Celine Dion: The Colour of My Love," which has its U.S. premiere Sunday on The Disney Channel.

"Hurt" and "Break It to Me Gently" are among the hits Juice Newton will perform in a medley on "The Stutter Bros. Show," Saturday, Feb. 12, on The Nashville Network.

Showtime continues its observance of Black History Month on Thursday, Feb. 10, with "The Last Breeze of Summer," a short film about a young black girl chosen to help integrate a Texas school in 1957.

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: I'm interested in Cary Elwes. Has he been in anything besides "Lady Jane," "The Princess Bride" and now "Robin Hood: Men in Tights"? Also, has there been a soundtrack recording to "Lady Jane"? —Saraheanne Wright, Billings, Mont.

In addition to the three titles you mentioned, you can catch Cary on video in "Another Country," "Days of Thunder," "Glory," "Hot Shots" and "The Crush." There is no "Lady Jane" soundtrack listed in the current catalog of available recordings.

Q: Were Alan Hale and Barbara Hale related? Do you know anyone or anything that was named Toby Tyler? —Teri McWethy, Champaign, Ill.

A: The Hales were not related. "Toby Tyler, or Ten Weeks With a Circus" was a 1960 Disney film starring Kevin Corcoran as a lad who ran away and joined the circus. It's available from Walt Disney Home Video.

Q: I would appreciate an update on the health of Minnie Pearl. I believe she had a stroke or maybe cancer a few years ago. —Verna Cebull, Roundup, Mont.

A: The beloved Grand Ole Opry performer, whose real name is Sarah Ophelia Cannon, reportedly is making progress in recovering from a stroke she suffered more than a year ago. She turned 81 on Oct. 25.

Q: Could you please tell me the title and singer of the song at the beginning of "A League of Their Own"? It is a tune that could mean a lot at this time of our life. —B. Stone, Joplin, Mo.

A: Carole King sang "Now and Forever," available on her latest album.

Cary Elwes

Q: Can you give me an address for "Unsolved Mysteries"? —C.W. Greene, Crivitz, Wis.

A: NBC Television Network, 3000 W. Alameda Ave., Burbank, Calif. 91523.

Q: Can you suggest a book on the life of Barbara Stanwyck? —Hallie Golden, St. Joseph, Mo.

A: Try Ella Smith's "Starring Miss Barbara Stanwyck" (Crown Publishers) or Jane Ellen Wayne's "The Films of Barbara Stanwyck" (Arbor House). Additionally, virtually all of the great lady's major films are available on video.

Q: I love "Entertainment Tonight." Where can I write the cast? —Kimberly Austin, St. Albans, Vt.

A: You can write them C/O Paramount Television, 5555 Melrose Ave., Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Q: When did the TV movie "Return to Green Acres" first air on CBS? —D.A., St. Joseph, Mo.

A: May 18, 1990.

'Power Plays' profiles sport's good, bad, ugly

BY SUZANNE GILL

British filmmaker Nicolas Kent should slam-dunk an Emmy Award for "Power Plays." The six-hour profile of the money and muscle behind American sports airs Monday-Wednesday, Feb. 7-9, on PBS. (Check local listings.)

In the must-see first episode, Kent captures Michael Jordan in what would be his last year in the NBA. In Part 5, Kent follows the resurgent Dallas Cowboys and talks candidly with ousted coach Tom Landry.

More than a look at sports, "Power Plays," Kent says, "is a kind of anatomy of America. You don't really have to be a fan to get excited about who's going to win the Super Bowl. It's an expression of Americanism to take an interest in the game." Sometimes Kent uncovers an inappropriate interest in the game, as in Part 5, in which concert promoter Norby Walters is caught by an ordinary traveling salesman, handing out payola to Clemson undergrads, or when Sunday football inspires a religious fervor, with the coach acting as priest.

Kent's subjects are a who's who of professional sports: Jimmy Johnson, Marge Schott, Wayne Gretzky. These he contrasts with the nameless players of the game, letting fans and local sportswriters tell their part of the story, too.

Kent's last series, "Naked Hollywood," took an unglamorous look at filmdom. He finds the comparison striking.

In Hollywood, no matter how successful you are, you never feel secure, because you're never quite sure why you've made it, when somebody (else) hasn't. But in sports, basically you can't fake it. If you are a success, it's because you are a great athlete, and you have the will to win."

A look at Michael Jordan launches "Power Plays," airing Monday through Wednesday on PBS. The series focuses on the money and the muscle behind sports.

U.S. figure skater Brian Boitano will participate in the 1994 Olympic Winter Games taking place in Lillehammer, Norway, beginning Saturday on CBS and TNT.

IN FOCUS

Jimmy Smits (left) is "The Cisco Kid," premiering Sunday, Feb. 6 on TNT. Cheech Marin plays his comic sidekick Pancho.

Set during the French occupation of Mexico in 1867, the light-hearted Western features the heroes battling gun-runners, greedy government officials and French imperialists.

This latest incarnation of "The Cisco Kid" has a rich 90-year history that includes silent, black and white and color films, and a five-year television series.

MOVIE MARQUEE

HBO's 'Emergency' not a happy tale

BY TED KUSIO

Goodness gracious, what a depressing, preachy and unbelievable film.

And yet the most unbelievable part is that HBO's "State of Emergency" is worth watching.

Joe Mantegna plays Dr. John Novelli, an emergency-room physician who works hard to save lives until he becomes the scapegoat of penny-pinching hospital administrators. "State of Emergency" premieres on HBO Saturday, Feb. 12.

This difficult film is stuffed with extremes. The emergency room is filled with patients on the verge of death, bureaucrats are all cruel simpletons, and the film's message about the sad state of hospital care is actually written out at the end for those who may have missed it. But Mantegna avoids clichés and plays a believable, though not always likable, character, and the film's pacing maintains interest. As for the film's message, well, that's up to the viewer.

Other films this week include a bunch of theatrical releases, such as Harrison Ford playing a lawyer whose morals shift after a gunshot wound in "Regarding Henry," Sunday, Feb. 6, on NBC; Joanne Woodward and James Garner play a couple who rediscover each other during an eventful journey in the "Hallmark Hall of Fame" presentation of "Breathing Lessons" on CBS. The newest version of "The Cisco Kid," starring Jimmy Smits and Cheech Marin, premieres on TNT.

"National Lampoon's Loaded Weapon 1" takes shots at police buddy films on Showtime.

Mel Gibson's first outing as the post-apocalyptic driver cruises onto TBS with "Mad Max," Wednesday, Feb. 9.

Peter Sellers' Inspector Clouseau takes "A Shot in the Dark" Thursday, Feb. 10, on TNT, featuring a hilarious (rated G) visit to a nudist camp.

Kenny Rogers plays a sleuth working for a Las Vegas casino in NBC's "MacShayne: Winner Takes All" on Friday, Feb. 11. Lara Flynn Boyle invalidates the perfect secretary fantasy with "The Temp" on Cinemax. TBS presents the tasty sushi companion with "Piranha" and "Tentacles."

Lifetime features William Hurt, Geena Davis and Kathleen Turner in "The Accidental Tourist" on Saturday, Feb. 12. Great characters, interesting story, no guits—television worth watching.

TIME OUT

BY BRETT ALAN BOBO

It's already been an eventful year for figure skaters, and events are not likely to slow down as the 1994 Olympic Winter Games get under way.

"Some of the best stories ever in the Olympics weren't about who won the gold medal, but about the characters involved," says Scott Hamilton, CBS' figure skating analyst. "I love the fact you're getting more than just the clock and the music and the jumps."

The Games are being held Saturday, Feb. 12, through Sunday, Feb. 27, in Lillehammer, Norway. CBS will broadcast 10 nights of skating coverage, according to Richard Gentile, senior vice president of production for CBS Sports.

One skater traveling to the Games is Scott Davis, considered a dark horse earlier in the year. Davis earned a berth on the U.S. Olympic team in January by winning the Nationals in Detroit.

Davis defeated favored Brian Boitano, 1988 gold medalist, who also qualified for a spot on the team. Boitano, a professional, has regained Olympic eligibility through reinstatement.

Kathy Casey, Davis' coach, says his chances to win a medal are great.

"He's improved a lot this year. He's stronger, he's more confident. I think Scott's the best spinner in the world," she says. "His presentation with the audience has improved a ton."

But Hamilton, 1984 U.S. figure skating gold medalist, says ominously, "You need to have a lousy Nationals before you compete well at the Olympic Championships."

Scott Hamilton

"I had the greatest Nationals in my life and did so-so at the Olympics. Dorothy Hamill had a disastrous Nationals and had a great Olympics," he says. "There's kind of a superstition thing that goes around."

Anticipating Davis' Olympic competitors, Casey says, "He's faced Viktor Petrenko this year, and he's faced Elvis Stojko, he's faced all of them this fall and is right neck and neck with them."

In women's figure skating, all eyes will be on Nancy Kerrigan, who was unable to compete in the Nationals after an attacker injured her knee. The U.S. Olympic Committee nonetheless decided to select her for the team based on her previous performances.

In pairs figure skating, Kyoko Ina and Jason Dungien, Jenni Meno and Todd Sand, and Karen Courtland and Todd Reynolds have been selected to the U.S. Olympic team.

Regardless of who wins the gold medals, the events certainly promise excitement.

Report Shows Jump In Injury Rate In State

The number of injury-related hospital discharges in Maryland increased nearly six percent during the five-year period ending in 1990, which is among the findings included in the second volume of "Injuries in Maryland," published by the Division of Injury and Disability Prevention and Rehabilitation (DIDPR) of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH).

The new 83-page report, entitled "Injuries in Maryland: Issues and Opportunities," includes data on non-fatal injuries reported during the period of 1986-1990 to Maryland's Health Services Cost Review Commission (HSCRC). The 1991 edition was concerned exclusively to injury-related deaths between 1979 and 1987.

"We first have to identify the problem areas before we can effectively tackle them," said Nelson J. Sabatini, secretary of DHMH. "Recognizing the impact serious injuries have on our health care system as well as on the quality of life for our citizens, this report will help us to tackle those problems."

The report defines injuries as "any unintentional or intentional damage to the body resulting from exposure to thermal, mechanical, electrical, or chemical energy or from the absence of such essentials as heat or oxygen."

The report focused specifically upon six identifiable injury categories: injuries to the head (24,268), hip fractures (17,162), poisonings (14,376), penetrating trauma (4,579), burns (3,623), and spinal cord injuries (1,108).

In addition, the first section of the report outlines strategies for the prevention of these types of injuries.

"This document will help the state develop strategies in preventing serious injuries which often result in long-term disability and contribute to increasing health care costs," said Governor William Donald Schaefer.

"Injuries in Maryland: Issues and Opportunities" breaks down injury information according to age, race, sex, and type of injury for Maryland and each of the state's 24 subdivisions.

Zion Lutheran To Hold Soup Sale

The Zion Lutheran Church, located in Accident, will be sponsoring a soup sale on Saturday, Feb. 12, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Soup lunches will also be served during that time. All soups will be offered for sale at $2.50 per quart. Soups include vegetable, chicken noodle, broccoli, chili, cream of potato, and bean with ham.

Baked goods will also be offered for sale.

HSA DONATES TO BIG BROTHERS/SISTERS - The Western Maryland District of the Holmes Safety Association (HSA) recently presented $400 to the local Big Brothers/Big Sisters programs in Allegany and Garrett counties, with each organization receiving $200. HSA represents the mineral and allied industries, with the purpose of reducing occupational injuries and diseases among employees in such industries. All active surface mines in Garrett and Allegany counties are presently members of HSA. Pictured above, left to right, are Dave Berry, president of Bear Safety Consulting; Dan Seib, coordinator of the Garrett County branch of Big Brothers/Big Sisters; and Richard Umble, safety director for Wolf Welding and president of the district council.

First Financial Corp. Announces Six-Month Results

First Financial Corporation of Western Maryland, the holding company of First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland, has announced that income for the six months ended December 31, 1993, before the effect of the change in accounting principle, was primarily because of the increase in net interest income of $581,000 or 10.6% to $6.1 million in fiscal 1994. In addition, the reduction of $261,000 in compensation expense related to the stock recognition plans for directors, officers, and employees approved by the stockholders on October 28, 1992, contributed to the improved results. The Company has recognized the major portion of the expense for these plans by April 1993.

Partially offsetting the increase in net income were smaller gains on the sale of mortgage-backed and investment securities. Such gains, net of applicable income taxes, totaled $3,000 in the six months ended December 31, 1993 compared to approximately $376,000 in the six months ended December 31, 1992. The increase in net income was also partially offset by higher provisions for loan losses of $330,000 for the six months ended December 31, 1993 compared to $136,000 for 1992.

increase net income for the six months ended December 31, 1993 by $1.7 million or $.78 per share.

According to a corporation spokesman, the increase in net income for the six months ended December 31, 1993, before the effect of the change in accounting principle, was primarily because of the increase in net interest income of $581,000 or 10.6% to $6.1 million in fiscal 1994. In addition, the reduction of $261,000 in compensation expense related to the stock recognition plans for directors, officers, and employees approved by the stockholders on October 28, 1992, contributed to the improved results. The Company has recognized the major portion of the expense for these plans by April 1993.

Partially offsetting the increase in net income were smaller gains on the sale of mortgage-backed and investment securities. Such gains, net of applicable income taxes, totaled $3,000 in the six months ended December 31, 1993 compared to approximately $376,000 in the six months ended December 31, 1992. The increase in net income was also partially offset by higher provisions for loan losses of $330,000 for the six months ended December 31, 1993 compared to $136,000 for 1992.

Net income for the quarter ended December 31, 1993 totaled $844,000 or $.39 per share compared to $228,000 or $.11 per share in 1992. The increase was primarily attributable to the reduction of $418,000 in compensation expense related to the stock recognition plans discussed above. Also, net interest income increased $296,000 or 10.6% to $3.1 million in the 1993 quarter. Such increases were partially offset by higher provisions for loan losses of $225,000 for the three months ended December 31, 1993, compared to $75,000 for the three months ended December 31, 1992.

The Company declared a 3-for-2 stock split effected as a 50% stock dividend on November 30, 1993, payable to stockholders of record at November 10, 1993. As a result, the Company issued an additional 699,095 shares. The Company paid a quarterly cash dividend of $.10 per share on December 31, 1993 to stockholders of record at the close of business December 15, 1993, which, because of the stock split, effectively resulted in a 50% increase over the previous cash dividend level.

Non-performing loans and other assets totaled $9.1 million or 2.7% of total assets at December 31, 1993, compared to $11.6 million or 3.4% of total assets at June 30, 1993. The Company's total allowance for losses equalled $6.2 million or 67.7% of total non-performing loans and other assets at December 31, 1993, compared to $5.7 million or 48.8% at June 30, 1993.

At December 31, 1993, the Company's stockholders' equity totaled $40.8 million which represented 12.0% of assets at that date. The Bank's tangible, core and risk-based capital ratios equalled 11.3%, 11.3% and 22.2%, respectively, at December 31, 1993. Such ratios exceeded all regulatory requirements. There were 1,993,563 shares of common stock outstanding resulting in a book value per share of $20.45.

Richard C. Deckerhoff, president and CEO, stated, "We are proud of the fact that the Bank, organized in 1928, has survived some very critical times for financial institutions and our capital ratios significantly exceed all regulatory requirements." First Financial operates 11 offices in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties. It is the only independent Cumberland-based bank remaining in the tri-state area.

Contestants For Pageant Sought

The Board of Directors of the Miss Western Maryland Scholarship Foundation has announced that preparations are underway for the 1994 Miss Western Maryland Scholarship Pageant to be held Saturday, March 19, at the Hancock Middle/Senior High School, Hancock. The Foundation is seeking contestants who are interested in participating in the upcoming pageant. Women between the ages of 17 and 24 who live, work or attend school in Washington, Allegheny, or Garrett counties are invited to participate.

The Miss Western Maryland Scholarship Pageant is part of the Miss America Scholarship program, which awards more than 10 million dollars annually in scholarships on the local, state and national level, making it the largest source of scholarships for young women today in the United States.

The winner of the 1994 Miss Western Maryland Scholarship Pageant will represent Western Maryland at the 1994 Miss Maryland Scholarship Pageant, to be held June 23-25 at the Maryland Theater in Hagerstown. The new Miss Maryland will then represent the State of Maryland at the 1994 Miss America Pageant in September in Atlantic City.

For information on becoming a contestant, persons may call 301-733-6340. Registration deadline is March 7, 1994.

BPW Foundation Chair To Speak To Local Club

Susan Christen, the Maryland BPW Foundation Chair, will be guest speaker of the February 9 Garrett County Business Professional Club meeting, to be held at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, at 6:30 p.m.

Ms. Christen has been a member of The Bethesda-Chevy Chase BPW and has served with the National BPW Foundation scholarship and loan committee.

The BPW Foundation was established in 1956 to promote full participation, equity, and economic self-sufficiency for working women through programs of research, education, and information. Ms. Christen's comments will emphasize the educational financial aids available for women seeking further education in order to get better jobs.

Persons are asked to contact Garrett County BPW President Elizabeth Daniels at 334-1471 or Peggy Jamison at 334-1920/1648 to make dinner reservations for the evening or for further information.

Ivan (Chip) L. Frederick II, of Oakland Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion (CBT), Maryland Army National Guard, was recently promoted to the rank of sergeant.

Frederick is an assistant team leader in 3rd platoon, 3rd squad. Schools completed by him include the primary leadership development course, junior readiness training center, and nuclear biological and chemical.

Sgt. Frederick has been in the guard for over nine years. He resides in Mtn. Lake Park and is employed by Bausch & Lomb.

Childhood Immunization Program Enacted

A new government program has been approved that should help ensure universal access to immunizations for all American children. The federal program is part of the recently approved budget reconciliation act. Public health clinics would provide vaccinations to children with health insurance that does not cover immunizations. Children who do not have health insurance or who are eligible for Medicaid may be able to get immunizations through Medicaid.

Celebrate SAFE and HEALTHY EATING

So what can consumers do to help ensure their food is as safe and healthy as possible?

Here are a few tips:

1. Eat Fresh. This means seasonal as much as possible. Asparagus in the spring, broccoli in the fall, leafy greens all year round. It also can mean eating food mostly grown in your region. Use the open date stamped on perishable food products to choose the freshest possible items.

2. Eat Clean. Always scrub fruits and vegetables before cooking or eating. Wash poultry thoroughly, too. Washing not only removes some pesticides but also dirt that can contain harmful bacteria.

3. Eat Lean and Light. Eat more fruits and vegetables, preferably fresh. Choose the leaner "house brands" of beef instead of USDA Choice or Prime. Eat light poultry meat instead of dark, remove poultry skin. Buy lean species of fish caught far off-shore such as cod, halibut or pollack. In addition to more fat, fattier meats and fish also collect and store more residues of chemicals used during production.

4. Be Chemical-Conscious. Avoid food products that are no more than "chemical composts." Buy "real" cereals, dairy products and frozen foods. Watch out for nitrite in processed meats such as bacon and saccharin in diet colas; products containing saccharin have a warning label to guide you. Be alert to MSG and food colorings added to foods. All are listed on ingredient labels.

5. Look for Federal Inspection Stamps. Rigorous inspection is mandatory for all meat and poultry sold in interstate commerce, it is voluntary for fish products. Look for the U.S. Department of Agriculture seal on meat and poultry and the Department of Commerce "Packed Under Federal Inspection" seal on fish products to get greater assurances of product safety.

Public Voice for Food and Health Policy promotes access to a safe, nutritious and affordable food supply for all Americans.

Public Voice and Chefs Helping To Enhance Food Safety (CHEFS) are producing a cookbooklet called Celebrate Safe and Healthy Eating with 12 Great Chefs. Proceeds will support Public Voice's efforts to improve food, agriculture and nutrition policy.

Public Voice, celebrating its 11th anniversary this year, works to advance food and agriculture policies and practices that enhance public health and protect the environment. It has helped shape national policy on such issues as nutrition labeling, meat grading, seafood safety, pesticide use and international standards. Its research is widely reported in the media and often leads to expert testimony at Senate and House committee hearings.

"Safeguarding our abundant, wholesome and precious food supply to sustain future generations is a responsibility we all must share," says Mark Epstein, executive director.

Public Voice's cookbooklet partner also is nationally recognized. CHEFS is a national, 400-member coalition of food professionals working to promote food safety through political action.

"As ones who celebrate good food, fine chefs everywhere know that safe food is absolutely the first rule," says Peter Kump, Owner of Peter Kump's Cooking School in New York City.

The booklet emphasizes "good for you" foods prepared in innovative ways. Featured items like Chinese Cabbage Salad or Grilled Sea Bass with Sliced Artichokes Stewed in Olive Oil are perfect for entertaining. The recipes contained in the booklet are from chefs such as Julia Child, Mark Miller and Jean-Louis Palladin.

The booklet is being sponsored in part by Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc. and the Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc.

As Jean-Louis Palladin of Washington's Watergate Restaurant would say, "Good food is not enough unless it is also really safe."

To receive a copy of Celebrate Safe and Healthy Eating with 12 Great Chefs, send $3.95 to: Cookbooklet Offer, Public Voice For Food and Health Policy, 1001 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Suite 522, Washington, D.C. 20036. Please allow six to eight weeks for delivery.

Chinese Cabbage Salad

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1/2 cup buttermilk | 2 1/2 ounces (about 15) snow pea pods, cut into 1/2-inch julienne |
| 1/2 cup sour cream | 1/2 cup (2 ounces) crumbled feta cheese |
| 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley | Salt and pepper, to taste |
| 6 cups coarsely chopped Chinese cabbage | |
| 1 large tomato, seeded and cut into 1/2-inch cubes | |

In large bowl whisk buttermilk, sour cream and parsley; add remaining ingredients except salt and pepper. Toss gently; season with salt and pepper. Makes 4 servings.

Grilled Sea Bass with Sliced Artichokes Stewed in Olive Oil

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 16 baby artichokes (about 2 pounds) | 2 1/2 teaspoons fresh thyme leaves |
| 1/4 cup water | Salt and pepper, to taste |
| 2 tablespoons olive oil | 4 (6-ounces each) sea bass fillets |
| 6 cloves garlic, sliced | |
| Juice of 1 lemon | |

Pull away the tough outer leaves of each artichoke until the yellow-green heart is revealed. Slice off the pointed tops at about halfway between the point and the base of the artichokes. Cut off the stems and pare off remaining dark green outer leaves surrounding the bottoms. Submerge in acidulated water* to prevent them from browning. When all the artichokes have been pared to the heart, drain. Turn them choke sides down and cut into 1/2-inch slices. Place water and oil in medium stainless steel saucepan; warm over medium heat. Add the sliced artichokes, garlic, lemon juice and thyme leaves. Cover and cook, stirring occasionally, about 30 minutes or until tender. Season with salt and pepper. Set aside; keep hot. Season sea bass fillets lightly with salt and pepper; grill or broil about 10 minutes until fish is opaque and flakes easily. Plate fillets; spoon stewed artichokes over fish, dividing equally. Makes 4 servings.

* Water to which a small amount of vinegar, lemon or lime juice has been added.

Raspberry Sorbet

|--|
| 1/2 cup water |
| 1/2 cup sugar |
| 1 1/2 pounds fresh raspberries (generous 4 cups) |

Measure water, sugar and raspberries into container of electric blender. Blend until very smooth. Strain through a chinois or very fine sieve into bowl, pressing to force as much through as possible. Discard seeds. Cover and chill puree at least 3 hours. Freeze in ice cream machine according to manufacturer's instructions. Transfer to freezer containers and freeze at least 1 hour to harden further. Serve within a few hours. Makes about 3 cups.

Huckleberry or Blueberry Sorbet: Follow recipe above substituting huckleberries or blueberries for the raspberries.

Garrett AMI To Begin Fourth Year February 11

The Garrett County Alliance for the Mentally Ill is entering its fourth year of advocacy with the February 11 meeting at the Light-house, Inc., Rt. 219 N, Oakland.

Newly-elected President Jerry Cox plans an information and idea-gathering session to aid in planning advocacy, activities for 1994. Members are asked to bring ideas and the names of proposed guest speakers for the next 12 months.

One of the major projects of the local group is its current cookbook sale which began in December. Copies of the cookbook are available at the Book Mark'et in Oakland; Good Scents Perfumeries in Grantsville; at the Light-house, Rt. 219 N; or from any AMI member. Orders may also be placed by calling 334-4357 or 895-5366. Cost of the cookbook, which contains local area recipes, is $6, and all proceeds will benefit programs designed to educate the public concerning the many forms of mental illness.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Garrett County AMI is encouraged to attend the next meeting, which will begin at 7 p.m. Those with questions may call 334-4357.

Glimpse Of The Past ...

TWO RECENT PHOTOS of Muddy Creek Falls have appeared in The Republican the past few weeks, however, this shot was taken many years ago when lumbering activity was underway in what is now Swallow Falls State Park. A sawmill was once located atop the Muddy Creek Falls (Incorrectly identified by the photographer as Deep Creek Falls) and used water power to operate the saw. This undated photo is from the files of the Garrett County Historical Society Museum. One wonders if the shot were taken just after flood conditions; one also wonders why the folks at the base of the falls are dressed in their "Sunday best" for this particular outing. The photo is published courtesy of the Historical Society and The Republican. Persons wishing to join the Society can do so at any branch of the Ruth Enlow Library for $10 annual dues. Membership includes receipt of the Society's quarterly publication, the Glades Star, which features many local historical photos and articles.

Local Student Earns Performing Arts Scholarship

Ada Wilson, daughter of David and Mary Lou Wilson, is a recipient of a performing arts scholarship of up to $6,000 a year at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon. Wilson is a 1993 graduate of Southern High School.

Students are eligible for scholarships in acting, instrumental and vocal music. The scholarships are available for majors and non-majors and are renewable for four years, based on academic and performance progress.

Auditions for acting scholarships required two one-minute character monologues from contemporary plays, one serious and one comic. Technical theatre scholarship requirements include interviews and supporting materials such as set design, light plots, drafting, artwork and photographs that demonstrate abilities. Vocal music scholarships require performing two contrasting songs that show range and flexibility; one non-English song is preferred.

Students winning acting and technical theatre scholarships have the opportunity to participate in four plays per school year. Vocal music scholarship recipients may participate in Wesleyan's Concert Chorale, which tours each spring and presents the Festival of Lessons and Carols at Wesleyan during the Christmas season.

Math Workshops For Teachers Set At GCC Campus

A series of workshops for high school and college mathematics teachers funded by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education will be held at Garrett Community College this spring. The workshops will focus on the use of computers and technology in the mathematics classroom and will be led by national experts in the field.

The first of these workshop is set for February 26 on "Mathcad/Derive," with Anthony Pyzdrowski, California (Pa.) University, and Laura Wohler, West Virginia University, and Nancy Priselac of Garrett Community College presenting "Relating the New Math Standards to the use of Technology in the Math Classroom."

Other workshops next month are: March 5, "Mini-Tab/Derive" by Janet Thomas, Garrett Community College, and Anthony Pyzdrowski and Laura Wohler; March 18, "Integrating Algebra and Geometry using Manipulatives and Technology" by Ted Gardella, TIMS Project, and Nancy Priselac; March 19, "Preparing all Student for Understanding Statistics" by Martha Aliaga of Michigan State University; and March 26, "Visualizing Mathematics - Areas, Perimeters, and Volumes in a Hands-on Setting" by Boyd Holton of West Virginia University. The last two workshops are open to the public.

On April 15 and 16, a workshop on "Force and Motion" will be presented by Stu Schultz, TIMS Project; Nancy Priselac and Mike Logsdon, Garrett Community College. On April 23, a second workshop on "Mini-Tab/Derive" will be given by Janet Thomas, Anthony Pyzdrowski and Laura Wohler, who will also present this subject in a workshop on May 7. A workshop on "electrostatics" will be given by Stu Schultz, Nancy Priselac, and Mike Logsdon on May 13 and 14.

Two final workshops scheduled will be open to the public. "Using Manipulative and Cooperative Groups in the Teaching of Geometry" will be presented on May 21 by Rachel McAnellen of the Institute for Math Mania and, on June 4, "Casio Graphic Calculator Conference" will be led by Janie-Simmer

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS DONATES TO FIRE/RESCUE UNITS - The Knights of Columbus organization of Oakland recently presented its annual monetary donation to three rescue operations in the local area. EMT Class Set In Cresaptown

The Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute, the Allegany County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Association, and the Allegany County Fire and Rescue Board announce that an additional emergency medical technician (EMT) class has been scheduled.

The program consists of 110 hours of classroom work. The class will start in March and be held on Saturdays at the Western Maryland Regional Training Center in Cresaptown. A minimum of 15 and a maximum of 25 students are needed for the class to start. Interested persons are asked to have their company or department call the Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute at (301) 729-0431, giving the name and/or names of individuals interested in taking the EMT-A Basic Course.

Correction Noted

It was incorrectly stated in an article in last week's issue of The Republican that a basic aerobics class sponsored by Garrett Community College was scheduled to begin at the Friendsville Elementary School on February 22. The correct beginning date for that class is February 8.

BLOOMINGTON NEWS

CHURCH NEWS

This Sunday, February 6, at 11 a.m. the Bloomington United Methodist Church will dedicate its newly constructed educational facility. Construction began on the new wing of the church in April of 1993 and the Sunday School classes began using the facility in October of 1993. The new facility houses eight classrooms, the pastor's study, and three rest rooms. This is the latest renovation to the church building. The cornerstone for the present building was dedicated September 25, 1904, which makes this the 90th anniversary of the church building.

Rev. A.R. Snedger was the pastor at this time. Plans are now being considered to remodel the basement for use as a fellowship area.

Helping the Bloomington congregation to celebrate will be Rev. J. William Turley, superintendent of the Romney District, and Bishop S. Clifton Ives, resident bishop of the West Virginia Area of the United Methodist Church. Bishop Ives was born in Farmington, Maine. He is a graduate of the University of Maine (B.A. in history) and Boston University School of Theology (M.Div. 1963; D. Min. 1983).

Bishop Ives served local churches in Maine from 1961 to 1986. He served as a district superintendent from 1986 until 1992. He was elected a bishop at the 1992 Northeastern Jurisdictional Conference.

Bishop Ives has served on several boards and agencies of the United Methodist Church, among them the General Board of Discipleship, the Northeastern Jurisdictional Episcopacy Committee, and the Jurisdictional Board of Ordained Ministry.

He was a delegate to General and Jurisdictional Conferences (1972 - 92). He is presently serving on the General Commission of Religion and Race. Bishop Ives is married to the former Jane Petherbridge.

They are the parents of three children: Bonnie Ives Marden, Stephen Clifton, and Jonathan Andrew.

Pastor Bill Brown and the Bloomington Congregation extends an invitation to all who would like to celebrate with them on Sunday. There will be a covered dish dinner following the service at the Bloomington fire hall.

The Romney District "Called to Prayer" annual worship service will be held on Sunday, February 6, at 3 p.m. at the Grace United Methodist Church in Keyser, W.Va. Bishop S. Clifton Ives will be preaching and the theme will be "Healing. The public is invited."

SHARE registration for the month of February will be Tuesday, February 8, from 9 to 11 a.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. at the Bloomington United Methodist Church.

PERSONALS

William Welsh was honored with a retirement dinner on Friday, January 28, at the Westernport Church of the Brethren. Several of his co-workers, friends, and family helped him celebrate his 37 years with Westvacco. The dinner was catered by the ladies of the Church of the Brethren. Welsh received amusing and practical gifts along with many wishes for a nappy retirement.

FIRE COMPANY BANQUET

The Bloomington Volunteer Fire Company held its annual banquet and dance, celebrating 56 years in fire service to the community. Harris Lefew was the master of ceremonies for the evening. Brenda Butcher, president of the Garrett County commissioners, was the guest speaker. She complemented the fire company and auxiliary on their work together and spoke on the duties of the county commissioners.

The "Fireman of the Year" award was presented to Charles Pattison and the "Fireman of the Year" was Danny Bever.

COUNTRY KIDS by Nick Giotfely, reporter

The January meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club was called to order. Eric DeWitt gave a report on caroling at the nursing home.

The new officers were installed by leader Debbie Barnard. The officers are as follows: Jennifer Barnard, president; Heidi Hauser, vice president; Brian Barnard, secretary; David Giotfely, treasurer; and Nick Giotfely, reporter.

Under new business it was decided that our club would collect for the Heart Fund at IGA, beginning February 5.

Next month each club member will prepare and present a speech or a radio spot. The speech must be, for juniors, 3-5 minutes, and for intermediates, 4-6 minutes. The radio spots should either be 30 or 60 seconds.

The remaining part of the meeting was spent completing record books. Refreshments were served by the Barnards.

Muldowney To Run For Sixth District Seat

Paul D. Muldowney announced this week that he is a candidate for Congress from Maryland's Sixth congressional District. Muldowney, who officially filed in Annapolis on Friday, said he is actively putting together a campaign organization and raising money.

"I've had a great response from those whose advice I've sought over the past several months. I think there is a real longing to have effective representation in Congress from this part of the state," Muldowney said. Muldowney will be a candidate in the Democratic primary in September. He has 30 years of experience in business and 10 years of public service. He served in the Maryland House of Delegates from 1979-1986 where he chaired a subcommittee on appropriations.

"I think it is very important that the next Congressional representative from the Sixth District understand the necessity of working within budget constraints and know how to effectively balance revenues and expenditures," Muldowney said. "My business background and work on appropriation issues for the state have given me this valuable experience."

Muldowney further stated that while progress had been made on reducing the budget deficit over the past year, much more needs to be done. "We need to rein in the massive federal deficit if we are to retain our position as economic leaders in the world," he said.

Other important issues identified by Muldowney, included the economy, crime, health care, and education. "Some parts of the Sixth Congressional District are beginning to recover economically, while others are not doing as well. We need to address job creation and the state of the economy in all parts of the district," he emphasized.

"In addition, I want the residents of the Sixth District to feel safe in their communities, homes and schools. We must take strong measures to address violent crime. This is an absolute priority for the next Congress," Muldowney said.

Muldowney, 58, is a 28-year resident of Western Maryland. He and his wife of 35 years, Harriet, live in Hagerstown. They have seven children and six grandchildren.

Muldowney is currently vice-president of operations and secretary of Supreme Concrete Block Incorporated in Hagerstown. He has a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from Virginia Military Institute. He has been very active over the years in many different organizations, some of which include United Way, Boy Scouts of America, and the Governor's Western Maryland Task Force on Economics Development. He was a captain in the U.S. Army Reserve, with four years of active duty.

Muldowney says he is running because, having lived and worked in the Sixth Congressional District for almost 30 years, he says he knows the problems facing working men and women of the area, and he wants to "be part of the solution."

GCC Schedules Public Meeting On Commemoration

A public meeting to help plan a county-wide commemoration of World War II has been scheduled at Garrett Community College for February 18 at 1:30 p.m. in Room 306. According to Paul Shogren, who has taken the initiative to organize this community effort, all interested persons are invited to attend.

Shogren hopes to have all veterans' organizations and other organizations, public officials, and community leaders involved in planning the commemoration. He anticipates a three-year long series of events marking the 50th anniversary of important

World War II events: The D-Day invasion of Normandy, the Battle of the Bulge, the liberation of Paris, the end of the war in Europe, the dropping of the atomic bombs, the surrender of Japan, the homecoming of American troops, and the post-war year.

Anyone wishing further information about the commemoration may call Shogren at 387-3013.

Thank You
The family of Christine Smith would like to express our deepest appreciation for the many cards, flowers, food and remembrances received in the recent loss of our wife, mother and grandmother. We would also like to thank the Southern Rescue Squad, Garrett Memorial Hospital, Durst Funeral Home, and a special thanks to Irene White. Your kindness will be cherished in our hearts forever.

C-4 THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND - THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1994

Conservation District Association Explores Legislative Partnership

Forming or strengthening partnerships with Maryland legislators was the emphasis of the annual winter meeting of the Maryland Association of Conservation Districts last week. District supervisors, besides the regular meeting sessions, spent time visiting and talking with legislators at the State House.

Attending from Garrett County were George Bishoff and Dave Thomas, Garrett Conservation District Board members; Garry Morfoot, District conservationist; and Shaun Sanders, District manager.

"When Soil Conservation Districts formed back five decades ago, they mostly worked with soil erosion problems in agricultural communities," Jerry Talbot, director of Policy and Programs for the National Association of Conservation Districts told participants in opening remarks. "Back then, the agricultural community was 25 percent of the population. Today, Conservation Districts work with natural resource challenges whenever they occur. The agricultural community has shrunk to two percent, but our workloads have increased dramatically because we are working in urban and community areas as well as the agricultural community."

The meeting was opened with an overview of Conservation District work given by Robert Walker, Maryland Secretary of Agriculture.

"Conservation Districts are called upon constantly to do more with less funding," Walker explained. "But our achievements have been many over the past five decades and I consider Conservation Districts to be environmental leaders in Maryland."

"In the past year collectively, we have applied over 8,200 practices to the land to control pollution," Walker continued. "We have also certified over 120 nutrient management specialists. We're also trying out 'total resource management' processes in four counties to attempt to determine how to make this program effective. All these efforts save money for land users and also reduce pollution."

Walker expressed one concern: funding levels for Conservation District programs. "Funding has been a problem for many years," he said. "We have been exploring alternative funding to help Districts handle the increasing workload. The potential for additional federal mandates to solve environmental problems without additional funding to states is a major concern to me."

Talbot talked at length about the effectiveness of building and strengthening political partnerships. He expressed hopes for an end to the current recession and more potential for seeking and gaining funding adjustments to solve more problems.

"On a national level, we are working to support USDA reorganization toward a strong conservation and environmental focus to help meet conservation goals throughout the country," he said. "Being able to assist any land user is the top priority of our efforts."

Several pieces of legislation, including the Clean Water Act, the Endangered Species Act, and legislation involving wetlands will be tracked by the National Association of Conservation Districts in Washington. NACD also has an added emphasis of getting information out in several forms to local Conservation Districts so they are more aware of how new or added legislation affects the local picture.

The Maryland Tributary Strategy was the subject of the final remarks at the opening session. Royden Powell, chief of Resource Conservation for the Maryland Department of Agriculture explained how the tributary strategy had brought together communities to attempt to solve community and watershed challenges.

"The first series of public meetings in each tributary was to explain problems and talk about options for solving them," Powell explained. "We accomplished this in all 10 tributaries in Maryland. We had two criteria: the first was equal-ability-everyone was responsible for polluting the tributary and everyone was responsible to aid in the cleanup. The second criteria was the cost effectiveness of managing a cleanup. Included in the options we talked about at that first meeting were such things as wastewater treatment and sediment and erosion control measures, things that have some cost associated with them."

The second series of public meetings was to review a draft strategy based on outcomes of the first series of meetings. "The counties had time to review the draft strategy and then, depending on the cost, they could pick and choose among practices that had been identified to meet mutual goals that had been worked out together in the first meeting," Powell continued. "I was encouraged by the participation in these first two meetings. It was high, and the input from local people about local land uses and the feelings of local people are invaluable in trying to meet environmental goals. Land and people are different from county to county, and these meetings have been valuable to the overall program."

A third set of public meetings is scheduled to begin in March. These meetings will again review the draft strategy which will remain draft until after the public comment period in June, 1994. In this series of meetings, opportunities will exist to question options, funding, and other aspects that will affect local communities.

Powell also talked about the shortage of funding in attempting to affect a change in each of the tributaries. He talked about the expectations the federal, state and local governments put on Conservation Districts when they are already at 100 percent of manpower for the funding available.

District supervisors and employees took a tour of the State House, the Legislative Services Building and the Joint Hearing Room on Monday evening. This was in preparation for visits made on Tuesday to individual legislators to talk about conservation programs and the opportunities, and barriers to implementing them. A legislative reception buffet was held Tuesday evening hosted by the Maryland Association of Conservation Districts to meet and talk further with individual legislators.

Firm Interested In Contracting Rabbit Growers

KEPCO Foods, Inc., presently headquartered in Moorefield, W.Va., is investigating the possibility of contracting rabbit producers in the Garrett County area. Presently, the company is doing limited rabbit processing in the formerly Mt. Fresh Meats facilities in Mtn. Lake Park. KEPCO has contract growers in West Virginia and Virginia. Their goal for this coming October is to be processing around 5,000 rabbits per day. Presently, their markets are in both retail and institutional areas. They are in the process of expanding their product line such as rabbit nuggets, hot legs (barbecued flavor), rabbit sausage, etc.

The public is invited to a "get-acquainted" meeting with the owners of KEPCO on Thursday, Feb. 17, at 7:30 p.m. at the Pleasant Valley Community Center, located approximately three miles south of Oakland, off the Paul Friend Road next to Rigidity Rafters. This meeting will provide interested people the opportunity to learn more about the company and their future plans, how the grower contract is structured, and projected financial returns. Also, the company plans to have some contract growers attending to tell of their experiences in rabbit production. For additional information, contact the Garrett County Extension Office at 334-1990.

Maryland hay production in 1993 amounted to 550 thousand tons, down 15 percent from a year ago. The average yield of 2.62 tons per acre was below last year's 2.95 tons per acre. Small grain production was very good this year with winter wheat, barley, and rye, having the second highest yields on record, second only to the 1992 season record high yields. Winter wheat production was 10.8 million bushels, 15 percent less than last year's production. Barley production, at 4.8 million bushels, was up two percent from a year ago. Rye production was down, decreasing 11 percent to 165 thousand bushels. Oats production decreased 29 percent from the 1992 crop to 424 thousand bushels.

Potato production, at 322 thousand hundredweight, was up slightly from last year's crop. Winter wheat seeded in 1993 for 1994 harvest is expected to total 250,000 acres, up from the 210,000 acres harvested in 1993. Rye acreage seeded in 1993 for harvest in 1994 is expected to total 35,000, up from 30,000 acres last year.

The United States corn for grain production for 1993 was estimated at 6.34 billion bushels, 33 percent below the 1992 crop. The U.S. yield per acre at 100.7 bushels was 30.7 bushels and lunch. Reservations should be sent to: Maryland Farm Bureau, 8930 Liberty Road, Randallstown, MD 21133, Attn: Field Services, or for more information interested persons may call the Maryland Farm Bureau Field Services Department.

Corn Grain Yield At Five Year Low

The 1993 average statewide corn for grain yield was 78 bushels per acre according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service, the lowest yield since 1988 and 46 bushels per acre less than last year's record high yield of 124 bushels per acre.

Most of the state's growing season was plagued with very hot, dry conditions contributing to the poor corn crop. Soybean yields were also affected by the poor growing conditions, averaging the lowest yield in six years. Wheat, barley, rye, and oats matured prior to the driest, hottest conditions and yielded well.

Corn for grain acreage harvested, at 420,000 acres, was 50,000 lower than last year. Total grain production was 32.8 million bushels, 44 percent less than the 58.3 million bushels harvested in 1992. Soybean production, at 14.8 million bushels, was 18 percent less than the 18.0 million bushels harvested in 1992. Soybeans averaged 26 bushels per acre on the record high 570,000 acres harvested statewide.

Farm Tour Seminar Set

The Maryland Farm Bureau Women's Group is sponsoring a farm tour seminar entitled "Beyond the Hayride." The seminar is being sponsored in cooperation with the Frederick County Farm Bureau Women and will be held at the Frederick County 4-H Conference Center, Tuesday, Feb. 22, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The seminar is designed to help Maryland farmers learn how to better work with classrooms and other groups when planning and conducting a farm tour.

The program will feature a session called "Valuable Tools," which will highlight use of the MFB stewardship video and survey; a presentation of the handbook, "Beyond the Hayride," a panel presentation and an informative afternoon session called "Winning Answers for Tough Questions!" presented by Julie Brown of the American Farm Bureau staff.

The conference is open to all interested persons. Reservations are due by Feb. 15. There is a $10 fee which includes all materials below the record high of 131.4 bushels set last year. Soybean production totaled 1.81 billion bushels in 1993, down 17 percent from 1992. Yield per acre averaged 32.0 bushels in 1993, 5.6 bushels below the record high set in 1992.

Consumer Issues Face Livestock, Dairy Producers

Whatever happened to the "good old days" when farmers had only the weather and markets to worry about?

Those days are gone, according to a livestock industry consultant, and farmers need to concern themselves with issues such as consumer demands, the environment and world trade if they want to be successful.

Dr. LaVern Freeh, president of a St. Paul, Minn., consulting firm, spoke during the livestock and dairy conference at the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting. He said that these and other important issues, such as animal rights, livestock waste management and reduced government price support programs, will result in some instability in agriculture.

While these issues present many challenges, they also offer numerous opportunities, such as increased trade from world trade agreements, Freeh said he's optimistic that producers will respond to these issues and successfully reap the benefits.

Freeh said there are some "ticking time bombs" that could result in decreased consumer demand for agricultural products, including antibiotics in the food supply, bovine somatotropin (BST) and fat in meat and milk. Consumption of beef has declined in recent years because of consumers' concern about fat in their diet, while consumption of poultry has increased, he noted.

But beef demand could decline even further if the industry doesn't begin listening to consumers' demand for leaner, tastier, more convenient beef products, he said.

At the same time, U.S. beef producers will benefit from increased world trade, primarily in the Pacific Rim region, as a result of the GATT agreement, he said. The dairy industry should benefit from the NAFTA agreement, he said. Mexico should become a "thriving market" for U.S. dairy products.

But federal price support programs will continue to decline, resulting in volatile milk and dairy product prices. Additional financial resources will be required for survival at all levels of the industry.

Also, traditional family farm dairy production units will continue to fade away and be replaced with larger, more industrialized units in all regions, he said. Typical herd sizes may be as large as 300 to 1,000 head.

"By the year 2000, milk production in the upper midwest could be 20 percent less than it is today," Freeh said. "At the same time that is happening, growth will resume as investments are made in industrial-type dairies."

The only thing preventing more industrialized dairy farms from developing now is financing, he said. Creative and innovative financing methods are needed to move production to the larger, more efficient units, he said.

Freeh predicted that all livestock producers will need to be less independent, build alliances with other producers and companies to become more efficient, and work harder at educating the general public about agriculture's environmental benefits.

"We need to have more dialogue between producers, industry and environmental groups," he said. "We need to work together to form environmental regulations that all parties can live with."

ADV WEIGHT LOSS BAFFLES SCIENTIST!

WASHINGTON--A scientist at National Dietary Research was baffled at how successful a natural food tablet had become in helping overweight people lose weight. Dr. William Morris was baffled because the original chewable tablet formula was developed to help feed the world's undernourished people.

Why the original food formula helped some people lose weight is still a mystery. However, the formula has since been improved, and the new formula's weight loss potential is not a mystery. The fortified formula, called Food Source II (FS-II), is not a low calorie food but a powerful appetite blocker that can actually decrease calorie consumption while supplying essential nutrients.

So how can people lose weight with FS-II? Lots of weight! According to Dr. Morris it is the revolutionary FS-II diet plan that allows you to lose weight without giving up your favorite foods. With the FS-II diet there are no forbidden foods and the special appetite control ingredient is one of the most effective available without a prescription.

Berkley-Brown Labs has obtained exclusive distribution rights to FS-II. FS-II is available through pharmacies and other health care professionals.

Ethanol Use Beneficial To Environment And Economy

Expanding the use of renewable fuels, such as ethanol, can help clean up the air, cut dependence on foreign oil, create investment and jobs in America, reduce energy use and lower harmful emissions.

That was Farm Bureau's message to a recent Environmental Protection Agency hearing on the Clinton administration's 30 percent ethanol mandate proposal. It was delivered by Nebraska Farm Bureau President Bryce Neidig and Iowa Farm Bureau President Merlin Plagge, both members of the American Farm Bureau Federation board of directors, who expressed Farm Bureau's strong support for the proposal.

EPA held the hearing to receive comments on the administration plan. That proposal would require that 30 percent of the oxygenate in the federal reformulated gasoline program-mandated by the Clean Air Act-came from renewable sources such as ethanol.

The Clean Air Act requires the reformulated gasoline program to begin Jan. 1, 1995, in areas with the highest levels of ozone. Those cities are Baltimore, Chicago, Hartford, Houston, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, New York City, Philadelphia and San Diego. Other areas that exceed the ozone air quality standard may also participate in the program.

To date, Washington, D.C., and some of the other non-attainment areas in 13 states also have "opted in" to the RFG program, Neidig said. These areas currently account for 30 percent of the U.S. fuel market. The 30 percent renewable oxygenate requirement would, on average, require the production of an additional 630 million gallons of ethanol. Currently, about 1 billion gallons of ethanol are produced annually--the majority marketed outside the RFG targeted areas.

The Farm Bureau leaders urged the EPA to swiftly finalize the ruling so the ethanol industry can fully participate in the reformulated gasoline program.

Officials of the U.S. petroleum industry, however, voiced opposition to the proposed ethanol rule, saying it would do little to reduce consumption of imported crude oil, reduce smog or cut air pollution. They also cited difficulties with ethanol distribution, noting that most ethanol production facilities are in the Midwest.

But the Farm Bureau leaders said the nation's ethanol industry can gear up to meet the requirements.

"A clear, strong signal to the ethanol industry that renewable oxygenates will have a meaningful role in the RFG program from the beginning will generate timely investment in capacity and assure that adequate supplies of renewable oxygenates will be available for the RFG program," Neidig said.

Plagge said use of ethanol in the reformulated gasoline program creates a new market for 250 million bushels of U.S. corn, would add about 5 cents per bushel to the price of corn, and would have a positive impact on all segments of the rural economy. Increased corn and grain prices also would reduce deficiency payments under federal farm programs.

Written comments will be accepted on the plan until Feb. 14. That will be followed by publication of EPA's final rule, expected late this spring or summer.

Comments should be submitted to: Public Docket

Nutrient Management Course Being Offered At Garrett CC

A course designed to prepare persons to take the Maryland Nutrient Management Certification Exam is being offered by Garrett Community College in cooperation with the University of Maryland, Institute of Applied Agriculture. According to Agriculture Management instructor Willie Lantz, Grain and Forage Crop Production (AGR107) will be given at the college on Thursday evenings from 7-10 p.m. beginning Feb. 24 and ending May 12, with laboratory sessions on seven Saturdays.

Students in this class will learn the proper use of farm fertilizers and will acquire experiences that enable them to prepare nutrient management plans for farmers. These plans are now being required by the state of Maryland of all farmers who intend to apply for state assistance.

Nutrient management involves an evaluation of soil type and capability, soil testing, manure analysis, fertilizer application, and soil conservation. The goal of the state nutrient management program is to reduce the amount of plant nutrients that enter the

Buntrock Sworn In As New ASCS Administrator

Grant B. Buntrock, a farm organization official with extensive experience at all levels of farm program administration, was sworn in as ASCS Administrator on November 30, 1993, by United States Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy.

Most of Buntrock's 34-year agricultural career has been with ASCS, beginning in 1959 as a program assistant in the Brown County ASCS office in Aberdeen, S. Dak. He also served as county office manager of the Day County ASCS office in Webster, S. Dak.

Buntrock came to the ASCS national office in 1967 and within 10 years advanced to assistant deputy administrator, State and County Operations (DASCO). In 1981, he became director of the Cotton, Grain and Rice Price Support Division (CGRD).

Buntrock left ASCS in 1984 to manage a 400-acre, 60-head thoroughbred horse breeding farm in Middleburg, Va. Later he established his own small horse-breeding operation where he resides near Fairfax Station, Va., a rural area within commuting distance of Washington, D.C. While still maintaining an interest in his farm, Buntrock began work in 1987 in the Washington office of the National Farmers Organization (NFO), rising to director of that office at the time of his appointment to the ASCS post.

In addition to his role as ASCS administrator, Buntrock also serves as executive vice president and member of the board of directors of the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), a post requiring confirmation by the U.S. Senate. The Senate confirmed his nomination on November 19.

"I am honored to have been selected by President Clinton and Secretary Espy to be on 'Team USDA' as the administrator of ASCS. I am looking forward to the months and years ahead working together with the good and dedicated people of ASCS. The new administration's commitment to reinventing government and improving service will be exciting and challenging for all of us," commented Buntrock.

Other ASCS assignments held by Buntrock include staff assistant in DASCO, marketing specialist in the Bin Storage Division, and branch chief in the Program Operations Division. He was born and raised on a

Area Girl Is Columnist For Horse Magazine

Miss Ashley Miller, 11 year old student at Frankfort Middle School, and the daughter of Steven and Cyglenda Miller, Keyser, W.Va., has a column in a worldwide magazine, Arabian Horse World. Published by Nat Gorham, the magazine has been in existence for over 30 years, and has never had a column devoted entirely to kids and their views and opinions of the Arabian horse industry.

Ashley, who had written to Gorham, expressing an interest in starting a column in the magazine especially for kids.

His answer stated that he would be delighted to have her as a staff writer.

He also had this to say of the young lady: "That for such a young lady, you have an actual ability to write, and I never write those words lightly. Very few folks on this or any planet actually do have that ability."

The November issue of the magazine held Ashley's first column. She had it under the name of Kid's Carousel.

Her first story was about the West Virginia All Arabian Horse Show and about the wins of her filly, Lee's Legacy, who was first place in the weanling filly halter, the prestigious winner of the Junior Champion Mare and also Freestyle Liberty Champion.

Her column will be published on a monthly basis.

Ashley is the granddaughter of Jim and Carol Wilson of Westernport; the great-granddaughter of Elsie Wilson, Westernport, and Retha Miller, New Creek, W.Va.

Next Monday evening the club will hold its monthly business meeting.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The regular meeting of the Friendsville Lions Club was held January 27 at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant with President Marlin Lawson presiding.

Numerous items were discussed. Among them is the grand opening of the Town and Community Park on May 7, featuring the 76-piece Air Force Band of Flight and Rob Smith's Buffalo Run Band. The DNR will stock 200 trout in Bear Creek from the bridge to the river for a fishing contest for the children. The Shriner Clowns will also be there and the National Guard will have an exhibit. There is a softball game tentatively scheduled between WIAF TV and the Lions Club. The club is inviting all politicians. All the entertainment will be free, but there will be a small parking fee to benefit the Disabled American Veterans.

The Lions entertainment committee met at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant on Jan. 31 to discuss when the club would have paid bands in the Town and Community Park. Those attending were chairman, Ken Metheny, Rob Smith, Wayne Friend, Bill Robinson, and Marlin Lawson. On July 2, Billy Crash Craddock and his band will be appearing in concert on the stage at the park for two shows at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. There will also be local bands performing. On Sept. 4, Jeanie C. Riley and her band will be appearing in concert on the outdoor stage at the park.

Culprits who broke into the pavilion next to the river, broke the door down, and vandalized the property they also drove vehicles in the grass at the park. Anyone with any information on this destruction of property is asked to contact any Lions Club member, any member of the Town Council, or the Maryland State Police. Lawson said the perpetrators will be prosecuted "to the fullest extent of the law."

SCOUT NEWS

Friendsville Cub Scout Pack 33 met at the Friendsville School for a pack meeting on Monday, Jan. 31.

Terry Spear, Wolf Den leader, presented the following scouts with their Bobcat badges: Phillip Friend, Travis Spear, Jason Thomas, Mark Thomas, and Shawn Rodcheaver. The boys also displayed a candle they made at Christmas time.

Jerry Sisler shared that the boys in his Bear Den were working hard in meeting the requirements for the Bear badge. During the month of January the emphasis was on the proper use of pocketknives. Scouts earning beads toward their Bear badge and earning their Whittling Chip Cards were Brian Oester, Kevin Hoover, Kody Suter, Benjamin Winter, Michael Ross, Joshua Sines, Adam Sisler, and Adam DeWitt.

Diane Wampler and Leah Huber, leaders of the Webelos Scouts recognized many of their boys' achievements. Artist Activity badges were received by Ryan Friend, Jason Fickes, Timothy Fike, James Thomas, Chad Stallman, Kenny Wampler, Blake Huber, Eric Shoemaker, Jason MacLane, Jonathan Frankowitz, Cody VanSlyke, Justin Humberston, and Jason Humberston. Compass Point Emblems were awarded to Ryan Friend, Blake Huber, and Jason MacLane. Cub Scouts Sport Belt Loops for soccer went to Ryan Friend and James Thomas. Naturalist badge went to Ryan Friend. Chad Stallman received his Outdoorsman badge. The Fitness badge and the Bobcat badge were awarded to Jason Fickes, who also received the highest award for a Cub Scout, which is his Webelos badge.

Pack leader Paula Spear explained that the pack will be having its Blue and Gold Banquet Monday, Feb. 28, in the Friendsville School cafeteria.

The pack will be organizing a pinewood derby. Any scout interested in participating is to inform his den leader.

The Ski Night at the Wisp has been re-scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 24, from 4:30 to 10 p.m. for the scouts and their families. Scouts who have not registered and wish to go skiing should call Linda Oester at 746-5367 before Feb. 9. The cost is: lift ticket, $6; rental, $5; and lesson, $5. SHS Student To Attend Nat'l Youth Forum

Adam Harvey, a junior at Southern High School, has been selected to attend the National Youth Leadership Forum on Security and Defense on February 8-13 in Washington, D.C.

During the forum, a spokesperson said, the students will go "behind the scenes" of America's defense structure to experience "hands-on" how America plans for peace and prepares for crisis. They will also go inside the Pentagon for high level briefing and discussions with senior defense department and military officials.

Adam, the son of Dennis and Brenda Harvey, Oakland, is a member of the Foster D. Bittle Chapter of the National Honor Society and has had his biography published in Who's Who Among American High School Students for the last two years. He is a member of the Southern High Track Team, and a member of the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren.

Among his sponsors for this trip to the conference are the Oakland Elks Lodge 2481, Gunders Insurance Agency, and Bausch & Lomb.

Neal Corwell, who teaches low brass at FSU, will perform his composition, Symphony, for euphonium and synthesizer.

Jon Bauman will conduct his composition, Song of the Elk, which features Christian Dickinson, solo trombone, and an ensemble comprised of Don Anderson, flute, Jeanne Friebe, clarinet, Charles and Robert Grab, trumpets, Andrew Birgensmith, trombone, Nancy Siesic, piano, and Ronald Horner, percussion. Dr. Bauman teaches music theory and composition and Anderson and Ms. Friebe teach flute and clarinet, respectively, at FSU. Christian Dickinson teaches trombone at Indiana University of Pennsylvania. This Gala Recital is the premiere performance in the new Performing Arts Center's Recital Hall, which opened this past January. The public is invited to the Gala Recital free of charge.

Extra Hours Of Assistance For Taxpayers Slated

All Maryland taxpayer service offices will offer telephone and walk-in assistance on Saturday, Feb. 5, and Saturday, Feb. 12, from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m., in addition to their regular Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. hours.

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said more and more tax returns are appearing in the Annapolis tax processing center as taxpayers receive W-2 statements from employers and information documents from financial institutions.

Taxpayers will find one change on state forms makes their calculations easier, because they won't be dealing with odd cents in their figures.

"As taxpayers work on their Maryland forms this year, they need to remember to round off all of their dollar entries," Goldstein said. "The forms are now being processed by new, high tech electronic imaging equipment which reads the numbers. To make that process go more smoothly, taxpayers should follow the instructions which say to round numbers and not to include any decimal points, cents, dollar signs or commas in their entries."

Figures from W-2s and other documents which end with 50 cents or higher should be rounded up to the next highest dollar. Figures of 49 cents or less should be rounded down to the next lowest dollar.

"Rounding dollar amounts will not only help make the electronic imaging process go more smoothly, it should also help taxpayers make their entries more quickly and with fewer math errors," Goldstein said. "Fewer math errors needing correction also saves taxpayer dollars because it reduces the cost of processing the tax return."

The State Comptroller's Office expects to process about 2.25 million Maryland income tax returns this year. More than 50,000 had been received in Annapolis by January 31, 1994.

Goldstein reminded taxpayers that free Maryland income tax assistance is available at all 19 Maryland taxpayer assistance offices.

"We'll be happy to complete your Maryland return free of charge as long as you bring a completed federal return and all W-2 forms to any Maryland taxpayer service office," he added.

The address and telephone number of all 19 Maryland taxpayer service offices are listed on the back of the state tax booklet and in most local telephone directories. The statewide toll-free number for Maryland income tax assistance is 1-800-MD TAXES.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on February 10, 1994 at 7:30 p.m. in the Planning Commission meeting room (Third Floor, Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review applications on the following docketed cases:

1) Docket VR-333; an application made by Mr. Jimmy Bailey for Variances from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the front and rear yard set-back requirements for residences. Specifically, Mr. Bailey is requesting Variances to allow the construction of a residence which would extend to within 30 feet of the front property line and to within 5 feet of the rear line instead of the required 40 feet for both front and rear yard set-backs. The property is located in the Lake Forest Estates Subdivision (Zoned LR).

2) Docket VR-334; an application made by Hugh Umbel and Jimmy Bailey for Variances from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the rear yard set-back requirements for single family residences. Specifically the applicants are requesting Variances to allow the construction of eight new single family residence on commonly owned property which would extend to within 15 feet of the rear property line instead of the required 40 feet. The property is known as the Lakewood Resorts property located on US 219 at the Deep Creek Bridge (Zoned LR).

3) Docket SE-243; an application made by Hugh Umbel and Jimmy Bailey for a Special Exception permit to allow the establishment of a commercial indoor recreational facility (health and fitness center) on the Lakewood Resorts property located on US 219 at the Deep Creek Bridge (Zoned LR).

McHENRY SEWAGE STORAGE TANK INVITATION TO BID

Receipt of Proposals

Sealed bids marked "Bid for McHenry Sewage Storage Tank" will be received by the Garrett County Sanitary Commission (hereinafter referred to as Owner), at 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse Room 200, Oakland, Maryland 21550, until 4:00 p.m. on Friday, March 4, 1994 and then there the bids will be publicly opened and read.

General Description of Work

Work to be performed under this Contract includes, but is not limited to, the construction of a concrete sewage storage tank, valve vault, pre-cast concrete control building, sewer force mains and miscellaneous other site work.

Pre-Bid Conference

A pre-bid conference will be held on Thursday, February 17, 1994 at 2:00 p.m. at the office of the Owner to answer any questions concerning the Contract Documents. All Bidders are invited to attend.

Contract Documents

Contract Documents are available for inspection during regular working hours at the Office of the Engineer, Greenhorne and O'Mara, Inc., 9001 Edmonston Road, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770, and at the Office of the Owner, 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse Room 200, Oakland, Maryland 21550.

Contract Documents may be obtained from the Owner upon written request and remittance of full payment of one hundred dollars ($100.00) for each set with checks made payable to the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc. Payment will not be refunded, said payment being retained by the Owner to cover cost of printing, handling and shipping. Requests for Contract Documents shall be submitted to:

Garrett County Sanitary Commission
313 East Alder Street
Old Courthouse Room 200
Oakland, Maryland 21550
Phone (301) 334-1980

All Bids must be made on the required Bid form. All blank spaces for Bid prices must be filled in, in ink or typewritten, and the bid form must be fully completed and executed when submitted.

All questions and request for clarification regarding the Contract Documents shall be made in writing to Mr. Jeff W. Gilbert, P.E., District Engineer for the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, at the above address.

The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or minor defects, to reject any and all Bids. Any Bid may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of Bids or authorize postponement thereof. Any Bid received after the time and date specified will not be considered. No Bidder may withdraw a Bid within 90 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the Contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the Owner and the Bidder.

Bidders must satisfy themselves of the scope of work by examination of the site and a review of the Contract Documents including Addenda. After Bids have been submitted, the Bidder shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of work or of the nature of the work to be done.

The Contract Documents contain the provisions required for the work included in the Project. Information obtained from an officer, agent or employee of the Owner or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the Contract.

Bid Security

An acceptable Bid Bond, payable to the Owner, in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid must accompany each Bid. A certified check in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid, drawn on a solvent bank chartered in the State of Maryland, and payable to the Owner, may be substituted for the Bid Bond.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign Bid Bonds, Performance Bonds, payment Bonds, or Defective Materials, Workmanship and Equipment Bonds must file with each Bond, a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The Bid Bonds of all bidders, except the bonds submitted with the three (3) lowest acceptable bids, will be returned within fifteen (15) day period following the time of opening of the bids. The Bid Bonds accompanying the three lowest acceptable bids will be returned after the Contract has been awarded to and executed by the successful bidder. Provided the Owner, for any reason whatsoever, determines that it is not in its best interest to award a Contract, the Contract award will not be made by the Owner and the Owner will not then be liable for any payments whatsoever to the Bidder. Extension of time beyond the ninety (90) day period of the award may be made only by mutual agreement between the Owner, the Bidder and Bidder's Surety.

The party to whom the Contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement and obtain the required Bonds within ten (10) calendar days from the date when Notice of Award is delivered to the Bidder. The Notice of Award will be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and Bond forms. In case of failure of the Bidder to execute the Agreement, the Owner may, at his option, consider the Bidder in default, in which case the Bid Bond accompanying the proposal shall become the property of the Owner.

The Owner within ten (10) days of receipt of acceptable Bonds and Agreement signed by the party to whom the Contract was awarded, will sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the Bidder may, by written Notice, withdraw his signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of notice by the Owner. A conditional or qualified Bid will not be accepted.

Award will be made by the Owner to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over the work shall apply to the Contract throughout.

Time for Completion

The successful bidder will be required to fully complete all contract work within two hundred seventy (270) consecutive calendar days from and including the date of receipt from the owner of a formal notice to proceed.

Award of Contract

The award of any contract will be made by the Owner. Bidders are cautioned that bids that are deemed by the Owner to be obviously unbalanced may be rejected.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any proposal for failure to comply with all requirements of this notice or of any of the Contract Documents; however, it may waive any minor defects or informalities at its discretion.

The Owner further reserves the right to reject all proposals, or to award a contract or contracts which in its judgment is in the best interest of the Owner.

Non-discrimination of Employment

Notice of Requirement for Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities

Bidders and offerors are cautioned as follows. By signing this bid or offer, the bidder or offeror will be deemed to have signed and agreed to the provisions of the "Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities" in this solicitation. The certification provides that the bidder or offeror does not maintain or provide for his employees facilities which are segregated on a basis of race, creed, color, or national origin, whether such facilities are segregated by directive or on a de facto basis. The certification also provides that he will not maintain such segregated facilities. Failure or a bidder or offeror to agree to the Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities will render his bid or offer non-responsive to the terms of solicitations.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Oakland Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on February 15, 1994 at 7:00 p.m. in the Oakland Town Hall (Town Council meeting room). The Board will review an application made by Alan Laverdure for a Special Exception to allow the establishment of a light plastic molding operation in a portion of an existing building on his property in the CBA-Central Business Area zone. Additionally, Mr. Laverdure is seeking a variance from the minimum land area per use requirement.

There were, historically, seven uses on the property. Currently there are seven uses and the plastic molding operation would be the eighth use, if approved.

The property is located at 215 E. Green Street in Oakland. All interested persons are invited to attend.

STANDING TIMBER FOR SALE

Contract SR-09-94

The Maryland State Forest and Park Service is offering for sale the following timber in three separate parcels of 28 acres of Compartment #69 and #71 of Savage River State Forest. This sale is estimated to cut 226,064 BD FT of live sawtimber, according to the International "A" Saw Kerf Rule, and 179 cords of hardwood pulpwood, more or less. All tallied trees 11" D.B.H. and larger with at least one 16' log to a 8" top D.I.B. with less than 50 percent defect were tallied as sawtimber.

Timber is located along Maynard Ridge Road, approximately two miles east of Bittinger. Timber is offered for sale subject to the following conditions:

1. Timber will be shown at 9:00 a.m. on Monday, Feb. 14, 1994. Anyone interested in seeing this timber may meet at the Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department Parking Lot.

2. Contract/Bid Forms will be available at the showing or from the Savage River State Forest Headquarters, Rt. 2, Box 63-A, Grantsville, MD 21536 or phone 301-895-5759.

3. A Security Bond in the amount of 10 percent of the bid submitted must be posted upon submission of the bid to the Maryland State Forest and Park Service.

4. The operator must be a registered Forest Product Operator in Maryland for 1994 and hold a Certificate of Erosion and Sediment Control (Green/Gold Card) training to be awarded successful bidding.

5. A Performance Bond in the amount of 10 percent of the bid submitted must be posted upon acceptance of the contract by the State of Maryland. The Security Bond may be applied to cover the Performance Bond.

6. All timber volumes noted in this offering are estimates. Parties bidding on this timber should determine such volumes to their own satisfaction. NO adjustments on the basis of volumes will be made with buyers.

7. Bidder may pay 50 percent of bid price on acceptance of the contract, with the remaining 50 percent payable within 90 calendar days from bid acceptance. If buyer selects this option, the delayed payment must be covered by a payment surety bond in form acceptable to the state.

8. Bids will be received up until 1 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 28, 1994.

Hoyes-Sang Run House Guttered By Fire Yesterday

Fire believed to have been caused by electric baseboard gutted the interior of a one-story wood-frame house, located along Hoyes-Sang Run Road, Wednesday afternoon.

Fire fighters from Accident, Deep Creek, and Oakland volunteer fire departments were called to the residence of Donna Shafer at 4:11 p.m. after Ms. Shafer returned home to find the windows of the house blackened and heavy smoke emerging from the two-bedroom structure. She had left the house at about 11 a.m.

Firemen brought the blaze under control and confined the fire damage to the living room and another smaller room; however, the rest of the house was heavily damaged by heat and smoke, and Ms. Shafer lost nearly all of her possessions, according to James Martin, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties. Martin estimated the loss to be at least $60,000. He said Ms. Shafer has insurance on the property.

Martin believed the fire was caused by combustibles located too close to the electric baseboard in the living room. He said there was a hole burned through the living room floor.

Also responding to the scene, about one mile west of Rt. 42, was the county air cascade vehicle, presently housed at Deer Park VED, and the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Fire fighters remained on the scene for about three hours.

Local Hospital Urging Family-Only Visitation

Officials at Garrett County Memorial Hospital have requested that visitation of current patients be limited to family members only, in light of recent viral outbreaks in the local area.

Persons with colds, upper respiratory infections, and/or gastro-intestinal illness symptoms are strongly requested to not visit hospital patients nor nursing home residents until further notice.

POTOMAC EDISON CREWS and others from as far away as North Carolina have been working around the clock in Garrett County attempting to restore power to some 5,000 residents whose electricity was interrupted by literally hundreds of downed lines. The damage was caused by a severe ice/sleet storm Tuesday afternoon and evening. Some 3,500 residents were still without electricity this morning. A spokesman for PE advises residents to check on their neighbors, particularly those who are elderly, to make sure they are safe and able to cope with the situation until power can be restored.

WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE... Over three inches of rain fell in the southern half of Garrett County Tuesday and Wednesday, resulting in flooding along a number of waterways. This photo was taken in Crellin, where most residents were evacuated at about midday Wednesday because of waters that crested the banks of Snowy Creek and the Youghiogheny River. The flooding followed a sleet storm Tuesday that caused severe damage to trees and loss of power to nearly half of Garrett County.

Accident Man Gored By Bull At Pa. Auction

An Accident auctioneer was seriously injured last Friday when a 1,700-pound bull gored him in the abdomen. Blaine Joseph Friend, 51, is scheduled to be released today from Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., where he has been recovering from the attack that took place at the Pennsylvania Livestock Auction in Waynesburg, Pa.

Friend is the owner of the Pa. Livestock Auction and had bought the bull on Thursday. He was apparently leading the animal to a stall when it turned, charged, and rammed him with one of its 10-inch horns. Friend was thrown into the air, struck the ground, and the bull continued to maul him, according to a witness. Blaine J. Friend Jr., 25, was able to get the animal away from his father, according to reports.

The victim was taken to Greene County airport and then flown to Ruby Memorial by HealthNet. He required several hours of surgery to repair the damages caused by the bull.

GCC Receives Accreditation

The year 1993 ended on a high note for administrators, faculty, and staff of Garrett Community College when official word was received from the Commission on Higher Education of the Middle States Association that the accreditation of the college had been reaffirmed with no qualifications. The Periodic Review Report submitted by the college last June was accepted and the college was commended for the quality of the report.

College president Dr. Steve Herman commented on the news in a letter to GCC faculty and staff. "After 7½ years we have regained fully our standing with the Middle States Association. This achievement is paramount in the life of our college, and all of you deserve a great round of applause... Middle States reaffirmation of accreditation without any qualification whatever is yet another sign that GCC is a good college doing a good job." Herman especially offered congratulations to Don Storck for compiling the research for the report and for "doing a superb job" in authoring it.

In congratulating the college faculty and staff, Herman stated, "You have done a great job! I look forward to the new year and the years ahead as we make a good college a great college."

The Middle States Association accreditation process requires that member institutions undergo a process of self-study in preparation for an on-site visit of an evaluation team at least once every 10 years. A Periodic Review Report is usually prepared and submitted to the Commission five years following the on-site visit.

With Garrett Community College's most recent accreditation, no current follow-up is required.

Lake Group Wants Commissioners To Consider Buying Deep Creek Lake

Representatives of the Deep Creek Lake Business Owners' Association (DCLBOA) have asked the Garrett County Commissioners to consider the option of purchasing Deep Creek Lake from Pennsylvania Electric Company (PEN-ELC) which, they said, would result in the county having control over lake user fees and, in the long run, produce more revenue with an increased tax base.

The suggestion came this week during a meeting held between the commissioners, the business owners' group, and Mike Belmonte, president of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association (DCLPOA).

"We need advice. We need help, and we've been ignored by our own legislators," said Elaine MacDonald, DCLBOA member and co-owner of Silver Tree Inn. After telling the commissioners she felt the recent proposal by PEN-ELC to significantly raise the lake user fees was "unconscionable," MacDonald stated that a precedent had been set for such an action with the purchase of Bedford Springs Lake in a nearby county.

Jim Lascaris, also part owner of Silver Tree Inn, pointed out that fees collected for lake use are currently going to Pennsylvania. "At least if you owned the lake, the money would stay here," he said, adding that the purchase

A SPECIAL RIBBON-CUTTING was held Monday morning at Frostburg State University, as Governor William Donald Schaefer was on hand to officially open the new $19 million Performing Arts Center at Frostburg State University. An estimated 400 invited guests attended the dedication and ribbon-cutting, held in the center's 473-seat recital hall. Two other theaters, along with numerous rehearsal and music practice rooms, classrooms, conference rooms, and offices are located in the building. Others helping the governor cut the ribbon were Delegate Cas Taylor, FSU student Susan Llewellyn, State Comptroller Louis Goldstein, FSU President Catherine Gira, and Department of General Services Secretary Martin Walsh Jr. At right, Dr. Gira and Governor Schaefer admire the interior of the main lobby, as does Comptroller Goldstein, in the far left of the photo.

Disparity Grant Sought For Mgmt. Of Solid Waste

The Garrett County Commissioners recently requested that District I-A Delegate George C. Edwards submit a bill to the Maryland General Assembly that would assist the poorer local jurisdictions in offsetting the cost of solid waste management according to new state regulations.

The legislation was suggested to the commissioners by Rodney Giotfelty, director of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling, who explained that the cost of compliance with those regulations will have a "great impact" on county finances.

The funds would be requested in the form of a disparity grant.

The proposal states, "Legislative action is needed to develop a state grant

Diverse Weather Causes Floods, Power Outages, Property Damage

Shifting weather patterns and remarkable temperature fluctuations have been the cause of severe dilemmas in Garrett County over the past several days. An ice storm on Tuesday left thousands of Potomac Edison customers without electricity, some for only an hour and others for days. According to John Hollis, public relations spokesperson, 3,500 customers remain without electricity today, out of the original 5,000 affected. The company expects to have all power restored by Saturday, Hollis said.

Flooding has also been a problem, the result of several inches of rain and freezing rain on Tuesday and Wednesday. The Youghiogheny River and the North Branch of the Potomac both rose far above their banks, prompting the evacuation of several residents in Crellin and Shallmar. According to a spokesperson from the Garrett County Roads Department, four roads remained closed this morning because of high water: Silver Knob, Crellin Mine, Ault House Hill, and Grantsville's River Road. Shady Dell Road is only one-way.

The hardest hit sites for power outages were Oakland, Crellin, and Red House, where on Tuesday evening several transformers exploded and countless wires fell because of ice or falling trees. Three-point-three inches of freezing rain fell during the afternoon and evening in the area, as opposed to .3 inches in Hoyes and 1.68 at Keyser's Ridge. In four hours, the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department responded to 18 calls for downed wires and other related incidents. Several trees and large limbs, weighted down with the ice, fell across roadways and against houses. Nearly every yard was littered with branches.

Hollis said Friendsville and Kitzmiller residents were also highly affected by power outages and ice difficulties, as well as people in the Deep Creek Lake area.

Additionally, Friendsville residents were forced to contend with flooding. That town's fire department and other volunteers spent several hours yesterday sandbagging the banks of the Yough, as its waters were dangerously close to contaminating the town's water treatment plant. Apparently the sandbagging was effective and the treat-

Bender Family Inducted Into State Agricultural Hall Of Fame

The Oren C. Bender family of The Cove was one of two farm families inducted into the Maryland Agricultural Hall of Fame by state Ag Secretary Robert Walker February 3. The ceremony honoring the two families - the Benders and the Donald E. Cole family, of Hampstead in Baltimore County - was the highlight of the 1994 Maryland Agriculture Dinner at Martin's West in Baltimore.

The annual dinner, which was celebrating its 25th year, is designed to salute Maryland's farmers and bring together farmers and ag and political leaders. The event attracted about 700 Maryland agriculturalists and state politicians.

Gov. William Donald Schaefer, who was scheduled to present the honors, was unable to attend. Oren Bender, his wife, Fannie, and their six children - Robert, Patricia, Douglas, Kevin, Sheila and Brian - have been farming in Garrett County for 38 years. They operate Cove Run Farms. According to the Maryland Department of Agriculture, their farm "exemplifies the highest standards of efficiency and conservation and is a showplace for the entire Western Maryland region."

Secretary Walker said of the Benders, "Besides running a successful dairy farm, the Benders are heavily involved with their community. They have a reputation of always being willing to help and they have provided opportunities for young families to enter the dairy business."

Garrett County Extension Agent Jim Simms stated that the county is very proud to have "one of our own" chosen for the state-wide honor.

Donald Cole, his wife, Betty, and their three children have a 1,100-acre livestock and field crop operation.

Gov. William Donald Schaefer and former ag secretary Wayne Cawley created the ag hall of fame four years ago to honor farming leaders. The hall of fame is in the Maryland Department of Agriculture building in Annapolis.

Pa. Woman Granted PBJ In ATM Attack

A Farmington, Pa., woman was granted probation before judgment on charges of intoxication and endangerment by Judge Ralph Burnett in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

Angela E. Ross, 23, pleaded guilty and was placed on one year of supervised probation and fined $150. She must also pay $199.05 restitution to American Trust Bank. In a plea agreement with the state's attorney's office, one count of malicious destruction of property valued at less than $300 was not prosecuted.

According to court records, Ross had been charged with the offense following an attack on an automated teller machine (ATM) at American Trust Bank's McHenry location on Aug. 25, 1993. While intoxicated, she had attempted to use the machine, which had been used minutes before by a companion, and reportedly had operated properly. The card was apparently bent or scratched, and was confiscated by the machine. Ross then reportedly struck and "endangered the safety" of the ATM and jammed 13 of the 15 keys, rendering it useless until the next day.

A verdict of not guilty was granted to Glenn Sharpless, 36, Kitzmiller, following a charge of possession with intent to deliver contraband to an inmate, involving an incident Sept. 29, 1993, at Garrett County Jail, a designated smoke-free facility. The defendant had been charged with the offense by Deputy D.E. DeBerry, who said Sharpless had handed him a pouch of chewing tobacco that, upon inspection, was found to also contain cigarette tobacco.

Charges of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and possession of CDS paraphernalia with intent to use were not prosecuted against Martin J. Mullen of Export, Pa. He had previously pleaded to those charges after an arrest May 29, 1993, at Swallow Falls State Park. At that time, Mullen was found to be in possession of marijuana and CDS paraphernalia, as well as a "LED Zepplin" mirror and a straw, which were sent to the Maryland State Police Crime Lab for analysis. A report about the mirror was returned in August 1993 and indicated it showed traces of cocaine.

Diana L. Gower, 31, Huntington, W.Va., was granted probation before judgment on a marijuana possession charge. She was fined $150 and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. In a plea agreement with the state's attorney's office, a charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Clarence E. Gower, 28, Huntington, was also charged with those offenses, but they were not prosecuted.

Trooper J.R. Lindal of the Maryland State Police had stopped the Gower vehicle on July 1, 1993, during "Operation Intercept," a drug interdiction program set up on Maryland highways by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, in cooperation with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the MSP. Upon inspection of the vehicle, the trooper noticed suspected marijuana cigarettes in the ashtray, and two clear plastic bags containing marijuana in the trunk.

In other District Court news, a plea of guilty was entered by Philip E. Grauel, 22, Edgewater, following his arrest at a local state park campsite, Sept. 3, 1993, for use of CDS paraphernalia and possession with intent to use. He was fined $300 and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. A charge of CDS possession was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney's office and statements made by a co-defendant.

Grauel, co-defendant John Grauel, and a juvenile were approached by park rangers in an attempt to enforce quiet hours at their campsite. The rangers subsequently noticed a lighted object being passed among the men and found it to be a marijuana pipe. More CDS and paraphernalia were located in a vehicle owned by John Grauel. A charge of battery against Thomas D. Durst, 29, Grantsville, and several charges against Douglas G. Wilburn, 30, Grantsville, including harassment, assault and negligent driving, were placed on the set docket.

Sarbanes To Visit Oakland Feb. 16

Maryland U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes this week announced that he will be in Oakland on Wednesday, February 16, from noon until 2 p.m., to meet individually with constituents about matters relating to the federal government and to hear their views on matters before the Congress.

"As part of my continuing efforts to stay in close touch with the people of Maryland, I will be available to meet with Marylanders at the Garrett County Commissioners' meeting room in the courthouse in Oakland," Sarbanes said. "I encourage individuals with concerns related to the federal government to stop by to discuss them with me."

Schlosnagle Is Re-Elected As Friends. Mayor

Spencer Schlosnagle was re-elected for a fifth term as the mayor of Friendsville in that town's municipal election Tuesday. The incumbent mayor kept his post with 99 votes, winning out over challenger Joseph Sessa, who received 58. James Spear, a write-in candidate, received 17 votes.

Council members elected were Hershchal Allen, 110 votes; Carroll Forsyth, 106; and Harry Hobert Griffith, 147 votes. The fourth candidate, Lucile Sines, was two votes short in obtaining a council seat, receiving 104.

According to a town council spokesperson, out of the 256 registered voters, 180 residents took part in the election. Four ballots were rejected because of improper markings.

The mayor and council members will serve two-year terms. Hold-over council members are Melvin Eike, Wayne Friend, and James Spear.

Thefts Probed By Sheriff's Office; Arrests Noted

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office received several reports of theft this past week, and also logged four arrests, one of which for suspected child abuse.

Michael W. Frey, Mtn. Lake Park, reported to police the theft of a stereo system from his vehicle. The Eagle Talon was parked at Team One car dealership, Oakland, on Feb. 4, and was last checked at 5 p.m. On the following morning, an employee noticed that wires were hanging from the vehicle and he soon discovered that the system had been removed.

Frey told police that he had installed the system just two months ago, and that it was worth $1,326.

Several items were apparently stolen from a farm tractor which was parked in a field bordering Boiling Springs Road. Everett DeBerry owns the vehicle, according to the report, and noticed the items to be gone last week.

Taken were a 12-volt battery and several tools. The toolbox was destroyed as well. There was no estimation of loss indicated in the report. The theft apparently took place sometime during the last two weeks of January.

In a separate case, Joan R. Bowers contacted police when she discovered the apparent theft of a radar detector and other items from her vehicle. The vehicle was parked near the intersection of Kings Run Road and Oakland-Deer Park Road at the time of the theft, which was the early morning of Feb. 1.

The Micronta radar detector's worth was estimated at $150, and two cassette tapes, also stolen, were estimated at $10.

Arrests
An Oakland man was arrested this week, charged with child abuse and assault and battery. Calvin R. Schrock, 31, is accused of abusing a child who was in his care at the time. The incident took place during the week of Nov. 23-Dec. 1. There were no further details in the report.

A two-year-old warrant was served for the arrest of Frank D. Futch, 36, Swanton. The arrest warrant was issued in May 1992, according to the report. He is accused of attempting to drive his vehicle over Donald Duckworth, and of harassing him at his home.

Terry L. Ford, 31, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant. He is accused of violating his probation, according to the report.

An out-of-county arrest warrant was served to Gordon R. Maule, 44, King Wildeson Road. The warrant was issued from Allegany District Court, charging Maule with failure to appear in court to face a bad check charge.

Commemoration Of WWII Group To Meet Feb. 18

An organizational meeting of the county committee planning the commemoration of World War II has been set for next Friday, February 18, from 1 to 3 p.m. in Room 306 of Garrett Community College. All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting, according to Paul Shogren, organizer of the event.

"Fifty years after this great global conflict, the aftermath of the war is still with us," Shogren said. "Younger generations need to understand how momentous the war was and the all-out effort it took to win. We want to have people of the war generation share their experiences of the war and the drastic changes it brought to the American way of life."

The county committee being organized will have a number of suggested activities to consider for the three-year commemoration. These include: collecting and publishing oral histories from county residents living during the war era, conducting classes, seminars, and discussions on topics dealing with military actions, diplomatic negotiations, and home front activity, as well as moral and philosophical aspects of the war; developing exhibits of art, photography, music, propaganda, and war memorabilia; planning visits to World War II museums; organizing special activities to commemorate important events of the war.

Anyone desiring further information about the commemoration committee may call Shogren at 387-3013.

Child Passenger Safety Week Set For Feb. 13-19

The Maryland Department of Transportation, State Highway Administration, has designated Feb. 13-19 as Child Passenger Safety Week.

"All Maryland law enforcement officers will show their care for children by encouraging motorists to buckle up the ones they love," an MDOT spokesperson said.

"Unfortunately, there are a number of parents who do not use the required safety seats and seatbelts despite all the education and encouragement they have been given," said the spokesperson.

Maryland law requires that children under the age of 4 years or weighing 40 pounds or less be secured in approved child safety seats. They are to be transported in passenger cars, multi-purpose vehicles, or pickup trucks rated at 3/4 ton or less.

If a child weighs over 40 pounds and is 4 years old or more, but less than 10 years, they must be secured in a approved child safety seat or seatbelt/shoulder harness, regardless of their seating position.

A violation of these laws presently carries a fine of $40 with a maximum of $500.

The Maryland State Police, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and the Oakland City Police Department will be combining efforts to ensure that all children are properly buckled up. The officers from the various enforcement agencies will be monitoring sites such as schools, day care centers, and shopping centers during the designated week.

"Our departments are asking you to make our jobs easier and your lives happier by voluntarily buckling your favorite valentines in their seats," the spokesperson said. "If you use your safety equipment, they will follow your example."

DWI-Related Fatalities Down In Garrett Co.

A report issued this week by the Maryland State Police notes Garrett County has seen a decrease in fatal traffic collisions involving the use of alcohol.

Five alcohol-related fatalities occurred in 1991, and two each in 1992 and 1993, according to the report.

"One of the goals of the state police is to eliminate fatal collisions involving intoxicated drivers on roadways within Garrett County in 1994," said 1st Sgt. Stanton of Barrack "W." "Saturation patrols will be used in areas of frequent DWI violations, utilizing federal overtime funds.

"Times of frequent DWI violations will continue to be targeted for specific enforcement. Continued enforcement, coupled with public awareness, demonstrated that alcohol-related fatalities have been reduced since the program's inception," Stanton said.

In January, MSP investigated two collisions in which alcohol was found to be a contributing factor. During that month, the agency arrested four people in Garrett County for driving while intoxicated, the report concluded.

BROKEN BRANCHES AND TOPPLED TREES were left in the wake of a storm that hit the area on Tuesday and Wednesday when approximately three and one-half inches of freezing rain and sleet fell — the weight of which was just too much for many trees to bear. The storm was reportedly more severe in the southern part of the county.

Two-Vehicle Mishap Results In DWI Charge

Alcohol was reportedly a contributing factor in a two-vehicle accident on Saturday, resulting in minor injuries, according to a report filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater of Maryland State Police, Barrack "W," McHenry.

David R. Armstrong, 21, Kitzmiller, who was operating a 1988 Pontiac Grand Am, was charged with driving while intoxicated, and several other related traffic citations, in the 3:40 p.m. accident on the White Church-Steyer Road, near Gorman. He and his passenger, Daniel A. DeWitt, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, sustained minor injuries and were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. They were treated and later released.

According to the police report, the driver of the other vehicle, Robert W. Stemple, 34, Oakland, had swung his '81 Chevy Silverado across the center line and was attempting to back into a private driveway. Armstrong, who was traveling north at an apparent high rate of speed, skidded 173 feet before colliding with Stemple's vehicle.

Stemple, who was reportedly not injured, was cited for failure to keep right of center.

Bloodmobile Nets 42 Pints During Friday Visit

The American Red Cross bloodmobile collected 42 pints of blood during its regular visit to Friendsville on Friday, according to Esther Benedict, coordinator.

Forty-seven persons presented themselves and five were deferred for various reasons. Cheryl Spiker, Burton Lytle, and Sandra Rodeheaver became one-gallon donors at the visit. Belinda Benedict and Mary Frantz reached the two-gallon level, and Carl Lohr became a three-gallon donor.

The next bloodmobile visit to Friendsville will be June 10. The bloodmobile will be at the National Guard Armory in Oakland on February 25.

Oakland Election Set; Deadline For Filing Noted

The Oakland municipal election is scheduled to take place on Monday, March 14. Terms will expire for the mayor, three councilpersons, and councilpersons. No candidates have filed for the election as of this week, and the filing deadline is Friday, March 4.

Those who are currently serving in the terms noted are Asa McCain, mayor; Councilpersons Harold Cannon, Margaret Jamison, Mary Lou Stemple, and Blair Glass, treasurer.

Any resident of Oakland, age 18 or over, may register to vote at the Oakland Municipal Building during regular office hours. The town of Oakland maintains a separate register of voters, but those persons who have registered at the Board of Elections Supervisors office after Jan. 1, 1990, are automatically qualified to vote in the March election.

Open registration will continue until 4:30 p.m. on Friday, March 4. The deadline for obtaining absentee ballots is Monday, March 7.

Oakland Man Is Sentenced For Drug Conviction

An Oakland man will spend six months in the Garrett County Jail, sentenced to the term by Judge Fred A. Thayer of Garrett County Circuit Court. Henry L. Steyer, 34, had pleaded guilty in October 1993 to the charge of possession of marijuana, and at that time a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Thayer.

Steyer was indicted by the September Term Grand Jury. The investigation that preceded the indictment was apparently conducted by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

Thayer sentenced Steyer to one year in the local prison, but suspended six months of the sentence and placed the defendant on three years of probation.

Health Dept. Announces Second Rabies Case

The Garrett County Health Department has announced the second local laboratory confirmed case of rabies of 1994. A raccoon which fought with a turkey, a dog, and a cat was confirmed positive for the rabies virus by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Rabies Laboratory on January 25.

One individual is currently receiving rabies post-exposure treatment after her dog jumped up on her shortly after the incident. The raccoon was observed on property located in the Swanton area. The animal was apparently peering in a window of a house when a dog broke its chain and attacked the raccoon. The diseased animal was shot by the residents of the property.

After shooting the raccoon, the property owners traced the movements of the animal while on the premises and observed that an unvaccinated cat on the property had exposure, as well as the currently vaccinated dog. In addition, one in a group of penned turkeys was found to be injured. The turkey and unvaccinated cat were destroyed. The dog has received a rabies booster and will be closely observed for 90 days.

After the raccoon was shot, the owner of the dog used correct protocol by putting on gloves before retying the pet and then she washed her hands thoroughly. While the exposure to her dog was minimal, the owner reportedly opted for post-exposure treatment as she had cuts on her hands.

The public is reminded once again to keep the vaccination status of dogs and cats current. Dogs and cats can be vaccinated against the rabies virus as young as three months of age. Health Department-sponsored rabies clinics will not be held until spring, thus pet owners are urged to contact local veterinarians to arrange for the vaccination of their pets.

MSP Initiates Anti-Ski Theft Program At Wisp

The Maryland State Police have initiated a program aimed at reducing ski thefts at the Wisp Resort. Troopers have been conducting periodic patrols of the resort in an effort to deter thefts, according to a news release from 1st Sgt. Stanton of Barrack "W."

To date, the program has resulted in the recovery of three pairs of skis, two arrests for ski thefts, two arrests for possession of CDS and the recovery of a quantity of marijuana, Stanton reports.

In a report filed this week by the MSP, a 17-year-old juvenile was arrested at the Wisp Resort on Saturday, Feb. 5, for allegedly using a counterfeit season's pass on the ski lift.

The program uses undercover troopers for surveillance and will continue throughout the remainder of the ski season.

In a related report, police say a pair of 190 Blizzard skis was returned to the owner, following an alleged theft from a car parked outside a tavern in McHenry on Feb. 6. Joseph M. Robinson, Crownsville, was arrested at the Will O' the Wisp, where he was reportedly staying, following the 1:15 a.m. incident.

program to aid the smaller counties in Maryland, with populations under 50,000, deal with the staggering cost impacts related to compliance with recently enacted federal and state laws and regulations pertaining to solid waste management."

Giofletty noted that the financial impact of compliance with the provisions of Subtitle D of the federal RCRA regulations, which took effect on October 13, is "particularly troublesome" for small subdivisions. The regulations require expensive measures to properly close the existing landfills, and include capping the previously filled areas, monitoring groundwater, and constructing collection, treatment, and storage facilities for the disposal of leachate for years to come.

"The costs associated with proper closure of even small existing landfills often exceeds several million dollars with ongoing costs associated with leachate and gas management," said Giofletty. "In order to help small subdivisions deal with these excessive costs, grant funding should be made available much in the same way as was done when the Clean Water Act required the construction of expen-

A Matter of Access...

Monday of this week will probably not be remembered well into the future, however, there were two significant events that were held within just a few hours of each other, that could certainly be described as historic for local residents.

The first was the ribbon-cutting ceremony at Frostburg State University's new Performing Arts Center, a fabulous $19 million structure that houses not one, but three, theaters for the performing arts, as well as practice rooms, regular classrooms, and offices. The building greatly enhances the arts curricula at Frostburg State, and will thus encourage top quality students in that field to select FSU as their college. It will also provide to area residents, including all of us in Garrett County, greater access to some of the finest performing arts in the country.

The second event of Monday, February 7, that we predict will have even greater significance to our county was the "inauguration" of the Western Maryland Learning Network, an interactive video/audio system that renders distance virtually inconsequential. GCC students will have the opportunity to take classes that may be taught by top experts in the field without ever having to leave the McHenry Campus. Unlike the old taped television lectures used at major universities, these will be taught live. The instructors will be "present" on a television screen, and all of the students, regardless of their location, will have the capability of asking questions and conversing with each other.

Presently the network includes just Garrett and Allegany community colleges and Hagerstown Junior College, but will ultimately link every college in the state, as well as a number of high schools. We in rural Maryland are the first in the state to be afforded this incredible technology, the use of which is certainly not limited to college instruction. Its many other applications include health care, business, and government, as people can be "beamed together" from great distances to more effectively, more efficiently, and more economically solve the problems at hand.

It is exciting to realize that Garrett County and its college are literally on the leading edge of this technology.

Access is the word that comes to mind in reference to both of Monday's events; access to culture and the arts, and access to the best in education and information.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Most of us have been affected in some way by the recent local tragedies. It is touching how a small town comes together to help each other cope.

The most recent news is that of the Yoder family, who was in Honduras donating their time doing missionary work. Taken in a fatal accident were Eli and Mary. Injured were three of their children; two of them were critical.

Those who were fortunate to have met the Yoders know that they are a genuinely friendly family. When Dr. Dona Alvarez and Dr. Jerry Adams heard of the news, they immediately began plans to bring the girls back home. They both gave their time and risked their own lives to personally transport Martha and Mary Kathryn Yoder back to the U.S. so they could receive their medical care and be near their family.

I am fortunate to work for Dona. I don't know of anyone who has a bigger heart than she.

This goes without saying how much Dr. Alvarez and Dr. Adams are appreciated for what they've done and how lucky we are to have these two special physicians in our community.

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to the Garrett County commissioners requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Commissioners:
I would like to strongly endorse Howard Baillie's letter of December 5, 1993, on the subject of assessments for the county landfill.

He is absolutely correct in stating that the funding of landfills should be based on usage and not on property value. In spite of the fact that lake-front property owners supply over one-half of the Garrett County budget through their property taxes, we do not have any garbage pickup and minimal police protection. My use of the county dump, and the use by many other weekenders, amounts to one, or at the most two, garbage bags a week, which I must take to the dumpsters at Mt. Nebo. For at least half of the year, I have absolutely no refuse going to the county landfill.

One further suggestion: if you decide to have surveillance over the dumpsters, why don't you pay the local residents who spend a good part of their time picking through the dumpsters for salvageable materials a nominal fee for watching for violators? For $10-15 per week they would be glad to write down the license plates of violators. We don't need full-time employees.

Very truly yours,
J. Baird Atwood

To the Editor:

Originally, we hoped to write this when our family left the area back in July of '93, but upon returning to Oakland for the Ashby-Frantz funerals, it makes it more imperative to write this to you.

We want to thank the community of Oakland and Garrett County for allowing us to be a part of you while we were residing in Oakland. You have taught us much and have shared even more.

We are proud that both of our children are both Garrett counts, and so a part of you shall always be with us.

As a community, you have always rallied together in times of need and tragedy.

Always be proud of who you are, for you are of great worth. You need never to defend nor take issue as to your identity.

Pam Ashby was proud of you. And so are we.

God's continued blessings,

Last week the Associated Press widely circulated an article about shooting deaths exceeding the number of traffic fatalities in Washington, D.C., Maryland, and other states. This is indeed tragic, but is lack of gun control to blame?

Our governor chooses to respond with another push to increase gun control. He and others should take note that those states, and especially DC, with the highest tolls already have the toughest, most restrictive gun regulations in the country. Common sense tells us that criminals don't hesitate to practice where they are not likely to be met with resistance by law-abiding citizens with legal guns. Just like the fact that criminals have little or no fear of the penalty if caught because of our judicial leniency, they also are not deterred when they know those of us who play by the rules (laws) no longer have the freedom to defend ourselves with a gun.

Gun control is not logical. Criminals will not respect the laws. If they even thought some citizens might have guns to protect themselves (not knowing who those some might be) the effect would be a crime deterrent benefitting everyone. Controlling access to guns for the general population only makes the way that much easier for criminals.

Restricting victims' rights to possible defense and protection will not deter or reduce crime. Let's be realistic and fair; gun control is not the panacea the regulators would have us believe. Taking guns away from responsible citizens sends a loud and clear message to the law-breakers: "Open season!" No, thanks!

I am writing in response to the obituary of Donald Friend that recently appeared in your publication. Amazingly, I was listed as his "step-daughter," an innocuous statement laden with deception. The late Mr. Friend was actually a complete stranger to me. Perhaps this was meant to be some symbolic gesture that might open hermetically sealed doors long held closed by the passage of some thirty-odd years. In crimes of the heart, one never knows the reasons.

Finally, my purpose for writing is not to cause malice or distress to his mourning family, but to merely set the record straight. My father raised me with my dear grandmother's help. All that I have become I owe to their direction, love and guidance. My father is alive and doing well. My grandmother died nearly 13 years ago. And as for my "step-father," he never existed.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Northern Garrett and Allegany High School cheerleading squads on their outstanding performances at the Maryland State Cheerleading Championship held at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Although they did not win their divisions, they did an excellent job representing their schools and Western Maryland. I believe, as many of the fans at Cole Field House that, both schools should have finished higher than they did. It is apparent that some people still think Maryland stops in Frederick!

Great job girls, and keep up the good work. Also a great job was done by the advisors of both teams and I want to say congratulations to them as well.

John G. Braskey

To the Editor:

The news release concerning increased user fees for Deep Creek Lake in last week's Republican did not show the percent increase nor explain the reason for the increase. I thought many of your readers might be interested in the following information.

A type A dock, which is for a private residence and includes two power boats (such as sail) will increase 300 percent to $150 or $50 per boat. A common dock slip, such as enjoyed by those who have lake access lots will increase 500 percent to $125 per boat. A mooring at one of the sailing clubs will increase 700 percent to $175 per boat. I am not aware of the rationale for these differences.

The need for increases came about because the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) no longer has jurisdiction over Deep Creek Lake. Under FERC, Pennsylvania Electric Company was required to provide public access. Thus they needed the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to provide that access and manage the lake. Without FERC, Penn Elec. does not need the DNR, thus they want the DNR to pay them.

Last year Penn Elec. paid DNR $45,000. This year Penn Elec. wants to be paid $45,000 plus another $180,000 as return on their buller strip investment. Last year the State of Maryland provided $105,000 for the Lake Management Office. For some reason this year their contribution will be zero.

A little known fact is that the fees collected will go to Penn Elec. and to support the Lake Management Office. They will not provide for the DNR police who patrol the lake.

Sincerely,
Ted Rissell

Gypsy Moth

Update

by James W. Simms
Extension Agent, Agriculture

Do You Have Questions Concerning This Year's Spraying Program?

All of the maps indicating the area to be sprayed for gypsy moth this coming spring are in place at all Ruth Enlow Library branches and the Garrett County Extension Office. If you have any concerns, the Maryland Department of Agriculture will be available on Feb. 15 (Tuesday) from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office Meeting Room to respond to your concerns. If you are not included in the spray area, but have a high egg mass population, this is your opportunity to present the problem to MDA.

More BT Insecticide Will Be Sprayed

BT (Bacillus thuringiensis) and Dimlin will be the two insecticides that will be used to suppress the gypsy moth this coming spring. BT is a bacteria that attacks the gypsy moth caterpillar. A larger percentage of the acreage will be sprayed with BT than in past spray programs. Recently, improvements have been made in the BT product that has increased its effectiveness in killing the caterpillar; however, Dimlin is still the most effective of the two insecticides. BT will be used in all sensitive areas and around major streams and bodies of water. The BT product costs around $1.50 more per acre than Dimlin.

he said. "The state should use that as its bargaining tool."

The Water Resources Administration operates within DNR.

Belmonte then informed the commissioners that a letter had been received by the DCLPOA from State Comptroller Louis Goldstein stating his intentions to deny the issuance of the permit to PENELEC until a settlement is reached.

Whether or not Goldstein could deny the permit remains to be seen, however, as does PENELEC's willingness to sell the lake.

The group members then suggested that the commissioners try to set up a meeting with DNR Secretary Dr. Torrey Brown to see if the February 19 meeting can be moved to a later date to allow the county more time to inform the public of any options. They also asked that the county officials pursue the idea of obtaining some form of grant funding if the decision was made to purchase the lake.

"Grant funding was used to help establish Rocky Gap," said Lascaris. "As a business owner, I'd put my money here. Deep Creek Lake could certainly generate more revenue than Rocky Gap could ever hope to make."

The commissioners agreed to set up a meeting with state officials in an effort to delay the public hearing and to better understand any options the county might have with the issue of fee increases.

Buying Lake

al. The only question that remains is how the fees will be collected.

The increases were proposed by PENELEC after a decision was made by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) that PENELEC's power-generating operation at Deep Creek Lake no longer required the governance of the federal agency as of December 1993.

Since first learning several years ago that this action was in the offing, members of the lake property owners' association have been compiling information and holding meetings with DNR and PENELEC in an effort to determine what effect that decision might have on the lake property and business owners and other users of the lake, as well as its impact on the county's economy and tourism industry.

A suggestion that has since come from that group was that the county commissioners determine what ever "pressure point" could be found and use it to the county's advantage.

Belmonte explained that strategy to the commissioners this week, stating, "What we need to figure out is what kind of leverage we do have. That seems to be to prevent the Maryland Water Resources Administration from issuing its water use permit to PENELEC."

Initially, the network will be used for small business development courses, community teleconferencing, advanced placement courses, and continuing education and professional development courses.

Dr. Herman also emphasized that the WMLN and the lab at GCC would be available to the public for use other than educational classes.

"We see this as a significant addition not just to Garrett Community College, but to our entire community," Herman said.

The regional task force was composed of nearly 50 representatives of the health care industry, education, business and industry, and county governments.

Senate Panel Approves Lethal Injection Bill

In a 9-0 vote, the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee approved a bill that would change the method of execution in Maryland from the gas chamber to lethal injection. Two senators, however, refused to cast a vote on the measure because of their opposition to the death penalty.

The bill is expected to receive a favorable response when it reaches the Senate floor this week but prospects are said to be dimmer when the measure moves to the House Judiciary Committee.

Maryland is the last state in which the gas chamber is used exclusively for the death penalty. Lethal injection, say its supporters, is a more humane way of execution and costs less, but opponents claim it is merely an easier way to sell capital punishment to the public.

Bill Seeks To Limit Mandates In Education

A bill introduced by District 4 Senator Charles H. Smelser last week would revoke a state-mandated requirement that students perform volunteer community work in order to graduate -- a requirement imposed last year that was opposed by local school boards.

Senate Bill 242 would require the Maryland General Assembly to provide funds for any educational mandates costing $250,000 to implement statewide instead of making local school systems pay for them.

The Maryland State Board of Education voted last year to require students to perform a minimum of 75 hours of community service before they can graduate. Smelser has reportedly said that, while volunteer service is a good idea, the program should be implemented at the local school board level.

Smelser has said that any mandates from the state should be accompanied by funds from the state operating budget.

DELAUDER WINS TRIP
As a result of being named the West Virginia senior winner in the Make It Yourself with Wool competition held last fall, Teresa DeLauder of Amboy was awarded an all-expense paid trip to Reno, Nev., for the national competition.

She accompanied other state winners and Mrs. Pat Pinnell on January 18, leaving from Pittsburgh. The remainder of the group returned January 23, but Mrs. DeLauder remained for a visit with her cousin, Martha Mapstead, and husband, Bob, in Las Vegas. She has now returned to her home.

STEMPLE OBSERVES 90TH

Paul Stemple observed his 90th birthday Sunday, Feb. 6, at his home in Aurora. Visiting him for the occasion were his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Stemple, of Basking Ridge, N.J.; their three children, their granddaughter, her husband, and their two children. Joining them for ice cream and cake on Sunday were his brothers, Elmer "Pete" Stemple and Frank and Wilda Stemple. The card shower in his honor resulted in more than 100 cards received.

BETHEL CENTENNIAL
Residents are reminded to submit their written memories of the Texas Bethel United Methodist Church, Horse Shoe Run. These are to be compiled into a booklet for the May 22 celebration of their 100th anniversary. A short story, a poem, or perhaps a recipe which reflects one's memories there are to be sent to Grace Bachtel, Rt. 1, Box 317, Horse Shoe Run, WV 26769 by Feb. 25.

Grant And Johnson To Speak At GCMH Foundation Meeting

William B. Grant, chairman of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation, will speak at the project 1994 "kick-off" meeting of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation on Tuesday, Feb. 15, from 7-8 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting is to update all foundation volunteers about the organization's 1994 fund-raising project for the hospital -- a new cardiac monitoring system -- as well as formally announce the foundation's goal of $100,000 commitment towards the project," said Kathy Greaser, director of the foundation.

Grant will kickoff the project and Johnson will discuss the cardiac monitoring system. Other speakers will include Benjamin Rosenthal, president of Garrett Memorial, who will give the administrative report, and Thomas G. Johnson, MD, the foundation's committee chair, will introduce their members and give brief summaries of their plans to assist in meeting the foundation's commitment of $100,000.

"The total cost of the completed monitoring system is approximately $340,000," explained Greaser. "Part of this cost will be funded through the hospital's budgeting process while the foundation has accepted the goal to generate the remaining $100,000 needed to purchase the system."

"In light of the fact that heart disease continues to be the nation's number one health problem, the foundation is pleased to be able to contribute funds to the purchase of equipment essential in assuring our area residents that they are receiving the best in quality health care at Garrett Memorial," Greaser said.

The new cardiac monitoring system will provide updated technology to Garrett Memorial's intensive care unit, telemetry unit, progressive care unit, operating rooms, and recovery room. While the current system provides basic information about the patient's cardiovascular status, the new system, recommended by the American Heart Association, offers broader cardiovascular monitoring capabilities with the continuation of the same level of advanced monitoring during patient transport.

The monitors allow for increased flexibility as the new equipment is designed to specifically meet the changing needs of the cardiac patient -- from inpatient to outpatient status. The computerized central terminal and patient monitors not only have improved accuracy, reliability, and quality of signals, but are also extremely portable because of the same lightweight patient monitors. Installation of the new monitoring system is scheduled to begin this spring.

Having adopted new cardiac monitors as their 1994 goal, foundation volunteers will encourage contributions through programs such as The Pillars, Partners In Health, Gifts From The Heart, the Association Membership, and the George W. Loar Circle.

The following foundation committees and their volunteer members will be involved in providing support to assist in achieving the foundation's goal:

Special Prospects Committee - Jan Finkel, chair; Robert P. Sharps, Jacquelyn L. Shirer, Benjamin Rosenthal, and Dr. Melvin Gonzaga.

Community Relations Committee - Jon Thayer, chair; Jean Grose, Jean Winters, Sally Poholsky, Bonnie Kelly, Hazel Myers, Tom Frawley, Leanna Marx, and Annie Colaw.

Planned Gifts Committee - Leonard Eiswert, chair; Eugene D. Helbig Jr., David Nordeck, Katherine Zimmerman, Dwight Stover, James Murray, Russell Eddy, and Carissa Rodchever.

Employee Participation Program - Donna Nordeck, chair; Doug Beavers, Sandy Brantner, Randy Crabtree, Diane Frederick, Ellen Friend, Beverly Greaser, Theresa Hannibal, Gordon Stalnaker, Ellen Lantz, Misty Savage, Rosalee Lynch-Sines, Peggy Spaid, and Judy Umstot.

William B. Grant serves as chairman of Garrett Memorial's foundation and Denise Rinker serves as treasurer.

"Because of the dedication and commitment of the community and our volunteers to Garrett Memorial, the foundation has been able to achieve goals that assist our hospital in expanding its technology and services, assuring our residents they are receiving the best health care available," Grant said.

Nazarene Church Slates Revival

The Oakland Church of the Nazarene will host revival meetings, Thursday through Sunday, Feb. 17-20, with Dr. William M. Greathouse as guest evangelist.

Dr. Greathouse, now retired, served the Church of the Nazarene for many years, with his final years spent serving in the highest office of the denomination, that of general superintendent.

This denominational leader and author will lead services each evening at 7 p.m. and Sunday at 10:45 a.m. The host pastor, Rev. Bruce Knorpp, invites all to attend these special services.

Winter Camping At GCC Reaching "A New Low"

A new low in higher education was reached when a Garrett Community College winter camping class, offered through the college's Adventure Sports program, camped out in the Savage River Forest, January 14-15. During the night, the mercury plunged to minus 10 degrees, but the three students and instructor Paul Shogren survived.

Students Mark Beals, Tony DeCianni, and Ron Knox, discovered that, with proper equipment, clothing, and planning, cold weather camping is not only possible, but invigorating and need not be dangerous. They all found that the experience gives "a well earned sense of accomplishment."

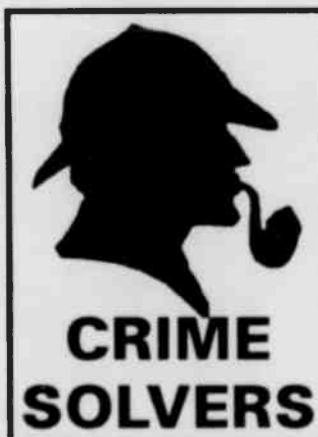

The class began its trip on January 14 at the forest headquarters, near New Germany State Park. They lashed their gear onto the snow sleds and strapped snowshoes on their boots and were off on a four-mile trek to their campsite, located on a tributary of Big Laurel Run. When they arrived at the campsite, what was left of the fast disappearing daylight was spent erecting tents, building a fire, melting snow for cooking and cleaning, and preparing supper. They discovered everything took four times longer than usual and that every little detail needed attending.

Having survived the night, the campers conducted morning chores and learned various ways of water making, as well as improving their campsite.

The students were well prepared, equipped, and were some of the most willing, cooperative, energetic with which I have had to work. Although they were sorely tested, they were not found wanting. The snowshoes and recently built snow sleds worked well," Shogren said. "More students should consider winter camping as a challenge and an activity to test one's mental and physical capabilities."

Tony DeCianni, an adventure sports major from Chicago, said, "I definitely did learn a lot of things, mostly about the don'ts of cold weather camping, like don't let the extreme cold affect your mental attitude."

For information about the winter camping course or the Adventure Sports program, persons may contact the program director at 301-387-3013.

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information about a breaking and entering in Friendsville. On or about Oct. 27-29 on Old Morgantown Road, unknown culprits broke into a residence under construction. Stolen from the area

CRELLIN NEARLY GOES UNDER - The Youghiogheny and Snowy Creek rivers swelled far above their banks Wednesday, flooding much of Crellin and the surrounding area. Several inches of freezing rain fell Tuesday night, and as temperatures rose during the night, the ice melted and more rain fell. Nearly 150 residents were evacuated

nearby swollen river, shown as it just creates the surface of the Rt. 39 bridge. The Oakland parking lot, shown below left, was obviously more silted yesterday for docking one's kayak or row boat, perhaps to deposit garbage on the dumpster-turned-barge. Oakland Volunteer Fireman

Denny Murray is shown below right as he approaches a Crellin home to offer his help. In addition to DNR and the fire department, other groups assisting in the evacuation included Garrett Community Action, Terra Alta Fire Co., and several police agencies.

FRIENDSVILLE RESIDENTS WATCH AND WAIT - While no evacuations were reported in Friendsville, residents kept their eyes on the rising Youghiogheny as it threatened to flood their homes. The river is shown in the above two photographs, taken yesterday morning. Sandbagging operations were underway most of the day Wednesday as volunteers worked to keep the town's water treatment plant uncontaminated by the floodwaters. Fallen trees and limbs as well as other debris littered the high shorelines as the water receded slightly. Several residents are also coping with power outages, caused by Tuesday's ice storm.

A BOAT WOULD HAVE BEEN BETTER to get around on several county roads yesterday and still today, as swollen streams and rivers have ignored their boundaries and flooded numerous low-lying areas. Four roads remained closed this morning: Silver Knob, Crellin Mine, Ault House Hill, and River roads. Drivers are advised to use caution on roads with deep pockets of water, especially if the depth is unknown. Jasper Riley Road, shown above left, was partially submerged yesterday, as was much of Pleasant Valley, a view of which is at right. Waters have receded considerably in the last 24 hours.

OBITUARIES

D. LLOYD KITZMILLER

David Lloyd Kitzmiller, 82, Mt. Storm, W.Va., died Sunday, Feb. 6, 1994, at the Grant County Nursing Home, Petersburg, W.Va., where he had been a resident since Feb. 14, 1991.

The days are sad now that you are not here.

The nights are long

We still shed our tears

But we know you are near.

You are in our hearts

we miss you so,

But you already know

one day we will all be together

Food For Thought

Small Brie cheese is perfect for parties. In an overproof dish, cover with sliced almonds; bake at 350 for 30 minutes, then spread on crackers. Or top with sautéed wild mushrooms and tarragon and wrap in puff pastry (frozen in your grocer's case) and follow package directions.

More: cut the cheese in half horizontally and fill with 1/4 cup pesto or caponata; place top over filling, pressing edges together, and chill until 2 hours or so before serving.

Bulk-bake cupcakes for school parties and other occasions and freeze until needed. Party day, frost the snacks while still frozen and pack for school. They'll be ready in time for serving.

Don't discard crumbled cookies. Sprinkle 'em over ice cream or fruit for dessert. They add a nice crunch.

Sweet-and-sour brisket, the easy way, is braised in a mixture of a bottle of beer, a cup of canned cranberry sauce, and 1/2 cup ketchup. Sear meat first, then cook on a bed of sautéed sliced onion.

It's time for a change...

VIRGIE M. NELSON
Virgie May Nelson, 95, Kitzmiller, died Thursday, Feb. 3, 1994, at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Born June 14, 1898, in Short Run, she was the daughter of the late Solomon and Lucy E. (Harvey) Tasker. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Otha Nelson; two daughters and one son.

Survivors include two sons, James Nelson and Dempsey Nelson, both of Kitzmiller; four daughters, Loretta Stark, Keyser, W. Va., Helen Sweitzer, Rawlings, Luvona Wilt, Cumberland, and Cardine Kalar, Luke; one brother, Fred Tasker, Kitzmiller; 28 grandchildren; several great-grandchildren; and several great-great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Kitzmiller. A service was held Sunday, Feb. 6, in the funeral home chapel, with the Rev. Joseph Phillips officiating. Interment was in Mt. Zion Cemetery, Swanton.

On Dean's List

Garrett County residents Stacy Allen Fike and Joseph D. Shaffer were named to the dean's list at Fairmont State College in December, according to Dr. H. Dean Peters, vice president for academic affairs.

FSC is a liberal arts institution located in north central West Virginia.

'94 Mid-Winter Waterfowl Survey Results Released

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., announced this week the results of the 1994 Mid-winter Waterfowl Inventory.

The inventory was conducted Jan. 3-16 by two aerial survey teams representing the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the DNR Wildlife Division. Survey teams included pilots and wildlife biologists.

Snow and ice conditions throughout the state during the survey period resulted in many species of waterfowl being concentrated on available open water. Survey crews counted 549,800 waterfowl compared to 546,000 last year. Dabbling ducks totaled 75,400 in 1994 compared to 66,900 in 1993.

Icing of small streams and ponds, forced dabblers to open water in rivers and reservoirs, increasing their visibility to survey crews. Higher numbers of mallards (52,500) and black ducks (21,600) were observed this year compared to last year during the survey. Cold temperatures and ice also forced early migrating ducks (such as gadwall, pintail, wigeon, and teal) further south contributing to declines in counts of these species in 1994.

Ice coverage on the rivers and bays also moved diving ducks further south, thus number of diving duck numbers were lower in 1994, totaling 129,000 compared to 168,800 last year. However, canvasbacks (46,700) showed an increase over last year.

"Due to favorable habitat conditions throughout the key subarctic waterfowl breeding areas of North America during May and June, goose and swan production improved this year," Dr. Brown said. "This contributed to higher midwinter survey indices for these species."

The midwinter count of Canada geese was 260,300, up 11 percent from 234,400 recorded in 1993. Preliminary age ratio data from waterfowl-picking businesses and hunter bag checks in Maryland indicate that gosling production was higher this year, an important factor contributing to an increase in the state's wintering Canada goose population.

Midwinter counts of other subarctic nesters increased. Snow goose count was (53,600), brant (1,500), and tundra swan (18,800).

Unemployment Surcharge Set At 1.7 Percent

The Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED) has announced that the Maryland General Assembly has approved legislation which will limit the unemployment surcharge for Maryland employers to 1.7 percent in 1994 and 1995. Governor William Donald Schaefer signed the emergency legislation into law Tuesday.

The surcharge had been scheduled to increase to 1.9 percent for 1994 and 2.0 percent for 1995. The surcharge is imposed on employers when the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund balance falls below levels which will ensure adequate funds to pay unemployment insurance benefits in the future. The surcharge, which went into effect July 1991 because of the recession, is intended to quickly help replenish the Trust Fund after times of high benefit payouts.

All Maryland businesses whose employees are covered under the unemployment insurance program pay taxes which go directly into the state's Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund. Those funds may be used only for benefit payments to eligible unemployed workers.

DEED's Division of Employment and Training administers the unemployment insurance program in Maryland. By mid-February, employers will receive written notification of their 1994 tax rate, which reflects their basic unemployment insurance tax rate and the surcharge for 1994.

Oakland Pastors Slate Annual Lenten Services

A series of Wednesday evening worship services has been planned for the coming Lenten season by the pastors of some Oakland area churches in conjunction with the Mt. Top Ministerial Association. The series will begin at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland on February 23. Starting time for all of the services will be 7:30 p.m.

Guest preacher for the opening Lenten service will be the Rev. Paul Stauffer, pastor of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren.

The theme for this year's series of services will be "Following in Christian Footsteps." The pastors will highlight famous Christian leaders and unusual events in their lives which stand out in the memory of the guest preachers.

The group of pastors also announced that the traditional Good Friday service will be held at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland.

As in past year, members of the group will conduct the Easter Sunrise Service at Memorial Gardens, Oakland, on Eastern morning. Tentative time for the service is 6:30 a.m.

Vincent, Lomball, Jr., announce the birth of a daughter, Kelsey Glenn, on Dec. 26, 1993. Maternal grandmother is Elizabeth Hesen, Oakland.

Rams Avenge Loss To Huskies With Double Overtime Victory

A last-second field goal at the end of regulation time and another one at the end of the first overtime period paved the way for a 72-66 victory by the Southern High boys' varsity over host Northern Friday night.

The Rams held slight leads throughout most of the game, as they were up by three points, 16-13, at the end of the first quarter, led 28-23 at halftime, and were ahead 45-40 after three periods.

The Huskies rallied in the fourth quarter, however, and led by two, 55-53, when Southern's Doug Copeland connected on a jumper at the buzzer to send the game into overtime.

With just seconds remaining in the overtime period, the Huskies led by two again, 61-59, but this time Jeremy Sanders tied a 15-footer at the buzzer to send the contest into a second overtime period.

Northern scored the first two points of the second overtime, but the Rams answered with eight unanswered points to put the game away. It was only the third loss in 14 games for the Huskies, while the Rams improved to 9-5.

The preliminary game was not nearly as close as the varsity contest, as the Southern junior varsity crushed the Northern javees, 55-21. Scott Shahan led the Rams with 21 points. Andy Brenneman paced the Huskies with eight points.

The Rams are scheduled to host Tucker County this Friday evening and then play at Beall on Tuesday. The Huskies are slated to host Beall Friday evening and entertain Westmar on Tuesday.

Huskies Bounce Back Against Aggies, 72-35

After dropping a double overtime heart-breaker to cross-county rival Southern Friday night (see separate story), the Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team came roaring back Monday to crush visiting Flintstone, 72-35.

Every member of Coach Harv Speicher's team played and scored in the contest, which was dominated by the Huskies from the beginning. Northern scored 31 points in the first quarter to take a commanding 31-12 lead, was ahead 44-20 at halftime, and went into the final period with a 62-26 advantage.

Tim Hinebaugh led the Huskies in scoring with 17 points, while Derek Mason netted 12.

Josh Cline scored 16 points to pace the Aggies.

The Northern junior varsity won the preliminary game, whipping the Flintstone javees, 58-33, behind a 15-point effort by Joey

A CLASSIC CLASH between the Rams of Southern High School and the Huskies of Northern High School occurred Friday night on the Huskies' floor when the two teams met for the second time this season. The Huskies won the first meeting back in December by a single point, and the second contest went into double overtime before the Rams emerged as the victors by a score of 72-66. Above left, Southern's Brian Reams goes up for two of his nine points as Huskies Derek Mason (24), Chris Wright (22), and Rob Spelcher (10) hope he will miss and Ram teammate Joe Tuomisto prepares to go up for the offensive rebound. At right, Wright lays one up to the hoop over Southern's Mark Elliott (24) and Northern's Alan Sebald goes up with Wright and prepares to tip the ball in should Wright's shot be unsuccessful. See story for details. Photos by C. Spelcher.

Layman. Dave Stickley led Flintstone with eight points.

The Huskies next scheduled game is this Friday at home against Beall. They will host Westmar on Tuesday.

Local Runners Vie In Annual Snowflake Chase

Members of the Garrett Sports League competed in the Eighth Annual Great Snowflake Chase, held at Big Run State Park on Saturday.

Brett Mower of Hagerstown was the overall winning of this five-mile race with a time of 28:00.

Todd Howard of Swanton was eighth overall and finished third in the 14-19 age group with a time of 30:45.

Mike Kozier of Oakland was 12th overall and finished first in the 40-49 age group with a time of 32:02.

Dave Ritchie of Swanton was 16th overall with a time of 32:51.

There were 54 finishes in the race, held on the icy and hilly course on Savage River Road.

To Play Football For Virginia Tech

Derek G. Smith, a 6'7", 275-pound senior at Jefferson High School, Shenandoah Junction, W.Va., signed a National Letter of Intent on Feb. 2 to play football at Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, Va.

Smith received recruiting information from over 30 Division I universities. He visited many campuses and attended football camps at North Carolina State, West Virginia University, Rutgers, and Penn State. Although he scheduled five official visits (the maximum allowed by the NCAA), he made only three of them (visited Virginia Tech, Maryland, and WVU; canceled Pitt and Penn State). He said his decision to attend Virginia Tech is based on academics, the football program, location, and campus atmosphere.

Smith, an honor roll student, has been recognized in Who's Who of American High School Students and the National Achievement Academy for Biology and Leadership. He was selected for the CVAL conference team as an offensive lineman for two years, made the Herald Mail's All-Area first team for both offensive and defensive line, and made the first team as defensive lineman for the State of West Virginia. He has also been recognized in Street & Smith as a defense lineman; however, he expects to play on the offensive line for Virginia Tech.

During his sophomore and junior years at Jefferson he wrestled varsity heavyweight and made it to the West Virginia State Finals last year. This year he's playing varsity basketball for the Cougars.

Smith is the son of Gene and Rosemary (Moyers) Smith, Kearneysville, W.Va. He is the paternal grandson of Jim Smith, Kitzmiller, and the maternal grandson of Dolores Sharpless (formerly of Kitzmiller), Kearneysville. His older brother, Sean, is currently attending law school at California Western School of Law in San Diego.

Southern Girls Coast Past Huskies And Mount Savage

The girls' varsity of Southern High School recorded its 10th and 11th victories of the season this week by coasting to a surprisingly easy win over host Northern Friday night, 58-33, and then romping past visiting Mount Savage Monday night, 72-40.

Carrie Newcomb powered the Ram offense against the 10-4 Huskies of Northern Friday as she finished with 25 points on seven field goals and 11 of 13 free throws. She was injured in the process, however, and had to sit out of the Mount Savage game with a knee injury.

Angie Shafer and Josey Coviello contributed 10 and nine points, respectively, for the Rams.

Southern jumped out to a 20-9 lead by the end of the first period, stretched their advantage to 37-19 by Southern (58).

Aaron Buser 0-0-10, Josey Coviello 3-4-9, Stacy Kiser 1-3-6, Emily Friend 1-3-4, Angie Shafer 5-0-10, Alisha Rugg 1-2-4, Carrie Newcomb 7-11-13.25. Totals: 18-22-30.58.

SHS GIRLS TOP NHS - The Southern High girls' varsity, perhaps the strongest team in the area, had little difficulty disposing of an impressive Northern High team Saturday evening at the Cove, as the Rams rolled to a 58-33 win behind a 25-point performance by Carrie Newcomb. Above left, Northern co-captain Sara Younkin puts one up over Southern defenders Aaron Buser (10) and Emily Friend.

three defeats next Tuesday at home against Fort Hill. The Northern Huskies are slated to entertain Bishop Walsh this evening.

Northern Girls Mash Hancock For 11th Win

The Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team, which was overpowered by visiting Southern Saturday night (see separate story), registered its 11th win in 15 games this season by breezing past Hancock Monday evening, 53-30, on the Huskies' court.

The Huskies were on top by just five points, 16-11, at the end of the first period, expanded their advantage to 30-19 by halftime, and then out-scored the Panthers in the third stanza, 12-2, to take a 42-21 lead into the final period.

All 10 of the members of the Northern team saw playing time and put points on the board, with Lisa Stephens leading the way with 13 points and six assists. Michelle McCarty finished with 12 points and

Chad Panther Wins Hoop Shoot District Title

Among the six local winners in the annual Elks Hoop Shoot, a basketball free-throw shooting contest, Chad Panther captured the district title in the boys' age 8-9 division in Hagerstown on Saturday.

Panther, son of Ed and Dawn Panther, Oakland, hit 20 of his 25 free throws, which was the top score of all 35 participants in the district event. He will move on to the Area II competition, which will be held Feb. 19 at West Frederick Middle School in Frederick. The level will include district winners from throughout Maryland, Delaware, and the District of Columbia. The winners of the Area titles will advance to the National Finals.

Mike Pamepinto, Swanton, just missed winning the district title in the boys' 12-13 division, as he finished just one shot behind the eventual winner.

Other local winners who competed in the district event were Gina Reeves, Brian Panther, Ashley Liller, and Andi Bender.

New stocking areas include the North Branch of the Potomac River from Jennings Randolph Lake upstream to the boundary of Potomac State Forest and the Youghiogheny River (Garrett County) from the bridge at I-68 downstream to the Youghiogheny Reservoir.

This year, good bets for early summer fishing for brown trout include the North Branch Potomac River at Parnum, W. Va., opposite Garrett County and the Youghiogheny River near Friendsville.

Lakers Upset Montgomery, Then Whip Potomac State, Chesapeake

The Garrett Community College men's basketball team continues to enjoy one of its most successful seasons ever, as the Lakers recorded three more wins this week, including a big victory over nationally ranked Montgomery-Rockville, and upped their overall record to 19-4.

Coach Dennis Gibson's squad scored a 114-107 overtime win over visiting Montgomery-Rockville Friday night, topped Potomac State College Saturday night, 103-86, also in McHenry, and then flattened host Chesapeake Community College on Monday, 99-71.

The Lakers, who are 9-3 in JUCO Conference standings, were to have hosted Catonsville last night, but that game was postponed because of weather conditions. They are slated to entertain Butler Community College on Saturday, with game time set for 7:30 p.m., and host nationally ranked Hagerstown Junior College at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Shane Scott netted a career-high 34 points for the Lakers against Montgomery-Rockville on Friday, with a dozen of those points scored from three-point range.

Oliver Jones, who scored the last five Laker points in regulation and the first four points of the overtime period, finished with 20 points, while Troy Sexton chipped in with 10.

Scott was also credited with seven assists, George Hilton pulled down 11 rebounds, and Wes Tubbs grabbed nine.

The Knights took control in the early moments and led most of the game, as they jumped out to a 16-4 lead and were on top by 10 at halftime, 51-41. They had Garrett CC (114).

Jermine Jones 22-2-6, Kenny Gross 20-0-5, Brett Coleman 10-0-2, Jason Brenneman 20-0-5, Wes Tubbs 10-4-8-24, Shane Scott 12-6-11-34, Oliver Jones 7-5-6-20, Troy Sexton 3-4-8-10, George Hilton 4-0-8-10, Totals 43-21-37-114.

Montgomery-Rockville (107) Damond Gibson 6-1-2-15, Mike Jarvis 9-0-0-20, Phil Hobson 7-9-13, Rick Haddaway 5-0-0-10, Jason Beall 2-0-0-5, Felix Kwankam 5-0-0-12, Antar Crawley 7-2-3-18, Alden Lord 1-0-1-2, Totals 42-12-19-107.

Halftime score: Rockville 51, GCC 41.

End of regulation play tied at 96. Three-point goals: GCC (Scott 4, Gross, Brenneman, 0, Jones), Rockville (11, Gibson, 2, Jarvis, 2, Beall, 1, Kwankam, 2, Crawley, 2). Total fouls: GCC 15, Rockville 32. Fouled out: Hobson, Haddaway, Beall (Rockville).

The Lakers are currently enjoying one of their most successful seasons ever, as they are sporting a 19-4 record.

and went up by 20, 83-63, before the Catamounts rallied for 17 straight, with David Thompson scoring 10 of them on three three-pointers and a free throw.

Garrett was up by just three, 83-80, with four minutes to play and was ahead 91-86 with just under one minute left.

The Lakers then capitalized on two technical fouls and an intentional foul by Potomac State to win by the 17-point margin.

Tubbs led the Lakers with 18 points, Scott and Jermaine Jones each scored 16, Oliver Jones and Hilton finished with 15 apiece, and Jason Brenneman contributed 10.

Thompson paced the Catamounts with his game-high 25 points, Chris Teal scored 16, Karl Athias added 14, and Todd Thompson finished with 10.

Jermaine Jones also grabbed eight of the Lakers' 39 rebounds, dished out seven of his team's 27 assists, and had two steals, while Tubbs pulled down 11 rebounds and blocked two shots.

The Lakers never trailed Monday afternoon against Chesapeake, as they took a 12-2 lead in the first few minutes of the game and were on top 57-33 by halftime.

Hilton and Tubbs paced Garrett's scoring effort with 21 and 20 points, respectively, while Scott finished with 16 points and Oliver Jones netted 15. Jones also pulled down 13 rebounds and Tubbs had 12. Each of them blocked two shots. Kenny Gross was credited with eight assists.

Leading the Skipjacks were Deon Gibson with 21 points, Aaron Jones with 15, and Kenny Williams with 13.

Gibson played his entire Garrett CC (99).

Jermaine Jones 40-0-9, Pat Lee 13-4-5, Kenny Gross 4-1-19, Brett Coleman 0-1-2-1, Jason Brenneman 11-1-3, Wes Tubbs 8-4-7-20, Shane Scott 5-4-16, Oliver Jones 6-3-15, George Hilton 7-5-21, Totals 36-22-31-99.

Fly Fishing Course Set At GCC Campus

A new course, Fly Fishing From A to Z, will be offered by the Adventure Sports Institute of Garrett Community College on Thursdays from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m., beginning March 3 and ending May 12.

According to Mike Logsdon, director of the Adventure Sports program, the 40 hours of instruction will include the formal knowledge associated with the art and science of fly fishing and the hands on skills necessary to fly cast and fly tie successfully. The class will conduct fly fishing outings on nearby lakes and/or trout streams.

In addition to the art of fly casting and fly tying, students will learn about the insect life of trout streams, how to predict the insect hatch for a given time of year, and how to mimic an insect's appearance with tying flies. They will also investigate the behavior of lakes and streams and learn where the fish are and how to get them.

Three instructors will teach the course: Sull McCartney, a well-known local fly fisherman, is a charter member and past president of Trout Unlimited; Ken

ALL TIED UP -- Instructors in a new Garrett Community College course Fly Fishing A-to-Z, from left to right, Gary Yoder, Sull McCartney, and Ken Pavol, are busy tying flies for the upcoming fishing season. When the fishermen plan a fishing outing, they ready themselves by tying flies that mimic the appearance of insects in hatch at the planned place and time of their outing. In doing so, it is necessary for the successful "flyfisherman" to study the behavior and appearance of these insects. Very much a "thinking person's sports," instruction in fly fishing will be offered through the Adventure Sports program of Garrett Community College, starting Thursday evening, March 3. For more information, persons may contact Mike Logsdon, Adventure Sports program director, at 301-387-3013.

Potomac Edison crews have been working from daylight to past dark in an effort to restore customers. Lanney Dillon, head of the local operations, expressed the company's concern about vacation homes that may be without power.

"There is no way we can know about a house without power if no one reports it," he explained. "If anyone knows of a resort home that is currently without power, the owner needs to be contacted so that he may check the home for water pipe damage or any other problem. We also need to know where these homes are so that we can get to them."

As temperatures are to remain at freezing or below for the next two days, persons currently without power and who need electricity to heat their homes are advised to drain their water pipes to avoid freezing difficulties. Residents are urged to check on elderly persons living alone who may be experiencing power outages.

"Everyone needs to use common sense and make their own provisions as best they can until we can get their power restored," Hollis said.

Crews from Hagerstown, Frederick, Morgantown, and as far away as North Carolina have been assisting local Potomac Edison crews in restoring power.

"Lines are down everywhere," Dillon said. "We're getting to them as fast as we can."

DHMH Training Pilot Program Called Success

Nelson J. Sabatini, secretary of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH), has announced that more than 250 individuals have received training through the DHMH Alcohol and Drug Abuse Administration's (ADAA) Prevention Training Curriculum program piloted in January 1993.

"The program provides prevention professionals, community leaders and prevention advocates with skills and information to help them plan and implement prevention programs in their communities," said Sabatini.

The program includes nine three-day courses and one two-day course. Professionals taking courses to fulfill the required 180-hour prevention option in order to become eligible for certain prevention positions must complete and pass a test given by the ADAA Office of Education and Training for Addictions Services (OETAS). Persons not desiring OETAS certification may take any or all of the courses and are not required to be tested or graded.

"This curriculum represents an important phase in Maryland's prevention framework, and is a significant tool in helping communities take up the challenge of keeping people, especially our kids, from abusing drugs and alcohol," said Governor William Donald Schaefer.

Courses include: Introduction to Addictions, Basic Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse Prevention, Evaluation Planning for Community-Based Prevention Programs, Basic Counseling Skills, Grant Writing, Community Empowerment and Substance Abuse Prevention, Multi-Cultural Leadership, Prevention Programs for Adolescents and Children, Prevention Program

February Is Boy Scout Month

In observance of February as Boy Scout Month, The Republican is publishing each week this month information about the local Boy Scout troops, all of which welcome new members at any time. The focus this week is on Troop #82, Accident.

Boy Scout Troop #82, chartered in 1990 and sponsored by Zion Lutheran Church, meets every Monday evening in the basement of the church. The past year was a busy one for Troop 82, as members participated in various activities and events at the troop, district, council, and national level.

On the troop level, they experienced caving, backpacking, a tour of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, a week-long bike trip along the C&O Canal, a family weekend at Camp Potomac, and an observance of Scout Sunday as a troop.

At the district level, scouts practiced first aid skills in order to participate in the Deep Creek District First Aid Meet. On the council level, they attended the Fall and Spring camporees, and at the national level, many members of the troop traveled to Virginia in August to join some 50,000 other scouts from all over the world at the National Boy Scout Jamboree.

In keeping with their pledge to help others, Troop 82 scouts helped paint at the new Zion Church building and served soup at a kitchen in McKeesport, Pa.

Management, and Promoting Your Prevention Program.

Two continuing education units (CEU) are awarded for completion of the three-day courses and one CEU for the two-day course.

"There are a lot of people who want to do prevention," said Eugene W. Conolly, chief of the ADAA Prevention Office. "It's important that they have the appropriate knowledge and skills so they can do the best job possible."

Training is offered at sites locally, regionally and through OETAS Training Institutes. Depending on training location, courses are at minimal or no cost to participants. Interested persons can call their local prevention coordinator or the ADAS Prevention Office at (410) 225-6543.

BLOOMINGTON

CHURCH NEWS

Bloomington United Methodist Church celebrated the dedication of its new educational addition this past Sunday during the regular worship service. Reverend J. William Turley, superintendent of the Romney District dedicated various items placed in memory and in honor of significant persons in the life of the church. Resident bishop of the West Virginia area of the United Methodist Church, S. Clifton Ives, consecrated the new addition to the building and delivered the message for the morning service. A covered dish dinner was served following the service at the Bloomington fire hall.

On Sunday, February 13, at 7 p.m., there will be a service at the Chestnut Grove United Methodist Church. Reverend Mark Hickman from Bethel United Methodist Church will be the guest speaker. Everyone is welcome.

MSP Issues Reminder To State's Drivers

The Maryland State Police at Barrack "W," McHenry, again remind drivers to not leave their motor vehicles unattended.

According to a news release issued by the local MSP, Section 21-1101 of the Maryland Transportation Code, in part, provides that "a person driving or otherwise in charge of a motor vehicle may not leave it unattended until the engine is stopped, the ignition locked, the key removed, and the brake effectively set."

This violation frequently occurs during cold weather months and is often prevalent in shopping areas, according to recent enforcement statistics.

"Drivers who leave a motor vehicle unattended with the motor running and keys in the ignition while inside a store shopping, are not only in violation of Maryland law, but are inviting the opportunity for a vehicle theft to occur," stated Lieutenant C.H. Hinman, local MSP commander.

BSA Troop 82, Accident, Holds Court Of Honor

Boy Scout Troop #82, Accident, recently held a Court of Honor at Zion Lutheran Church Fellowship Hall. Following the benediction given by Rev. Wilfred Karsten, pastor of Zion, the group shared a covered dish dinner.

The Court of Honor was started by the recitation of the Boy Scout Promise and Pledge of Allegiance. Harold Hoecker, advancement chairman, and Bob Pike, committee chairman, made the presentations. Advancements were presented to David Platter, Tenderfoot; and Jeremy Reed and Aaron Miller, Life Rank.

Scouts receiving merit badges were: Aaron Miller and Sean Miller, Public Health; Jason Patterson - First Aid and Public Health; Jeremy Reed, Safety, Public Health, and Citizenship in the World; and Tim Williamson, Pioneering.

Jeremy Reed also received the World Conservation Award, given to scouts who have earned the Environmental Science, Soil and Water conservation, and the Citizenship in the World merit badges.

In addition, the members of the troop had recently worked on making scout staves. Jesse Shimrock was presented a medal for the Best Scout Staff.

The ceremony was closed with the scouts saying the scout laws.

Troop members attending the Court of Honor were: Mike Reed, scoutmaster; Ralph Miller, Shawn Patterson, Dave Higdon, and Bill Flockhart, assistant scoutmasters; and Scouts Jason Reed, Jeremy Reed, Aaron Miller, Sean Miller, David Higdon, Jason Patterson, Jesse Shimrock, Tim Williamson, David Platter, and Ian Flockhart. Special guests included Rev. Wilfred Karsten and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoecker, and Bob Pike.

Allegany GOPs Plan Reception For Candidates

The Republican Women of Allegany County will hold its annual reception on Sunday, February 13, at the Hafer-Frost Mansion in Frostburg from 2 to 5 p.m. The Allegany County Republican Central Committee will co-host the event with the women's club to replace the earlier scheduled "Meet the Candidates Night" which had been cancelled because of snow.

Announced stated Republican candidates have been invited to participate, as well as local Republican officials and other interested persons. The event will give those attending the opportunity to meet and learn more about the perspective candidates for the 1994 election. Garrett County Republicans have been invited to attend.

RSVPs are appreciated, but not necessary, by February 11th by calling Karen Lancaster (264-3519), Myra Kidd (689-0034 or 689-5734), Dolores Morgan (722-2165), or Gail Simpson (689-1667).

The members planning the reception are: Mrs. Dolores Morgan, Mrs. Myra Kidd, Mrs. Gail Simpson, Mrs. Mary Beth Pirollozzi, Mrs. Joyce Johnson, and Mrs. Bettie Armstrong. All members will serve as hostesses.

A snow date has been set for Feb. 27.

Progress Report Is Submitted By New Horizons

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College recently submitted its mid-year report for fiscal year 1994, completing 13½ years of program operation at GCC.

New Horizons is a program that provides special services to single parents, displaced homemakers, and single pregnant women. The program provided services during the first half of fiscal 94 to 123 individuals. Services included peer and career counseling, decision making, career testing, skills identification, pre-employment skills training, vocational skills training in both credit and non-credit courses, job awareness assistance, and service agency referrals.

An unduplicated count of 81 program participants enrolled in training consistent with their career interests for the fall semester at GCC, which is 65.9% of total participants served to Dec. 31, 1993. Fifty-six program participants, or 45.5%, enrolled in credit college studies at GCC. Thirty-two program participants, or 26%, enrolled in non-credit training.

New Horizons helped participants meet training costs with tuition/book assistance made available to 29 participants in non-credit vocational classes, which is 23.6% of total target group, and to six participants enrolled in vocational credit classes, which was 10.7% of total target group as of Dec. 31. Fifty program participants, or 89.3% of those enrolled in credit, qualified for financial aid through Pell Grants. Child care and transportation subsidies enabled 22 program participants, or 27.2% of unduplicated program participants, to receive assistance while enrolled in training.

New Horizons program staff referred six program participants to GCC's Job Placement office for assistance in job placement. Eighteen program participants became employed either full-time or part-time during the first half of the funding year, which is 14.6% of total participants. The 18 jobs represent 45% of the grant goal of 40 jobs secured during the funding year.

Persons interested in learning more about the New Horizons Program and eligibility requirements are encouraged to call New Horizons at 387-3071 Monday through Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is 89% of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,600, which is 11% of the total budget.

SKIN DEEP: In cold weather, the skin becomes dry and chapped. Some dermatologists will recommend using moisturizers. Some manufacturers, however, may make claims that are either false or grossly exaggerated. How to know when you're being informed or just a marketing target? The University of Texas Lifetime Health Letter, December, 1993, cites these helpful tips from Joseph P. Bark, M.D., a Lexington, Ky. dermatologist:

1. If the moisturizer claims to rejuvenate skin, restore youthful appearance, and erase lines, Dr. Bark says, "These are comments about effects that virtually do not occur."
2. References to complex sounding biological products, such as pheromones and liposomes. Says Dr. Bark, "Any (such) claims probably won't hold up under close scrutiny. None... has been tested in controlled clinical studies reviewed in established medical journals."
3. "Natural" products. The term has no specific meaning. A product can be called natural even if an ingredient that truly comes from nature makes up only a fraction of the product. Also, some so-called natural substances can even be harmful. For example, the juice in lime slices that many people use to try to minimize wrinkling and retain smooth skin on their eyelids, can react with sunlight to cause contact dermatitis.

How many tons of grass clippings does an average lawn produce in a year? How can you turn hard-to-dispose bulky branches into valuable gardening and landscaping materials? What is the difference between bin composting and sheet composting?

In a new 12-page informational booklet from the Rodale Institute Research Center and Troy-Bilt Mfg. answers these questions and provides practical information and advice on managing yard waste using "the three R's" — reduce, reuse and recycle.

The booklet reflects first-year findings of a comprehensive three-year yard material management project, sponsored by Rodale and Garden Way Inc., manufacturer of Troy-Bilt and Bolens outdoor power equipment.

The purpose of the project — conducted at the research center's 333-acre facility in Kutztown, Pa. — is to demonstrate and promote to homeowners the actions they can take to turn yard debris and clippings into resources by applying the "three R's" of yard material management.

According to "The 3-R Yard Care System," the average half-acre lawn produces as much as 4½ tons of clippings per season — or the equivalent of 334 30-gallon yard bags. Rodale's studies show mulching, which returns the clippings and their nutrients to the lawn, produces healthier lawns and returns as much as 121 lbs. of nitrogen, 38 lbs. of phosphate and 122 lbs. of potassium to the grass.

The booklet also reports that a chipper/shredder or chipper/vac can solve a disposal dilemma by turning bulky branches into wood chips for a decorative foot path, and woody brush into a valuable garden mulch.

Sheet composting, an easy way to add large volumes of organic matter to the soil, offers many of the benefits of bin composting, without all the processing and handling work. To sheet compost, simply spread yard waste such as leaves, clippings and plant residues onto the garden bed surface and incorporate into the surface with a spade or rototiller.

Composting, whether sheet or bin, increases soil quality, and produces darker, friable soil, according to the study.

Children With Special Needs Training Offered To Child Care Professionals

A comprehensive training program named "Expanding Horizons" will be offered at the Continuing Education Building of Garrett Community College in the next several weeks. The training will be targeted on child care professionals who wish to learn more about how to include into their facilities children and families with special needs. The program is a collaborative project sponsored by the Garrett County Office for Children, Youth, and Families (OCYF), Garrett County Infant and Toddlers Program, Western Maryland Child Care Resource Center (WMCCRC), Children's Care Administrators, and the Henry M. Jackson Foundation for the Advancement of Military Medicine.

The training sessions will instruct child care workers on how to successfully include in their programs children with special needs, meet the needs of families of children with special needs, and create an ongoing support network to make programs successful. Prompted by the lack of child care for special-needs children, the local OCYF and other noted agencies wished to sponsor a course of educational sessions that would address the unique issues involved in "mainstreaming" these children.

Local day care operators have reportedly expressed their apprehension in accepting children with special needs because of lack of training or knowledge about care. Parents of special-needs children have also voiced their concerns about approaching care-providers who often immediately turn down a request to keep the child based on his or her special needs.

Four formal training sessions are planned, and all interested child care workers are invited to attend. Child Care Administration training credits will be awarded for each session. The fee of $20 per participant will cover the cost of supplies and refreshments. Scholarships for the sessions are being offered by OCYF.

Session I will be Making Your Program Inclusive: Exploring Special Needs, Wed., Feb. 16 (snow date Feb. 23), 8:30-9:30 p.m., Continuing Education Building of GCC. This session will be a discussion and video presentation of legal considerations and program planning options for centers and family child care providers. This part may be taken as part of the overall program or taken alone for a fee of $8.

Session II: Marketing and Management for Inclusive Child Care Programs, Wed., March 2 (snow date March 9), 8:30-9:30 p.m., GCC Continuing Education Bldg. This session will cover business planning and strategies for successful marketing and management of child care program incorporating children with special needs.

Session III: Expanding Horizons Conference, Sat., March 12, 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m. (snow date March 26), Mary Browning Center, Oakland. This will be a full day conference including mini-workshops building on information presented in sessions I and II, a comprehensive workshop on coping with stress, and an observation session with special-needs children and caregivers in an inclusive setting.

Session IV: Care Plans for Children With Special Needs, Wed., March 30 (snow date April 6), Continuing Education Bldg., 6:30-9:30 p.m. This portion will cover ways of working with parents and health professionals to develop care plans, including guidance and discipline, stress management, and enhancement of children's self-esteem.

Plans are also underway to initiate an ongoing local support group to be established in April, a spokesperson said.

For registration instructions and/or more information, persons may contact Camille Smith at WMCCRC: 1-800-924-9188.

GCC To Offer Basic Sewing

A basic sewing course will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course is scheduled to be held at the Oakland Center of the College beginning March 17. Sessions will be held each Thursday from 6:15 to 8:15 p.m. for a total of six sessions.

Students will learn the basic parts of the sewing machine and how to read basic patterns. Hands-on experience will include lay out and cutting of the pattern, understitching and basic seams. Students will have the opportunity to construct a completed garment during this course. Students must have their own machines.

Students must pre-register. Tuition for this course will be $16 plus a $4 registration fee. For more information, persons may call Patricia Bear at 334-8304.

DNR Asks Dog Owners To Keep Pets Confined

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources recently issued a cautionary statement to dog owners who allow their pets to roam free. DNR officials have asked all pet owners to be "extraordinarily conscientious" in assuring that their pets remained confined, especially during the winter weather. The request has been made in the interest of conserving wildlife resources, a spokesperson explained.

Winter for white-tailed deer can be a period of increasing stress caused by low temperatures, ice, wind, and snow cover that limits the availability of natural foods. Existing ice cover restricts the movement of deer, as their sharp hooves do not grip well on ice and often break through the top frozen crust. Their ability to run and turn is dramatically impaired, and occasionally the animals even sustain dislocated joints after a fall on frozen snow.

NEW DNR EMPLOYEE -- The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest & Park Service, recently hired a new seasonal technician at Potomac-Garrett State Forest. Pictured is Bobbi Joe Briggs, who will be working in the fields of resource management and naturalist. She is a graduate of Southern High School and Garrett Community College. She holds a degree in natural resource wildlife technology. Mrs. Briggs resides in the Oakland area with her husband, Peter, and her three children: Jeremiah, Samantha, and Emilio.

In deer "yards" or concentration areas, the quality and quantity of food is usually low and this compacted with the mobility difficulties lowers deer energy levels significantly. They do not have the stamina nor endurance to battle additional stress from outside sources, such as roaming dogs.

Family or farm pets that are free-running are usually the ones that cause problems, a DNR spokesperson explained. Because they have wider paws and less weight, the animals can travel easily over ice, unlike deer. The potential then exists for free-ranging dogs to cause considerable direct mortality on deer.

The pets are also usually well-fed, which gives them the energy resources for "the chase." These animals, hunting alone or in small packs, can become very efficient predators of deer.

For the duration of the severe weather and ice cover, DNR officials do ask all pet owners to keep canines confined to help conserve wildlife resources.

accurate—picture of themselves. But if the scribes and pharisees were slow to perceive the meaning of this parable, so, perhaps, are we. When Jesus uttered these words, he was obviously thinking of the scribes and pharisees. But when we read this parable today, he speaks to a new, if somewhat similar, audience. God is still the owner of the vineyard, the Lord of the universe. The servants are still prophetic voices whom God sends to his tenants and the beloved son is still our Lord Jesus Christ. The coming of the owner to "destroy those tenants" is still the coming of God's kingdom to which, in one form or another, Christians still subscribe today.

THE "TENANTS" TODAY
All the elements in the parable have remained the same, except two. The first of these is the "tenants," for today they are us, those of us who have embraced Christianity's heritage of almost 2,000 years. We are the ones today who live and work in the owner's vineyard, God's creation. Is it possible that some of the original tenants' arrogant rebelliousness is evident in us? Could we be the ones who, blessed with the heritage of the Old and New Testaments, nevertheless remain resistant and hostile to God's messengers? And could it be that, even while professing the Christ in our churches, in our daily lives we reject God's Son and crucify again and again? Further, is the coming of God's kingdom thus a potential danger rather than a blessing for those of us who think we're among God's chosen?

That leaves the "others" to whom the owner will give the vineyard. I'm not sure who they represent. Perhaps these are people who follow Christ without benefit of Christian clergy or churches. I'm not concerned about the "others," but about us, the "tenants" in the "vineyard," those of us who with centuries of Christian history behind us still may not be getting the message.

That's my perception. What's yours?

"DOG... GONE!"

"Dog...gone! It's Valentine's Day and my sweetheart has left me...our love toppled into ruins. What am I to do?"

Don't despair, my canine Casanova, spring is in the air and love is on the horizon. There's a Valentine for you. You'll see.

Love is indeed "a splendid thing"...most of the time. In this case, perhaps it was only "puppy love," but most of us have suffered a broken heart, only later to realize a more appropriate choice.

This Valentine's Day, if you are happily in love with "the one," celebrate your treasure. If you are not in that "special relationship," but would like to be, worship God, have faith and celebrate the constant love that He bestows upon us each moment.

God's love should make you smile...and that's wonderful. Someone who needs your smile just might be looking...right now.

So smile and have a Happy Valentine's Day!

HOW'S YOUR PERCEPTION?
February 13, 1994

Background Scripture:
Luke 20:1-19

Devotional Reading:
Matthew 21:23-27, 38-46

I find wryly amusing Luke's restrained observation that the scribes and pharisees "perceived that he had told this parable against them" (20:19).

The "parable"—actually more an allegory—refers to the so-called "Parable of the Vineyard," Luke 20:9-18. The reason I find Luke's comment amusing is that it doesn't take a Bible scholar or even a trained mind to perceive that the scribes and pharisees are, without any doubt, the targets of the parable.

Some of Jesus' parables are difficult to understand, but not this one. The "owner" of the vineyard is obviously God. The rebellious "tenants" are the religious leaders of Israel and the "servants" represent the Old Testament prophets. The "beloved son" or "heir" is Jesus Christ and when he is "killed," the reference is to the crucifixion of Christ. When Luke says, "He will come and destroy those tenants," he is speaking of judgement and the advent of the kingdom of God. The "others" to which he will give the vineyard then are presumably the Christians of the early church.

"THEY PERCEIVED"
One wonders why the scribes and pharisees waited until the end of the parable, before they protested: "God forbid!" Didn't they perceive that this story was a condemnation of them and all that they represented? How could they stand there and permit him to draw such an unflattering—if accurate—picture of themselves. But if the scribes and pharisees were slow to perceive the meaning of this parable, so, perhaps, are we. When Jesus uttered these words, he was obviously thinking of the scribes and pharisees. But when we read this parable today, he speaks to a new, if somewhat similar, audience. God is still the owner of the vineyard, the Lord of the universe. The servants are still prophetic voices whom God sends to his tenants and the beloved son is still our Lord Jesus Christ. The coming of the owner to "destroy those tenants" is still the coming of God's kingdom to which, in one form or another, Christians still subscribe today.

THE "TENANTS" TODAY
All the elements in the parable have remained the same, except two. The first of these is the "tenants," for today they are us, those of us who have embraced Christianity's heritage of almost 2,000 years. We are the ones today who live and work in the owner's vineyard, God's creation. Is it possible that some of the original tenants' arrogant rebelliousness is evident in us? Could we be the ones who, blessed with the heritage of the Old and New Testaments, nevertheless remain resistant and hostile to God's messengers? And could it be that, even while professing the Christ in our churches, in our daily lives we reject God's Son and crucify again and again? Further, is the coming of God's kingdom thus a potential danger rather than a blessing for those of us who think we're among God's chosen?

That leaves the "others" to whom the owner will give Look up in the sky!

It's the Olympic torch

BY BRETT ALAN BOBO

This time keeping the torch lit could be tricky. Norwegian ski jumper Ole Gunnar Fidjestøl plans to soar through the air with it as part of the opening ceremony for the 1994 Olympic Winter Games.

"The flame didn't go out, but I burned my fingers," Fidjestøl said after a test jump. "I need better gloves."

This year's Games in Lillehammer, Norway, begin Saturday, Feb. 12, and end Sunday, Feb. 27. Competition covers 12 sports in a total of 61 events.

CBS will broadcast a variety of events as well as special reports. TNT will air about 45 hours of daytime coverage.

This year's Games mark a break from Olympic tradition: They're being held after a two-year rather than four-year hiatus. (The last Games were held in 1992 in Albertville, France.) "I think it's great for our athletes who didn't make it the last time and have a shot at it two years later," Kathy Casey, coach of U.S. figure skater Scott Davis, says. "For the amateur kids it's great; it just gives them another opportunity. It's better for everybody." (Davis earned a spot on the Olympic team in January by winning the Nationals in Detroit.)

Several issues regarding the Games have gained worldwide attention. Athlete security has become a hot topic following an attack on U.S. Olympic figure skater Nancy Kerrigan.

Also generating controversy is the reinstatement of professionals to Olympic eligibility, enabling them to compete with amateurs. A case in point: 1988 Olympic gold medalist Brian Boitano, a professional, will join amateur Davis in the Olympics.

Casey has mixed feelings about the issue.

"A part of me tells me we should send our best athletes to the Olympics, whether they be pro or amateur," she says. "And one part of me tells me that those people have had their turn; they knew what they were doing when they turned pro, and they should stay there.

"I think it discourages some of the younger people from really reaching their potential, because they'll be stymied."

U.S. hockey team coach Tim Taylor says, "I think it's fine if they reinstate themselves in time to be part of a program that we put together that's gonna help us win a medal. But to bring hired guns in as mercenaries at the last minute I don't think is the way to go in an Olympic competition."

And human interest stories about U.S. Olympic athletes abound: speedskater Kristen Talbot donated bone marrow to her brother in January; Duncan Kennedy was beaten up by racists while defending another luger; and defending gold-medal mogul skier Donna Weinbrecht underwent knee surgery.

CTV spokeswoman Susan Cutajar says the Canadian network's coverage will focus on ice hockey and figure skating, since Canadian teams are strong in both events.

Canadian hopes for a medal are strongest in hockey, men's figure skating and pairs skating, while Kate Pace and Cary Mullen have shown great promise in downhill skiing.

From the lighting of the torch to the closing ceremonies, the Olympics provide ample opportunity to see dramas unfold.

IN FOCUS

Greg Kinnear joins NBC's late-night lineup as host of "Later With Greg Kinnear," debuting Monday, Feb. 14.

Kinnear has some big shoes to fill, as he takes over the slot left by Bob Costas, the previous host of "Later."

The program will continue principally as a half-hour talk show featuring an in-depth interview with one guest each night. The format will evolve as Kinnear creates his own identity, using his unique comic talents.

Hockey squad looks to cash in on speed

BY JEFF PLASS

This week's Olympic Winter Games broadcasts on CBS will be heavy on hockey. The U.S. team faces off against France on Sunday, Slovakia on Tuesday, Canada on Thursday and Sweden on Saturday.

Thursday's matchup against Canada will be especially significant for the U.S. team.

"They (Canada) have a very strong defensive team," explains U.S. coach Tim Taylor. "They were ranked as the top defensive team in the (pre-Olympic) competition, but they just didn't score a lot of goals. So Canada's added some offense to their lineup. It'll be a challenge to see if we can contain their new-found offense and continue to be able to score some goals against them."

The emphasis for this year's team is on speed.

"When we selected this team," Taylor relates, "we selected players based on a couple of key cornerstones, the biggest being the element of speed, and the element of skill and the element of sense—hockey sense. Using that formula we ended up with a team that had a lot of players who were skilled and gifted offensively. It's a team that's demonstrated an ability to score goals."

The biggest problem facing the team, however, may not be putting the puck in the net, so much as keeping it out. In a warm-up match against the NHL's San Jose Sharks, the Olympic team took 38 shots and held the Sharks to 18.

"We scored four goals," Taylor says, "which to my way of thinking, has to be enough to win a hockey game. The problem is we gave up five goals. We've got to keep working on defense. We've got to take these players who have primarily earned their little niche in the hockey world because of their offensive skills and attributes and make them effective defensive players."

One of the most difficult things for any Olympic coach to do is to keep his charges from being blinded by the media spotlight. Like a deer caught in the headlights of an oncoming automobile, an Olympic athlete easily can be distracted from his focus by the dazzling spectacle of the media circus.

The media blitz at the Olympic games will be something that will probably be beyond their comprehension," Taylor states. "From a personality standpoint, I think we've come a long way. I'm gonna protect these players as much as I can from sticky and tricky issues. I don't want them to be distracted in focus."

U.S. hockey team hopes puck bounces its way

BY SARA BENNETT

Olympic hockey reporter Mike Eruzione doesn't dwell on Team USA's remarkable win over Russia in the 1980 Olympic Winter Games.

But he has every right to. After all, Eruzione, who has covered events in three Olympic Games prior to the 1994 Games in Lillehammer, Norway, captained his team during its historic drive en route to winning the gold medal.

"Anytime I'm involved with the sport, it's because of 1980," he says. "So it's very easy to kind of flash back to it. But when I'm home working around the house, it was a long time ago. Especially when I try to play, I realize how long ago it was."

Eruzione, then 26, would be considered on the old side when compared with players on the 1994 team. Only one, captain Peter Laviolette, 29, is older than 24.

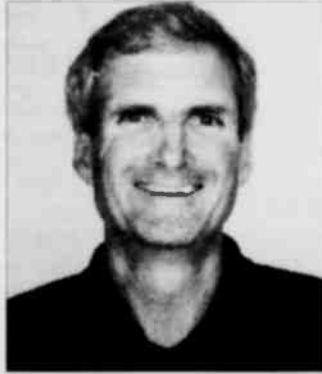

And it's these "kids," Eruzione says, for whom the Olympics are intended.

"I'm not a big fan of the pros in the Olympic Games," he says. "It takes away a lot of the dreams of our young kids. Professional athletes have their own career and their own lives, and they should continue to play the sports that they're playing."

"Especially in hockey," he adds, "it'll be awfully difficult to have all the pros play, because what do you do with the NHL season? If the Summer Olympics were during the NBA season, do you think the NBA would shut down their season for three weeks or a month so these guys could compete?"

Regardless of player status, the hockey team looks like a strong medal contender.

"I think this team has a very

good chance of winning a medal," Eruzione says. "A lot of the European countries aren't as strong as they used to be." For example, the Czech Republic and the Slovak Republic, formerly Czechoslovakia, will each compete. "I don't know if they have that much talent to do that."

The U.S. team has the talent to win, as they showed during the pre-Olympic John Hancock Tour, beating or tying NHL and international opponents about 75 percent of the time.

"Our ultimate goal is to win the gold medal," says coach Tim Taylor. "I don't think there's any reason why we shouldn't have that as an ultimate goal. We're optimistic, and we're positive, and we're determined, but we're realistic; we know what we're up against."

The only area of concern for Taylor is his team's defense. "It's a team that's demonstrated an ability to score goals," he says. "We've got to make these players, who have primarily earned their niche in the hockey world because of their offensive skills, effective defensive players."

"(Overall) you have to be prepared as a team; you have to be focused as a team, and the puck has to bounce your way too."

CBS gets viewers close to Olympic action

BY TED KUSIO

Short of traveling all the way to Lillehammer, Norway, the only way to see the Olympic Winter Games is by watching them on television.

CBS will employ high-tech camera work in its coverage of the 16-day event, beginning Saturday, Feb. 12, and ending Sunday, Feb. 27, with morning and evening telecasts (much of it taped), day-long coverage during the weekends and late-night highlights each day.

"Doing the Olympics is a challenge," Greg Gumbel, host of prime-time broadcasts, says. "There's kind of an awe surrounding the Olympics. Just being a part of it is a terrific thrill as well as an honor."

Pat O'Brien, host of late-night broadcasts, shares Gumbel's enthusiasm.

"The most thrilling part about covering the Olympics is actually covering the Olympics. To be in the middle of a world event ... is a thrill for any broadcaster."

TNT provides exclusive daytime coverage, which enables live telecasts of major events due to the time zone difference—Norway is six hours ahead of Eastern time.

Innovative technology in CBS' coverage will bring viewers closer to the events.

Bob Matina, CBS coordinating director, explains one of his goals is "getting the viewer as close to the event as we can, not just before and after the start and finish line, but actually in competition."

CBS plans to use a camera mounted on the mask of the U.S. hockey goalie, a blimp for overviews of large events and automated cameras that show a slalom skier before and after a gate on a course.

CBS' coverage of the Olympic Winter Games will include a goalie-cam, pending final approval by the International Ice Hockey Federation, to get viewers close-ups of all the action.

IN FOCUS

Tim Daly (pictured) and Sean Young star in the controversial NBC drama "Witness to the Execution," airing Sunday, Feb. 13.

The film is set in the future. Program executive Jessica Traynor (Young) needs to come up with a blockbuster pay-per-view event the whole country will want to watch.

Her solution is a live telecast of the execution of a death row inmate (Daly), but ethical problems arise when Jessica begins questioning the inmate's guilt.

IN FOCUS

Stefanie Powers and Robert Wagner reprise their roles as jet-setting sleuths in "Hart to Hart: Home Is Where the Hart Is" on NBC, Friday, Feb. 18.

When Jennifer Hart's beloved teacher and mentor, Eleanor Biddlecomb, dies tragically in a car accident, Jennifer discovers that Eleanor not only owned the town she lived in, but she also bequeathed it to her former prize student.

Clues lead the Harts to some long-kept secrets about the town and Eleanor's "accident."

Skier Pace's wish:
gold medal for birthday

BY TED SHAW

Downhill skier Kate Pace turns 25 on Sunday, Feb. 13, on the slopes of Lillehammer, Norway, and there'd be no better birthday present than an Olympic medal.

Pace, a native of northern Ontario, currently is second on the World Cup skiing circuit and is generally regarded as Canada's best hope for gold.

Women's downhill competition begins Saturday, Feb. 19. Pace also may qualify for the combined slalom in the Games.

But downhill is definitely her strong suit. She already has won two World Cup events this season.

"The more I learn about my skiing," Pace says, "the more confident I am about my ability on any course."

A member of the Olympic alpine team since 1987, Pace has been hampered by a series of injuries.

She missed the 1992 Olympi-

pies because of a leg injury, and during last season's World Cup she was fitted with a special cast and shortened ski pole after wrecking her wrist in a crash.

Pace's remarkable recovery after those two injuries and her continued success on the slopes led to her being named Canadian Press' female athlete of the year in 1993.

Another Canadian, Kerrin Lee Gartner, won the downhill event in the 1992 Olympics.

Bartlett Says Vietnam Embargo Lift "Premature"

Sixth District Congressman Rosco Bartlett has stated that President Clinton's decision last week to lift the U.S. trade embargo on Vietnam was "premature" and may inhibit the United States' ability to locate POW's and the remains of missing Americans from that war.

A member of the Subcommittee on Military Forces and Personnel -- of the House Armed Services Committee, Bartlett said, "Now that the president has removed the sanctions on trade with Vietnam, the U.S. is left with literally no bargaining tool in gaining information on POW's and in obtaining the remains of American soldiers that have yet to be accounted for."

Bartlett also noted that, with the former Soviet Union now granting access to files on Vietnam, and an unusually high number of weapons systems officers still unaccounted for that may have been captured and sent to other communist countries because of their technical abilities and knowledge, now is the wrong time to lift the embargo.

"The former Soviet Union and Vietnam now have no incentives left to cooperate with U.S. efforts to secure information on missing servicemen. That was our last bargaining chip," said the Congressman.

U.S. trade sanctions against North Vietnam was imposed by President Lyndon Johnson on May 4, 1964, in response to attacks from the communist north on South Vietnam. The embargo was extended to all of Vietnam on April 30, 1975, after the fall of the South Vietnamese government.

GCC To Offer Basket Weaving

A basket weaving course will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course is scheduled to be held at the McHenry Campus in Room 306 beginning Feb. 22. Bellson To Perform at FSU

Big Band drummer Louie Bellson will be performing at Frostburg State University with the FSU Jazz Ensemble on Saturday, Feb. 26, at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall of FSU's Performing Arts Center. Bellson has performed with such greats as Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Benny Goodman, Tommy Dorsey, Woody Herman, Benny Carter, Oscar Peterson, Dizzy Gillespie, Milt Jackson, Louie Armstrong, Lionel Hampton, James Brown, Sammy Davis Jr., Tony Bennett, Mel Torme and Wayne Newton. He also holds the second highest number of White House appearances, behind Bob Hope. Bellson was the first drummer to use the now very common double bass drum set up in a drum set.

Throughout the day of the performances, there will be a free, open to the public high school jazz band festival from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. The high schools who will be performing are Southern, Mount Savage, Beall, Leonardtown, South Hagerstown, Chopticon, Allegany, and North Hagerstown.

There is an admission fee for the Bellson concert. Tickets must be purchased before the day of the concert and are available from the Music Department office.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, the professional men's music fraternity on campus is sponsoring this event. For more information, persons may call the Frostburg State University Music Department at (301) 689-4109.

Marylanders Spend More On Entertainment

Marylanders spent almost $102 million on taxable entertainment during October, November, and December, 1993, nearly 5% more than during the same three months of the previous year, according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. "Entertainment spending is an indicator of how people are spending their disposable income, and spending definitely has risen," he said.

The entertainment spending translates into more than $7 million in admissions and amusement tax revenue for local governments.

Garrett County will receive $30,134 for the quarter, compared to $23,681 for the same quarter last year.

Almost all major entertainment categories showed increased in spending. Marylanders spent almost $17.2 million on movie tickets, a 4.6% increase over the same period last year, reflecting the success of holiday movies. Statewide spending for athletic facilities and equipment rentals increased by about 16.9%, to $3.8 million. However, spending for athletic events declined by about 2.5%, to just over $12 million.

Golf greens fees, cart rentals and driving ranges were responsible for consumer spending of more than $12.6 million, up 13.8%. Spending for miniature golf also increased by more than 45%, to nearly $1.1 million.

Marylanders spent more than $8.5 million on shows and exhibits, an 8.9% increase over spending for the same quarter last year, while spending at arcades for coin-operated amusement devices declined by about 6%, to $8.9 million. Spending for skating and skate shoe rentals also declined by about one-third of one percent to $731,108.

"All of this spending for entertainment generates admissions and amusement tax revenue which our office collects for Maryland's counties, cities and towns," Goldstein said. The comptroller noted that checks totaling $7,040,277 are on their way to local governments as their share of the admissions and amusement tax receipts. Included in the amount is $461,940 to the Maryland Stadium Authority which the law provides as its share of admissions and amusement tax receipts.

"This distribution is about 6% more than the $6,648,357 we returned to the local governments for the October-December period of 1992," Goldstein said. "We collect this revenue at rates set by local officials and return the money to local governments each quarter."

Cherry Chocolate 'N Cream Heart is a sweet finale for Valentine's Day.

Cherry Chocolate 'N Cream Heart

The taste-tempting flavors of hot fudge sauce and whipped cream pair up with cherries for a Valentine's Day dessert that is guaranteed to melt hearts.

- 1 (15-oz.) pkg. Pillsbury Refrigerated All Ready Pie Crusts
- 1 teaspoon flour
- FILLING
- 1 (8-oz.) pkg. cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup powdered sugar
- 1 tablespoon almond-flavored liqueur
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- 2/3 cup hot fudge ice cream topping
- 1 (21-oz.) can cherry filling and topping

Heat oven to 450°F. Allow both crust pouches to stand at room temperature 15 to 20 minutes. Remove one crust from pouch, unfold. Press out fold lines.

If crust cracks, wet fingers and push edges together. Sprinkle 1 teaspoon flour over crust. Turn crust, floured side down, on ungreased cookie sheet. Using paper pattern as guide, cut crust into heart shape.* Generously prick heart crust with fork. Bake at 450°F for 9 to 11 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool. Repeat with remaining crust.

In small bowl, combine cream cheese, powdered sugar and almond flavored liqueur; beat until smooth. Add whipping cream and beat until thickened. To assemble, place one heart-shaped pie crust on serving plate; spread with 1/3 cup of the hot fudge. Carefully spread half of cream cheese mixture over hot fudge. Spoon 2/3 of the cherry filling over cream cheese. Spread second crust with remaining hot fudge and place over filling. Carefully spread with remaining cream cheese mixture. Spoon remaining cherry filling about 1 inch from edge. Refrigerate until serving time. Store any remaining torte in refrigerator. 8 to 10 servings.

TIPS:
* To make pattern, cut a piece of paper into a heart shape about 10 1/2 inches high and 10 inches wide.
 Reserve a small amount of cherry sauce to drizzle in center, if desired.

HEART & HEART

Sour Cream Cherry Meringue Pie

A classic recipe gets a new twist with dried tart cherries.

- 1 (15-oz.) pkg. Pillsbury Refrigerated All Ready Pie Crusts

- FILLING
- 1 1/2 cups dried tart cherries
- 1 cup boiling water
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 cups dairy sour cream
- 4 eggs, separated, reserving whites

- MERINGUE
- 4 reserved egg whites
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 6 tablespoons sugar

Prepare pie crust according to package directions for filled one-crust pie using 9-inch pie pan. Heat oven to 425°F.

In small bowl, combine cherries and boiling water. Let stand 15 minutes. In medium bowl, combine 3/4 cup sugar, cornstarch and cinnamon; mix well. Add sour cream and 4 egg yolks; beat until smooth. Drain cherries; discard liquid. Stir cherries into sour cream mixture. Pour into pie crust lined pan. Bake at 425°F for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350°F. Bake 30 to 45 minutes more or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Heat oven to 400°F. Beat reserved egg whites and cream of tartar until frothy. Gradually add 6 tablespoons sugar, beating until stiff peaks form, 3 to 4 minutes. Spread meringue over hot filling. Seal to edge of crust. Bake at 400°F for 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve warm. Refrigerate remaining pie. 8 servings.

Share the romance of Valentine's Day by preparing one of these sweet sensations. All of them require little kitchen time because they start with convenient baking items like refrigerated, ready-to-use pie crusts and cherry filling and topping. The pie crusts from Pillsbury are the ones that novice cooks find user friendly and that scratch bakers trust when they're in a hurry. Ruby-red cherries are especially suited for Valentine's Day because they add color and a tangy taste to homemade specialties. So, any of these romantic presentations is the perfect way to say, "I love you."

Use a heart-shaped cookie cutter to show off the luscious, ruby-red filling in this Sweetheart Pie.

Sweetheart Pie

Cherries and raspberries make a tasty twosome in this easy-to-prepare pie.

- 1 (15-oz.) pkg. Pillsbury Refrigerated All Ready Pie Crusts
- 2 cups fresh or frozen raspberries
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 (21-oz.) can cherry filling and topping
- Sugar

Prepare pie crust according to package directions for two-crust pie using 9-inch pie pan. Heat oven to 400°F.

In large bowl, combine raspberries, 1/3 cup sugar, flour and cherry filling; mix lightly. Spoon into pie crust lined pan. With 2-inch heart-shaped cookie cutter, cut out heart shapes from second crust. Place crust over filling and flute edges. Brush undersides of heart cutouts with water and place on top crust. Gently brush top crust with water; sprinkle with sugar.

Bake at 400°F for 40 to 45 minutes or until crust is golden brown and filling is bubbly. Cover edge of crust with strips of foil after 15 to 20 minutes of baking to prevent excessive browning. 8 servings.

Cherry Sundae Pie

A popular combination is even better with the addition of cherries.

- 1 (15-oz.) pkg. Pillsbury Refrigerated All Ready Pie Crusts
- 1 (16-oz.) can dark sweet cherries, drained
- 4 cups vanilla ice cream, softened
- 1/2 cup chocolate ice cream topping
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- Whipping cream, whipped, sweetened
- Maraschino cherries, if desired

Heat oven to 450°F. Prepare pie crust according to package directions for one-crust baked pie shell using 9-inch pie pan. (Refrigerate remaining crust for a later use.) Bake at 450°F for 9 to 11 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool.

Place half of canned cherries in cooled pie crust; top with 2 cups ice cream. Drizzle 1/3 cup of the chocolate topping over ice cream. Sprinkle with remaining canned cherries and pecans; top with remaining ice cream. Drizzle with remaining chocolate topping. Freeze several hours or overnight. Garnish with whipped cream and maraschino cherries. 8 servings.

Treat Your Valentine

- Surprise your valentine by leaving a red rose or chocolate kisses in an unusual location — on the front seat of the car, in the bathroom or in a coat pocket.
- Lift your sweetheart's spirits by arriving with a bouquet of balloons.
- Help your children prepare homemade valentines out of lace doilies for grandparents.
- Tuck heart-shaped cookies or candies in brown bag

- lunches; then decorate the bags with lots of hand-drawn hearts.
- Wrap red ribbons around the base of white candles to dress up the dinner table.
- Put your Valentine's Day cards for your family under their dinner plates.
- Give friends red pens or pencils.
- Create love coupons, redeemable for massages, a night out or breakfast in bed.

Two Seniors, Two Juniors Serve As Council Officers

Serving this school year as officers of the Southern High School Student Council are Tatum Shomo, president, Cindy Savage, vice president, Kelly Ryan, secretary, and Meghan Price, treasurer. Shomo and Savage are seniors, while Ryan and Price are both juniors.

Miss Shomo, a senior and daughter of Loyd and Kimberly Shomo, Oakland, has received numerous awards for academics, including National Science Merit Award, Maryland Distinguished Scholar Honorable Mention, and All-American Scholar. She is a co-captain on the varsity cheerleading squad, was a member of the World Af-airs Team, is a member of the National Honor Society, and was a princess for the 1993 Autumn Glory Festival. She plans to attend a four-year college and become a nurse anesthetist.

1099G's Mailed To Taxpayers

"Our office mailed approximately 857,000 Form 1099G's to Maryland taxpayers who itemized deductions and received state income tax refunds during 1993. Taxpayers should have received these information documents by January 31, and some taxpayers are likely to have questions about them," State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said.

The Maryland State Comptroller's Office is required by federal law to send the Form 1099G to remind taxpayers who itemized deductions that the state income tax refund they received last year must be reported as income on the 1993 federal tax return. But the comptroller reminded taxpayers that they need not attach the 1099G to their federal or state income tax forms.

Most questions about the 1099G's come from taxpayers who don't remember getting a refund check. "But before you call with questions, look closely at the Form 1099G," the comptroller said.

Form 1099G indicates if any or all of the refund was applied to estimated taxes, or as a donation to the Chesapeake Bay and Endangered Species Trust Fund, or to other offsets and credits. "This information should answer a lot of questions before taxpayers pick up the phone," Goldstein said.

Although a taxpayer may not physically have received a refund check, if the refund was applied to some other purpose, federal law says they did receive the benefit of a refund.

"Another reason taxpayers might have questions about the 1099G is that it reflects all Maryland refunds credits to the taxpayer during 1993, including not only an original tax refund for 1992, but also any refunds from any amended returns from 1992 or prior years," he said.

Taxpayers who still have questions after they check their records should call (410) 974-3981 in the Baltimore area, or toll-free 1-800-MD TAXES from elsewhere in Maryland.

"Now that most taxpayers have received their W-2s and other information documents, the pace of tax filing is picking up, and we're ready to help," Goldstein said.

All 19 Maryland income taxpayer services provide free taxpayer assistance between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The offices will also offer extra hours of free assistance on Saturday, February 12. Taxpayers can call or visit the offices on that Saturday for free state tax help from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.

"Our state tax experts will answer any questions, provide the necessary forms and even complete your Maryland income tax return free of charge, if you like. Just be sure to bring along a completed copy of your federal return and all W-2 statements," Goldstein said.

The addresses and telephone numbers of all Maryland taxpayer service offices are listed on the back of the state tax booklet.

National Children's Dental Health Month

February is designated National Children's Dental Health Month. One of the best ways to keep children's teeth and gums healthy is to remove the build-up of plaque, the sticky colorless film that constantly forms on the teeth. Products that assist in dental plaque removal include brush and paste. Brushing the teeth is the most accepted method of removing plaque and maintaining good oral hygiene. The size and shape of the toothbrush should allow the user to reach every tooth in the mouth. Several toothpastes have demonstrated antiplaque and tartar-control properties.

Glimpse Of The Past . . .

THE GLADES HOTEL in Oakland is pictured above as it appeared in 1898. This was the second Glades Hotel, as the first was destroyed by fire in 1874. The structure had 50 guest rooms, spacious parlors, and a large dining room. It was heated by fireplaces. A number of famous guests visited both the earlier and later hotels, including members of the Garrett family, Jefferson Davis (president of the Confederacy), Lt. William McKinley (who would later become president of the U.S.), actress Mrs. Leslie Carter and her well-known producer David Belasco, Ben Hur author and Civil War General Lew Wallace, and William F. Cody, known as Buffalo Bill. The first sessions of court for Garrett County were also held in the second Glades Hotel before a courthouse was built. The hotel, which was located near the Oakland B&O Railroad Station, closed in 1908 and was subsequently razed. Farmers Are Advised To Be Sure Land Is Eligible For Planting

If farmers want to retain eligibility for 1994 USDA benefits, Roger I. Richardson, chairperson of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee, says it is important for them to know before planting next year's crops, whether the land has had a highly erodible land (HLE) or wetland determination made by the Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

"Farmers also must know whether crops to be planted on acreage that has been determined as highly erodible are permitted by a signed conservation plan," said Richardson. "And they need to check whether they had land that was a wet area that was manipulated after December 23, 1985, and therefore cannot be planted to agricultural commodities."

He said producers should contact ASCS immediately if they need an HLE determination, or do not know conservation plan requirements on all their land that in 1984 will either be planted to an annually tilled crop, or designated as conservation uses or acreage conservation reserve.

"Once a crop is planted in violation of HLE requirements it is too late for the farmer to be eligible for 1994 USDA benefits."

Richardson said planting areas that were drained after December 23, 1985, by someone else does not excuse the farmer from ineligibility if they plant the converted area. "If there is any doubt, farmers should get official wetland determinations from SCS before they plant."

By completing an AD-1026 certification for highly erodible land and wetland prior to planting, and reviewing maps, farmers will have information to decide whether SCS determinations are necessary, or they may contact SCS concerning details of their conservation plan.

"We want to work with producers to help them maintain their 1984 eligibility for USDA benefits. However, it is up to the farmer to be informed before planting so violations can be avoided," ASCS official Richardson said.

Producers with questions about HLE certification can contact the Garrett County ASCS office at 334-1901 or the SCS office at 334-1900.

Agricultural Bills Introduced In Legislature

Action in the Maryland General Assembly which would involve agriculture has been "relatively slow" this session, according to Jack Miller, of the Maryland Farm Bureau.

He and representatives of other farm organizations are watching several bills, among them bills concerning cost sharing for water pollution control, personal property tax exemption for farm implements, mandatory best management practices, and animal cruelty.

House Bill 222, introduced by the chairman of the Environmental Matters Committee, repeals the prohibition of use of the state's general funds for the Department of Agriculture's cost sharing program for water pollution control. This legislation was introduced because of the concern of using bond money for short term projects such as the cost share projects (i.e. cover crops). According to Miller, the bill has passed the house and the issue will come up in budget conferences.

House Bill 531 was introduced to the Environmental Matters Committee to repeal Chapter 675 of the Acts of the General Assembly of 1916 which created the Maryland Agricultural Society. This bill was introduced at Farm Bureau's request, because being obsolete and no longer active.

Senator Winegrad introduced Senate Bill 414, Agriculture - Best Management Systems - Water Quality, requiring farms conducting commercial livestock or poultry operations and farms on which animal manure is applied to have in place and be implementing nutrient management plans if specified acreage of farmland are not under nutrient management plans by specified dates. It would require the Department of Agriculture and the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service to make and publish determinations of acreage of farmland covered by nutrient management plans by specified dates. According to Miller, Farm Bureau will not support the bill, which will be heard by the Economic & Environmental Affairs Committee.

House Bill 265, introduced to the Judicial Committee by Del. Owings, would alter the current law on cruelty to animals by making specified offenses a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not to exceed $5,000 or by imprisonment not to exceed three years or both to commit any offense under the Act.

House Bill 111, introduced by Del. Murray, would make an exemption from the personal property tax apply to farm implements owned or leased by persons who raise or train livestock or cultivate crops; and applying the Act to affect all taxable years beginning after June 30, 1993. This is considered an emergency bill and was assigned to the House Ways & Means Committee.

U.S. Corn Stocks Down 25 Percent

Corn stocks in all positions on December 1, 1993, totaled 5.94 billion bushels, down 25 percent from last year. Of the total stocks, 3.80 billion bushels are stored on farms, 34 percent less than a year earlier. Off-farm stocks, at 2.13 billion bushels, are down two percent from the previous year.

The September-November 1993 indicated disappearance based on September stocks, 1993 production, and December stocks is 2.52 billion bushels, six percent below the disappearance of 2.68 billion bushels during the same period in 1992.

All wheat in all storage positions on December 1, 1993, totaled 1.59 billion bushels, down slightly from December 1, 1992. Of the total, 656 million bushels were stored on farms, down two percent from last December 1. Off-farm stocks are 930 million bushels, up one percent from last year. The September-November 1993 indicated disappearance is 540 million bushels, up four percent from the same quarter in 1992.

Soybeans stored in all positions on December 1, 1993, totaled 1.55 billion bushels, down 15 percent from December 1, 1992. On-farm stocks, at 677 million bushels, were 23 percent below last December and accounted for 44 percent of total stocks. Off-farm holdings, at 877 million bushels, were nine percent below a year ago.

Precautions Suggested For Storing Pesticides Over The Winter

Homeowners, land users and farmers need to take some precautions for storing pesticides over the winter or anytime of the year, according to Joe Hatton of the West Virginia Soil Conservation Service. Pesticides are a broad term used to cover fungicides, herbicides, insecticides, etc.

Some pesticides will tolerate freezing while others can be adversely affected, says Hatton. The most common occurrence involves the freeze/thaw action on liquid formulations such as emulsifiable concentrates (EC) and flowables (FL). Freezing and thawing can cause some liquid formulations to separate which makes resuspension difficult. Dry formulations are less susceptible to damage by freezing. Wettable powders (WP) and dry flowables (DF) have problems when they are stored in a moist atmosphere.

Listed below are a few common herbicides and their temperature limitations with no product endorsement:

Crossbow: Store above 10 degrees F or agitate before use.

Dual: Store above 30 degrees F.

Gramoxone: Store above 32 degrees F.

Lasso: Store above 32 degrees F to keep product in solution.

Roundup: Store above 10 degrees F.

"These are just a few of the many products on the market. Read your label for specific recommendation and storage," Hatton advises.

All pesticides should be stored in a secure building; be in the original container, with the label; be kept dry, well ventilated; be stored away from water, food for humans and feed for livestock and pets; and not be exposed to an open flame.

"The owners of pesticides should inventory the products on hand, copy the labels, store a copy with the pesticides and a copy away from the pesticide storage facility, maybe the house, a neighbor's, or the fire department. The label information is important if a spill happens or if a fire occurs. The list will provide the fire department with some idea of the chemical compounds they are fighting," he adds. "Take some precaution with your pesticides and store them safely," Hatton concludes. Those wishing assistance with their pesticide storage should contact Joe Hatton, NPS Environmental Spec. WVSSCC, 300 Tunnelton St., Kingwood, WV 26537 or phone (304) 329-1922.

Farm Bureau Testifies On Health Care Reform

Health care reform legislation should seek to improve the current market-based system, while providing more security and choice to individuals and families, American Farm Bureau President Dean Kleckner told a House subcommittee.

The major health care reform proposals before Congress contain some positive features but also raise numerous concerns, Kleckner said.

He was one of 26 witnesses and the only farm representative to testify before the Ways and Means health subcommittee.

He said Farm Bureau strongly supports the 100 percent income tax deduction for health insurance premium cost for the self-employed. This provision is included in the Clinton administration plan as well as most other proposals before Congress.

"We also share the president's goals for improving rural health care delivery systems and encouraging young doctors and other health professionals to serve rural areas," Kleckner said.

Farm Bureau, however, cannot support the president's plan for employer mandates, Kleckner told the panel. "These will hit farm employers hard, forcing many out of business."

Also troubling are the proposed creation of a federal bureaucracy "to decide how much health care should be delivered and who should deliver it" and the loss of choice of physicians and hospitals resulting from the large health care provider networks established under the Clinton plan. Farm Bureau also opposes "global budgets," which limit how much money individuals spend on health care, price controls, federally-set minimum benefit plans and federal regulation of health insurance plans.

"We believe the administration's proposal does make important positive change in suggesting that Medicare recipients should have more choices in health care beyond passive acceptance of the ne-size-fits-all Medicare plan," Kleckner said. "We believe the idea of moving Medicaid recipients into the mainstream of the health care system, with assistance to buy the same plans as offered other people, is also sound."

Kleckner noted Farm Bureau's opposition to a single-payer health care system, saying that it would result in a loss of individual control over health care financing decisions and limits in services resulting from budget shortfalls. "Rural areas would be particularly shortchanged under a single-payer system because they do not have the political influence to gain control of limited resources," Kleckner said.

A provision for "Medi-save" tax-free accounts, included in a plan proposed by Sen. Phil Gramm (R-Texas), has Farm Bureau support. This concept "would broaden the choices for all of us when it comes to our own health care," the farm leader said.

While a proposal by Reps. Jim Cooper (D-Tenn.) and Fred Grandy (R-Iowa) avoids employer mandates, Kleckner said it should be modified to be more market-oriented. "The Cooper-Grandy plan is long on government 'management' and short on competition. It would set the stage for further federal government control and health care rationing," he noted.

The problem with various other plans is that they "propose that more federal regulations and controls and more federal spending will solve the real health care problems we face," Kleckner said.

"We believe the current level of federal control over health care is part of the problem, and we want to move more decision making back to individual providers and receivers of care."

Fertilizer Not Recommended For Use On Ice

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert I. Walker urges all Marylanders not to put fertilizers on their driveways or sidewalks to help soften ice and snow. "Using fertilizer in this way is ineffective, expensive and bad for the environment. At a time when all of us in Maryland are doing everything in our power to protect and restore the Chesapeake Bay, we must all be conscious of trying to reduce the run off of nutrients into our ground water and streams. Putting fertilizer on ice and snow will dramatically increase our run off problems," Walker said.

"Farmers have long known the importance of not using too much fertilizer. By putting it on ice and snow, there is absolutely no way of preventing excess nutrients from polluting our valuable waterways," said Walker.

The Maryland Department of Agriculture has produced a brochure for homeowners outlining five steps they can take to protect the Chesapeake Bay. Limiting the use of fertilizer is one of the most important of these steps. A copy of this brochure may be obtained from the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service's Home and Garden Center by calling 1-800-342-2507.

Maryland Weed Update by Dr. Ron Ritter, Weed Specialist, University of Maryland

A number of new products are being introduced to the market place. Some are labeled, some are not. For weed control in corn, Broadstrike is the newest product to get labeled. Actually, it won't be labeled by itself but as a package-mix with Dual. Thus, you will be hearing a lot about Broadstrike plus Dual for control of numerous weed species. Let's take a moment to look at this mix and see what it controls:

Dual: Annual Grasses--foxtails, crabgrass, fall panicum, barnyard grass, and yellow nutsedge.

Broadstrike: Pigweed, nightshade, spurred anode, morning glory*, cocklebur*, lambsquarter, velvet leaf, ragweed*, and jimsonweed*.

*Control may be poor.

As you can see, the biggest fit for Broadstrike plus Dual will be for the control of triazine-resistant weeds. It will have an excellent fit in the Piedmont area of the state where triazine-resistant smooth pigweed and lambsquarter are common. I am not recommending early pre-plant applications of Dual plus Broadstrike alone. If applied too early, the Dual may get washed out. Then late-season grasses will occur. In corn, if applied early pre-plant, I am recommending the addition of 1 qt/A of Princep. This will help give season-long grass control. Also, if morning glory, ragweed, or any of the other starred (*) weeds above exist, the addition of 1 qt/A of atrazine is advised. Use rates of Dual plus Broadstrike will average between 2 to 2.5 pints per acre on medium soils. Cost at the grower level will run about $10 per pint. Thus, you are looking at a $20 to $25 per acre program. If you add Princep and/or atrazine in corn, you could push $30 per acre. Then you have to add the knock-down product, 2,4-D, sticker, insecticide, etc., thus, weed management can be an expensive adventure.

Agriculture Wins As House Rejects Rule On EPA Bill

Farm Bureau and other groups concerned about balancing new environmental mandates with their economic impact scored a victory in the House last week. House members, voting 191-227, defeated a rule governing debate on a bill elevating the Environmental Protection Agency to Cabinet status.

The rule would have prevented a vote on Farm Bureau-supported amendments requiring the proposed Department of the Environment to examine the costs and benefits of new environmental regulations.

Sixty Democrats joined 167 Republicans to oppose the rule.

American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner praised the House vote, saying the issues of risk assessments and cost/benefits analysis are critical to agriculture.

"I am convinced that the American people want this type of reasoned thought, perspective and balance given to the many complex public policy decisions being considered today," he said.

"It truly represents the type of 'change' that is so often spoken about. I believe Congress is beginning to hear us when we say that environmental controls must be realistic, sensible and based on good science."

Kleckner said for America's farmers and ranchers, the rapid growth of environmental regulation in agriculture has come with tremendous costs. The impact is both direct and indirect, he added, as agriculture strives to comply with an excess of state and local regulations stemming from unfunded federal mandates.

"The American public has many competing worthwhile and socially desirable goals such as economic growth and environmental protection," Kleckner said. "Without a sound foundation in risk assessment and cost/benefit analysis we will be hindered in our efforts to make the best and most cost-effective public policy decisions."

The Senate passed a similar risk assessment, cost/benefit amendment, 95-3, when it approved EPA Cabinet legislation last May.

The House EPA bill now returns to the Rules Committee, where members will craft a compromise with the proponents of the amendments that were offered by Reps. Karen Thurman (D-Fla.), John Mica (R-Fla.), Charles Stenholm (D-Texas) and Gary Condit (D-Calif.). The bill is likely to be considered again after the February congressional recess.

Maryland Milk Production Down

Maryland dairy operators produced 115 million pounds of milk during December 1993, down 3 million pounds from the same month a year earlier. The number of milk cows declined to 96,000 head from the 100,000 head of a year earlier. Yield per cow during December, at 1,200 pounds, increased 20 pounds from the year earlier. As of January 1, 1994, dairymen fed an average daily ration of 15.3 pounds of grain and concentrates per animal, down 0.5 pounds from a year earlier.

Southern High School Students Of The Month Selected

The Student of the Month winner for science is freshman Janice Plauser, daughter of Jerry and Jeanne Plauser, Mtn. Lake Park. Janice is a Distinguished Honor Roll student and has received previous academic awards. She hopes to attend college in the future.

The Vocational winner is Eric Glatfelter, a senior and son of Ann and Donald Glatfelter, Oakland. He is a member of the VICA and of the National Honor Society. He is employed by his father and grandfather, who own Glatfelter Lumber Company. Eric plans to attend Allegany Community College in the fall of 1994 to further his education in the forestry field.

Katrina Thayer is the Student of the Month winner for Home Economics. Katrina is a sophomore and the daughter of Vivian and Stuart Thayer, Oakland. She is a member of the Christian Club. She has received the Minds in Motion award and was the first place winner of the Science Fair last year. She is a member of the youth group at Pleasant View Baptist Church. In the future, Katrina plans to earn a master's degree in the health or science field.

Kristina Armstrong, the Student of the Month winner for Math, is a sophomore and the daughter of Kathy and Jim Armstrong, Kitzmiller. She is a member of the Kitzmiller Assembly of God Youth Group. She enjoys computer games and plans to major in computer programming or business management.

The Student of the Month winner for Social Studies is sophomore Christian Coviello, son of Albert and Elizabeth Coviello, Mtn. Lake Park. Christian has received several awards, including Minds in Motion and Who's Who Among American High School Students. He is a member of the junior varsity basketball team and the varsity soccer team. He is also a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church and of Boy Scout Troop 22. He is interested in attending a four-year college and majoring in electrical engineering.

Erica Stahl is the English Student of the Month winner. She is a freshman and the daughter of Dennis and Linda Stahl, Oakland. Her hobbies include collecting seashells and reading books. She would like to major in animal science in the future.

NHS Yearbook Receives Award For Excellence

The Northern Middle School yearbook has been recognized with an Award of Excellence and selected for inclusion in The 1994 Yearbook Yearbook published by Taylor Publishing Company. This award honors the book's excellence in copywriting.

The Polaris was edited by Kimberly Bittinger and Nathan Rawe. Advisors are Nancy Frank and Sue Harkins. Other staff members were: Zach Leverenz, Mindy McCarty, Michele Geis, Pam Kyle, Janel Hordubay, Glenda DeWitt, Julie Savage, Jenny McKenzie, Chelsea Frickley, Amy Hinebaugh, Melissa Tucci, Kista Knox, Angie Otto, Laurel Wolf, Doug Weimer, Arissa Kenner, David Butler, Mindy Robinson, and Eric Neubert. Books published by Taylor between October 2, 1992, and October 1, 1993, were evaluated for excellence in one or more of these areas: cover design, theme development, page design, and copywriting.

"This Award of Excellence is given to a small percentage of staffs that sets high journalistic standards in coverage and design," said Alan Heath, vice president of marketing for Taylor. "It takes a lot of work to do any yearbook, and we are especially proud of these staffs and support their efforts."

Taylor Publishing, headquartered in Dallas, Tex., is a major publisher of yearbooks nationwide. The company provides training, computer hardware and software, and printing services to junior high school, high school, and college yearbook staffs.

BPW Seeking Young Careerist

The Maryland Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs is sponsoring a Young Careerist competition program through its 33 local organizations throughout the state.

To be eligible, the candidate must be between the ages of 21 and 35, be employed full-time in a business or profession in his or her career field, and support the goals and objectives of BPW/usa. The competition consists of a three-minute individual presentation and a personal interview with a panel of judges.

The 1994 topics include: "How Will the World be Different in 10 Years Because I Was Here?" "Who was a Trailblazing Woman in my Career Field and How I Will Carry on the Tradition for Other Women to Follow," and "Woman, Friend or Foe?"

To learn more about the BPW/usa Young Careerist program or other programs offered by the BPW/Voice of Working Women, local person may call 1-800-BPW-FOR-USA or Contact Earleena Tressler at 301-895-5314 of the Grantsville Club. Membership and meetings are open to all working women.

The March meeting of the Grantsville Area Club will be held March 21 at the Holiday Inn at 6:30 p.m. The Young Careerist from the Club will be chosen at this meeting.

Potomac Edison Offers Assistance In Paying Bill

Record cold temperatures in January could mean higher than normal energy bills, and the Potomac Edison Company has announced it wants its customers to be aware that it is ready to help those experiencing problems making payments on their bills.

According to Western Division Manager Nancy Neff, Potomac Edison has several options available to help customers with payment concerns. These include an Average Payment Plan that levels out high and low payments throughout the year or a schedule of payments arranged confidentially with one of the company's customer service representatives.

"If customers are having trouble paying their electric bills, we would like to work with them and develop a payment or refer them to an appropriate agency," Ms. Neff said. "Winter electric bills are usually higher because of increased use, but the frigid temperatures that the area experienced in mid-January will cause some customers' bills to be considerably higher. Because these higher bills may cause problems for customers on a budget, we want to help ease their concerns."

In addition to developing payment schedules, other programs have been successful year after year in helping customers with higher winter electric bills, according to Ms. Neff. Under Potomac Edison's Community Energy Fund, customers can receive help paying heating bills through assistance agencies in their area. These agencies determine eligibility of each individual and, for each dollar donated to the fund by Potomac Edison customers, PE stockholders contribute 50 cents towards energy bills, up to program limits. Customer service representatives at Potomac Edison can also direct customers to help that is available from local and state governmental agencies.

Ms. Neff added, "We can only help customers when we know they need assistance. So if customers are having concerns over higher energy bills, we encourage them to call before they get behind in payments. The number to call is 1-800-654-3317."

GCC Designates Honor Students For Fall 1993

The following full-time students of Garrett Community College have been named to the dean's list for the fall semester 1993, according to Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs. Academic requirements for this recognition are the attainment of a grade point average (GPA) of 3.5 to 4.0 with a minimum of 12 credit hours attempted.

Bateson Awarded CPCU Designation

Jay A. Bateson, an account executive in the Oakland branch of The BGS&G Companies, has been awarded the Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) professional insurance designation by the American Institute for Chartered Property Casualty Underwriters. This announcement was made by Dr. Norman A. Baglini, CPCU, CIU, American Institute president and chief executive officer.

The American Institute awards the designation nationwide to persons who complete 10 rigorous courses and national examinations and meet its ethics and experience requirements.

The designation was formally conferred at a recent ceremony in Baltimore. The conferment was held in conjunction with the Annual Meeting and Seminars of The Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters.

Bateson is a member of the Bethel United Methodist Church, Young Agents of Maryland, and Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club. He is also active in the Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America and Ducks Unlimited. He and his wife, Jami, have two children and reside in Mtn. Lake Park.

GRANTSVILLE HEART FUND DRIVE

Mrs. Mary Catherine Wiley is chairman of the area Heart Fund drive and will have volunteers out collecting on the regular routes in the near future, as weather permits. They will also be collecting from business areas.

Mrs. Mary Alice Broadwater will be hosting the first card party this Saturday, Feb. 12. They will be playing 500 and all card players are welcome to attend at 7:30 p.m. Prizes and refreshments will be served. It will be held at the American Legion Post 214.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Yoder, Miss Dorothy Yoder, and Glenala Miller took a trip to Dover, Del., where the Yoders visited their daughter and family, John and Brenda Sapp, and saw their new grandson, Glen Mitchell, who is several weeks old. The Sapps have two other sons, John Jr. and Jeremy, and a daughter, Ruth Ann. Mrs. Glenala Miller visited her daughter and son-in-law, Fred Zimmerman.

Harley and Betty Wildesen attended the Deep Creek Dinner Theatre Friday evening where their grandson, Andrew, performed in the play "Fantasies."

Visitors of Earl, Helen and Bob Winters last week were Sam and Carolyn Snyder, Bowie, and Jeff Sweitzer, Salisbury. They returned to their homes Sunday.

Harley and Betty Wildesen gave a birthday dinner Sunday in honor of their twin sons and their wives. Guests of honor were Harold and Chris Wildesen and Gerald and Sheila Wildesen. Others attending were their children -- David, Darrin, Andrew, Julie and Justin -- and their brothers, Darrell and Rick Wildesen.

A.J. Fleming is now at home after spending several days in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Carol Sweitzer was discharged from Garrett Memorial Hospital last week and is now recuperating at home.

The regular business meeting of the Swanton Community Association will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m.

OTTERBEIN UNITED METHODIST NEWS
The choir from the Otterbein Church sang at the Goodwill Nursing Home in Grantsville Saturday evening. Those attending were: Rev. Joe Hatcher and Dorothy, Orval and Mareva Teets, Ellis and Mary June Harvey, Glen and Freda Teets, Harley and Betty Wildesen, George Rexroad, Wanda Maples and Mary Lou Wilson.

Those attending the District winter worship service with Bishop Ives held in Keyser, W.Va., on Sunday were the Rev. Joe and Dorothy Hatcher, Orval and Mareva Teets, Ellis and Mary June Harvey, Freda and Barbara Rexroad, and Wanda Maples.

The Rev. Hatcher, Barbara Rexroad, Alberta Switzer and Mary June Harvey attended the South Garrett parish meeting Monday evening at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland.

The Administrative Board meeting will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Dinner Theatre Set At Lakeside

Holy Fire Youth Group at Lakeside Assembly of God, will present a dinner theatre, "From Me to You," on Friday, February 11, at 6 p.m. Donations are $5 per person and proceeds will go to Speed-the-Light.

Holy Fire raises monies for missions annually through various Speed-the-Light activities. They have set a goal of $3,000 for 1994.

Persons contact Deborah Shank, youth pastor, at (301) 387-9242 for ticket information. Lakeside Assembly of God is located two miles south of Deep Creek Lake along U.S. Rt. 219.

DHCD Holding Logo Contest

All art students 18 years of age or older are eligible to enter a logo contest sponsored by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD).

The grand prize logo will be used on all DHCD documents and marketing pieces, and the winner will receive a $500 U.S. Savings Bond. A first runner-up will be awarded a $200 U.S. Savings Bond, and the second and third runners-up will each receive $100 in gift certificates from Maryland art supply stores.

Art students who wish to receive a contest information packet with official rules may call (410) 514-7745. Logo entries must be received by midnight March 18, 1994. Winners will be announced and notified by mail no later than April 25, 1994.

On Dean's List

J. Tarrin Towers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Towers, Grantsville, has been named to Washington College's dean's list for the Fall 1993 semester, in recognition of outstanding academic achievement. Towers is a senior art and English major.

Washington College is a small, private, liberal arts and sciences institution in Chestertown. Students must achieve a grade point average of 3.40 or better to qualify for the dean's list.

STANDING TIMBER FOR SALE

Contract SR-09-94
Maynardier Ridge Road
The Maryland State Forest and Park Service is offering for sale the following timber in three separate parcels of 28 acres of Compartment #69 and #71 of Savage River State Forest. This sale is estimated to cut 226,064 BD FT of live sawtimber, according to the International Saw Kerf Rule, and 179 cords of hardwood pulpwood, more or less. All felled trees 11" D.B.H. and larger with at least one 16" log to a 8" top D.I.B. with less than 50 percent defect were tallied as sawtimber.

Timber is located along Maynardier Ridge Road, approximately two miles east of Bittinger. Timber is offered for sale subject to the following conditions:

1. Timber will be shown at 9:00 a.m. on Monday, Feb. 14, 1994. Anyone interested in seeing this timber may meet at the Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department Parking Lot.

2. Contract/Bid Forms will be available at the showing or from the Savage River State Forest Headquarters, Rt. 2, Box 63-A, Grantsville, MD 21536 or phone 301-895-5759.

3. A Security Bond in the amount of 10 percent of the bid submitted must be posted upon submission of the bid to the Maryland State Forest and Park Service.

4. The operator must be a registered Forest Product Operator in Maryland for 1994 and hold a Certificate of Erosion and Sediment Control (Green/Gold Card) training to be awarded successful bidding.

5. A Performance Bond in the amount of 10 percent of the bid submitted must be posted upon acceptance of the contract by the State of Maryland. The Security Bond may be applied to cover the Performance Bond.

6. All timber volumes noted in this offering are estimates. Parties bidding on this timber should determine such volumes to their own satisfaction. NO adjustments on the basis of volumes will be made with buyers.

7. Bidder may pay 50 percent of bid price on acceptance of the contract, with the remaining 50 percent payable within 90 calendar days from bid acceptance. If buyer selects this option, the delayed payment must be covered by a payment surety bond in form acceptable to the state.

8. Bids will be received up until 1 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 28, 1994.

Garrett Community College is seeking a three (3) year vending machine RFP that would provide vending machine concessions for an estimated 350 day-time population (per semester) with an estimated 125 full-time and part-time employee count. Service will commence March 1, 1994 or earlier by mutual agreement and will run until February 28, 1997.

Vendors are to supply, maintain and stock machines to be located in the Community and Continuing Education Building, Technology Center and the Administration Building. Such items will include a soda machine, juice machine and a snack machine in each building. Vending machines are also to be located in the Student Center to include a soda machine, juice machine, snack machine and light food items such as sandwiches, etc. RFPs are to include type of machine to be installed, items to be stocked, item prices and commission percentage to Garrett Community College. All machines should conform with ADA regulations.

Sealed proposals are to be clearly marked "Vending Machine RFP" and submitted to the Dean of Administration Office, Garrett Community College, P.O. Box 151, McHenry, MD 21541, no later than 4:00 p.m. on Monday, February 14, 1994. Garrett Community College reserves the right to refuse any or all proposals. EOE/AA 49-21

MUCH AT STAKE - With the lives of some 100 fire fighters and most of downtown Oakland in jeopardy, the officer in charge of fire-fighting operations during a major blaze Sunday morning along Second Street was Bob Rudy, chief of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, pictured above, second from right. The blaze caused at least $1,000,000 in loss and damages, but was primarily contained in two large buildings. Rudy noted that the utilization of two ladder trucks (Oakland's and Frostburg's), coupled with "excellent cooperation" from neighboring fire departments and the long-term support of the Oakland VFD by the community were the primary keys in stopping the blaze before it consumed additional structures. See story. Photo by Laura Stutzman.

Eleven VFDs Respond

Sunday Morning Blaze Destroys Historic Buildings In Oakland

by Don Sincell

Six business locations and several apartments in downtown Oakland were destroyed by fire Sunday morning, as the multiple-alarm blaze ripped through the second floors of two large buildings along Second Street and threatened much of the downtown area.

Oakland and Deer Park volunteer fire departments were called to 123 South Second Street, the address of Shanghai Chinese Restaurant, at 9 a.m., after smoke and fire were discovered in the second-floor apartments above the kitchen of the restaurant. Nine other fire departments were summoned to the scene shortly thereafter when the magnitude of the blaze was realized.

Business locations destroyed were the kitchen and entrance to Shanghai Restaurant, Southern Office Supply, and Scissors R Us, all three located in a building owned by Marvin Jones, Hagerstown, and Vogue Beauty Salon, Walt Renner and Associates, and Gonder's Insurance Agency, housed in a building owned by Nancy, Terry, and Joe Helbig, Oakland.

Gonder's Insurance is owned by Terry and Nancy Helbig. Scissors R Us is owned by Karen Friend. Southern Office Supply is owned by Skip Bolden, the Shanghai Restaurant business is owned by Jing Wei Zhang, and Vogue Beauty Salon is owned by Douglas H. Bittinger.

Most of the fire damage was confined to the upper floors of both buildings, which housed several apartments and, in the Gonder building, Walt Renner and Associates; however, the structural and water damage was so extensive to the first floor areas that the remains of both buildings were razed immediately after the fire was extinguished. The historic dining room of Shanghai Restaurant, located in a wing behind another building known as the Gortner building, was the only portion of the Jones building that was salvaged.

According to Robert Thomas, deputy chief state fire marshal, the loss has been estimated at approximately $1 million, but he said that figure could go much higher. The building owners had insurance.

It took about two hours to bring the blaze under control, according to Oakland Fire Chief I. Robert Rudy, who was in charge of the fire fighting operation; however, fire suppression efforts continued until the evening hours as firemen doused numerous "hot spots" and made sure there were no rekindles.

Efforts began immediately to raze the remainder of the two buildings and have all of the debris hauled away, as Oakland Mayor Asa McCain's request for state assistance was answered by the governor's office. State excavators, loaders, and trucks were brought in by Sunday evening and worked into early Monday morning until the area was clear. Only the dining room and a portion of the entryway of the Chinese Restaurant remained standing Monday morning. Some 50 loads of material were transported to the old Garrett County landfill, which was opened for the purpose by order of Garrett County Commissioner Brenda Butscher.

At least 100 fire fighters and nearly a dozen pieces of equipment were used to battle the fire. Other departments sending personnel and equipment to the scene were: Terra Alta, Deep Creek, Gorman, Accident, Bayard, Grantsville, Mount Grove, Clarysville, and Frostburg. The Accident, Mount Storm, Thomas, and Bittinger fire departments were placed on stand-by.

OUT OF CONTROL and threatening all of downtown Oakland would be an appropriate description of a fire Sunday morning when the above photo was taken by Randy Crabtree, Oakland. The blaze broke out in the kitchen of Shanghai Restaurant at 123 South Second Street and quickly spread to apartments above. The flames later consumed the second floor of the adjacent Gonder building and destroyed a total of six business locations and four apartments before they could be brought under control by personnel from 11 area fire departments. All of the apartment residents escaped the blaze unharmed; however, two Oakland fire fighters sustained injuries and were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Late Spring Semester To Begin At GCC

Garrett Community College has announced a new late spring semester of courses to begin the week of March 21 and end in May or early June. According to Joan B. Crawford, director of enrollment development, this semester will include the special interest Beacon courses offered each spring during the day and a wide variety of college courses offered during late afternoon and evening.

"Because of the severe winter weather we had in January many people chose not to enroll in evening course this semester. By starting this group of courses in March, we are giving those people an opportunity to continue their education and complete the courses they need before summer," Crawford stated. "Many of the courses will be scheduled in the Oakland area, and we will accept registration by phone to expedite the process."

The Beacon day courses already published in the County Officials Named Defendants In $10,000 Lawsuit By Local Man

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners and each of its three members and Garrett County Clerk Robert Fousek have been named in a civil lawsuit brought forth by Jack Hinebaugh, Sang Run, who is suing them for $10,000 for their alleged failure to supply information Hinebaugh requested regarding the county's recent $1.3 million purchase of equipment for the county roads department.

According to the court document, which was filed in Garrett County Circuit Court, Hinebaugh had sent a letter to the commissioners on December 22 requesting information regarding the purchase of the heavy equipment, which included a number of graders and loaders, last fall. His application was made under the Maryland law titled "Access to Public Records."

"It's a sorry thing that you have to go through the court process to obtain information that's supposed to be public record," said Hinebaugh. "The Garrett County Code is very explicit about how county officials are to handle heavy equipment purchases, and they haven't complied with anything in there."

Specifically, Hinebaugh requested a copy of the contract, purchase order, or letter order which consummated the purchase; a copy of the specifications used for solicitations of bids; the names of bidders from

Public Hearing Set Officials To Join Lake Groups In Promoting Alternate Fee Proposal

The Deep Creek Lake Business Association, the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association (DCL-POA), and the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council have asked the Garrett County Commissioners to join forces with them in presenting a united front in favor of an alternative proposal for a fee schedule for lake use permits at Deep Creek Lake.

The proposal is in response to a plan recently laid out by Pennsylvania Electric Company (PENELEC) officials that would raise dock permit fees by as much as 800% for some lake users. Local groups have expressed concerns about the proposal, saying it is not equitable.

Although the business and property owners' groups had not yet come to a consensus on every detail of the alternate plan at the

Oakland Recovery Begins Even As Fire Rages; Officials Alerted Early

As the fire blazed Sunday on Second Street in Oakland, Mayor Asa McCain was on the telephone to state offices, seeking help from anyone who may answer his calls. While he was unable to reach any state officials during the fire, he did make contact early with Assistant Secretary of State Vonzell Ward, who called a meeting with Governor William Donald Schaefer on Monday to discuss relief efforts for the affected businesses, families, and the town. Four state officials will visit Oakland today to view the gutted buildings and to meet with victims of the fire.

"I've had a tremendous response from the governor's office," McCain said yesterday. "The Schaefer Administration has already assigned two agency heads to work on the problem. We'll be meeting on Thursday for them to see the area and listen to the victims' stories. I want the folks affected by this fire to be able to sit down with these state officials and explain exactly what their losses are."

The group will meet in the Oakland Municipal Building at 4 p.m., McCain said. The demolition of the scorched buildings was quick, with most of the work finished by 6:30 a.m. Monday. McCain said he contacted Rodney Glatfelter, director of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling, early on Sunday, and Glatfelter was able to arrange the opening of the old Garrett County Landfill. Over 50 truckloads of debris were taken to the landfill all through the night.

"It was great to get all the wreckage out of there," McCain said. "I didn't want the burned-out shell standing there for days and days, making it look like the fire had just happened. I want to keep things moving. That's my main goal." He noted that the State Highway Administration provided key assistance in the demolition.

The possibilities of arranging low-interest loans

THE AFTERMATH - This photo appears as though it could have been taken somewhere in Europe during World War II after a bombing raid. In fact, it was taken Sunday afternoon as fire fighters searched the ruins of two historic buildings in downtown Oakland that were destroyed by fire. The scene was short-lived, however, as machinery moved in that very evening to raze the remaining structures and haul away the debris. Photo by Craig Phillips.

Education Board Votes To Operate On Presidents' Day, Discusses Roof Study

The Garrett County Board of Education voted last Tuesday at the regular monthly meeting to make a previously scheduled holiday into a work school day. February 21, Presidents' Day, was originally planned as a holiday, but in light of the high number of school days already canceled because of bad winter weather, the board made the decision to rescind it. Other topics covered during the meeting included the formation of a school site selection committee and a presentation of a county-wide school roof study.

After a short discussion about the Presidents' Day issue, the board decided to grant year-around employees a "floating" holiday to compensate them for the rescheduled day. If no more school is canceled, students will be in class until June 15.

The formation of a school site selection committee was discussed. A site must be selected by the education board for the new elementary school that will house the students of Loch Lynn and Red House Elementary schools, and the committee will search out options and recommend sites to the board for approval. The responsibility of finding a site lies with the education board.

The committee will be comprised of the following individuals: Brenda McCartney, director of elementary schools; Clark Sharpless, director of transportation; John Nelson of the county's planning and zoning board; one representative each from the sanitary commission and the county roads department; and one parent from each school.

Board President Beverly Murphy also suggested that a Garrett County Commissioner be included on the committee, and other board members agreed to invite the commissioners to take part in the committee's tasks.

The results of a roof study of all county schools done by Tremco Service Corporation were presented to the board. A roof replacement restoration schedule was suggested for consideration.

The findings of the extensive study indicated that several roofs are in need of immediate restoration measures, while others require more extensive replacement. The cost of restoration is approximately $1 per square foot while the cost of replacement is $4-$5 per square foot, according to the Tremco representative.

The representative stated that several of the roofs restored 15-20 years ago are now at the end of service life and need to be replaced. The roofing systems that can be restored in the next few years will move into the replacement category if they are neglected.

The spokesperson informed the board that the local maintenance staff has saved the county "hundreds of thousands of dollars" through their restoration and repair efforts over the past several years. However, he cautioned that the county must "step up" its roof program now to avoid serious problems in the near future.

Roofs that need work in the next few years include both high schools, both middle schools, Dennett Road Elementary, Crellin, Broad Ford, and Blooming-ton Elementary.

One-Vehicle Accident Results In DWI Arrest

A Swanton woman was arrested for DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) following a one-vehicle accident Friday evening.

Mary E. Duckworth, 59, was charged with the offense after losing control of the 1991 Ford Explorer she was driving, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry.

The accident occurred on Rt. 135, near the CCC Camp Road. Duckworth lost control of the vehicle, skidded across the road, ran off the shoulder, and struck a small tree. The vehicle

In addition to the DWI charge, Duckworth was cited for failing to drive in a single lane, and refusal to sign a citation. Tfc. Glenn Seaman investigated the 5:50 p.m. accident.

MORE AREA ACCIDENTS

Snow- and ice-covered roadways during the past week were blamed for several accidents, according to reports filed by the MSP, including one on Tuesday morning, involving Shawn A. Miller, 22, of Albright, W.Va.

Miller escaped injury when the 1992 Dodge Dakota he was driving on a side road near Rt. 42 hit a patch of ice and began "fishtailing." The rear tire of the vehicle apparently struck a small snow bank, causing Miller to lose control. The truck struck an embankment, overturned, and came to rest on its side. Trooper M.E. Mowbray was the investigating officer.

An Oakland woman was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Monday, following a one-vehicle accident on Rt. 219.

A report filed by Tfc. A.S. MacLane stated Kimberly A. Weimer, 24, lost control of the 1993 Nissan Pathfinder she was operating, when blowing snow caused "white out" conditions. When she slowed the vehicle, it slid on the ice, struck an embankment, and overturned. Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded to the scene. No charges were filed against Weimer.

Four persons were slightly injured when a 1989 Ford Tempo, driven by Paula S. Dove, 16, Oakland, collided with a 1992 Ford Tempo, driven by Myrtle C. Whitacre, 53, Mtn. Lake Park.

According to reports filed by Tfc. P.R. Brown, the Dove vehicle failed to yield the right-of-way at an intersection and entered Rt. 135 into the path of the Whitacre vehicle.

Both drivers, and passengers in the Dove vehicle, Jennifer Panther, 16, Mtn. Lake Park, and Amy L. DeWitt, 16, Oakland, were transported by Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. They were reportedly treated and released.

ARREST
A Grantsville man was charged with CDS prescription fraud by Tfc. Tarburton of the Maryland State Police, following an alleged attempt to obtain prescription drugs with an altered prescription, shortly after 3 p.m. on Monday.

According to the report, Anthony Cardell, 41, was arrested when he attempted to pick up a prescription at a local Rite-Aid store, after employees there reportedly recognized it to be a forgery.

Three Arrests Logged By GC Sheriff's Office

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office logged three arrests this week of persons charged with violations including DWI (driving while intoxicated), felony theft, and possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS).

Albert King, 49, Lakeview, Ohio, was arrested in the early hours of Feb. 10 when an officer noticed that he was operating a vehicle with a burned out headlight. Upon talking with the defendant, the officer detected the odor of alcohol and administered field sobriety testing.

King was subsequently charged with DWI as well as driving with a revoked license. After a short stay in the Garrett County Jail, he was released on his own recognizance.

A local man was arrested in connection with a theft that occurred at Glottely Enterprises in December. Raymond N. Lewis II, 44, has been charged with felony theft. He is accused of stealing tires from the business, according to the report. Further information was not available.

A 19-year-old Swanton male was arrested Feb. 12, charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance. Michael A. Corby was arrested during an officer's routine patrol in the Par Matt Lanes parking lot. Corby was found to be in possession of a small baggy containing suspected marijuana, according to the police report.

Ryscavage To Present Budget Request For '95

Garrett County Superintendent of Schools Jerome Ryscavage will present to the public his recommendations for the board's fiscal year 1995 budget. The presentation will take place at Northern Middle School on Thursday, Feb. 24, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The budget presentation will be sponsored by the Accident Town Election Set For March 1

The Town of Accident will hold its municipal election on Tuesday, March 1, to fill two vacancies in the office of town councilman. The polls will be open from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Town Hall, Accident Municipal Building.

Nominated at the February 1 Town Convention to fill the vacancies were Richard Carlson, Michael Smith, Richard Younklin, and Steve I'ratz for town councilmen. Richard Carlson and Michael Smith are the incumbents whose 2-year terms of office are expiring. In mid term are Councilmen Herbert Bowser and Thomas Georg.

The Town holds an open registration and eligible residents may register Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Town Hall. Qualified voters unable to come to the polls because of illness, disability, military duty, or absence because of business, travel, or school attendance on the day of the election may obtain an absentee ballot by contacting Becky Smith, telephone 746-6346, Mon., Weds., Fri. from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Accident Town Hall.

VOP Among Cases Heard In Dist. Court

Among the cases heard by Judge Ralph Burnett in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week, was one involving an Oakland man who was found to be in violation of probation, stemming from previous charges of felony theft dating back to July 1992.

A bench warrant had been issued for Curtis I. DeWitt, 20, in December 1993, after he failed to meet the conditions of his probation. His original one-year sentence was reimposed by the judge, and his probation was revoked.

In a related case, DeWitt pleaded guilty to a battery charge filed against him by Kathy Crocco in December 1993. He was sentenced to 18 months in jail (with all suspended but one year), and placed on two years of supervised probation upon his release. This sentence will be served concurrent with the other charges.

In plea agreements with the state's attorney's office, charges of breaking and entering, felony theft and malicious destruction of property, resulting from the various arrests, were not prosecuted against DeWitt.

In other District Court news, Bruce Liller, 38, Morgantown, W. Va., had a charge of theft of items valued at more than $300 placed on the stet docket, because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney's office. According to court documents, Liller is accused of stealing two buildings, valued at $750, from Joseph C. DeWitt.

DeWitt reportedly built the buildings on land rented from Liller, and was to be reimbursed.

Elwood C. Hyre, 34, Keyser, W. Va., also had his case placed on the stet docket. He was charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and paraphernalia with intent to use, following his arrest for DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) in July 1993, by Maryland State Police.

John Wayne Wilburn, 30, Swanton, pleaded guilty to possession of a loaded weapon in his vehicle. He was fined $250, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

According to a report filed by R/C D. Riley, on Aug. 11, 1993 he observed a suspicious vehicle, with no registration plates, parked near Deep Creek Lake recreation area. When he approached the vehicle, he smelled the odor of burnt marijuana. In a subsequent search of the vehicle, the officer found a scoped rifle on the passenger seat, a bag filled with a brownish-green substance between the front seats, 18 rounds of ammunition, three more bags of marijuana, nine burnt ends of marijuana cigarettes, and a clear plastic bag with 91 tablets of LSD.

According to court documents, Wilburn was initially charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance with intent to deliver, and being in possession of a loaded firearm. The charge was later amended to the firearm charge.

Jackson L. DeWitt, 33, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of a loaded weapon in his vehicle. The judge fined him $450, placed him on one year of unsupervised probation and instructed him to forfeit his weapon, a Remington Model 700. A charge of hunting deer during closed season was not prosecuted, because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney's office. DeWitt had been charged by DNR police near Fairview Church Road, on Oct. 3, 1993.

Also charged by DNR police for having a loaded weapon in his vehicle was Robert H. Speicher, 18, Accident. He was fined $120 for the offense.

Thomas F. Gordon, 41, Oakland, was found not guilty of battery. He had been charged with the offense by Melvin G. Cullers, Gorman, following an altercation on Oct. 11, 1993.

GCSO Charges Drivers In Auto Mishaps

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office responded to several car accidents in the past week, two of which resulted in charges against the drivers.

A 30-year-old California man was arrested last Thursday following a car wreck at the entrance to the Southern Car Wash on Oakland Drive. Randy Eastman was apparently operating a 1979 Ford truck when, at about 5:40 p.m., he struck a vehicle driven by Tom King, Oakland.

King was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. Eastman was charged with traveling at a speed greater than reasonable, driving an unregistered, uninsured motor vehicle, and operating a motor vehicle with a revoked driver's license.

Eastman was released from jail on $250 bond, according to a sheriff's office report. Cpl. Randy Sines investigated the incident and issued the charges.

The sheriff's office responded to a motor vehicle accident in Mtn. Lake Park on Monday. One person involved in the accident sustained minor injuries, according to the report.

According to the report, Stacy Hendershot, 19, Warfordsburg, Pa., was operating a 1987 Chevrolet Camaro westbound on Rt. 135 near G Street. Michael A. DeWitt, 19, Oakland, was eastbound, operating a 1993 Ford pickup. Hendershot apparently attempted to make a left turn into the driveway of El Lobo's and drove directly in the path of the DeWitt vehicle, causing a collision.

Wanda Housley, 19, a passenger in the DeWitt truck, was transported to Garrett Memorial for treatment of minor injuries. Hendershot was cited for failure to yield right of way.

In a third accident, a 16-year-old Grantsville youth was uninjured when his vehicle overturned. Anthony W. Layman was operating a 1989 Chevrolet truck eastbound on Rt. 40 Sunday. He apparently hit an icy spot in the roadway, causing the truck to skid, hit the guard rails, and overturn two and a quarter times. No charges were cited in the incident.

Fire Co. Requests Funding Assistance For Rescue Vehicle

The Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire Company in Finzel has asked the Garrett County Commissioners for financial assistance in purchasing a heavy rescue vehicle, the approximate cost of which is $120,000.

Fire Chief Jim Raley appeared before the commissioners this week with the request for matching funds of 30% of the total cost of the apparatus -- $36,000.

The vehicle would be equipped with stadium lighting and would be used for rescue efforts that require the use of heavier equipment than is now available in the area.

"We understand that it would be a financial strain for you, and we applaud you for having a fire tax," said Raley. "A total of $120,000 currently flows through our corporate account and 20% of that comes from the county fire tax which is very generous, especially when compared to other counties."

Raley continued, "Our business has changed over the years and we are no longer just a fire company. With the completion of I-68, we are responding to more incidents relating to rescue and ambulance assistance calls."

In fact, said Raley, of the 106 calls the company responded to last year, over half were rescue calls. He also said that the company has a total of 15 emergency medical technicians and five rescue technicians.

"We have the training, the knowledge, and the building to house the equipment," he said, adding that the equipment would not necessarily always stay in the eastern part of the county, and could be used by other fire companies as well.

"At Eastern Garrett, we are not in the financial status to provide the matching funds so we are requesting your consideration before we appear before the Board of Review in March," he concluded.

Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey told Raley the request will be taken into consideration by the board.

GCC Releases Progress Report On Tech Prep

A progress report on the tech prep program scheduled to be implemented in Garrett County high schools this fall has recently been submitted by Jim Allen, coordinator of the project. According to the report, progress on the project has been "slow but steady" with activities being maintained on schedule.

Beginning in the Fall 1994 semester, all ninth-grade students will be enrolled in one of four career clusters: business management, life sciences & natural resources, engineering/technology, or arts & human services. Four separate committees have worked to develop, review, and refine the course sequences for all the career paths contained in each of these clusters. A booklet outlining these course sequences is currently being published. Committees are now working with college personnel on the post-secondary components of the career paths.

Applied mathematics, now in its second year of implementation in the high schools, has been generally well received by teachers and students, according to the report. Work is currently underway to develop an applied communications curriculum, with applied sciences curricula scheduled to be developed in the near future.

Several projects have been completed by the Tech Prep Marketing Committee, including the design and production of tech prep place mats to be distributed to Garrett County restaurants, and the publication of an information pamphlet that explains the four career clusters and the career pathways. These have been disseminated to all eighth, ninth and 10th grade students and their parents. Open houses have also been held at the high schools and middle schools to inform students and parents about the tech prep model.

Work on the Garrett County Career Development Model is nearing completion and it is expected that this model, recognized as "exemplary" by the Maryland State Department of Education, can be implemented in the fall of 1994. An effort to design preparatory and support services needed to implement and maintain the tech prep program is currently being organized.

McCain Seeks Fourth Term As Oakland Mayor

Asa M. McCain Jr., filed for the office of mayor for the town of Oakland on Monday, Feb. 14. McCain noted that he would like to thank the citizens of Oakland for their support during the past six years, and would like to request their continued support by re-electing him on March 14th during the Oakland Municipal Election.

McCain said that he wanted to continue working to improve the community. In particular, he expressed his interest in the on-going projects, including the development/replacement of Bradley Manor, and the continued development of the Oakland Town Park, which he hopes will include the purchase of the historic B&O Train Station.

"Being mayor of Oakland has been a challenge," he said. "But I'm proud to be a part of such a progressive community."

We Are Fortunate...

What began as an ordinary, seemingly peaceful Sunday morning in Oakland this past week was abruptly transformed into an unforgettable day of destruction and loss, when billowing, black smoke and massive flames were discovered pouring from one of the town's largest buildings. It was a truly terrifying sight to those of us who were among the first on the scene, as visions of losing much of downtown Oakland were among those being imagined.

Within minutes it seemed that the entire community was activated, as assistance taking many forms arrived on the scene. Fire fighters, of course, were faced with the greatest task. Law enforcement officials, rescue personnel, town officials, highway personnel, and utility workers all arrived to handle their specific responsibilities in such a situation. Then there were scores of volunteers who showed up and were anxious to lend a hand in whatever way they could be of assistance, whether it involved helping to remove valuables from the buildings in jeopardy, dragging fire hose, holding a ladder, or preparing food and hot beverages.

Since the fire, many others have provided still other forms of assistance, such as housing and clothing to the fire victims, financial contributions, and words of caring and encouragement.

To all of these people we extend our praise and thanks. As Terry Helbig said and we echo, "This is just a great community!"

However, we wish to single out a special team of men whom we believe deserve our greatest praise: the line officers of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. Most local residents really do not have any way to compare the quality of this team of officers with those of other areas, but we can assure all that the containment of this fire was nothing short of an outstanding, professional job that would match those of fire departments anywhere, including paid departments in urban areas. (We speak with some knowledge on the subject since this writer has 20 years experience as a fire fighter, including some limited action with an urban department.)

This particular group of line officers, which has been together as a unit for over 10 years, has a combined total of nearly 70 years of fire fighting experience. It was not just good fortune nor luck nor just lots of water that stopped Sunday's blaze. It was extinguished when and where it was because of a systematic, well organized attack that was planned from the beginning by Oakland Chief Bob Rudy, First Assistant Chief Phil Rook, Second Assistant Chief John Feather, and Captain Carroll Deem. It was a solid plan that was devised by these four and then skillfully executed by the fire fighters and other department officers on the scene.

We are extremely fortunate to have this calibre of ability and professionalism among Garrett County's fire fighting forces.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The fire Sunday morning was such a disaster. Seven businesses and three families in the downtown section were either wiped out completely, or relocated.

The reason for this letter is to say thanks to a lot of people: first, to all the firemen who fought so valiantly to try to save downtown Oakland. It was just too much fire in old, old buildings. They couldn't contain it.

Secondly, thanks to all the many people who carried out files, desks, etc., and completely cleaned out Gonder Insurance's three offices in less than an hour -- as the fire was advancing. They then helped set up an office in the former Helbig Jewelers store, so Gonder Insurance could be back in business Monday morning.

Thirdly, thanks are extended to all the people who called, offering help, storage space and those who brought food and drinks to all the helpers.

Finally, thanks to the cleanup crew that worked throughout the night, cleaning up the debris.

Nowhere in the world would one find such compassion and caring as has been shown in our town on Sunday. Thank you, God, for every last one of them.

The folks at Gonder Insurance and Joe Helbig

To the Editor:

I write on behalf of Associated Builders and Contractors, Inc. (ABC) - Cumberland Valley Chapter. Our chapter of ABC represents nearly 300 businesses employing over 25,000 persons in the construction industry in the Tri-State area.

We are concerned with the trend toward over-regulation of businesses by governmental bureaucracy. Jobs are created by business. Instead of supporting and encouraging the growth of new businesses and creation of jobs, we perceive that government often discourages business.

For example, one of our members contracted to build a pond to irrigate small trees in an orchard. Beginning in July 1991, he began to apply for permission from various government agencies. To date, the application and permit process has taken more than two and one-half years and required our member to get approval from not less than seven different government agencies. He is still unable to build the pond at this writing.

Another member sought a parking permit for a weekend to enable a crane to be stationed near the exterior of a building. This member had to visit nine different government offices to acquire the weekend parking permit.

We are not opposed to a healthy environment, but the unnecessary layers of government bureaucracy have become absurd. Growth and development are not evil. Growth and development create employment opportunities. We at ABC call upon elected officials to make sure that new laws do not further complicate the development and construction process. We call on our legislatures to re-examine existing laws and regulation and streamline the process. Our elected officials should direct regulators to help, not hinder, the vital business community.

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of Feb. 21-25 is as follows:

Day 1 - Applesauce, New England ham dinner w/ cabbage, potatoes, carrots, corn bread, fruited Jell-O.
Day 2 - Pineapple juice, tossed salad, spaghetti w/ meat sauce, garlic bread, sherbet w/cookie.

Coffee, tea, and milk are served with all meals. On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

To the Editor:

This is a letter to thank all the state, county, and town crews for keeping the roads opened during the ice storm we just had; to the firemen for being called out for fires and to clear trees out of the way and for helping people when their towns were flooded; and to Potomac Edison for working such long hours to help people get their electricity back on and to the extra crews brought in from other towns and states to help them. Thanks a million! You all deserve a medal for the job you did, which goes to show what working together can do.

Again, thanks!

Edna Friend
Oakland

P.S. I think everyone should express their thanks to all the different fire departments that helped during the fire and to other people who helped in any way.

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the response of the obituary of Donald J. Friend.

Truth is, nobody is trying to open closed doors, nor change anything in Debra's life. Facts are facts; she did have a stepfather.

At the age of 16 Donald tried to let her know. It was by her choice that she did not accept him.

No one can change the way things are. She is my half-sister because we share the same mother. That is where Donald J. Friend came to be a stepfather, like it or not.

As for Mr. Friend, he never saw bad in anyone. In my opinion he was the best dad a person could ever have. And I'm proud to say he was my dad. Please let a good man rest in peace.

A very hurt daughter,
Marsha R. Friend House

To the Editor:

Governor Schaefer's proposed 25-cent tax increase on cigarette packs is a step in the right direction and deserves our support. He plans to put projected revenues of $70 million to good use, but his main purpose, he says, is to get people to quit smoking and to keep our youth from starting the addiction in the first place. (Indeed, most people begin this habit when under age.) Maryland ranks No. 2 in the nation in cancer deaths, down from No. 1 previously, but still has a long way to go--not just to reduce cancer deaths, but also to reduce other lung ailments, heart disease, low-birthweight babies, etc.

Opponents to this tax increase say smokers will buy their cigarettes out of state. Maybe for awhile they would, but I am not convinced significant numbers would keep traveling such distances every time they wanted to buy cigarettes.

Besides, other states are getting wise to the costs of tobacco use and are proposing and enacting more controls and taxes also.

Opponents also say such a tax increase unfairly targets poor people. It doesn't have to. It only affects them if they buy the tobacco. They have the same choice as anyone else, not to buy the stuff in the first place. There is absolutely no reason anyone's tobacco addiction has to be subsidized by the state, i.e., Maryland taxpayers. (If you want to feel compassion for someone, feel it for those children who have no choice but to breathe second-hand smoke from their parents' cigarettes and for low-birth-weight babies whose mothers knew better but smoked anyway throughout their pregnancies!)

If more people quit smoking or don't start in the first place, everyone's health will be better off. If they don't quit, but opt to pay the higher tax in order to keep smoking, the revenues raised from the tax increase will go toward a variety of programs including education and developmental disabilities programs. Therefore, this proposed tax increase can only be seen as a win-win proposition.

It is important that supporters take action ASAP because the opponents are out in full force already. Call the office of Gov. Wm. Donald Schaefer and voice your support at 1-410-974-3901 or write him at The State House, Annapolis, MD 21404.

Also, Senator Leader Mike Miller opposes this tax, so call his office toll-free at 1-800-942-722 x3700 and express your support for this tax and all other tobacco measures that have been introduced before the current state legislature.

For more information on this tobacco tax or on the other tobacco bills before the legislature, call toll-free 1-800-492-7122 x3886 or x3810; or call me at 334-1804. Let's make this year the one that makes a difference in our revenues, our health, our youth. These are worth fighting for, aren't they?

Sincerely,
Donna Aspinall

To the Editor:

As I watched and listened to President Clinton's State of the Union recently, the thought occurred to me that those who would write the "true" history of his single term presidency had best be on their toes, for he, and his minions, are rewriting history, and the accomplishments of others, as his own.

Who I am to make such a judgment? I'm nobody; but I know a revisionist, and a man at odds with history, and the truth, when I see one...and when I'm being flim-flammed!

"But wait," you may say, "beside the fact that I already don't like you, history is but a sham in any event. It begins with 'History' is something that never happened, written by a man who wasn't there." Anon., and moves on to: "What is history but a fable agreed upon?" -Napoleon."

(The same creed I ascribe to the 'man' in the White House.)

My reply: "True...perhaps; but charlatans make it so." Therein lies the rub! If we were to diagram everything in between your two examples as a bell shaped curve, at its apex would be this: "History is the witness of the times, the torch of truth, the life of memory, the teacher of life, the messenger of antiquity." -Cicero...if faithfully written. And if we abuse its truths, or ignore it completely, as man is prone to do; as we are doing now, in fact, we are condemned to repeat its bitter aspects - just as Santayana tried to teach us -- or, perhaps, we allow it to be reinvented...ad nauseam.

"History is indeed little more than the register of the crimes, follies, and misfortunes of mankind." -Gibson...the way the media plays the game. They can't seem ever to be able, or to be willing, to simply connect the dots. And, voter indifference and apathy, career (professional) politicians, ineptitude, rampant greed, and special and vested interests, was, is and always will be, the enablers of it all...just as it is today and steadfastly refuses to change; because too many of the "People" are just as big a failure at their jobs in a Democracy as the people they allow, or maybe even select, to represent them are at theirs. Perhaps, we truly do deserve one another.

"The sad fact is, this continuously running immorality play, though convoluted and multifaceted, seldom rises above a man in quest of his daily bread and butter for the vast majority of the people; and the right to simply "be" shapes the common history of the common man; while others, "more deserving", claim the spoils! Of course, we should be grateful; politicians remind us all the time, Americans have been fortunate; we have them, and "their" Constitution to protect us.

"Perhaps the only true dignity of man is his capacity to despise himself." -Santayana...I think for allowing others to use and abuse him to the point of impunity before reacting."

To the Editor:

I'd like to express my concerns about the recent increases proposed by Penec concerning buffer strip use permits on Deep Creek Lake and offer a few insights.

These proposed increases will create undue hardship on the property owners adjoining the waterfront whether they are commercial or residential. This will also create an unfair advantage to those people who were lucky enough to set up shop away from the water.

As we all know, Penec owns the land under the

OAKLAND UPDATE

by Mayor McCain

I am sure everyone is aware of the tragic fire that occurred in Oakland on Sunday, February 13th, but I would like to point out the tremendous pride and comfort we can feel living in Oakland and the surrounding community.

When we have a tragic situation (which we seem to have had too many of recently) we assume that people will come to our assistance, and they always do. But, we often take for granted our emergency personnel and dispatchers. I am overwhelmed by how many forms of assistance can occur in just a matter of minutes. By the time the fire call was received, volunteers had already entered the fire scene and were evacuating the residents to adjoining businesses not immediately affected by the raging fire. These volunteers then returned to the area to assist in the removal of all furnishings which could be safely obtained.

Garrett Central was invaluable during the crisis. Almost immediately several fire companies arrived on the scene, and were fighting the blaze. The ladder trucks from Oakland and Frostburg enabled the fire fighters to battle the fire from two sides, thus preventing additional losses. The quick and professional work of all the firefighters prevented an even greater tragedy.

The newly rehabilitated Oakland water system, which was only completed during the past week, was put into full operation, and was able to supply ample water for all the fire fighting needs, utilizing over 1,000,000 gallons of water. While water personnel put both the Oakland and Broadford Water plants into maximum operation, superintendents of Police, Wastewater, and Streets, utilized personnel in their departments and available equipment to begin evacuating and securing the area to allow the fire departments and rescue squads full access to the site.

In just as short a period of time, the utility companies were on the scene, and had the gas, electric, and water shut off. State Highway Administration, Maryland State Police, and the Garrett County Sheriff's Department all arrived to assist in controlling the traffic situation. The postal service had the mailbox removed, CSX had trains stopped, individuals, businesses and churches provided coffee, food, and prayers, the American Red Cross, the American Legion, and neighboring families provided shelter for those in need. The immediate response was overwhelming! The continued assistance and cooperation throughout the day was astounding! Even spectators cooperated with the directions of officers.

As soon as the fire was extinguished, Fire Marshals on the scene were able to determine the cause of the blaze, and were able to release the buildings to be razed. The State Highway Administration was in contact with the Mayor's Office and offered the necessary equipment, as did local contractors. The Department of Environment was able to give the go-ahead to haul the debris to the landfill. Meanwhile, an operator opened the landfill, which enabled the clean-up to start in the late afternoon. Clean-up continued until daybreak Monday. Local fire companies stayed on the scene with lights until the State Highway Administration could bring their lighting equipment from Hagerstown.

In conclusion, I believe if Oakland had tried to plan for a crisis of this scale, it would not and it could not have gone as smoothly. I was so incredibly touched and gratified to see so many different people working together so efficiently. On behalf of the Town of Oakland, to all those who helped in whatever way, thanks!

lake and the State of Maryland (that's everyone in Md!) owns the water in the lake. I feel we should have some voice in how we use the lake and how we are charged to do so.

I have further reservations with the fact that the state agency that is supposed to be looking out for our interests is the same agency who stands to benefit the most from higher fees. Many officials from Penec use the example that in the Bay area and even in Pittsburgh, the fees are much higher. But what they fail to compare is that in those areas they accommodate larger boats for longer periods of time.

These businesses have no "user" fee which increases their profitability. The economical base in those areas creates a larger pool of customers to draw from. Even discounting all of the above those fees did not get there in 800 percent increments.

It seems that most of who are involved with this negotiation process would like the business community to bear most of the burden. Of course a business would expect to pay more, but the percentages presented to the Deep Creek Lake Business Association at their February 7th meeting hardly seem fair and equitable. One-third of all slips on the lake, which is around 1,000, are commercial and two-thirds (about 4,000) are residential. There are 31 commercial permit holders and rest are residential. This means 55 percent of revenue will be generated from residential permits and 45 percent (that is 31 businesses!) coming from commercial permit holders. Those residential permit holders are allowed to park three boats at their dock while a commercial dock is allowed only one. The commercial sector already pays more in higher real estate taxes and insurance costs. We have always been told that the idea has been to "increase" public access. This move hardly seems to be the case. This will limit access by excluding those customers who cannot afford these across the board increases.

Let's face it, people love Garrett County. Many of those in the business com-

many have come from various areas of the country to share a part of our wonderful lifestyle. This same group pays a higher premium to live here than those who only visit for a day or a week. Wages are lower for those business people and for those they hire. These proposed increases could supply a college student a job for the summer.

If it boils down to taking this hit, most of us will survive, but at what cost? That cost will be fewer summer jobs, higher food, fuel, and service.

Whether those of you either north of Accident or south of Oakland realize it or not, Deep Creek Lake and the ski area generate a lot of money for Garrett County. Those tax dollars pay for our schools, roads, and emergency services. Deep Creek Lake employs people who buy cars, houses, and groceries. If the population of Garrett County does not take a stand on this issue, I'm afraid we will all be sorry.

Thank you,

Flag Desecration Bill Co-Sponsored By Del. Edwards

District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards has signed on as a co-sponsor of House Joint Resolution 6, titled "Federal Constitutional Amendment -- Desecration of American Flag," which is designed to authorize the Congress and the states to prohibit the physical desecration of the American flag. Assigned to the House Judiciary Committee, the measure would make Maryland the 36th state to have passed the resolution.

In order for a Constitutional amendment to be instituted, three-fifths of the states have to pass state resolutions, said Edwards.

"Americans should be allowed to exercise their freedom of speech but these symbols should stand for something and they deserve respect," he said. "It's part of being an American."

The proposed state resolution reads, "Although the right of free expression is part of the foundation of the United States Constitution, very carefully drawn limits on expression in specific instances have long been recognized as legitimate means of maintaining public safety and decency, as well as orderliness and productive value of public debate."

It is further stated in the document that, "The American flag, to this day, is a most honorable and worthy banner of a nation which is thankful for its strengths and committed to curing its faults, and remains the destination of millions of immigrants attracted by the universal power of the American ideal."

Edwards has also co-sponsored a bill (House Bill 982) for the purpose of designating the English language as the common official language of the State of Maryland with certain exceptions.

"If you want to be a citizen here, then you should learn the English language," stated Edwards in explaining his support of the measure. He added that all official documents should be written and published in English, and that official meetings that take place in the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of the government and each department, agency, unit, and organization of the state and each political subdivision and municipality should be conducted in English.

The bill specifies that a language other than English may be used in order to comply with federal law; to protect public health and safety; to protect the rights of criminal defendants or victims of crime; to assist students who are not proficient in the English language by providing educational instruction which provides "as rapid as possible a transition to the English language; to teach a foreign language; or to promote the arts, international commerce, our tourism."

Senate Passes Tracking Bill

A bill designed to help police keep track of convicted child abusers has now passed the Senate and is headed for the House of Delegates.

The bill requires that anyone convicted of child abuse register with local police after being placed on probation or released from prison, providing their address and a description of their crime.

A central registry of abusers would also be established by state police, who would maintain copies of photographs and fingerprints. Convicted abusers who fail to comply with the law would face up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine, according to reports.

Bartlett Co-Sponsors Bill To Give Tax Break To Unemployed Spouses

Sixth District Congressman Roscoe Bartlett has announced his co-sponsorship of a bill that would allow homemakers and all spouses who are not employed outside of the home to contribute and deduct up to $2,000 annually to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) just as married couples who both work outside the home currently are allowed by law.

"Spouses who do not work outside the home contribute as much as their working spouses to the care and support of their families," said Bartlett. "They deserve equal retirement security and tax treatment, and the ability to keep more of their tax dollars in their own pockets instead of Uncle Sam's coffers."

The rules currently governing IRS accounts dictate that if both spouses of a household bring home a paycheck, each is permitted to contribute and deduct up to $2,000 to an IRA -- $4,000 total, subject to income limits. If only one spouse works, however, a married couple is limited to contributing a total of $2,500 to an IRA. Congressman Bartlett also pointed out that the bill would allow spouses who do not work outside the home to establish retirement accounts in their own names.

"Congress should take the lead in promoting equal treatment, equal employment choice, and retirement security for American homemakers," said Bartlett.

The measure will prevent the contribution from increasing to 1.9% this year and 2% next year. It is expected the bill will save Maryland businesses an estimated $26.7 million this year.

Governor William Donald Schaefer is expected to sign the bill, according to a press spokesperson.

The program will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College, in cooperation with the Western Maryland Consortium. Tuition is funded by the Job Training Partnership Act, so the program is free to those who qualify economically. Limited financial help is also available to meet related expenses.

Participants in the program must be high school graduates or GED completers and demonstrate strong interest in the health care field. Participants will be between the ages of 18 and 55.

According to a GCC spokesman, the curriculum during the first month will consist of studies designed to provide a foundation for future classroom and work based learning experiences. These studies will include training in the following areas: basic math, composition, personal development, interpersonal skills, geriatric aid, First Aid, CPR and job getting and keeping skills.

The curriculum during the remaining months will consist of training in technical skills areas as well as in interpersonal skills. The technical training areas will include classes in: restorative aide training, human growth and development, the aging process, risk management and safety, legal and professional issues, and nutrition principles.

Students will participate in paid worksite training throughout all but the first month of the program. They will be placed either in nursing homes, hospitals, health departments, doctors' offices, or other public health agencies.

They will be given the opportunity to work in several settings whenever possible. This work training experience will enable them to practice the skills that they are learning in the classroom setting, the spokesman said.

The training will begin in early March and will conclude prior to June 30. Those wishing more information about qualifying for enrollment should call the Western Maryland Consortium at 334-8136. Specific questions about the training can be answered by Lynne Glotfelty at 387-3089 or Sandy Major at 387-3101 at Garrett Community College.

Schrier-Wilson Wedding Slated

Ms. Bonnie Lou Schrier, Kitzmiller, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Schrier, Oakland, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Rebecca Ann, to Gerald L. Wilson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Wilson Sr., Kitzmiller.

Miss Schrier is a 1990 graduate of Southern High School and attended Garrett Community College. She is currently employed in the dietary department of Dennett Road Nursing Home.

Her fiancé is a 1993 graduate of Southern High School and is currently serving in the United States Army.

The wedding is set for Saturday, Feb. 26, at 2 p.m. at the Full Gospel Church, Blaine, W.Va. The Rev. Joseph Phillips will perform the ceremony. A reception will follow at the Kitzmiller Community Building.

Although some invitations have been sent, all friends and family are invited to attend.

CRIME SOLVERS

The Garrett County Crime Solvers are currently seeking information about the theft of a four-wheeler vehicle and a rifle.

On Dec. 29, 1993, at approximately 10 a.m., a 1987 Yamaha four-wheeler was stolen from the Mitchell Rush Road residence of Kenneth J. Bowman, west of Accident. A Smith & Wesson 270 cal. rifle was also taken.

Two white males, possibly in their 30's, were seen at the residence. They were operating an early 80's blue Chevrolet 4X4 pickup. These suspects are believed to be responsible for the crime. Any person with information about this or any other unsolved crime is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

GCTA Offering Scholarships To Two Local Seniors

The Garrett County Teachers Association has announced that the organization is once again offering two $250 scholarships to a senior at Northern High and a senior at Southern High who plans to major in education in the fall.

In order to be eligible for the scholarship, an applicant must complete an application form which can be secured at the high school guidance departments.

Competition for the scholarship includes four areas, according to GCTA President Jim Raley. A screening committee of teachers will review the applications using criteria from high school transcripts, essays, letters of reference, and extracurricular activities/community service.

Applications must be turned in to the screening committee by May 1. Any questions can be directed to the association office at 334-2355.

The Garrett County Teachers Association is the bargaining agent for the teachers of the Garrett County Board of Education.

On Dean's List

At Frostburg

Dean's list honorees include only those students with 12 or more hours of graded credit per semester who earn at least a 3.4 grade point average.

New Geriatric, Nursing Assistant Programs Slated

A specialized training program designed to meet the need for productive, capable employees in the health care field will soon be underway at Garrett Community College. This training program will consist of 377 hours of classroom training and 216 hours of worksite training and will prepare students for entry level positions in health care starting as nursing assistants, restorative aides, and geriatric aides.

The program will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College, in cooperation with the Western Maryland Consortium. Tuition is funded by the Job Training Partnership Act, so the program is free to those who qualify economically. Limited financial help is also available to meet related expenses.

Amateur Radio Operators Help Out During Fire

The Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Service (GCARES) established a communication center in response to a request by the American Red Cross during the fire on Second Street in Oakland Sunday.

The American Legion building in Oakland was the site of the center, where 12 radio operators and four associate members worked to provide emergency communications. The group also picked up and delivered food, blankets, warm clothing, and other items to those in need during the fire.

Those reporting for duty were Kenneth Kenner, Jackie Kenner, Darlene Burns, Jim McRobie Jr., Pam Lewis, Beth Ferguson, John Burns, Don Friend Jr., Johnnie Hlyson, Jim McRobie Sr., Tim Gift, Don Friend Sr., Bob Canan Jr., and Joe and Susan Locke.

GCARES is a non-profit organization of area amateur radio operators who volunteer their services upon the request of proper authorities. Each operator provides needed equipment and services at his/her own time and expense.

The regular meeting for GCARES is the first Friday of each month, with training classes held every Friday at 7 p.m. Both meetings and training sessions are held at the Community Services building, located between Garrett Memorial Hospital and Garrett Medical Group. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Cases Heard

A guilty verdict was handed to Mark E. Whitacre, 23, Mtn. Lake Park, following two counts of violation of a protective order (violate ex parte). Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer had ordered Whitacre to refrain from going near 209 D. Street, Mtn. Lake Park, until March 1, 1994. According to a report filed by Officer P.J. Kelly, a call was received on Sept. 9, 1993, that Whitacre was in the kitchen at the above address. Judge Burnett imposed a 60-day sentence in the Department of Corrections for each charge, to be served concurrent with the circuit court case.

Roger L. Keiper, 40, Swanton, was not prosecuted on a battery charge, because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney office. He had been charged with the offense following his arrest for DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol or drugs), by Deputy J.B. Sowers of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

A guilty plea was entered by Adam J. Lucas, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, on a charge of possession of CDS. Because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney's office, a related charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia with intent to use was not prosecuted. He was sentenced to six months in jail, with all suspended but 14 days, fined $150, and placed on two years of probation supervised by a DWI monitor. He was also instructed to attend self-help group meetings.

Lucas had been arrested for DWI by Maryland State Police on July 3, 1993. During a search of his vehicle, investigating officer P.R. Brown found a black film canister containing suspected marijuana and a corn cob pipe.

DWI CASES

A number of DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol) cases were heard in District Court over the past few weeks.

A bench warrant was issued, and $1,000 bond forfeited, for Geoffrey R. Zurgable, 46, Md., after he was found to be in violation of probation following an arrest for DWI on Feb. 5, 1991, by Maryland State Police.

Gary L. Hinz, 31, Md., failed to appear in court on a DWI charge and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. He was charged with the offense on Nov. 13, 1993, by MSP.

Thomas W. Bishop Sr., 29, N.C., was found not guilty on charges of DUI and negligent driving, stemming from an arrest on July 3, 1993 by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Gary S. Kowalo, 21, Md., was granted probation before judgment and his DWI charge was amended to DUI, following his arrest on Sept. 17, 1993, by MSP. The judge also found Kowalo guilty of a license violation. He was fined $405 and placed on one year of supervised probation. A charge of negligent driving was not prosecuted.

A DWI charge against William P. Gank, 20, Md., was amended to DUI. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was granted probation before judgment, fined $350 and placed on one year of supervised probation. She had been charged on July 11, 1993, by Det. Jeff Murphy of the GCSC.

William M. Helbig Jr., 22, Md., pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty of DWI, stemming from an arrest by GCSC on Aug. 1, 1993. The judge fined Helbig, sentenced him to 60 days in jail, and placed him on one year of supervised probation.

A DWI charge against Theodore F. Sweitzer, 22, Md., was amended to DUI, following a guilty plea in district court. The judge fined Sweitzer $550, handed him a 60-day suspended sentence, and placed him on one year of supervised probation. He had been charged on Nov. 14, 1993 by Det. Jeff Murphy.

Probation before judgment was granted to James A. Tasker, 24, Md., following his arrest for DWI on July 10, 1993, by Det. Murphy.

Recovery Begins

for affected businesses are being explored, McCain said. Rick Ferrara, director of the Community Assistance Administration, said the goal will be to attempt to provide loans that will enable the businesses to rebuild and re-open in the near future.

The Gonder building, owned by Terry and Joe Helbig, housed Gonder Insurance Co., Vogue Beauty Salon, and Walt Renner and Associates. Businesses in the second building, owned by Marvin Jones, Hagerstown, were Southern Office Supply, Scissors R Us, and the Shanghai Restaurant. There were five families living in upstairs apartments of the buildings. McCain said yesterday that three families have relocated, one is to be relocated next week, and one remains homeless.

A Stress Management Team from Frostburg will be visiting the area and meeting with victims, McCain said. The team has offered assistance to anyone affected by the fire, including the business owners and families, as well as fire fighters or anyone else who is in need of post-fire counseling.

As far as rebuilding efforts, McCain said he has no control over that as the land is owned by the Helbigs and Jones. The mayor indicated that grants may be available for historic restoration purposes - money may be granted if the intention is to rebuild the area to resemble the original buildings. Terry Helbig stated that he is "very interested" in the historic issues, and hopes to head in that direction.

"It's too early to say exactly what we are going to do," Helbig said. "We have relocated to 206 East Alder Street (the old Helbig's Jewelers location), and we plan to stay here for six months or so until we decide what to do. We will rebuild somewhere, and we will stay in Oakland," he said.

Helbig reported that through the "unbelievable efforts" of many volunteers Sunday morning, nearly all of the business effects were saved.

"People carried out computers, desks, filing cabinets - everything. Every now and then we discover that something small is missing, but overall, those people saved about 99% of our things," he said.

The Jing Wei Zhang family, who owned and operated the Shanghai Restaurant, are currently residing with friends until they can relocate and also decide what to do.

"I'm hoping the state will appoint one person to facilitate things so we can get more organized," McCain said. "We'll all know a lot more after today's meeting."

Productivity Class To Focus On Building Teamwork

"Building Productivity Through Teamwork," a class designed to help supervisors and managers strengthen the productivity of their workforce, will start in February at Garrett Community College.

The class will focus on developing leadership skills to enable each participant to transform his or her workforce into a highly productive coordinated team. Supervisors and managers will learn the dynamics of effective leadership, how to build commitment, how to use low-cost incentives, delegation skills, ways to empower employees to take responsibility, how to give meaningful feedback and measure results, how to get others to direct and motivate themselves, and ways to build confidence and self-esteem.

"Operating successful businesses and organizations in today's highly competitive environment presents many new challenges," said Sandy Major, business programs coordinator at GCC. "Conventional ways of managing are no longer effective. Today's leaders need to be doing all the right things 'right' in order to enable performance that attracts, delights, and keeps customers. Companies and organizations that succeed have managers and supervisors who have skills in the areas of enabling change, empowering employees, and achieving positive outcomes. This team building class is designed to strengthen the skills of managers and supervisors in each of these areas."

The class will meet on three consecutive Thursdays from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m., beginning on Feb. 24. Those interested in the class should register immediately. To obtain information on this class or other business classes, persons may call Sandy Major or Ann White at the GCC Small Business Development Center at 387-3101 or 387-3080.

and Allegany counties, a 3-year-old child who resided in the apartment above the Chinese restaurant was responsible for the safe escape of the residents of the apartments in the Lons building. Residing there were Alice Brandon, Richard Landis, and Mr. Brandon's two children, Amber, 5, and Thomas, 3.

Ms. Brandon had come home from work from Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home at 6:45 that morning and went straight to bed. Martin said "She was awakened by her son at about 9 o'clock and said that, when she opened her eyes, she saw flames coming through the floor into her bedroom. She yelled to Mr. Landis, who was out in a front room with the other child and didn't know there was a fire."

Martin said Ms. Brandon first called 911 and then the couple through water on the flames, but to no avail. Then they went out into the hallway and awakened their neighbors, Mr. Zhang, his wife, and his sister-in-law. All of the residents were able to get out of the building without injury.

Two Oakland fire fighters were injured, both of whom were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Rusty Otto sustained a knee injury in a fall and James Ford received an eye injury. Otto underwent surgery on Tuesday at Garrett Memorial and Ford was examined at a Morgantown hospital on Monday. Otto was transported to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad.

Fire fighters and numerous bystanders carried out all of the computers, files, and furniture from Gonder's Insurance offices before they were damaged by the smoke and water.

The majority of the merchandise and a copier in Southern Office Supply were destroyed, but most other equipment, money, and the business computer were salvaged, according to Skip Bolden.

There was relatively minor smoke and water damage in the Clipper Ship beauty salon and in the Art Garret, an arts supply business, both located in the Gortner building, as well as in Rudy's Department Store and Rudy apartments, located at 115 South Second Street.

Scores of citizens and local business people also assisted fire fighters with everything from lugging fire hoses and ladders to providing sandwiches, coffee, and dry gloves and clothing. Among those establishments providing food were Englander's, McDonald's Restaurant, and the Oakland Elks Club.

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross established an emergency shelter at Post 71, American Legion, along Memorial Drive for those affected by the fire.

The residents of the apartments, who lost nearly all of their possessions, were offered clothing and other items by the Nearly New Shop of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, as well as the House of Hope, Manufacturers' Outlet, and other local organizations and businesses.

According to Randy Sharpless, superintendent of the Oakland Water Treatment Plant, over one million gallons of water were used in fighting the fire.

"I know that one pump alone pumped 600,000 gallons of water," he said, adding that the pumping station at the golf course had just been reactivated

PROMPT DEMOLITION - "I wanted those burned-out shells out of there as quickly as possible," said Oakland Mayor Asa McCain. "We can do without a constant reminder of the fire." The mayor was quick to alert state officials Sunday to get the demolition underway. When the fire was at last extinguished Sunday afternoon, the remaining structures were no longer sound, posing a dangerous situation. State Highway Administration workers responded quickly and worked all night long to assist in the clean-up effort. The walls were pulled down and the debris hauled away. People arriving for work in Oakland Monday morning were met with a gaping hole in the ground and a new view of the railroad. Cars full of sightseers streamed by the area all day Monday, causing some congestion along Second Street.

last Friday afternoon after being shut down since September for rehabilitation.

"I don't think there is any way we could have kept up with that volume of water if we had to rely just on the Broadford pumping station," Sharpless said. He added that the water levels at the two treatment plants were back to normal by about 8 p.m. the evening of the fire.

Fire investigator Martin said yesterday that the investigation into the exact cause of the fire is continuing. "We know that it started in the area of the kitchen and we know that it was accidental," he said, adding that more specific information would probably be released within the next week.

Others investigators who responded to the scene and are assisting with the case are James Wood, fire investigator for Washington County; Charles Cronauer, deputy chief fire marshal for the Western Region of the state; and Robert Shimmer, chief deputy state fire marshal.

OVED Chief Rudy, who responded to the fire from Rudy's Ski Shop at the Wisp, said that the two most significant pieces of equipment used to stop the progression of the fire were the ladder trucks from Oakland VFD and Frostburg Fire Department. He called for the Frostburg ladder truck before he left the Wisp.

The community support of our fire department over the years has enabled us to be equipped to handle a major fire like this," Rudy said. "Our ladder truck and the one from Frostburg certainly proved their value, because they were major keys in our ability to stop the fire where we did.

"We have always heard that if a fire ever got started anywhere in that block, the entire block would burn," he said. "It was great to be able to prove that assumption wrong."

The Oakland ladder truck was positioned on Second Street and the Frostburg truck was placed in the town parking lot, each of which maintained a large stream of water on the north edge of the fire to keep it from spreading in that direction.

"We didn't just chase the fire," Rudy said. "We made a decision as to where we were going to stop it and then put a plan into effect to accomplish that goal."

Rudy gave considerable credit to his officers and fire fighters, as well as those of the other departments who assisted.

"All four of the top officers in our department have worked together for a number of years, so we have a lot of combined experience," he said. "The general membership trusts our leadership and knows what we expect."

"We have also worked closely with our neighboring fire departments and their officers on a regular basis. I really appreciated their assistance and support," he said.

All but four of the 50 members on the OVED roster were at the scene of the fire.

The other officers for Oakland VFD are Phil Rook, first assistant chief; John Feather, second assistant; and Carroll Deem, captain. Rook was the line officer in charge immediately following the alarm and before Rudy arrived on the scene.

When I arrived I saw smoke and heavy flames coming from the back of the building above the Chinese restaurant," he said. "The first thing I did was call for a second alarm, which brought in Terra Alta and Gorman (VEDs)."

Then Deputy Dave MacLaughlin, Oakland Police Officer (Ernest) Alexander, and I checked the apartments to make sure everyone was out of the buildings.

"We tried to make an offensive, interior attack first, but the heat was just too intense, so we had to back out and take a defensive position," he said.

Rook extended credit to emergency dispatcher Drew Sheally, who was on duty when the alarm was received.

"I was spouting off all kinds of orders and requests for Drew and he handled every one of them without a single problem. He did a super job," said Rook, who is also a dispatcher for the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management.

Among the pump operators at the scene was Oakland fire fighter Joe Helbig, one of the owners of the Gonder Insurance building, who said that he and his family had spent many years working on and restoring the 5,000-square-foot structure that had been built near the turn of the century.

"We had just gotten the building to the point that we were really proud of it, and then in just nine hours the whole thing was gone," Helbig said. "But we were very fortunate that no one was killed."

Marvin Jones, who is a former resident of Mtn. Lake Park and founder of Marvin's Men's Wear, responded in similar fashion. "This is certainly a major loss and I particularly feel bad for those who lost their homes. But we are truly blessed because no one was killed or seriously hurt," he said.

In commenting on the support and assistance received during and since the fire, Terry Helbig said, "I really can't begin to put it into words. So many people jumped in an helped us get literally everything out of our offices, which included some very heavy pieces of furniture and file cabinets. This is just a great community."

Gonder's Insurance is currently in operation in a building owned by Jack Jones and Connie Margison along Alder Street where Helbig's Jewelry was previously located. Walt Renner and Associates is operating out of a second-floor office in the Oak Street building.

owned by local dentist, William G. Savage.

Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph Burnett and his wife, Lucy, took in the Zhang family at their Swallow Falls residence following the fire. Burnett said they plan to stay in the area and hope to get back into business soon. Mrs. Burnett said the family has also received assistance from relatives in San Francisco and offers of assistance from a number of local people.

This was the second major fire to hit this spot in downtown Oakland, as the entire block burned to the ground in 1898.

Food For Thought

Caramelized fruit is low-fat and lovely. Prepare a shallow, broil-proof dish with non-stick spray, fill with thin-sliced pears and sprinkle with a little brown sugar. Broil about 6 inches from the heat until the sugar melts and pears begin to brown. Watch carefully!

Use the microwave oven to create dry bread cubes for stuffing or croissants. Cut half-inch cubes from a loaf of white bread, spread on a microwave-safe dish and zap at full power for 10 to 12 minutes, until they're dry and crisp, stirring halfway through.

Don't throw away the stems of broccoli after you've trimmed off the florets. Peel them, cut into thin slices or julienne, and stir-fry or steam. Broccoli stems work well in coleslaw, or standing in for celery in tuna or chicken salad.

Any time of year, you'll enjoy a drink that's half apple juice, half lemonade. Serve over ice in the summer. Now, heat it through and sip from a mug.

Huskies Second, Rams Third In Bi-County Tournament

The Northern Huskies finished a close second in the Bi-County Wrestling Tournament, held last Thursday evening at Westmar, while the Southern Rams finished third.

Beall won the event with a team score of 153 points, followed by the Huskies with 145.5, Southern with 126, Fort Hill with 82, and Westmar with 72.5.

Five Northern grapplers earned championship trophies in their respective weight classes, while two Rams brought home titles.

Winning in the championship round for Northern were: Aaron Hordubay, who pinned Tom Vogtman of Beall in the 103-pound title bout; Matt Wolf, who defeated Harold Wilhelm of Westmar in the 112-pound division; undefeated and defending Bi-County champion Tirrell Burdock, who out-pointed Southern's Nathan Rickman in the 119-pound class; Dean Green, who pinned Beall's Travis Skidmore for the 140-pound crown; and Rich Bowser, who defeated Ben Bowman of Beall for the 152-pound title.

Winning championships for Southern were Pete Strawser, who scored a technical fall over Andy Cornwell of Fort Hill in the 145-pound division, and Sonny Livengood, who pinned Jeff Holsinger of Beall in the 171-pound class. It was the fourth straight Bi-County title for Strawser.

Winning runner-up trophies for the Rams were: Rickman (119), Jason Burgess (125), Mike Liller (130), and David Crocco (160), while Northern's Lee Collins placed second in the 189-pound division.

Third places were captured by Northern's Corey Geis (125), Cody Brennehan (145), D.J. Durst (160), and Steve Savage (heavyweight), and by Southern's Paul Tepper (103), Howard Crocco (135), and Kevin Andrews (152).

Winning individual titles for Beall were Anthony Berry, Brandon Swisher, Chris Gring, and Jason Swisher.

Huskies Roll Over Stags Before Falling To Wildcats

The Northern High School boys' varsity had little difficulty in defeating host Elk Garden Saturday afternoon, as they took a 28-9 lead in the first period and cruised past the Stags, 69-48, to record their 12th win in 15 games.

Coach Harv Speicher's team was stopped Tuesday, however, by Mac Sloan and the Wildcats of Westmar, as Sloan ripped the nets for 40 points to lead the Wildcats Northern (69).

Rob Speicher 6-2-2 15, Jon Hinebaugh 7-1-1 16, Chris Bittner 0-2-2 3, Chris Wright 1-1-2 3, Tim Hinebaugh 7-2-5 19, Alan Sebald 50-0-10, Billy Younkun 20-2-4. Totals: 28-9-14 69.

Tim Hinebaugh led four Huskies in double figures against Elk Garden, as he recorded 19 points. Jon Hinebaugh finished with 16 points, Rob Speicher netted 15, and Alan Sebald scored 10 to go with his 13 rebounds and five steals.

The Huskies held a commanding 44-19 lead at halftime and were up 52-35 at the end of the third quarter.

Jason Evans scored 12 points and grabbed a game-high 17 rebounds for the 1-11 Stags. Mike Lyons and Robbie Simmers chipped in with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The junior varsity of Northern had a similar easy time in the preliminary game, as the younger Huskies rolled to a 54-21 win. Joe Layman scored nine points to lead Northern and Chris Hartman paced Elk Garden with eight.

Mac Sloan, the area's leading scorer, was almost unstoppable Tuesday night at the Cove, as he hit a dozen field goals, including two from long range, and converted 14 of 15 free throw opportunities.

The Huskies trailed 17-12 at the end of the first period and were down by only three at halftime, 35-32. The Wildcats got some breathing room in the third stanza and led 55-48 going into the final period. The visitors then made good on 19 of 22 free throws in the fourth period to secure their 12th win in 15 games.

Sloan hit all eight of his foul shots in the fourth period, while teammate Shawn McKenzie converted seven of eight.

McKenzie and Jason Kinzie also reached double figures for Westmar with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Kinzie also grabbed 25 rebounds and McKenzie was credited with 10 assists.

STATE STUFF -- Jason Burgess of Southern lost his final match (of the tourney) in an incredible turn of the tables during the last nine seconds of that match. Burgess firmly controlled his Beall opponent from the start of the match, building a seemingly "guaranteed" score of 6-3. However, with nine seconds remaining in the final period and both wrestlers up, his opponent threw Burgess into a combination takedown/predicament for four points, beating Burgess 7-6. It was the darkest point of the season for Burgess, but just several days later he learned that the Md. State Ranking Committee had named him the top wrestler in his weight class for divisions 2A/1A, based largely on his 20-2 record. He joins teammate Peter Strawser, who is also top-ranked. Even so, Southern coach Dan Clark noted that "wrestling matches are not done on paper, but on mats," his point being that one should not put too much stock in the rankings, where every year brings "upsets" by unranked "dark horses" at the state tourney. Pictured above, on top, Burgess nailed Fort Hill's Danny Ross for a pin. Photo by C. Speicher.

Huskies' scoring again with 18 points, while Jon Hinebaugh finished with 17.

The Northern junior varsity was edged in the preliminary game by the Westmar jayvees, 35-33. Jason Swisher scored 11 points to lead Westmar and Nick Mitchell netted nine to pace Northern.

The Huskies are scheduled to play again this Friday at Oldtown and then travel to Southern next Tuesday.

Northern Girls Win Three Close Ones; Record Is 14-4

There was a lot of nail-biting by Northern High School girls' basketball fans this past week, as the Huskies recorded three more wins by a total of nine points to up their season record to 14-4.

The Huskies edged visiting Bishop Walsh last Thursday evening, 45-41, got by host Beall in overtime on Monday, 42-39, and nipped Mount Savage last night, 39-37, at the Cove.

Lisa Stephens and Ellida Schofield each scored 14 points in the win over Bishop Walsh, a game in which the Huskies trailed at half-time, 29-24, but out-scored the Spartans in the third period, 13-4, to take a 38-33 lead into the final stanza. Northern led by as many as eight points in the fourth period.

Schofield also pulled down 15 rebounds for the Huskies and Michelle McCarty was credited with five assists.

Leading the Spartans' offense were Alison Searles with 12 points, Kirsten Gitt with nine, and Tracy Rush with eight. The loss was the ninth in 15 games for BW.

The Northern junior varsity team had less difficulty disposing of the Spartan jayvees in the preliminary, as Mindy McCarty scored 10 points in a 32-18 victory. Melissa Moran recorded eight points for BW.

Stephens and Schofield again led the Huskies' scoring effort on Monday against the Mountaineers of points, 83-80, with just over six minutes remaining. But Hagerstown surged for eight straight points and again later with a 21-6 effort to win by 12.

"It was just a super team effort by our players," Gibson said. "We played hard and had some opportunities to win, but couldn't quite capitalize."

Oliver Jones scored 21 points and pulled down eight rebounds to pace the Lakers. Tubbs finished with 18 points and 12 rebounds, Scott, recorded 16 points, and Jason Brennenman added 15, with 10 of those scored in the first eight minutes of the second half.

Contrell Scott led five Hawks in double figures, as he finished with 21 points. Damion Cannon scored 19, Bernard Hopkins netted 17, and Ozzie Smith-Bay and Marquis Williamson each produced 14 points.

Prince George's CC is the top ranked team in this week's JUCO tourney, followed by Howard CC, Garrett, and Rockville, all of whom get a bye in the first round.

If the Lakers are victorious in Friday's game, they will then meet the winner of the Howard and Frederick or Essex contest in the semi-finals.

Seeded fifth through 12th in the JUCO tourney are: Dundalk, Baltimore, Frederick, Anne Arundel, Catonsville, Essex, Takoma Park, and Chesapeake.

Laker Women Fall To PSC; To Play Today

The Garrett Community College women's basketball team dropped an 87-69 decision Tuesday evening to a strong Potomac State College team in Keyser, W.Va.

The win was the 11th straight without a loss at home for Coach Elizabeth Hudson's Catamounts, who are 17-2 overall.

Garrett's Michele Duling, one of the nation's top scorers, was held to just nine points, some 19 below her average per game.

The Catamounts, who led by 10 at halftime, 51-41, had four players finish in double figures, with Angie Shaffer and Sherri McDaniell leading the way with 20 and 19 points, respectively. Jenny Mayfield scored 15 and Erica Jones chipped in with 10.

Dawna Friend and Missy LaRue paced the Lakers' scoring with 20 points each, while Cara Wachter pulled down six rebounds and LaRue was credited with four assists.

The Catamounts out-rebounded the Lakers by a 47-25 margin, with Laura Grine and Billie Jo Bishop each grabbing eight. Grine also finished with five steals and Jones dished out six assists.

Coach Hudson noted that the keys to the PSC win were the containment of Duling and a balanced scoring effort.

The Lakers (6-5), coached by Dennis Gibson, will host Hagerstown this evening in a 6 p.m. game.

Rams Edged By Westmar, Top Lions, Then Upset By Beall

The varsity boys of Southern High School just missed sweeping Westmar for the season last Thursday evening, as the Rams were edged in overtime, 61-59.

Coach Tom Bosley's team did avenge an earlier loss to Tucker County on Saturday, however, as the Rams rolled to a 68-50 win over the Mountain Lions, but Southern was then upset Tuesday evening by host Beall, 63-55.

The results left the Rams with a 10-7 mark, which they will take to Bishop Walsh in Cumberland this Friday, host a make-up game with Keyser on Saturday, and then wrap up their regular season Tuesday at home against Northern.

Mac Sloan, Westmar's and the area's leading scorer, recorded 25 points to pace the Wildcats over Southern last Thursday, which avenged an earlier 18-point loss to the Rams.

The Rams were on top by two, 14-12, at the end of the first period, trailed by a 29-22 margin at halftime, and were down 44-38 after three periods. But they came back in the fourth period to take a two-point lead before Westmar's Shawn McKenzie hit a lay-up with 12 seconds remaining, knotting the score at 55-55 and sending the game into overtime.

The Rams had several opportunities in the overtime period to take the lead

Beall, as each finished with 10 points.

The Huskies led 10-7 at the end of the first period and 22-15 at halftime. Beall cut Northern's lead to just two points by the end of the third quarter, 26-24, and knotted the score at 35 apiece at the end of the fourth period to force the overtime period, during which the Huskies outscored their hosts, 7-4, to record the win.

Schofield also grabbed seven rebounds and netted the foul shot that gave Northern the lead for good in the overtime period.

Felise Kelly recorded 11 points and 10 rebounds for Beall (9-9), while Minya Seilarth netted 10 points and pulled down eight rebounds.

The Northern junior varsity also won again in the preliminary match-up, cruising past the Beall jayvees, 41-23, behind a 14-point effort by Mindy McCarty and a 12-point performance by Nicole Elliott. Stacy Stakem netted 12 points to pace Beall.

Stephens scored 13 points for the Northern varsity last night in its two-point, come-from-behind victory over Mt. Savage.

The Huskies could not find the mark in the first period and quickly found themselves down 14-4. They trailed 22-15 at halftime and were behind by one at the end of the third stanza, 30-29. They took their first lead early in the fourth quarter.

Stephens also finished with eight assists, while Schofield pulled down nine rebounds.

The Indians were led in scoring by Amy Brehm with 16 points and Lisa Abucavicz with 14. The loss dropped Mt. Savage to 6-12.

Ram Freshmen Top Union, BW, Lose To Alco

The Southern High School freshman boys' basketball team, coached by Jim Bosley, won two of three games the past two weeks to improve their overall record to 7-3.

The Rams, who will wrap up their season this Saturday at Beall, defeated Union on Feb. 5, 47-42; lost to Allegany on Monday, 60-45; and then crushed host Bishop Walsh last night, 66-23.

In the win over Union, Mike Welch led the Rams' scoring with 11 points, while Dave Stephens and Ryan Adams each finished with 10.

B.J. Martin netted 17 points to pace the Tigers and Willy Lawrew recorded 10.

Aaron Newcomb led the Rams in scoring against Allegany with 14 points, Stephens finished with 11, and Jeremy Duckett scored 10.

The Camper offense was paced by Rashad Page with 16 points and Matt Kalbaugh with 12.

Still another Ram led the scoring in last night's easy victory over Bishop Walsh, as Jarod Beckman pumped in 21 points. Stevens also reached double figures with 12 points.

The Spartans were led by J. O'Rourke with eight points.

Saturday's game at Beall will begin at noon.

Fee Proposal

Tuesday meeting, they have since done so, and the proposal is currently awaiting the signatures of the commissioners.

Commissioner John Braskey told the representatives that the board of commissioners would likely sign the plan if it had been signed by all the other parties representing the various groups. The plan will be presented at a public hearing being held by PEN-ELC on Saturday, February 19, at 10 a.m., at Garrett Community College. PEN-ELC's proposed fee structure was designed, in part, so that revenues, in the amount of $600,000, could be realized.

The main focus of the plan by the business and property owners' groups is that identical slip fees be established for commercial, residential, and residential/rental owners. That across-the-board proposed fee is $100. As one lake business owner said, "A slip is a slip is a slip."

The alternate proposal states that by establishing this structure "the administration, enforcement, and collection of fees should be more simplified and actually involve less time on the part of the Deep Creek Lake Management Office." That office is maintained by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) which also provides lake policing service for PEN-ELC. Fees collected from lake users also provide $375,000 to DNR for lake management services.

The alternate plan also states, "The point upon which everyone agreed was the basic lake user fee. In this manner, everyone benefiting from and enjoying the water's surface would contribute in a small way to the costs of managing the lake. The fee would apply to vessels using the lake for an hour or an entire summer season."

Member and former president of the DCI, POA Ed King told the commissioners that, currently, no ramping fee at the state park is incurred for day-use boats, and that presents a problem since lake property owners operating a boat are more likely to "self-control" than individuals who are bound to a rental agreement and will use the boat during the rental period whether the lake is heavily occupied or not. For that reason, he said, rental boat fees should be at least as high as those for residential boats.

District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards and District 1 Senator John J. Hafer have also been involved in the groups' efforts to strike a compromise with PEN-ELC and, to that end, have jointly sent a letter to PEN-ELC officials.

The letter states that, while the legislators understand the need for Deep Creek Lake to be self-sufficient in terms of recreation, "our constituents, who are business and property owners, . . . are irate over the proposed fee increases at Deep Creek Lake for the upcoming season. As we are sure you will agree, their concerns as to the economics of this proposal are certainly valid. Specifically, we, too, have difficulty with this current proposal."

Whereas last year you paid the state to manage the recreation, now you are looking to generate a significant amount of money just to subsidize your own operations, notwithstanding the $375,000 you intend to pay the state for its management services.

"We respectfully request your consideration in reducing your bottom line expectations of revenue for each year at Deep Creek Lake by $100,000 for the term of the contract. This reduction would assist in lessening the hardship on the property owners and businesses that have utilized the lake for many, many years."

Edwards also told The Republican newspaper that the state will continue to provide the same services it has always provided, such as police, fisheries, and wildlife management services "regardless of who manages the lake," and that DNR currently includes $500,000 in its budget for those purposes.

During the meeting with the commissioners this week, lake business owner Wendell Beitzel pointed out that the lake business com-

He is also asking for $10,000 in punitive community wants to continue its relationship with DNR. "They've done a fine job," he said. "We are concerned, however, about the potential of the buffer strip buy-downs. That could change the whole nature of the lake."

whom quotations were received; a copy of the performance bond; and an itemized list of purchases, the delivery schedule, and the total dollar amount.

Hinebaugh offered to pay any costs associated with the county furnishing that information, according to the document.

The document then states, "The defendants, nor any of them, have in any way answered the application, or even acknowledged its receipt."

Five separate counts were specified in the suit, naming the board as one defendant, and Elwood Groves, Brenda Butcher, John Braskey, and Robert Fousek as the other four. Fousek, who also serves as acting administrator of the roads department, was identified as the "official" custodian of all the records requested in the application.

Not only is Hinebaugh seeking to obtain the records he requested in Dedamages.

The equipment purchase was made at a John Deere dealership in Frostburg. Shortly after that, representatives from two heavy equipment dealerships in West Virginia told the county commissioners their respective companies had not been aware that bids were being solicited by the county, and they questioned the legality of that particular bid process.

Hinebaugh is being represented by Attorney Robert Watson, and Gorman L. "Mike" Getty now represents the county commissioners. Getty could not be reached for comment.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The topic of "Environmental Shopping" was considered at the February 1 meeting of the Eglon Extension Homemakers with Linda Lewis leading the discussion.

Lesson sheets for "A Look at Investments," the January study, were also distributed with a few comments on them by Jean Winters.

Linda Lewis led the devotionals using a meditation from Lach Day concerning "the need to take time to be calm and still and listen for the voice of God."

In March, Leticia Bonner is to be hostess with Sharon Hammel the lesson leader for "Read, Read-Write, Write, Write."

Refreshments were served by Linda Lewis and Jean Winters to Avonell Parsons, Mary Rembold, Lillian Knotts, Nina Layman, Sandra Hauser, Mary Teets, and Rebecca Teets.

SPAGHETTI DINNER

The Aurora Jr. High cheerleaders are sponsoring a spaghetti dinner on Saturday, Feb. 19, from 4 until 7 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora. Donations will be $5 for adults, $2.50 for elementary students, and pre-schoolers eat free.

SOUP, SALAD SUPPER

An "all-you-can-eat" soup and salad supper will be served at the Maple Spring Church, Eglon, on Saturday, Feb. 26, from 4 until 7 p.m. Donations of $3 for those over 10 and $2 for 10 and under will go to benefit the youth of the church for attendance at National Youth Conference in Colorado.

COMMUNITY CALENDARS

Persons who did not get a copy of the 1994 Aurora Community Calendar and who desire one may contact Fran Roth at 735-3431.

There are a few copies remaining which may be purchased for $4 each. These have the listings of birthdays and anniversaries within the Union District area. Proceeds benefit the Aurora PIO.

PERSONAL MENTION

Dennis Faw died Sunday night at Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he had been taken from his residence at the Teets Personal Care Home, Cranesville. He is survived by his sister, Rebecca (Mrs. John E.) Teets, of Eglon. Services were planned for Wednesday, Feb. 16, at the Hinkle Funeral Home, Davis. Interment will be near his home in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Mrs. Marie Mullenax of Horse Shoe Run entered Monongalia General Hospital Monday to undergo heart surgery there on Tuesday.

Sheridan Layman of Aurora was treated and released from the Garrett Memorial Emergency Room on February 5 after he became ill when conducting the VFW meeting at the Terra Alta post.

A sweetheart dinner was held Sunday at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren following the morning services. A time of recreation followed the dinner and concluded the day's festivities.

Mrs. Doris Demison, her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Demison, Sarah and Patrick, left last Friday to return to their Miami, Fla., homes and arrived there safely on Saturday evening. They had spent last week with the former's mother, Mrs. Maxine Hauser, Stemple Ridge.

Garden Program

Applications Are Being Accepted

Applications for the 1994 Home Garden Program will be accepted through March 31, 1994, at the Community Action Office, at 109 E. Main St., in Kingwood.

Applicants must bring proof of income, Social Security numbers and birth dates for all family members. For more information, persons may call 329-1028.

West Virginia

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties.

Ob/Gyn Physician Joins Staff Of Preston Center

Preston County will again have the services of an obstetrician/gynecologist as of February 21. She is

Dr. Saryu Dani and she will be joining Preston Memorial

Hospital's nurse midwife

in what will now be known as the Preston Women's Health Center.

The Preston Women's

Health Center is to be located in the physicians' office building across from

Preston Memorial Hospital

in which are currently the Preston Birth Center offices.

The birth center and its services will continue to operate there, but the addition of Dr. Dani means that a complete range of health care services for women of all ages will now be available.

"The Preston Women's

Health Center will be serving all female health care needs," Dr. Dani said this week.

That will include infertility counseling and treatment, breast and cervical cancer screening, family planning, total pregnancy care, yearly exams, gynecological surgery, menopause counseling and treatment, and PMS counseling.

Dr. Dani is a native of Bombay, India, where she received her board certification as an obstetrician-gynecologist.

She has lived in the United States for the last 18 years and practiced medicine in Summers

County for 12 years before deciding to take a residency in New York. She says she decided to do this residency because she wanted "to keep up with all the modern technology."

She worked in Logan

County for a year before deciding to come to Preston

County.

At the Preston Women's Health Center she will work as supervisor for Certified

Nurse Midwife Cindy

Brown. Dr. Darryl Landis

and Dr. Robert Palguta of the Davis Clinic also will continue to act in this pervisory capacity.

Dr. Dani says even as a child she wanted to be a physician. Not only did she fulfill that childhood dream, but she went on to become a specialist, in spite of the fact only the top 10 percent of those who complete medical school in India are allowed to specialize.

Dr. Dani says she "loves rural areas and she loves

West Virginia." She is looking for a house to rent and plans to live in Kingwood

or the surrounding area.

State, County Jobless Rates Up In December

Maryland's labor force remained at near record levels in December 1993 and employment increased for the fourth consecutive month to the fourth highest level on record. However, jobseekers entering the labor market caused the state's jobless rate to inch up slightly from 5.5 percent in November to 5.6 percent in December.

"It is not unusual for the seasonal expansion in Maryland's labor force to cause unemployment to rise slightly in December," said Mark L. Wasserman, secretary of economic and employment development (DEED). "However, we remain encouraged that other economic indicators continue to demonstrate a gradual improvement in the state's economy."

Garrett County's jobless rate increased from 9.6 percent in November to 11.5 percent in December. The December 1992 rate was 11.7 percent.

During December, nearly 13,000 jobseekers entered the state's labor market, boosting the labor force to an all-time high for the month of 2,654,787. Employment also rose over the month, by 9,933 people, to 2,507,007. December's gain lifted employment to its highest level in 1993. However, the increase in the labor force pushed unemployment up by 3,000 people.

Maryland's jobless rate, while rising, has improved considerably over the year. During 1993, unemployment rates remained the same or fell below 1992 averages in all but two months, with December's rate more than 0.5 percentage points below the December 1992 rate of 6.2 percent.

Nationally, a decline in the number of jobseekers was reported, contributing to a slight drop in unemployment from 6.1 percent in November to 6.0 percent in December.

Maryland's employment gain was supported by favorable reports from employers around the state. Seasonal layoffs, particularly in the construction industry, were smaller than normal, and employment held relatively steady in manufacturing, despite a number of holiday shutdowns. Employment in trade establishments continued to be buoyed by holiday hiring.

Seasonal hiring also increased employment in transportation and non-defense related federal government. These gains helped to raise December's job count for the first time since 1989.

Other economic indicators continue to show optimistic signs, reflecting consensus predictions that Maryland is sustaining a moderate recovery. Employment by place of residence and place of work have both expanded over November's levels. Retail sales, activity at the Port of Baltimore, new automobile registrations and new housing permits have improved from 1992 levels.

In the western region, joblessness headed upward in December as is the norm. Unemployment rose from 7.7 percent in November to 8.5 percent in December. Jobless rates were higher in each of the local jurisdictions during December. While seasonal hiring was reported, temporary holiday shutdowns were an overwhelming factor, adding to local jobless counts.

Statewide, unemployment rates in December ranged from a low of 3.2 percent in Montgomery County to a high of 16.6 percent in Worcester County.

Nurse Tutor Program Set

The American Cancer Society (ACS), Maryland Division, will present a nurse tutor program titled, "Living With Dying: Taking Care of Patients, Their Families, and Ourselves," from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 27, at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Community Service Building.

According to a spokesperson for the ACS, upon completion of this program, the health professional should be able to describe his or her personal loss history and its potential influence, and his or her experiences with dying patients and their families; discuss nursing interventions which are directed at communicating understanding and support to dying patients and their families; and identify approaches for meeting one's own needs for support as dying patients and their families are cared for.

For additional information, or to register, persons may call the Education Department of Garrett County Memorial Hospital at 334-2155, ext. 397 or 414.

Years ago, someone catalogued the following failures:

- Failed in business, '31
- Defeated for legislature, '32
- Failed in business again, '33
- Elected to legislature, '34
- Sweetheart died, '35
- Suffered nervous breakdown, '36
- Defeated for speaker, '38
- Defeated for elector, '40
- Defeated for Congress, '48
- Defeated for Senate, '55
- Defeated for Vice President, '56
- Defeated for Senate, '58
- Elected for President of the United States, '60

This man of failure? Abraham Lincoln.

Failures do not make a FAILURE, but rather CAN MAKE the person. Failures hurt, but they do not stop God. He has a way of taking the tangled failures of persons' lives and weaving a tapestry that not only helps, but becomes a thing of beauty and joy forever.

LOOKING AT NIAGARA
February 20, 1994

Background Scripture: Luke 22:1-30
 Devotional Reading: Mark 14:1, 2, 20-25, 42-45

Methodist Bishop Gerald Kennedy used to say that seminarians ought to start as bishops and then work their way up to parish ministers. I'd like to take that one step further and suggest they start as bishops and end up as lay people! (I think this suggestion was in the same vein as the ancient academy where first-year students were called "wise men", second-year students "philosophers", and third-year student "learners".)

However, I'm afraid the church isn't quite ready for that—yet. All too often, we are back where the original disciples were when Luke wrote: "A dispute also arose among them of which of them was to be regarded as the greatest" (22:24). This passage is particularly ironic because just preceding it in the Gospel of Luke is the account of the Last Supper in which Jesus offers them wine and bread as symbols of his body and blood which he will be giving on their—and our—behalf. In the Gospel of John the account of Jesus' last supper with his disciples tells of his washing of the disciples' feet (John 13). So, in all four gospels, the story of Jesus' last supper evidences his self-giving love and humble service.

BISHOPS TOO!
 How incredible then that, immediately afterward, his disciples would argue over which of them would be most prominent in the kingdom of God. How could they have sat with him at the table in the upper room and missed the whole point of what he was saying and demonstrating? How, in the presence of his humble love could they be thinking of "which of them was to be regarded as the greatest?"

But it is not as difficult to do as it may seem. Lay people do it. Preachers do it. And bishops do it, too. All of us are pulled and shoved by our egos, by our striving for recognition and acclaim. Ninety percent of the nastiness and heartache I have witnessed in the church could be traced ultimately to both wounded and overinflated egos. I was talking yesterday with a friend who is a member of one of the largest churches of a certain denomination. Knowing the senior minister by reputation, I asked my friend, "What's his greatest asset?" I expected him to mention preaching, pastoring, or church administration. Instead, my friend said somewhat sadly, "He knows how to accumulate and use power." In the conversation that ensued, my friend made it clear that the power is used not so much in furthering the gospel, as in advancing the minister himself. John Trevor Davies tells of a society woman who went to consult a famous psychotherapist. He began their first interview, saying: "Now tell me all about yourself." She did—not only that day but for twice a week for quite a few weeks. Finally, the therapist said to her: "Madam, I can do no more for you now; I advise you to take the first train to Niagara Falls and there take a long lingering look at something bigger than yourself."

SOMETHING BIGGER
 Actually, that's what humility is. William L. Sullivan said that "Genuine humility does not arise from the sense of our pitiable kinship with the dust that is unworthy of us but from the realization of our awful nearness to a magnificence of which we are unworthy." Phillips Brooks, an Episcopal bishop, said much the same: "The true way to be humble is not to stoop until you are smaller than yourself, but to stand up your real height against some higher nature that will show you what the real smallness of your greatness is." An old adage puts it most simply of all: "A mountain shames a molehill until they are both humbled by the stars."

All too often the church seems to have bought the secular world's concept of greatness. Why don't we turn that around, demonstrating it in our own lives, and selling the secular world on both the teaching and example of Jesus: "Let the greatest among you become as the youngest, and the leader as one who serves" (22:27).

PROPER SLEEP IS ALWAYS IMPORTANT

With few exceptions, it is not true that the older one gets the less sleep is needed. Older people usually need more sleep to help limit tension, fatigue, dizziness and other ailments which senior citizens often get because they may sleep less than seven hours each night.

Once in a while a mild home remedy for sleeping can be helpful. But, if getting to sleep is a constantly recurring problem, you should consult your physician. He has many prescription medicines he may prescribe to better solve your problem.

COVER STORY

Morse's latest case brooding, intriguing

BY BRETT ALAN BOBO

He's been called "a good detective, but a bad policeman" because he gets emotionally involved in his investigations. And in "Dead on Time," that personal involvement prevents Chief Inspector Morse from solving the case.

"Dead on Time" is the first of four new Inspector Morse stories (all are two-parters) in PBS' "Mystery" series. Part 1 airs Thursday, Feb. 24, and the conclusion airs the following week (check local listings).

Morse, played by John Thaw, and Detective Sgt. Lewis, played by Kevin Whately, are summoned to investigate the death of Henry Fallon in what looks like suicide. In fact, Morse and Lewis both agree Fallon shot himself, and an inquest determines suicide as the cause of death.

The facts seem to point to the same conclusion — Henry, terminally ill from a rare neurological disease, had made no secret about his plan to take his own life when his sickness had become too debilitating; traces of lead and gunpowder were found on his hand, and, apparently, no one had any reason to kill him.

Case closed, at least until Henry's doctor returns from vacation and tells Morse that Henry's disease made him incapable of holding a gun to his head and pulling the trigger. Morse has no choice but to reopen the investigation.

The case is somewhat painful for Morse: Henry's widow, Susan (played by Joanna David), was engaged to Morse but, for reasons unrevealed, deserted him and eventually married Henry. Morse still has feelings for Susan, and his emotions keep him from seeing all the facts objectively. Fortunately for Morse — and viewers who want the case solved — Lewis remains detached and eventually unravels the bizarre and complex plot that resulted in the death of Fallon.

Morse fans will enjoy "Dead

on Time"; his reaction to seeing Susan after such a long time and his effort to rekindle their relationship reveal quite a bit about the inspector and his private life.

Newcomers may be somewhat dismayed with the first 15 minutes of the program (events move slowly and the background music tries to lull viewers to sleep), and the case doesn't have a happy ending. But viewers will become enraptured as the mystery unfolds. The story line definitely is intriguing (viewers will be anxious for Part 2 to air, and certainly not too predictable).

The second mystery in the "Inspector Morse, Series VII" casebook is "Happy Families," a tale to be taken with a grain of salt as Morse investigates the murder of a wealthy industrialist whose family members are more concerned about their own problems than the man's death. It airs March 10 and 17. In "Who Killed Harry Field?", airing March 24 and 31, Morse investigates the death of a back painter while Lewis attempts to take his inspector's exam. The final mystery in the series is titled "Greeks Bearing Gifts" and airs April 7 and 14. In it, the inspector taps his love and knowledge of the classics to solve the murder of a chef and the disappearance of a baby that occur within the close-knit and close-lipped Greek community.

Charlie Sheen stars in the network television premiere of "Hot Shots!," airing on Fox Monday, Feb. 21, and Friday, Feb. 25.

In this comic send-up of classic flyboy films, Sheen plays Sean "Topper" Harley, a renegade pilot assigned to an elite corps of fliers. Topper's aerial exploits are equaled in hilarity only by his earthly endeavors as he strives to win the heart of sultry Ramada (Valeria Golino), the beautiful base psychiatrist.

TIME OUT

CBS has grace, beauty and pageantry on ice

BY JEFF PLASS

And now comes the moment the entire country has been waiting for ... the women's figure skating events of the 1994 Olympic Winter Games.

The network illustrates that fact throughout the week with a preview of the women's programs on Tuesday, Feb. 22, followed by the technical programs on Wednesday. Thursday brings viewers a preview of the women's free program, which itself will air on Friday.

"It's as much an artistic event as it is an athletic event," says CBS Sports announcer and former men's figure skating gold medalist Scott Hamilton. "And I think when you're talking art, you know, people have emotions tied to that, but I think there's some unique facets to figure skating that really tug at the heartstrings."

Figure skating has enjoyed immense popularity in the United States, often garnering extremely high television ratings even, and sometimes especially, during prime time.

"ABC Sports did the National Championships, a three-hour broadcast," Gentile says. "The rating was 14.1 and Nancy (Kerrigan) didn't skate. Normally it does a 9 or a 10."

With so much of the media spotlight shining on the situation surrounding the attack on skater Nancy Kerrigan, some very fine performers have had a chance to steel themselves for Olympic greatness away from the hype, which has been known to produce highly favorable results.

A great example of how to ignore the media, Hamilton illustrates, is Kristi Yamaguchi's preparation for the '92 Games. She was in Edmonton (Canada). How many reporters wanted to go up there and freeze covering Kristi Yamaguchi for a week? She was up there on her own. She wasn't reading her own press, she wasn't watching herself on television. How the country perceives you is different than how you kind of perceive yourself.

Yamaguchi went on to win the gold medal in the '92 Games in Albertville, France. The reaction of the figure skating community to the attack on Kerrigan has been one of shock, surprise and ultimate sadness.

"For all of us who know Nancy and for anyone (who) loves figure skating," Hamilton says, "it's just been a devastation. It's something that shouldn't happen in sports. It shouldn't happen in life."

Q: Please tell me about William Forsythe, who plays Al Capone on "The Untouchables." Where can I write him? I'm a big fan. —Born and Raised in Arizona.

A: Reared in Capone's old Brooklyn neighborhood, the actor was heading for trouble as a delinquent when an elementary school teacher cast him in a production of "Julius Caesar." After high school, he landed some New York theater work, then moved to California, where his odd jobs included playing a singing hot dog. Forsythe has appeared in more than two dozen movies and 50 plays. Film credits include "The Waterdance," "Raising Arizona," "American Me," "Dick Tracy," "Extreme Prejudice," "Dead Bang," "Patty Hearst" and "Once Upon a Time in America."

Q: "Forever Knight" was my favorite show on TV. Now I can't find it. Is it still on? I have to know. —Melissa D. Mosier, Fort Wayne, Ind.

A: The Canadian series has stopped production, but as of this writing CBS is still airing repeats as part of its late-night lineup. Many affiliates have stopped carrying this programming as part of a shakeup following David Letterman's show. Write to your CBS affiliate and ask the program director to consider reinstating "Forever Knight."

Q: Is the recent Family Channel movie "Candles in the Dark" available on video? I was born in Estonia, which is where the movie was set, so it would mean a lot to me if I could get it. —Ene Ripper, Traverse City, Mich.

A: The cable channel aired the movie more than once, so perhaps you were able to catch and tape it after you wrote this.

William Forsythe

It's not on tape yet, and it probably won't be aired again before next Christmas, due to the holiday theme.

Q: I am a great fan of the soap "Guiding Light." Please tell me what happened to the beautiful blond actress who played Alexandra Spaulding. —G.A., Toms River, N.J.

A: Long regarded as one of daytime's most subtle actresses, Beverly McKinney reportedly was looking for a change when, by a fluke, she discovered a loophole in her contract that allowed her to leave the show with virtually no notice. The "GL" executives are said to be happy with Mari Dusay, who took over the role last September.

Q: I love "Picket Fences." How can I write to Tom Skerritt, who plays Sheriff Jimmy Brock? —Manda Veldkamp, Ellsworth, Mich.

A: You have exceptional taste, Manda. Write Skerritt C/O "Picket Fences," CBS Inc., 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90046.

Martha Stewart: TV's domestic goddess

BY SUZANNE GILL

Donna Reed was once TV's domestic goddess. In the 1990s, that role has been taken — with a vengeance, some might say — by Martha Stewart.

Stewart's 10 books, on everything from weddings to Christmas, have sold in the millions. Her namesake monthly magazine survived the crucial first year and is beginning to thrive. K-Mart offers a line of her signature linens. She appears every other Wednesday on NBC's "Today Show." And a weekly syndicated TV series, "Martha Stewart Living," debuted last fall (check local listings). Despite airing at very early hours in some cities, we have a 2.1 rating nationally, Stewart says.

Each episode offers several home-and-garden segments — planning a dinner party, restoring furniture or planting an herb garden — plus a field trip.

Martha Stewart on the set of her weekly syndicated series. Each episode of "Martha Stewart Living" offers a variety of home-and-garden segments (check local listings).

to go antique hunting or deep sea fishing, for instance. The ideas vary widely in expense and practicality. Some projects, like an 18-hour gingerbread house, are truly over the top.

"I want it to be a mix of the fun and practical and artistic," Stewart says. "Not everything is going to be for everybody."

Viewers must be prepared to tape each show, as recipes and craft instructions go by in a breathless whirl. If anything, Stewart says, her fans wish the shows were longer. But squeezing more things into less time has become a priority for Stewart. Seldom one to drop her guard, she reveals an endearing mortal streak on the topic of time management.

"It's getting more and more difficult. You have to completely concentrate. I mean, I concentrate so hard," she says with emphasis, "on doing one thing and then another."

In "Dead on Time," an episode of PBS' "Mystery" series, Inspector Morse (John Thaw) meets an old flame (Joanna David). Part 1 airs Thursday (check local listings).

IN FOCUS

Dr. David Livingstone Wilson accompanies an expedition across Africa in "The New Explorers," on PBS Wednesday, Feb. 23, (check local listings).

Wilson and company travel along the route taken by Henry Morton Stanley, the reporter who set out to find Wilson's great-grandfather, the world-famous explorer Dr. David Livingstone.

Beginning in Zanzibar, host Bill Kurtis leads the expedition. "In the Footsteps of Dr. Livingstone."

MOVIE MARQUEE

An all-you-can-watch movie buffet on TV

BY TED KUSIO

Grab a plate and mosey up to the tube for an endless buffet of films.

Appetizers are offered on Sunday, Feb. 20, with films to whet the visual appetite. NBC serves up Amanda Pays and Corbin Bernsen in "I Know My Son Is Alive," about a mother who is suspected of murdering her infant. The USA Network kicks off with Bruce Lee in "Enter the Dragon." For double portions, Lifetime offers disasters with "Fire!" and "Flood!" while TNT presents both "Beastmaster" movies.

Monday, Feb. 21, is salad day, with films that, with some dressing, can be kind of tasty. Cybill Shepherd stars in "Baby Brokers" on NBC, a platiful drama about a woman who is conned while trying to adopt a baby. And for those who like a lot, TNT serves lots of "Godzilla" and two "Sinbad" films, while TBS offers a double portion of "Perry Mason" mysteries with Raymond Burr.

The vegetable day, or Tuesday, Feb. 22, offers a taste of history as HBO presents Denzel Washington in a great performance in Spike Lee's "Malcolm X," while Lifetime reveals "The Plot to Kill Hitler." TBS serves two more "Perry Mason" dishes.

The main course, served on Wednesday, Feb. 23, is pretty light, with helpings of "Home Alone 2: Lost in New York" on HBO and "Cocoon: The Return" on USA. For those who have a strong stomach, this chef suggests Robert De Niro as a "Taxi Driver" who goes to extremes to impress a young woman (Jodie Foster), and Harvey Keitel as a really "Bad Lieutenant" on Cinemax.

Thursday, Feb. 24, is a good day to prepare for dessert with John Wayne, star and director of "The Alamo," on TBS.

Dessert is usually tasty but nutritionally void, and Friday, Feb. 25, is no exception, with Kevin Bacon in "Tremors" on NBC. And for those who want some of yesteryear's desserts, TBS serves "Rescue From Gilligan's Island" and "Return to Mayberry," while Lifetime offers "Get Smart, Again!"

To help settle the stomach, "Somersby" makes its HBO premiere on Saturday, Feb. 26. Richard Gere and Jodie Foster play a couple during the Civil War whose reunion is not as it seems. For more dessert, Arnold Schwarzenegger plays a "Kindergarten Cop" on NBC. To satisfy viewers with a taste for something unusual, TNT serves giant ants in "Them!" followed by oozy space slime and Steve McQueen in "The Blob."

Bon appetite!

Day-Use Fees Set For State Forests, Parks

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., has announced the 1994 facility fees for state forests and parks.

"Maryland's state forests and parks continue to lead the way in providing exciting educational and recreational opportunities for the whole family at an inexpensive price," Dr. Brown said.

Most parks will charge a $2 per-person entry fee in 1994. As in the past, day-use fees will only be charged between March and October, with specific dates being set by each forest and park. No fees are charged during the rest of the year. Also, there will be no entrance fees in all state parks on April 30, for a very special "Treasure the Chesapeake" celebration.

1994 DAY-USE FEES

Facility Use Fee: $2 per person, most parks. (Some exceptions; contact specific park); children in car seats free; golden age passes, vehicle free; Wednesdays (non-holidays), 1/2 price; and youth groups, 25 cents per person.

Charging Dates: March-

October (contact specific park)

Boat launching: $5 where a facility-use fee is not charged.

Dumping Station: Non-campers, $5.

Summer Fun Pass: $50 (Unlimited day use of all state forests and parks and discounts on concessions.)

Shelter/Pavilions: Contact specific park, (reservation fee is $5).

No day-use fees are charged at Garrett State Forest.

For more information on state forest and park fees or to obtain information on park activities and programs, persons may contact any state forest or park or call the State Forest and Park Service headquarters office in Annapolis at (410) 974-3771.

On Dean's List

The Western Maryland College dean's list has been announced for the 1993 fall semester. Inclusion on the list requires a minimum 3.4 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Highest honors area earned for a 3.8-4.0 average, high honors for 3.6-3.79 average, and honors for a 3.4-3.59 average.

Garrett County students named to the dean's list were: Ingrid R. Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harland Carlson, Oakland, highest honors; Amy J. Rice, daughter of Jay and Diane Rice, Oakland, high honors; and Alison C. Winters, daughter of Alana and Joseph Winters, Oakland, highest honors.

Western Maryland College, located about one hour north of Washington, D.C., is celebrating its 126th year as a private, independent college emphasizing high standards and achievements in the liberal arts and sciences.

BLUES GUITARISTS TO PERFORM -- Cafe Frostburg will sponsor K.J. James, formerly known as Dr. Blue, this Saturday, Feb. 19, at 8 p.m. in the Frostburg State University's Lane Center Greenhouse. This concert is free and open to the public. "This South Carolina born Bluesman is a gifted singer/songwriter, guitarist, and a national recording artist," stated one critic. "Two recent projects, 'A Dr. Blue Injection' and the 'Salt City Blues,' received rave reviews throughout the United States, Canada, and Australia. 'His signature is a finger-picking, foot-tapping pure essence of blues, boogie and R&B. Covering the entire spectrum of blues styling, his slide guitar is a favorite of his fans,' the critic said. For more information, persons may call the Lane Center Information desk at (301) 689-4411.

DEED Announces EUC Benefits To Be Curtailed

The Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED) has announced that the Emergency Unemployment Compensation (EUC) program will partially expire beginning this week. Federal law established the EUC program in November 1991, as a result of the recession, for individuals who had exhausted their 26 weeks of regular unemployment insurance benefits.

The partial expiration of the EUC program means:

"If a claimant received the last regular unemployment insurance check for the week ending Feb. 5, 1994, or any week after that, the claimant will not be eligible to receive EUC benefits.

"If a claimant is receiving EUC benefits now, the claimant will continue to receive benefits, as long as he or she is not eligible for regular unemployment insurance benefits, until the EUC claim is paid out or the EUC program ends on April 30, 1994.

The U.S. Congress is not currently considering extending the EUC program. DEED's Office of Unemployment Insurance has been advised by the U.S. Department of Labor that it is unlikely that the EUC program will be extended. However, the Office of Unemployment Insurance will continue to allow people to register for new EUC claims for approximately one month after the Feb. 5, 1994 expiration date, in case Congress extends the EUC program. However, no EUC benefits will be paid on these claims unless and until the federal law is changed.

People who have questions about the EUC program may call the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Claimant Information Line at (410) 333-7294 or toll free 1-800-827-4839 or local TDD (410) 333-7295 or toll free TDD 1-800-827-4400.

Information about EUC will be updated on the Claimant Information Line if Congress makes any changes in the EUC law.

Transmission Repair Tests Slated At SHS

The Automatic Transmission Rebuilders Association (A.T.R.A.) will hold written examinations for automatic transmission rebuilders, R.R. technicians, and service writers at Southern High School on March 9 at 7 p.m. as part of its national Certification Program. Thomas M. Powers, teacher at Southern, will serve as proctor.

A.T.R.A. is a non-profit organization dedicated to the improvement and welfare of the automatic transmission repair industry. With over 3,000 affiliates, it is the world's oldest and largest network of independent transmission firms.

Each year, A.T.R.A. sponsors over 500 proficiency tests throughout the country to encourage technical competency and professionalism in the industry. According to A.T.R.A.'s executive director, Steve Gray, a major goal of the certification program is consumer protection.

"Consumers should look for a certified shop when they need automatic transmission repair work," he said. "A.T.R.A. Certification helps identify which shops are capable of competently diagnosing and repairing automatic transmission problems."

Because transmission technology has become extremely complicated over the past decade, A.T.R.A. member shops are required to re-certify every two years. Gray says experienced technicians usually have no trouble passing the test "... if they've kept their knowledge and skills current."

The tests are free to A.T.R.A. members. Non-members however, are required to pay a fee of $20 to help defray the cost of the program.

Those wishing to register for the tests or who want additional information about the Certification Program should contact the T&C Coordinator at A.T.R.A. by calling (805) 654-1700, 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Pacific Time.

Filmmaking In Maryland Has Big Economic Impact

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced last week that feature film and television production in Maryland hit record levels in 1993, generating an estimated $87 million in economic impact statewide, a 61 percent increase over the 1992 total of $52 million.

During 1993, the Maryland Film Commission, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, attracted and assisted outside production companies which generated film-related expenditures within the state for such items as production crews and services, lodging and restaurants, transportation, props and sets, actors and supplies and materials.

"These expenditures show that promoting Maryland as a location for filmmaking pays off," said Governor Schaefer. "Films not only bring worldwide attention to our state, but film production companies spend a great deal of money that benefits Maryland businesses and residents."

The Maryland Film Commission's three-person staff helps film and television production companies find the locations they need and assists them in obtaining permits and solving problems during their shooting schedule. The Maryland Film Commission's budget for fiscal year 1994 is $153,616. Governor Schaefer's 1995 budget includes a $100,000 increase in the film commission budget to restore it to pre-recession levels.

Three native Marylanders -- James G. Robinson, Barry Levinson and John Waters -- contributed major projects for Maryland during 1993. Six feature films and Barry Levinson's Baltimore Pictures television series, "Homicide: Life on the Streets," were shot in Maryland. Leading the feature film category with two films was James G. Robinson's Morgan Creek Productions with "Major League II," starring Charlie Sheen, Corbin Bernsen, and Tom Berenger, shot at Oriole Park at Camden Yards, Memorial Stadium and other locations throughout Baltimore; and "Silent Fall," starring Richard Dreyfuss and Linda Hamilton and directed by Bruce Beresford, shot on the Eastern Shore and in Baltimore, Carroll and Howard counties.

Pioneer Baltimore filmmaker John Waters produced "Serial Mom" for Savoy Pictures, starring Kathleen Turner, Ricki Lake and Sam Waterston. "Guarding Tess," for TriStar, starring Shirley MacLaine and Nicholas Cage, was filmed in Baltimore City and Baltimore and Washington counties. Other films partially within the state were "Pelican Brief," for Warner Bros., starring Julia Roberts and Denzel Washington, and "True Lies," a 20th Century Fox film starring Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Last September, Governor Schaefer and Morgan Creek Productions Chairman C.O. Robinson, a native Baltimorean who lives in Baltimore County and commutes weekly to Hollywood, held a joint news conference at the State House to announce that the two Morgan Creek films would be shooting in Maryland. Robinson, Barry Levinson, and Levinson's partner Mark Johnson hosted a breakfast for film industry executives during the governor's visit to Hollywood in October 1992.

1993 also marked the launch of the Producers Club, a non-profit organization established by the Maryland business community to support the state's film marketing efforts. The Producers Club was spearheaded by Jed Dietz, president of Film Development Partners, Inc., and a local film commission supporter.

Director of the Maryland Film Commission is Michael B. Styer, and deputy director is Jack Gerbes.

On The Menu...

Dū It With Food for Elegant and Easy Entertaining

With shorter days and brisk temperatures, celebrations move indoors. It's a time for the senses: the warmth of a crackling fire, the aroma of favorite recipes wafting from the kitchen, the familiar tastes of the season, the delicate tinkling of glasses touched in a toast and family members and friends enjoying each other's company.

Fine food, special people and fun times, Dubonnet® makes them all better. Created by the French to enhance the enjoyment of food, this unique beverage was first introduced in Paris in the early 1900s. Renowned as the perfect before dinner choice, this rare blend gets its distinctive taste from a mixture of good wine and up to 50 natural ingredients.

Today, there is a new and growing appreciation for Dubonnet®. Its appeal transcends age. Among its devotees are young trendsetters as well as connoisseurs of fine food and wine. Fast becoming a popular alternative to the traditional cocktail, the inherent versatility of this product makes it an ideal ingredient in flavorful sauces, exciting entrees and delicious desserts, as well as a variety of light and refreshing drinks. Here's a sampling of our favorite recipes. Try them. You won't be disappointed.

MARINATED SHRIMP WITH DIJON SAUCE

24 Jumbo Shrimp with tails
(uncooked)

Marinade:

- 1 cup Dubonnet Rouge
- 1/2 cup Vegetable Oil
- 1/4 cup Teriyaki Sauce
- 1 tsp. Garlic Salt
- 1 Tbs. Tarragon, crushed

Sauce:

- 1/2 cup Dijon Mustard
- 1/4 cup Honey

To make marinade, combine all ingredients in a glass container and whisk vigorously until cloudy and slightly thickened. Refrigerate until needed. Reserve half of the marinade to prepare the Dijon dipping sauce.

Peel and devein shrimp, place in a ceramic bowl, cover with other half of the marinade and refrigerate for at least two hours, stirring occasionally.

After marinating, sauté shrimp in uncovered skillet on medium heat in a tablespoon of butter, turning them once. Arrange shrimp in service dishes and serve with Dijon dipping sauce.

To make sauce, put Dijon mustard in a deep ceramic or glass bowl and slowly add small quantities of the strained marinade and honey while whisking vigorously. Serve with marinated shrimp. Serves eight as an appetizer.

HONEY GLAZED CARROTS AND WALNUTS

- 2 lbs. Fresh, Baby Carrots
- 1 Tbs. Salt
- 1/2 cup Honey
- 1/2 cup Butter

- 1 Tbs. Parsley, fresh, chopped
- 1/4 cup Walnut halves, unsalted, toasted

Wash carrots in cold water, place in a large saucepan, cover with cold water, add salt and bring to a boil. Simmer until just tender (15-20 minutes), drain and keep warm. Reserve 1/2 cup of the cooking liquid for the glaze.

Combine the reserved 1/2 cup of cooking liquid, honey and butter, bring mixture to a boil and remove from heat. Add chopped parsley, toasted walnuts and carrots, toss and serve. Serves eight.

DILL PARMESAN ROLLS

- 1 packet Yeast, active-dry
- 1/2 cup Water
- 2 cups Bread Flour
- 2 Tbs. Sugar
- 1 tsp. Salt
- 1/2 cup Milk, warm
- 1/2 cup Parmesan Cheese, grated
- 1 1/4 Tbs. Dill Weed
- 1/4 tsp. Thyme, ground
- 1 Tbs. Shortening

Dissolve yeast in water warmed to approximately 110° F.

Combine flour, sugar and salt in a large mixing bowl, add yeast solution and milk, mix with wooden spoon until well blended and sticky. Add Parmesan, dill and thyme and mix until blended and dough forms ball. Add shortening and mix until smooth, velvety and elastic.

Knead blended dough on lightly floured board or countertop until easily stretched without tearing.

Place dough in lightly oiled bowl, cover and place in a warm humid place until double in size.

Divide dough into 12 pieces, roll into ropes that are six inches long and tie them into braided knots. Place well apart on lightly greased sheet pans, cover lightly with plastic wrap and place in a warm, humid place in the kitchen until double in size. Bake at 400° F until golden brown (approximately 12 minutes). Serve with butter or margarine. Makes one dozen rolls.

ORANGE DUBONNET SAUCE

- 1/2 cup Butter
- 1/4 cup Granulated Sugar
- 6 Eggs, whole
- Grated Peel of 1 Orange
- 1/2 cup Orange Juice
- 1/4 cup Dubonnet Blanc

Cream the butter and sugar in mixer until light and fluffy. Transfer to top pan of a small double boiler, add eggs, grated orange peel and orange juice and cook until slightly thickened.

Return to a mixer and beat until cool and stiffened. Stir in Dubonnet Blanc and serve.

YEAST CAKE RING

- 1 packet Yeast, active-dry
- 1/2 cup Milk, warmed
- 2 cups Bread Flour
- 3 Eggs, whole
- 1 tsp. Vanilla Extract
- 1/4 tsp. Salt
- 1/2 cup Butter, softened
- 1 Tbs. Sliced Almonds
- 1/2 cup Apricot Jam
- 2 cups Seasonal Fruit Salad

Soaking Syrup:

- 2 1/2 cups Water
- 2 cups Sugar
- 1 Fresh Orange
- 1/2 cup Dubonnet Blanc

Make syrup by cutting unpeeled orange into about 8 large pieces. Boil it with water and sugar for about two minutes, strain and stir in Dubonnet Blanc. Set aside until needed.

Dissolve yeast in warmed milk in a mixing bowl large enough to hold entire dough. Stir in 1/2 cup of bread flour to make a smooth, soft sponge cover and allow to rise in a warm spot in the kitchen until very bubbly and it starts to collapse.

Mix the eggs, vanilla, salt and softened butter into the sponge. Add the remaining bread flour sifted with the cake flour, mix into a soft, smooth dough. Form into greased and floured 10-inch ring mold. Cover with plastic wrap, place in a warm and humid spot in the kitchen and allow to rise until double in size.

Bake at 400° F until golden brown and done through. Soak in syrup, decorate with almond slices and brush with hot apricot jam. Fill center with seasonal fruit salad and serve with orange Dubonnet sauce. Serves eight.

CHOCOLATE GLAZE FOR CAKE

- 1 lb. Dark Chocolate
- 1 pint (16 oz.) Whipping Cream
- 1 Tbs. Vanilla
- 2 Tbs. Dubonnet Rouge

Break chocolate into small pieces and place in a large ceramic bowl. Heat in microwave or over double boiler until melted.

Heat cream in a saucepan until just below boiling then pour over melted chocolate. Whisk together until smooth and well blended then stir in vanilla and Dubonnet Rouge.

This mixture is a thin glaze when warm, a thicker glaze at room temperature, a frosting when cool and a stiff candy filling when cold. Use this sauce over your favorite cake.

SESAME ROASTED CORNISH GAME HEN WITH WILD RICE AND MUSHROOM STUFFING

- 4 Cornish Game Hens
(approximately 18 oz. each)

Stuffing:

- 1 1/2 cups Dubonnet Blanc
- 1 1/2 cups Water
- 1 tsp. Salt
- 1 tsp. Pepper
- 1 cup Wild Rice
- 1/2 cup Short Grain White Rice
- 1 Tbs. Basil, crushed
- 1 Tbs. Mint, crushed
- 1/4 cup Butter
- 1/2 cup Mushrooms, fresh, sliced
- Vegetable Oil

- 4 Tbs. Sesame Seeds

To make stuffing, combine Dubonnet, water, salt and pepper in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil and stir in wild rice, white rice, basil, mint and half the butter. Return to boil, cover and simmer until rice is tender. Sauté mushrooms in remaining butter and combine with rice mixture. Allow to cool slightly before using.

Prepare Cornish hens by washing birds inside and out with cold water. Drain and pat dry. Stuff cavity with cooled stuffing and arrange, breast up, on a roasting rack in a deep roasting pan. Brush birds with vegetable oil, sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper, and roast at 350° F until light golden brown (approximately 50-55 minutes). Brush again with pan drippings and sprinkle liberally with sesame seeds. Continue roasting until birds are golden brown. Remove from oven, cool slightly and cut each bird in half through breast and backbone. Divide stuffing between portions and serve.

To make a nice au jus, add 1/2 cup Dubonnet Rouge to pan drippings and cook over medium heat until thickened. Serves eight.

Campbell-Rinker Vows Exchanged During Private, Candlelight Ceremony

Sheila Rae Campbell and Terry Allen Rinker were married Oct. 30, 1993, in a private ceremony at Blooming Rose United Methodist Church, Friendsville. The Rev. Robert Millren performed the candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Allen Campbell, Friendsville. The groom is the son of Calvin Leo Rinker, Kessler's Ridge, and Mrs. Joan Stelling, Anacortes, Wash.

Cindy Frantz, friend of the bride, was the pianist. She played The Rose, Endless Love, Truly, and I Love You Just The Way You Are. Following the opening prayer, the Rev. Millren gave Bible readings. Amanda Frantz sang The Lord's Prayer during the lighting of the unity candles. Flowers were then given to the couple's parents.

Escorted to the altar by her father, and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown designed by Alfred Angelo. It was fashioned of white satin and featured a semi-cathedral train edged with pearl and sequin appliques and embroidered lace. The crew neckline and bodice were jeweled with pearl and sequin appliques. The sheer puffed sleeves were graced with an array of pearl and sequin beading. A sheer V-back was enhanced by a double-tiered bow with satin roses and pearls.

The bride's headpiece was fashioned with petite white roses with pearls, simmered pearl trimmings, and pearl and satin flower sprays, with a short pouf veil in the back.

Her cascading bouquet featured white netting with ivory roses, Victorian lace, pearl looping and an abundance of pearl sprays scattered throughout.

Two vases with white roses, white carnations and baby's breath, presented by the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rancelor, adorned the altar.

Maid of honor was Shawna L. Campbell, sister of the bride. She wore a black and plum-colored iridescent satin tea-length dress, featuring a sweetheart neckline, three-quarter length sleeves, a plum-colored bodice with black lace and roping, and black pearl and sequin-beaded appliques. She carried a cascading bouquet with ivory netting and Victorian lace, featuring plum and ivory roses with pearl looping and pearl sprays.

The flower girl was Cassie Bingham, Martinsburg, W.Va., great-niece of the groom. She wore a black velvet tea-length dress with a white lace neckline. She carried a small white wicker basket with petite white roses, sparkling baby's breath and black and white ribbons.

Best man was David G. Rinker, Accident, brother of the groom. He and the groom wore black tuxedos with black satin lapels and matching cummerbunds. The groom's boutonniere had three petite white roses with iridescent leaves and pearl sprays.

Serving as ring bearer was Patrick T. Eisentrout, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., cousin of the bride. His tuxedo matched those of the groom and best man. He carried a white satin pillow edged with Victorian lace, petite white roses, pearl sprays and black and white ribbons.

The mother of the bride wore a two-piece Kelly green silk dress. The groom's mother was attired in a two-piece mauve and ivory dress.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church's social room, which was decorated with white and black ribbons and balloons. The tables featured lit candles with globes. A three-tiered wedding cake had a basket weave design, cascading pinch-petal amethyst roses and green vineing, and a tuk-n-ruffle edging. Diane Sisler and Barbara S. Prescott, aunts of the bride, cut and served the cake. Sparkling cider was provided by George Collins of McHenry Beverage Shop.

Program attendants were Cheeré Rinker, and Anita Hlawbaker, nieces of the groom. The guest book attendant was Jennifer Savage, another niece of the groom. Bird seed packets were distributed by Kelly Eisentrout and Emily Sisler, cousins of the bride, and Amanda Savage, niece of the groom.

The wedding photographer was Jim Eisentrout. The ceremony was videotaped by Edward Savage.

Buckle Up Your Kids And Yourself - This Means YOU!

by Mary Sincell McFwen

Consider this: a car is traveling at 20 miles per hour. A 12-pound infant is being held by his mother, who is belted in the car. The driver glances down to adjust the radio, runs off the road, and strikes a tree. Although the car is stopped suddenly, the occupants continue to travel at 20 miles per hour. Because of G-forces, an unrestrained, 12-pound infant literally becomes a 240-pound missile, traveling at 20 mph out of the arms of his mother and crashing through the windshield. There is no way for the mother to hold on to the child.

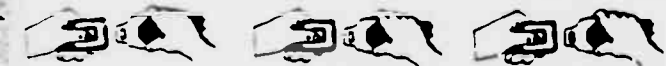

If the 100-pound mother in this scenario is also unrestrained, her weight will increase to 3,000 pounds. Her body will be thrown against the child in her lap, crushing the baby between her and the dashboard in one violent stroke. The results of this impact are obvious, with sky-high chances of severe injury or death. These chances are reduced by 70% if proper safety equipment is used.

How often can one see children riding in cars in this county, completely unrestrained? How many people feel safe about holding their children on their laps for a ride into town? How often are children allowed to stand up with their faces close to the dashboard? Too often, too many. There is no excuse for a child ever to ride in a vehicle unrestrained, and any parent or guardian who allows it is placing that child's life in terrible danger. The people who do it range from blue collar workers to highly-paid professionals - all of whom should know better.

The message is simple: If you love your child, buckle him or her up.

Accidents can and do happen to anyone - no one is spared from the dangers of riding in a car. Never should one person believe that because he is a careful driver, he will never be involved in a car wreck. The circumstances leading to a car crash are many - even if one person is a good driver, the other drivers on the road may be terrible. Maybe the roads are icy, maybe a deer will run out in front of a car, maybe a drunk driver will hit another car head-on. No one knows what is ahead, and the smartest, most obvious thing to do is to be as careful as possible. Buckle up your children and yourself.

The excuses for not wearing safety belts or buckling children in seats are many.

Excuse: "I will be safer if I'm thrown from the car."

Fact: Chances of fatal injury are 25 times greater if a person is thrown from a car. The victim could crash through the windshield or side window, and the vehicle is quite likely to roll over the victim once he has been thrown out.

Excuse: "What if the car goes under water or catches on fire? I'd be trapped."

Fact: Less than one half of one percent of all accidents involve a fire or submersion into water. Not wearing a seatbelt based on these fears is almost the same as choosing to walk in the middle of the road for the reason that pedestrians who walk on the sidewalk occasionally get hit by cars. In a 15-year study of this question, researchers found that fewer than four accidents in 10,000 involve fire. And in cases that did involve fire in this study, many more unbelted passengers were killed than those who were using safety belts. Those who were unbelted were much more likely to be so badly injured in the collision that they were unable to unbuckle their safety belts to get out of the vehicle. Those belted in were able to maintain consciousness and clear-headedness enough to release the belt and escape.

LAW OFFICERS TAKE PART IN CHILD PROTECTION - Law enforcers from all agencies throughout the county are taking part in Child Passenger Safety Week, being observed this week, Feb. 13-19. The Maryland Department of Transportation, State Highway Administration, designated the observance and requested law officers to "show their care by encouraging motorists to buckle up the ones they love." A number of parents do not use the required safety seats and seatbelts, despite all the education and encouragement given them. Safety seats are available to any person at the Garrett County Health Department, and anyone who is the guardian of an infant or toddler should not be without the safety equipment. Maryland law requires that children under the age of 4 or weighing 40 pounds or less must be secured in an approved safety seat. If a child weighs over 40 pounds and is 4 years old or older, but less than 10 years, he must be secured in an approved child safety seat or seatbelt/shoulder harness. A violation of these laws carries a present fine of $40-$500. The Maryland State Police, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and the Oakland City Police Department are making a combined effort this week to monitor sites such as day care centers, schools, and shopping areas to ensure the safety of the county's children. Pictured above, left to right, are Oakland Police Chief John Sines, MSP Lt. Charles Hinnant, Sheriff Van Evans, Deputy Jeff Green, and MSP Cpl. Wayne Paugh.

Excuse: "I'm pregnant and the seatbelt might injure my unborn baby."

Fact: The best way to protect an unborn baby is to protect its mother. While the mother-to-be may be slightly more uncomfortable with a seatbelt fastened, the fact is that the baby is far safer if Mother is buckled up. With the seatbelt snug across the pelvic bones and the lap belt comfortably across the collar bone and down across her chest, the mother is secure. If there is an accident, the "forward energy" of the impact will be focused on the points where the belt is touching the mother. The strong bony parts of the mother will take the brunt of the pressure, keeping the fetus free of any impact and probably protecting the mother except for some bruising. If the mother is unbelted, she will most likely strike the dashboard with great force or will be thrown from the car, thus greatly endangering her life as well as her unborn baby.

Excuse: "I'm only going two miles to the grocery store - nothing will happen in that short distance. I won't even be driving fast."

Fact: The majority of severe accidents (more than 80%) take place within 25 miles of the victims' home and occur at less than 40 miles per hour. Most car travel for a family is obviously within 25 miles of home - school, work, church, social activities, etcetera. Accidents happen all the time, and the likelihood that a victim would be farther than 25 miles from home is more unusual. But familiarity of certain roads can also make drivers less alert, and again, the "other driver" is to be greatly considered. Increase your chances of arriving safely - wherever your destination may be - by taking three seconds to buckle your belt and a few more to secure your children.

National Child Safety Week Is Observed

National Child Passenger Safety Awareness Week is being celebrated this week, February 13-19, by numerous local and national agencies -- including the Garrett County Health Department -- as part of the National SAFE KIDS Campaign.

Injuries from motor vehicle crashes are the number one cause of death for young people. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's Child Passenger Safety Fact Sheet, "If used all the time, child safety seats could prevent 53,000 injuries and save 500 lives a year."

Maryland's Child Passenger Safety Law is a primary offense, allowing law enforcement officers the ability to stop a vehicle and cite a driver for failing to properly secure children in child safety seats even if no other motor vehicle law has been broken. The Maryland Police Officers Guide to Occupant Protection Enforcement explains the current law as: "Any person transporting a child under the age of four or weighing 40 pounds or less shall position and secure the child in a child safety seat. Any person transporting a child, who weighs more than 40 pounds and who is less than 10 years of age, shall either position and secure the child in a safety seat, or seat and secure the child in a properly fastened safety belt."

These laws apply to vehicles registered in Maryland or those capable of being registered in Maryland as Class A (passenger), Class E (truck) having 3/4 ton or less rated capacities, or Class M (multipurpose) vehicle. Drivers breaking these laws will be cited and fined $40 as well as court costs for each violation.

According to the U.S. Department of Transportation and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) Occupant Protection Fact Book titled Sudden Impact, "in a crash at speeds of 30 mph, a 15 pound child can easily generate a sudden force greater than 300 pounds."

When correctly used, child safety seats are 71% effective in preventing fatalities, 67% effective in reducing the need for hospitalization, and 50% effective in preventing injuries, according to a NHTSA technical report from 1986. Child safety seats are

Role of Aspirin in Prevention Of Cardiovascular Disease

A recent statement in Circulation, an official journal of the American Heart Association, indicates that aspirin may have more than one role in preventing several diseases of the heart and blood vessels. According to Dr. Charles Hennekens, there are several conditions in which aspirin therapy can be preventative. These conditions include strokes, irregular heart beats, peripheral vascular disease, high blood pressure associated with pregnancy, and venous clot formation following hip surgery. Before taking aspirin, check with your physician for the correct dose.

MSP Steps Up Enforcement Of Safety Seat Law

Maryland State Police Superintendent Colonel Larry W. Tolliver this week ordered state police to increase enforcement of Maryland's child safety seat law. This order coincides with National Child Passenger Safety Week, February 13-19, the 10th anniversary of Maryland's child passenger safety laws, and the 1994 Chief's Challenge Campaign.

Every year in Maryland, tens-of-thousands of children are injured or killed in motor vehicle accidents. In more than 30% of those accidents, children were either improperly secured or not secured at all.

"As adults we often make wrong decisions, but there are certain decisions with which we must not waiver, especially when it comes to our children," Tolliver said. "It is up to all of us to ensure the safety of our children and properly securing them in approved child safety seats or seatbelts is just one way to do that."

Unlike the seatbelt law, the child safety seat law is a primary offense. This means if a trooper sees a violation of the law, he can stop the vehicle and charge the driver. Any person convicted of this violation is subject to a fine of $25.

The Maryland State Police will participate in the annual Chief's Challenge Campaign, February 1 - March 31. This is a statewide law enforcement campaign to promote greater usage of seat belts and child safety seats through education efforts. This campaign is designed to reduce the number of injuries and fatalities associated with motor vehicle accidents.

This Means YOU!

Excuse: "Only wimps wear seatbelts. Men don't need them."

Fact: The strongest man alive has no defense against a collision if he simply tries to "brace himself." A strong man who feels he can protect himself without using a seatbelt should try this: run full speed toward a wall - the fastest sprint you can manage. When you reach the wall at full speed, throw your arms out in front of you to avoid the crash. What will happen? Your arms will fold up like over-cooked spaghetti, with your head striking the wall first. What would happen, then, in a car going 30, 40, or even 80 mph? Peer pressure against wearing safety belts may be strong, but it cannot be compared to the pressure you'll feel when your head goes through the windshield.

Excuse: "A friend of mine died because she was wearing her seatbelt."

Fact: It is an extremely rare event that a person is actually killed because she is wearing a seatbelt. Death is far more likely to occur if a person is thrown from the car, crashing through the windshield or being thrown through the door, hurtling through the air and smashing against a hard surface. The driver and/or passengers who are unbelted are far more likely to scrape along the ground or be crushed by the vehicle. The likelihood of death being caused by a seatbelt is so slight that it should not even be considered, especially by a parent who has the responsibility of keeping a child safe.

In the event of a car wreck, two collisions take place: the impact of the car into the other object, followed instantaneously by the impact of the persons inside the car against the interior or other riders. Because of their high center of gravity and their delicate bone structure, children are extremely susceptible to injury in automobile accidents. A baby or toddler's head is proportionately heavier than an adult's, which often causes the child to fly head-first into the windshield or collide with objects or other people in the car. These children sustain head injuries in 77% of all accidents, leading to brain damage, permanent disfigurement, epilepsy, or death.

Tens of thousands of children are injured or killed in car wrecks every year in Maryland. Children are 40-50 times more likely to die in a motor vehicle accident than by preventable disease or any other kind of accident. The use of child restraints can reduce the chance of death or serious injury by as much as 80%. Anyone can obtain a child safety seat from the Garrett County Health Department for the mere cost of $5 for an infant seat and $6 every six months for a toddler seat (up to $24, after which the seat is free). A security deposit of $5-$10 is also required, and is returned when the seat is turned in. Persons may simply call the health department at 334-8111 to obtain the Project KISS (Kids In Safety Seats) equipment.

A baby can't buckle himself in; a child learns by example. So buckle up your kids, buckle up yourself. There is really no excuse not to do it. Contemplate for a while what it would be like if you crushed your child to death in an accident; if you watched him fly from the car and dash against the road; if you watched him die. A harsh vision, but one that may help remind you to do the right thing. His life is in your hands, as is your own. Don't be stupid.

NOTE: Research for this article was greatly aided by materials provided by Chief Harland Tichnell of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office (video Seatbelts and the Family by General Motors; manual Seat Belt Usage by the National Sheriff's Association); and by help from James Zimmerman and David Mayfield, math teachers at Southern High School.

Convertible seats function as both an infant carrier and toddler seat. The seat can be used from infancy until a child outgrows it around age 4 or 40 pounds. In the infant position, the seat reclines and faces the rear of the car. In the toddler position, face the seat forward and the child upright. Booster seats fill the gap between when the child outgrows the safety seat and when he can use only a seat belt. Safe transition is available with the booster seat for children between 40-60 pounds. Booster seats face forward, with the child sitting and facing the front of the car. These seats work in conjunction with the car's regular shoulder and lap belts.

When using a child safety seat, parents should always remember to face the child in the right direction, secure him in the safety seat and itself with the harness and straps, and properly secure the child seat to the car. Child safety seats are designed to hold the child in place and absorb the impact of a crash by spreading the forces over the stronger parts of his body. For these reasons, it's critical that he is sitting correctly in a safety seat that is facing the right direction. Anchoring the car seat properly is critical to the seat's performance in a crash.

When placing children in a motor vehicle, adults should remember that many safety organizations recommend the center rear seat as the safest place in the car. Studies show that when children are correctly buckled up they are better behaved, feel more secure, fall asleep sooner, and are less likely to be injured in the car.

As part of the Maryland Kids In Safety Seats (KISS) project of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, the local health department offers a loaner program for child safety seats. Infant and toddler seats are available with a small deposit required when picking up a seat, which is then refunded when the clean seat is returned. For more information, persons may contact the Health Department at 334-8111.

EMS Council To Hold Meeting On AED Program
The Region I EMS Advisory Council is currently exploring the initiation of Automatic External Defibrillator (AED) programs for Allegany and Garrett counties. A special meeting will be held on March 16, at 7:30 p.m., at the Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire Department to provide information to all organizations interested in initiating an AED program.

Dr. Richard Perry will be presenting a course on the impact of the AEDs in reducing death from life-threatening cardiac arrhythmias, and William Hardy will be discussing the required training for those organizations wishing to train their personnel in the use of AED. David Ramsey, Region I director, will discuss purchasing procedures and the concept of group purchasing of AEDs.

All individuals and leadership of companies contemplating initiation of AEDs are strongly encouraged to attend this session. More information may be obtained by contacting the MIEMSS Region I Office at 895-5934 or 746-8636.

Dance Theater To Perform at FSU

The Sankofa Dance Theater, an African cultural arts group, will perform on Wednesday, Feb. 23, at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the new Frostburg State University Performing Arts Center. The event is sponsored by the Black Student Alliance and is free and open to the public.

The theater was founded in Baltimore in 1989 by Kauna Mujamal and his wife, Kibibi Ajanku. The name, "Sankofa," was chosen by the husband and wife team because it means "reaching back . . . to move forward," and they say their purpose of the dance theater is to "reach back into the rich legacy of African culture and history."

The theater performs for people of all ages, but many times they incorporate children into their concerts. The Dance Theater was founded on the belief that "African culture is a way to open the doors of love for all mankind and is a way to build self-esteem among African-American youth."

Using colors, folklore, storytellers, ethnic music, rhythm and harmony, the Sankofa Dance Theater has performed at places such as the Cloister's Children Museum, The Walter's Arts Gallery in Baltimore, Columbia Mall, and City Hall.

For more information, persons may contact the Black Student Alliance office at (301) 689-7402.

Chesapeake Executive Council And USDA Sign Bay Cleanup Pact

The Chesapeake Executive Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture have signed an historic agreement aimed at accelerating the Bay cleanup by ensuring a broader and more coordinated approach to controlling agricultural runoff. The agreement increased the role of the U.S.D.A. in the restoration of the Chesapeake Bay. The agreement was signed by Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer, chairman of the Chesapeake Executive Council, and James Lyons, the U.S.D.A. Assistant Secretary for Natural Resources and Environment. Sen. Paul S. Sarbanes of Maryland was also in attendance.

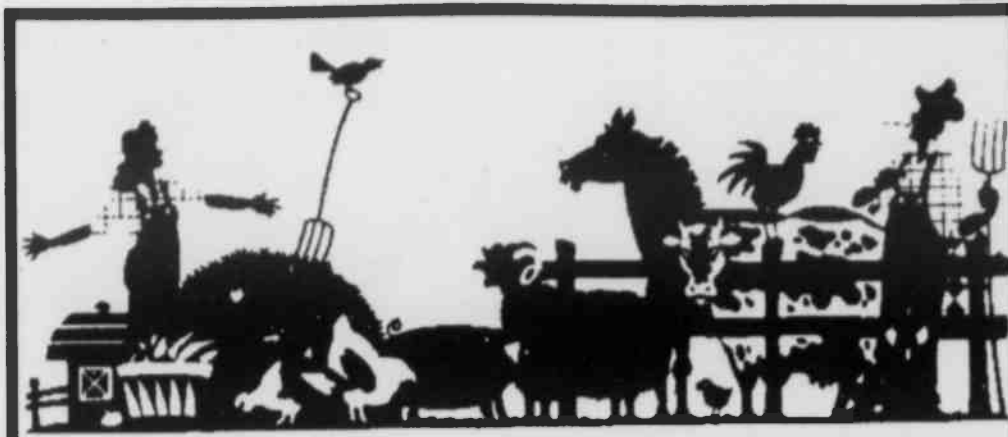

"This is a great day for agriculture in the Chesapeake Bay," said Governor Schaefer. "Partnerships and cooperation among federal, state, and local governments have been the key to our progress in restoring the Bay. This agreement will ensure that the U.S.D.A. is involved at the outset in the decision-making process."

"Farmers in the Bay region have a strong commitment to the Chesapeake cleanup effort," added Assistant Secretary Lyons. "The U.S.D.A. is now poised to help them become even more effective partners in the restoration."

The historic agreement was signed during the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts' winter meeting at the Loews Annapolis Hotel in Annapolis.

The Chesapeake Executive Council, comprised of the governors of Maryland, Virginia, and Pennsylvania; the mayor of the District of Columbia; the chairman of the Chesapeake Bay Commission; and the administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, directs the Bay cleanup program. In 1987, executive council members signed an agreement that pledged to reduce Bay nutrient pollution 40 percent by the year Farming In Maryland.....

Although nutrients enter the Chesapeake from many sources, studies have shown that agricultural activities, such as crop production and livestock operations, are a chief source of Bay pollution.

In 1992, armed with this knowledge, the executive council launched the Agricultural Nonpoint Source Initiative to address the challenges that farmers face in reducing agricultural runoff. The expanded U.S.D.A. role is the direct result of recommendations made by the Nonpoint Source Initiative. Under the new agreement, the U.S.D.A. will:

- Implement a new program, total resource management on agricultural lands. U.S.D.A. will direct its agencies—including the Soil Conservation Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and Extension Service—to work with the Bay jurisdictions to develop and implement this planning process. It will provide an integrated approach to farm management featuring a wide range of best management practices to help farmers protect natural resources while maintaining production goals.

- Develop innovative methods and research to protect the Bay. Work with the Chesapeake Bay Program to spearhead research crucial to providing farmers with innovative methods to help protect the Chesapeake Bay.

- Coordinate federal agricultural efforts on behalf of the Bay by participating in various Bay Program committees.

- Cooperatively implement federal and state agricultural pollution prevention programs to help stop pollution before it starts.

- Secure appropriate funding and staffing resources to carry out its goals.

In commenting on the agreement, Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker, who served as chair of the Nonpoint Source Agricultural Initiative, said, "I am pleased to see one of our major recommendations now under way. The expanded U.S.D.A. role will go a long way toward helping agriculture meet its nutrient reduction goals."

Critical Area, Wetlands Bills Heard Tuesday

The pace has picked up for legislation relating to agriculture this week in Annapolis, according to Norman Astle, Maryland Farm Bureau liaison in the state capital.

Senate Bill 35, sponsored by Senator Malkus, was to be heard Tuesday by the Economic and Environmental Affairs Committee.

"Chesapeake Bay Critical Area Protection Program - Nontidal Tributary Planning Area," intends to expand the areas of land and water in the state to be included in the Chesapeake Bay Critical Area Protection Program. This would be done by adding all land and water areas within 1,000 feet beyond the landward boundaries of shorelines of the nontidal flowing surface waters of the state draining into the Chesapeake Bay.

The present Critical Area Program only pertains to tidal water, tidal wetlands and the 1,000 feet surrounding them. Farm Bureau opposes this bill as they did the original Critical Area Bill because of the economic impact it would have on the landowner.

Senate Bill 291, introduced by the Senate President, is called "Nontidal Wetlands - State Assumption Of The Federal Permit Program." This bill was also to be heard Tuesday by the Economic and Environmental Affairs Committee, and directs the Department of Natural Resources to pursue assumption of the Federal Nontidal Wetlands Permit Program under the Clean Water Act, Section 404. Should the state's Nontidal Wetland Program be determined to be equivalent to the federal program by the U.S. EPA, the state will be responsible for permitting and enforcement, and federal permits would no longer be required.

In most respects, Maryland's current Nontidal Wetlands Program meets or exceeds federal standards. However, a number of adjustments to the state law are necessary for full consistency, including definitions, provisions for general permits, protection standards for activities that impact waters, and expanded authority for enforcement.

The purpose of this bill is to make the necessary changes to Maryland's law. Farm Bureau has been working with the administration on this issue and supports the bill with amendments. However, the farm organization will continue to monitor the bill to make sure nothing is added that would be harmful to its members.

Also heard Tuesday was House Bill 699, "Pesticides - Organochlorine And Organophosphates Prohibited." It was heard by the Environmental Matters Committee and would prohibit the Secretary of Agriculture from registering pesticides containing organochlorine or organophosphate compounds after December 31, 1994, unless there are no commercially or known available alternatives to the pesticide, or the substitution bill because it could limit the availability of some pesticides. Another pesticide bill heard Tuesday by the House Environmental Matters Committee was H.B. 700, introduced by Del. Pitkin. This bill establishes a Pesticide Incident Reporting System in the Department of Agriculture for the purpose of compiling and maintaining a comprehensive data base of pesticide incidents that occur in the state, for facilitating appropriate responses to pesticide incidents, and for increasing the availability of information on types of pesticide incidents in order to improve regulation of pesticide application.

The bill would allow a customer or any other person to report to the system an incident involving a potential threat to human, animal, or plant life or health resulting from a suspected misapplication of a pesticide or a suspected reaction to other than the result intended in the application of the pesticide, whether or not the pesticide was properly applied. Maryland Farm Bureau feels that this could be an administrative nightmare and therefore opposes the bill.

Turkeys Raised In 1993 Down 1 Percent In U.S.

Turkeys raised in the United States during 1993 totaled 287 million, one percent less than the 289 million turkeys raised during 1992. North Carolina ranked first in the number raised with 61.0 million, followed by Minnesota with 42.0 million, Arkansas with 25.0 million, California with 22.5 million, Missouri and Virginia with 21.0 million, and Indiana with 14.6 million. These states accounted for 72 percent of the turkeys produced in the United States during 1993.

Turkey growers in the 20 major producing states intend to raise two percent more turkeys in 1994 than 1993 and one percent more than 1992. The number of turkeys actually raised in 1994 may vary from growers' intentions shown in this report depending on feed costs, supply of hatching eggs, cost of poult, and prices growers receive for turkeys during the next few months.

Kleekner's Column

By Dean Kleekner President

American Farm Bureau Federation

Prepare For Next Farm Bill

Agriculture will be hard pressed to keep the next farm bill responsive to the needs and desires of farmers and ranchers. Many interests already are designing a farm bill that will pursue particular goals, goals that are not particularly the same as those cited in Farm Bureau policy.

Farm Bureau was responsible for the very first farm program bill ever written, the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933. Like many pieces of legislation, it was supposed to be a temporary measure to provide assistance to farmers during the Depression. Since that first bill was passed, perceived needs have grown, costs have grown, interest by groups outside of agriculture has grown.

The government's budget deficit and the resulting national debt is a considerable cloud hanging over all legislation. Farm program spending is a popular target for discussion of cuts, although it is becoming increasingly harder to hit the mark. Over the past 11 years, farm program spending has declined dramatically, nearly 66 percent. That decrease was from the amount paid to farmers based on commodity production, not the part of the USDA budget earmarked for nutrition assistance programs for the needy. The non-agricultural portion of the budget increases almost like an entitlement program.

More Than Commodity Prices

There are other factors besides federal finances that will help design the next farm bill. These other forces address the environment, rural development and international trade. Other parts of the debate will focus on biotechnology, food costs, research for alternative crops and new uses of traditional crops. Farm labor, sustainability, assistance payments targeted to young or minority or limited resource farmers, animal care and other issues also will be discussed.

Remember, the farm bill contains much more than the basic commodity programs. It includes provisions on soil, water and resources conservation, agricultural credit, trade, food aid, research and education, food safety, crop insurance, disaster insurance, water quality, commodity promotion, forestry, global climate change and domestic food assistance. We must look at each section and determine its impact on production agriculture.

Farm Bureau members will play a major role in writing the next farm bill. We will have to start now; a replacement must be created by the end of 1995. Many groups and individuals are eager to help write the next farm bill. Many believe the time for paying farmers to grow surplus crops is past. Instead, they say, such payments should pay for cleaner air, cleaner water and more wildlife habitat.

Farmers Develop FB's Agenda

Delegates to our 75th anniversary annual meeting in Florida listed various objectives that your Farm Bureau will pursue. The goals are the same as always—improve net farm income and enhance the quality of rural living. Our efforts, yours and mine, will again be in that vein.

We must strengthen the competitiveness of our basic commodities. One way is to grant producers greater flexibility in shifting the use of their resources in response to market opportunities.

We also must ensure that commodity programs do not detrimentally influence non-program commodities. Another key point of any farm legislation is that it must provide a safety net for producers that assures support and stability without inhibiting flexibility and responsiveness to market signals.

Congress must understand that voluntary, incentive-based environmental and conservation programs work. Any attempt to dictate resource management will be opposed. And one more very important point, the farm program and all its provisions dealing with so many topics must be simplified.

Too Many Hoops, Too Few Benefits

Just reading a farm program bill, let alone understanding and complying with it, is more than this farmer can handle. And with the amount of time, effort and paperwork associated with farm programs up to now, I am not so sure I want to participate. Short crops this year will raise prices for some crops (corn, maybe wheat) to the point where non-participation would sound attractive. And without farm program participation, where is the government's club to force conservation management practices? But that'll be another column.

Get ready for some long time in the trenches. If history is a teacher, "Farm Bill Rewrite Day" will occur in the waning minutes of December 1995. Farm Bureau members are gearing up now.

Walker Praises Maryland Farmers For Commitment To Environment

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker has announced that the recent survey of farmers by the Maryland Farm Bureau demonstrates that Maryland farmers are ahead of their counterparts in other states in protecting land and water resources.

"The Maryland Farm Bureau survey confirms what we have been saying all along, that Maryland farmers voluntarily are doing more than their fair share to protect our state's natural resources and the Chesapeake Bay," Walker said.

The survey found that Maryland farmers are above the national average or leading the nation in nutrient management, conservation tillage and the adoption of soil and water conservation plans. For example, 55 percent of Maryland farmers use conservation tillage and 52 percent have employed some alternatives to chemical pesticides for controlling weeds and insects.

"I am pleased that the voluntary approach in Maryland is producing such outstanding concrete results. But we in the Maryland farm community cannot afford to rest on our accomplishments. We must move ahead quickly to further our efforts to reduce agricultural pollution into our ground water and streams. I am optimistic that Maryland farmers are up to the challenge," said Walker.

AGRICULTURAL HALL OF FAME INDUCTEES — Oran and Fannie Bender were recently honored by the state of Maryland by being inducted into the Maryland Agricultural Hall of Fame. The ceremony took place at the annual Maryland Agriculture Dinner at Martin's West in Baltimore on February 3. The Benders and their six children have been farming in Garrett County for 38 years and operate Cove-Run Farms near Accident. They were one of only two families to be inducted statewide this year by Ag Secretary Robert Walker. Gov. William Donald Schaefer and former ag secretary Wayne Cawley created the ag hall of fame four years ago to honor farming leaders. The hall of fame is in the Maryland Department of Agriculture building in Annapolis.

It was all-out war, with flames, cold temperatures, and wind pitted against men, water, and machines.

Pictorial Account Of Downtown Oakland Blaze; Feb. 13, 1994

All photos by Craig Phillips except where otherwise credited.

The flames were halted before they reached four of the street-level businesses, but the water and structural damage rendered the buildings useless.

Digging for a hydrant...

The site of one of Oakland's oldest businesses becomes a raging inferno.

Fellow businesses, such as Englander's Fountain, donated food and beverages to the fire fighters.

Two buildings were lost, but many of the valuable contents were saved by fire fighters and scores of by-standers.

Going high into the air to do their jobs were both fire fighters and utility workers.

Multiple hose streams made Second Street look like a firing range.

Being soaked to the skin in sub-freezing temperatures and inhaling noxious smoke were common place, as fire fighters poured an estimated two million gallons of water on the blaze.

It was hoped early that, somehow, the blaze could be confined to the Jones building, but gusty winds, intense heat, close proximity, and nearly century-old rafters covered with an inch of equally old "train dust," caused the flames to spread rapidly into the adjacent Gortner building, forcing fire fighters to pull their ladders and retreat from the south side of the block. Their efforts on the north side, however, were amazingly successful, as the fire was halted alongside the two-story wooden and highly flammable structure known as the Gortner building. All train traffic had to be stopped for several hours, as the hose lines lay draped across the tracks.

Dark as night in mid-morning was downtown Oakland, as the area was enveloped repeatedly with seemingly impenetrable smoke.

Destruction was total in the second-floor apartments, but there was no loss of life.

Weary silhouettes in eerie settings complete mop-up operations.

Nutrient Management Certification Examination Set For March 10

Agriculture Secretary Robert L. Walker has announced that the first Nutrient Management Certification Examination for 1994 is scheduled for Thursday, March 10 at MDA's headquarters building in Annapolis.

The exam is open to qualified individuals from both the private and public sector who provide farmers with state-approved nutrient management recommendations, or professionals who provide technical assistance or develop plans for waste management systems and utilization of organic wastes.

Interested persons should submit a completed application along with a $50 fee to MDA by February 25. (Personnel from government agencies are exempted from the $50 payment requirement.) Additional information and application forms may be obtained by calling the Maryland Nutrient Management Program at (410) 841-5863. A list of recommended study materials will be supplied to all qualifying applicants.

Established in 1992, Maryland's Nutrient Management Certification Program is a key tool in the state's efforts to reduce nutrients entering the Chesapeake Bay by 40 percent by the year 2000. Qualified individuals are certified by MDA to provide farmers with state-approved nutrient management plans.

Using soil tests, manure analyses, and computer technology, consultants provide farmers with a "prescription" approach to fertilizer use. This helps ensure that nutrients applied are used by crops and not lost to the environment.

MDA offers the certification examination twice yearly, along with periodic training courses.

Croner Elected To MMI Board

Area dairy producer Tom Croner, Berlin, Pa., has been elected first vice chair to the 28-person board of directors for Milk Marketing, Inc. (MMI), the regional dairy marketing cooperative, headquartered in Strongsville, Ohio.

Actively involved in dairying, Croner was also re-elected to represent District 3 dairy producer members of MMI to the board from the Pennsylvania counties of Fayette, Somerset, Bedford, and the West Virginia counties of Monongalia, Preston, and the western part of Tucker County, and Garrett County, Md.

As a director, he will serve a three-year term for the $500 member dairy farmer-owned cooperative, and will represent MMI to the Advertising and Promotion Agency—Order 36, Great Lakes-Southern Milk, Inc., National Milk Producers Federation, Pennsylvania Co-op Education Council, Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Board and the Pennsylvania State Council of Farm Organizations. He will also serve on MMI's member benefits and communications committee as chairman.

Croner operates a 1,400-acre dairy farm. He milks more than 160 cows and has been active in a dairy cooperative for 39 years.

He is also active in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, Agway, Inc., Pennsylvania Potato Growers and previously was a director for the Somerset County Farmers Association. He currently serves on the board of directors for the First Philson Bank N.A. and is a director for Pro-Fac Cooperative, Inc.

Glimpse Of The Past...

A HAPPIER TIME on Second Street in Oakland than what was experienced there Sunday is depicted in this turn-of-the-century photo above, which was taken during a Fourth of July Parade. Visible in the photo is the Rudy building, as well as the Jones building (just beyond Rudy's) that was destroyed by fire this past Sunday. The Gonder building, which lay just beyond the Jones building and was also destroyed this week, was obviously not yet constructed when this photo was taken. This picture is from the Garrett County Historical Society Museum files and is published courtesy of the Society and The Republican.

Wellness Program Slates Annual March Blood Chemistry Screening

by Dana Winters

The Wellness Together Program of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and Garrett County Health Department is planning the annual March Blood Chemistry Screening. Over the last eight years approximately 6,400 Garrett County and nearby West Virginia area residents have participated in this event as an important step in joining their physicians to try to help improve their health.

The blood screening is prescribed and monitored by area physicians to help participants learn health related information such as cholesterol levels. With this information, the participant can start to make healthy changes or maintain a current healthy lifestyle. Many area residents have made such changes as a result of this screening.

Joe and Nick Butcher are examples of area residents who take part in the screening annually. Joe Butcher moved to this area from Duquesne, Pa. He previously went to the McKeesport Hospital for screening. Joe has been making appointments since 1989 and had these thoughts: "I like to come early in the morning since I am a diabetic. I'm sure that I am one of the first to sign up. This is a wonderful program. You can never be too safe with your health."

Monitoring cholesterol levels is an important step in the reduction of coronary heart disease. "Coronary heart disease is the number one cause of death in the United States today and according to recent results of the Healthy 2000 survey, it continues to be a major health problem in Garrett County and neighboring West Virginia counties," stated Debora Nichols, Wellness coordinator.

The major risk factors that contribute to heart disease are high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, smoking status and weight.

In addition to finding cholesterol levels, participants at the March event will also learn their blood pressure levels and receive educational information about risk factor reduction. A new feature this year will be an optional Prostatic Specific Antigen (PSA) test available to males over 50 for an additional fee. The PSA test screens blood levels in the effort of diagnosing prostate cancer.

The March Blood Chemistry Screening is a joint effort between area physicians, the health department and many different departments at the hospital. The laboratory, headed by Tom Prince, works to process the blood using an average of nine technicians on the project. The dietary department, headed by Wendy Wakefield, R.D., prepares low-fat muffins and juice to give to the participants who have just undergone a 12-hour fast. The VIVA organization provides volunteer staff to help register participants. The Garrett County Health Department staff, under the direction of Dr. Rex Archer, provide various services, including manning educational displays on current topics to help residents make healthy choices. The community relations staff of the hospital perform varied services, including providing qualified staff to draw the blood in accordance with accepted hospital standards.

The screening will take place on Tuesdays, March 1, 8, 15, 22, and 29. Persons must make an appointment by calling 301-334-2155, ext. 362. The times for screening are from 6:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

To participate persons must fast for 12 hours prior to the appointment. One should wear a loose sleeved garment. Results of the screening will be sent to physicians as well as participants. If follow-up is indicated by screening results, it will be provided by the participating physician.

The cost of the screening is $20. The additional PSA test for males will increase the screening total to $30. These costs reflect a discounted rate by all providing services.

Local Wellness Staff To Present At Conference

Wellness Together, of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Health Department, has been selected to be a presenter at the fifth annual American Journal of Health Promotion conference to be held February 22-26 in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The conference theme is "The Impact of Families, Friends and Social Systems on Health" and will focus on the impact of social influences on health in addition to offering sessions on a wide range of research, practice, and ethical topics that represent the latest thinking in health promotion.

Mikal McCartney Moomau, director of community relations at Garrett Memorial, will represent Wellness Together. As a case study poster presenter, Moomau will discuss last year's Wellness Together booth, displayed at last year's Garrett County Agricultural Fair, and the educational role the booth played in encouraging area residents and visitors to improve their diet by eating five servings of fruits and vegetables a day.

"We are very pleased to have been selected to represent our community and hospital by having the opportunity to be a presenter at this year's American Journal of Health Promotion conference," commented hospital president, Benjamin Rosenthal.

"I look forward to learning from others and sharing ideas that work in rural communities that will further enhance the Wellness Together programs of the hospital and health department," said Moomau.

The American Journal of Health Promotion is the largest peer-reviewed journal devoted exclusively to Born March 3, 1913, in Grantsville, he was the son of the late Harry and Sidney (Durst) Setzer.

He was retired from the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company as a tire inspector. He was a member of Salem United Church of Christ; American Legion Farrayd Post 24, and the Kelly Local 26 Retirement Club.

Survivors include his wife, Lulu (Deal) Setzer; two daughters, Lois Fitzgerald, Acworth, Ga., and Shirley Melton, Tazewell, Va.; one sister, Anna Wahl, Meyersdale, Pa.; two grandchildren; two half-sisters; and 10 half-brothers.

Friends were received at the Sowers Funeral Home, Frostburg. A service was conducted Sunday, Feb. 13, at the funeral home, with the Rev. Lawrence A. Neumark officiating. Interment was in Greenville Cemetery. Graveside military rites were accorded by the American Legion Farrayd Post 24.

The family requests memorial contributions be made to the Salem United Church of Christ.

Lenten Services To Begin At St. Paul's Church

The first in a series of Wednesday evening Lenten services, sponsored by the Mt. Top Ministerial Association and Oakland area clergymen, will be at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, on Wednesday, Feb. 23, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speaker for the service will be the Rev. Paul Stauffer, pastor of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, who will focus on "Following Christian Footsteps," this year's theme for the Lenten series. According to a ministerial spokesperson, the series deals with famous Christian leaders and unusual events in their lives, which stand out in the memory of the various speakers.

Next week's Lenten service will be conducted at the Mt. Top Christian Assembly located on Rt. 135, east of Mt. Lake Park. Guest speaker for the March 2 service will be the Rev. John Grant.

Trout Stamp Design Contest Now Underway

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., has announced that the 1995 Maryland Trout Design Contest is now open to the public. Artists may submit their illustrations or paintings to DNR until 4 p.m. on Friday, May 27.

The purpose of the contest is to select the design that will appear on the 1995 Maryland Trout Stamp and to call attention to the requirement that anglers 16 years of age and over must purchase the stamp to possess trout taken from non-tidal waters of the state.

The artwork may be of any species of brook, brown, or rainbow trout found in Maryland waters, or of any activity or equipment associated with trout fishing in Maryland. The artwork may be a horizontal or vertical illustration or painting, 11 inches by 15.25 inches in multi-color or black and white and matted no larger than 13.5 inches by 18 inches. Artists entering the contest must be residents of Maryland. All entries, if hand delivered, must be received no later than 4 p.m. on Friday, May 27, or if mailed, postmarked no later than Friday, May 27.

Rules may be obtained by writing Frances P. McFadden, Maryland Trout Stamp Contest, Department of Natural Resources, Taxes State Office Building, Annapolis, MD 21401, or by calling, toll-free, 1-800-688-3467.

Judging is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. on Friday, June 3, in the C-1 Lobby Conference Room of the Taxes Building in Annapolis.

amount of 10 percent of the bid submitted must be posted upon submission of the bid to the Maryland State Forest & Park Service.

4. The operator must be a registered Forest Product Operator in Maryland for 1994 and hold a Certificate of Erosion and Sediment Control (Green/Gold Card) training to be awarded successful bidding.

5. A Performance Bond in

McHENRY SEWAGE STORAGE TANK

INVITATION TO BID

Receipt of Proposals

Sealed bids marked "Bid for McHenry Sewage Storage Tank" will be received by the Garrett County Sanitary Commission (hereinafter referred to as Owner), at 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse Room 200, Oakland, Maryland 21550, until 4:00 p.m. on Friday, March 4, 1994 and then and there the bids will be publicly opened and read.

General Description of Work
Work to be performed under this Contract includes, but is not limited to, the construction of a concrete sewage storage tank, valve vault, pre-cast concrete control building, sewer force mains and miscellaneous other site work.

Pre-Bid Conference
A pre-bid conference will be held on Thursday, February 17, 1994 at 2:00 p.m. at the office of the Owner to answer any questions concerning the Contract Documents. All Bidders are invited to attend.

Contract Documents

Contract Documents are available for inspection during regular working hours at the Office of the Engineer, Greenhome and O'Mara, Inc., 9001 Edmonston Road, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770, and at the Office of the Owner, 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse Room 200, Oakland, Maryland 21550.

Contract Documents may be obtained from the Owner upon written request and remittance of full payment of one hundred dollars ($100.00) for each set with checks made payable to the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc. Payment will not be refunded, said payment being retained by the Owner to cover cost of printing, handling and shipping. Requests for Contract Documents shall be submitted to:

Garrett County Sanitary Commission
313 East Alder Street
Old Courthouse Room 200
Oakland, Maryland 21550
Phone (301) 334-1980

All Bids must be made on the required Bid form. All blank spaces for Bid prices must be filled in, in ink or typewritten, and the bid form must be fully completed and executed when submitted.

All questions and request for clarification regarding the Contract Documents shall be made in writing to Mr. Jeff W. Gilbert, P.E., District Engineer for the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, at the above address.

The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or minor defects, to reject any and all Bids. Any Bid may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of Bids or authorize postponement thereof. Any Bid received after the time and date specified will not be considered. No Bidder may withdraw a Bid within 90 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the Contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the Owner and the Bidder.

Bidders must satisfy themselves of the scope of work by examination of the site and a review of the Contract Documents including Addenda. After Bids have been submitted, the Bidder shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of work or of the nature of the work to be done.

The Contract Documents contain the provisions required for the work included in the Project. Information obtained from an officer, agent or employee of the Owner or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the Contract.

Bid Security
An acceptable Bid Bond, payable to the Owner, in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid must accompany each Bid. A certified check in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid, drawn on a solvent bank chartered in the State of Maryland, and payable to the Owner, may be substituted for the Bid Bond.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign Bid Bonds, Performance Bonds, payment Bonds, or Defective Materials, Workmanship and Equipment Bonds must file with each Bond, a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The Bid Bonds of all bidders, except the bonds submitted with the three (3) lowest acceptable bids, will be returned within fifteen (15) day period following the time of opening of the bids. The Bid Bonds accompanying the three lowest acceptable bids will be returned after the Contract has been awarded to and executed by the successful bidder. Provided the Owner, for any reason whatsoever, determines that it is not in its best interest to award a Contract, the Contract award will not be made by the Owner and the Owner will not then be liable for any payments whatsoever to the Bidder. Extension of time beyond the ninety (90) day period of the award may be made only by mutual agreement between the Owner, the Bidder and Bidder's Surety.

The party to whom the Contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement and obtain the required Bonds within ten (10) calendar days from the date when Notice of Award is delivered to the Bidder. The Notice of Award will be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and Bond forms. In case of failure of the Bidder to execute the Agreement, the Owner may, at his option, consider the Bidder in default, in which case the Bid Bond accompanying the proposal shall become the property of the Owner.

The Owner within ten (10) days of receipt of acceptable Bonds and Agreement signed by the party to whom the Contract was awarded, will sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the Owner not execute the Agreement within such period, the Bidder may, by Written Notice, withdraw his signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of notice by the Owner.

A conditional or qualified Bid will not be accepted. Award will be made by the Owner to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over the work shall apply to the Contract throughout.

Time for Completion
The successful bidder will be required to fully complete all contract work within two hundred seventy (270) consecutive calendar days from and including the date of receipt from the owner of a formal notice to proceed.

Award of Contract
The award of any contract will be made by the Owner. Bidders are cautioned that bids that are deemed by the Owner to be obviously unbalanced may be rejected.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any proposal for failure to comply with all requirements of this notice or of any of the Contract Documents; however, it may waive any minor defects or informalities at its discretion.

The Owner further reserves the right to reject all proposals, or to award a contract or contracts which in its judgment is in the best interest of the Owner.

Non-discrimination of Employment

Notice of Requirement for Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities
Bidders and offerors are cautioned as follows: By signing this bid or offer, the bidder or offeror will be deemed to have signed and agreed to the provisions of the "Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities" in this solicitation. The certification provides that the bidder or offeror does not maintain or provide for his employees facilities which are segregated on a basis of race, creed, color, or national origin, whether such facilities are segregated by directive or on a de facto basis. The certification also provides that he will not maintain such segregated facilities. Failure of a bidder or offeror to agree to the Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities will render his bid or offer non-responsive to the terms of solicitation.

Dated at Oakland, Maryland, this 31st day of January, 1994.

PUBLIC NOTICE

the amount of 10 percent of the bid submitted must be posted upon acceptance of the contract by the State of Maryland. The Security Bond may be applied to cover the Performance Bond.

6. All timber volumes noted in this offering are estimates. Parties bidding on this timber should determine such volumes to their own satisfaction. NO adjustments on the basis of volumes will be made with buyers.

7. Bidder may pay 50 percent of bid price on acceptance of the contract, with the remaining 50 percent payable within 90 calendar days from bid acceptance. If buyer selects this option, the delayed payment must be covered by a payment surety bond in form acceptable to the State.

8. Bids will be received up until 1:00 p.m. on Monday, March 14, 1994.

Local Hospital Ends Fiscal '93 "In The Black"

Garrett County Memorial Hospital finished fiscal year 1993 last June 30 with a net income of $1.8 million, according to a report recently released by the Maryland Health Services Cost Review Commission (HSCRC).

The report showed that Garrett Memorial, which had a 51 percent average occupancy rate for the fiscal year, posted gross patient revenue of $20.7 million and a net of $2.4 million after expenses. There was an unspecified adjustment of $593,000, leaving the $1.8 million surplus.

Terry Weaver, vice president of financial services for Garrett Memorial, stated that the numbers can be confusing and somewhat misleading in view of the fact that most hospitals in Maryland, including Garrett County Memorial, are not-for-profit institutions.

"Many people don't understand that even though we are a not-for-profit entity, a hospital cannot survive without making a profit, or an excess of collectible revenues over expenses," Weaver said. "Through making a consistently fair profit, a hospital can continually invest in equipment and new programs, develop new services, and improve the quality of care being provided to the community."

Weaver stressed that, while the $1.8 million net income represented a substantial improvement in profitability from the prior fiscal year, the improvement was primarily the result of features of the Maryland ratesetting system that produced a significant one time adjustment to the hospital's rates for changes in the community's use of hospital services.

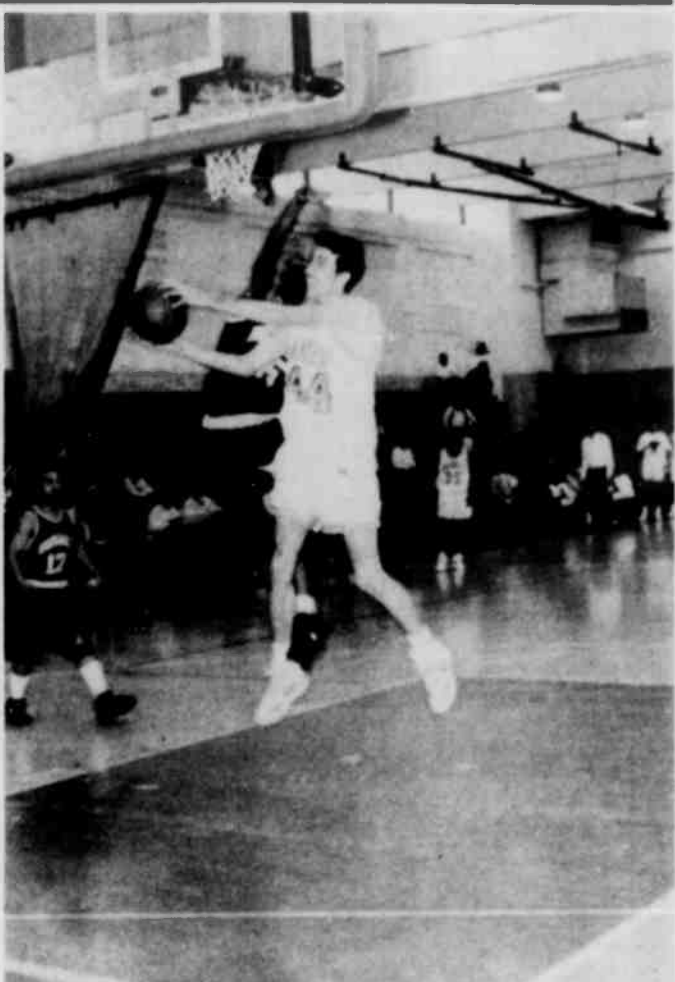

"Maryland hospital rates are regulated by a state agency (HSCRC) in much the same way that the Public Service Commission regulates the electric company," Weaver said. "The ratesetting system contains mechanisms that will cause the hospital's prices to be adjusted in response to the fiscal year 1993 performance. In view of these mechanisms, the hospital will likely experience net losses in future periods offsetting a percentage of the $1.8 million net income posted for fiscal year 1993."

Finally, Weaver emphasized that, contrary to the belief of some county residents, Garrett County Memorial Hospital is not sup-

Two Injured In Single Vehicle Wreck; Parent Cited For Not Securing Infant

A 16-month-old baby was flown by Medivac helicopter to Allegheny General Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa., last Thursday after she was seriously injured in a single-vehicle accident that took place on Rt. 39, near Crelin. The child remains hospitalized in Pittsburgh where she was originally listed in serious condition.

An updated condition report was not available from the hospital this morning. Timothy Huffman, 22, St. George, W.Va., was operating a 1985 Dodge Ram pickup eastbound on Rt. 39, reportedly at a speed too great for the conditions of the roadway. The vehicle went off the road, hit an embankment, and overturned, ejecting the driver's wife, Carol Huffman, 18, and their 16-month-old daughter. No one in the vehicle was wearing seat belts, and the baby was not secured in a safety seat.

A third passenger, Michael Stemple, 23, Corinth, W.Va., sustained minor injuries along with the driver, both of whom were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Carol Huffman remained a patient at the local hospital until early this week.

Dep. J. Sowers of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office responded to the scene of the wreck and charged the driver with

Friendsville Men Treated After Thursday Mishap

Two Friendsville area men were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital last Thursday, according to a hospital spokesperson, following a one-vehicle accident on the Trap Run Road, near the intersection with the Blooming Rose Road.

Injured were Ronald C. Blamble, 18, who was operating a 1990 GEO Storm, and a passenger, David A. Friend, 22. Another passenger, Gregory A. Sines, 19, Friendsville, was also reportedly transported, but the spokesperson had no record of his treatment.

According to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, Blamble, was cited in the 5:55 p.m. accident. He was reportedly driving at a speed greater than reasonable down a hill, lost control of the vehicle on a

County Agency Funding Cuts Among Topics At Commissioners' Meeting

Funding cutbacks for two programs administered under Garrett County Community Action, Inc., were among the recent topics of discussion between the Garrett County Commissioners and Community Action Director Duane Yoder.

Yoder recently told the commissioners that the federal government has imposed a 60% funding cut to the state for its weatherization program, effective July 1. The state, in turn, will be moving toward a formula for funding the local agencies based on population, he said.

The funding cut will result in the county agency being restricted to helping only 50-60 families per year with its weatherization program. Last year, the number of families serviced was estimated at between 100 and 110 -- and that was after several rounds of cuts had already been implemented.

Sheriff Warns Residents Of Possible Scam

Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans reported last week that a possible telephone scam may be taking place in Garrett County. Evans reported that several persons have called him to ask about the "Deputy Sheriff's Yearly," which is the name being used by callers who are apparently asking for money.

The persons making the calls reportedly tell residents that the money being raised will be used in the fight against drugs in Garrett County. However, Evans stated that no police agency in this county recognizes the Deputy Sheriff's Yearly as any kind of contributing organization. Neither Evans nor any other officer has any knowledge of such a group.

In some of the calls, the person identifies himself as a Garrett County Deputy, Evans said.

"This is simply not true," the sheriff reported. "No deputy from this county is soliciting residents for money, and people should be very wary of any suspicious caller making such claims."

Any resident receiving such a call is urged to contact the sheriff immediately at 334-1911.

Winterfest Slated At Wisp For March 4-6

The 1994 Winterfest Weekend will be held March 4-6 at the Wisp Ski & Golf Resort, McHenry, with a variety of activities for all ages.

The weekend will begin Friday, March 4, at 12:30 p.m. with a Bartenders Race down the slopes and the Pro-Am Dual Slalom at 1 p.m., with top racers from the region competing in a head-to-head race.

Saturday's events will include Turtle Races at 10 a.m.; the Junior NASTAR Open at 11 a.m.; a Winter Golf Tournament at 1 p.m.; and Rubber Duck Raft Races beginning at 7 p.m. The annual fireworks and Torchlight Parade, a highlight of the Winterfest Celebration, will begin at 9:45 p.m.

Sunday's events include the Winter Triathlon, featuring a run through the snow, mountain biking and skiing, beginning at 10 a.m.; the Pee Wee Race Series Championships at 11 a.m.; the Bashin' Bump Mogul Competition at noon; and a Winter Water cross beginning at 2 p.m. All day Sunday is also Yakapah Garholo Costume Day and anyone wearing a zany costume while skiing may win a prize for the craziest and have a photo taken with the legendary Latvian ski patroller, Yakapah Garholo.

For more information on Winterfest, persons may call the Wisp Ski & Golf Resort at (301) 387-4911 or contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, 200 South Third St., Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1948.

Numerous Interest Groups Voice Concerns At Lake Fees Hearing

Representatives from a variety of interest groups made their voices heard at a public hearing held by the Pennsylvania Electric Company (PENELCO) Saturday morning at Garrett Community College. Approximately 300 concerned citizens attended the meeting to offer alternatives and/or opposition to PENELCO's recently proposed lake user fees at Deep Creek Lake.

The proposal by PENELCO would result in some users paying as much as an 800% increase for dock permits. Commercial dock owners protested that hike, saying it represented an inequity in the distribution of the fees among all the lake users.

"We commend and compliment PENELCO for this opportunity to take our concerns into consideration but I want to speak in opposition to the proposal," stated Wendell Beitzel, local business and property owner at the lake, who spoke on behalf of the Deep Creek Lake Business Association. "These fees are tremendously higher than the fees we're accustomed to and represent a burden on the property and business owners. We feel we're the only ones being looked at for those fees."

"We support the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) in its management of the lake, and we also support a long-term lease arrangement that runs concurrent with the water appropriations permit," he continued. "But, again, we feel the fees are unfair."

Karen Spiker, representing the Deep Creek Lake-Benefit For Fire Victims Planned; Continuing Fund To Be Established

A fundraiser has been scheduled to benefit the victims of the recent fire in downtown Oakland, which destroyed the homes and belongings of five families. The buffet and "oldies" dance event will be held at the Elks Club on Thursday, March 3, beginning at 6 p.m. The tickets are $10 per person, the proceeds from which will directly benefit those who lost their homes in the fire. Organizers also hope that through this event, the Garrett County Fire Victims Fund can be established - a fund that will be available to victims of future fires.

Numerous area restaurants will donate food for the buffet, and other groups are preparing items as well. An auction is tentatively scheduled, if organizers are able to gather a sufficient number of items for such an event. Persons who wish to donate food or auction items may contact the event organizers for specific instructions. They are Billy Hughes, 387-7380, Kathie Diehl, or Connie Margison, 334-9211.

Disc jockey "Greg C" will be on hand at the benefit, "spinning oldies" free of charge. The restaurants that have thus far offered help include Dr. Willy's Seafood Co., Stray Cat Cafe, Denny's, American Burger Center, Deer Park Inn, Short Stop, Big Tee, Subway, Hillsman's Towne Restaurant, Little Sandy's, McElvies, Will O the Wisp, the Bavarian Room, Josie's Family Restaurant, Point View Inn, Silver Tree Inn, Domenick's Pizza, Fox's Pizza Den, JG's Pub, Trackside, and Cornish Manor.

Others offering food or assistance for the benefit include Food Lion, Brownie's Foodland, Marvin's Men's Wear, the business associations of Oakland and Deep Creek Lake, and Jan Florists. Other businesses or individuals are encouraged to join in the effort, an event spokesperson said.

RUBBLE CLEAN-UP continued along Second Street in downtown Oakland this week on the site of the February 13 fire that destroyed two large buildings that housed six businesses and several apartments. A number of state officials visited Oakland last Thursday and met at City Hall with displaced tenants and business owners to discuss housing and economic development programs that may provide assistance. The exact cause of the fire, believed to have originated in the kitchen of a Chinese restaurant, is still under investigation by officials of the state fire marshal's office. Eleven volunteer fire departments battled the blaze for several hours, and were successful in saving the rest of the block. See page B-4 for an account of a farmer fire that claimed the entire block.

Two Treated After Wednesday Morning Accident

Two Oakland residents were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, according to a hospital spokesperson, following a two-vehicle accident yesterday morning on Rt. 135 near the Rt. 38 intersection.

David Charles Moon, 57, and Leora June Moon, 58, were taken to the hospital by Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad following the 9:20 a.m. accident.

According to a report filed by the Maryland State Police, David Moon was driving a 1991 Dodge Caravan behind a snow plow truck, when a 1982 Chevy K-10 truck, driven by Jason Robert Shank, 20, also of Oakland, collided with the rear of the van.

Three Charged With DWI By GCSO Deputies

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office logged the arrests of three men in the past week on the charge of driving while intoxicated (DWI). Other arrests noted by the law enforcement agency were on charges of probation violation and violation of ex parte orders.

A Lyes, Tenn., man was arrested last Friday, charged with DWI by Det. J. Murphy. Michael I. Chura, 32, was traveling on Rt. 219 North at the time of the traffic stop. In addition to the DWI charge, Chura was also cited for driving with a canceled suspended license, according to the report.

A 40-year-old Oakland man was arrested for DWI on Saturday. Gary B. Duckworth was stopped on Rt. 135 by Dep. J. Green at approximately 12:25 p.m., according to the report.

In a third incident, John Rowland, 40, Baltimore, was charged with DWI. Rowland was apparently operating his vehicle on Oakland Avenue in Mtn. Lake Park when he was pulled over by Murphy at about 10 p.m. and subsequently charged with the offense.

Two persons were charged with violation of ex parte orders, which are court orders that forbid them to come in contact with or enter the property of certain persons.

John W. Parsons, 41, Kever, W. Va., was charged with eight counts of violation of ex parte, according to the report. The charges were brought against him by Rhonda A. Parsons, Frostburg.

Jerry R. Parrish, 49, Mtn. Lake Park, was charged with one count of ex parte violation. He apparently entered a Mtn. Lake Park residence against a court order.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Kenneth R.

Mabe, 22, Baltimore. He is accused of probation violation, according to the report.

Donald Shillett, 29, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failing to appear in court, according to the police record. His original charge was battery.

Morton Skaggs, 27, Mechanicsburg, Pa., was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant. He was charged with failure to appear in court.

Probation Violator To Spend Year In Local Jail

An Accident man was found to be in violation of probation by Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer in court proceedings last week. Thayer reimposed a one-year jail sentence for Everett W. Morgan, 35, who was then remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff.

Morgan was convicted of marijuana distribution in January 1993. At that time, Thayer ordered a one-year suspended sentence and one year of probation. According to the court document, the defendant was charged in September of that year with probation violation, and Thayer reimposed the jail term, suspended it, and ordered Morgan to be on three years of supervised probation.

In January of this year, Morgan was again charged with probation violation, apparently because he did not complete a court-ordered counseling program. It was this violation that led to the reimposed jail term, which he began serving at the close of last week's proceedings, according to the report.

Lenten Services Continue At Mt. Top Assembly

The second in a series of Wednesday evening Lenten services, sponsored by the Mt. Top Ministerial Association and Oakland area clergymen, will be at the Mt. Top Christian Assembly of God Church, Rt. 135 east of Mtn. Lake Park, Wednesday, March 2, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speaker for the service will be the Rev. Doyle Payne, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. This year's theme is "Following Christian Footsteps." According to a ministerial spokesperson, the Lenten series deals with famous Christian leaders and unusual events in their lives, which stand out in the memory of the various speakers.

Next week's Lenten service will be conducted at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren. Guest speaker for the March 9 service will be the Rev. John Grant.

Dogs Reportedly Being Stolen In High Numbers

Several area residents have reported the apparent theft of their pet dogs in the past weeks, according to the executive director of the Garrett County Humane Society, Bernadine Friend. Friend said the incident of "dog-napping" has recently increased dramatically, and pet owners should be aware of the situation.

Five dogs in the Bruceton Mills area were picked up recently, and witnesses reported seeing a white pickup truck with Maryland tags near the scenes of the crimes. The culprits are most likely selling the animals to laboratories, Friend said, where they are used in tests and then possibly destroyed.

Dog owners are cautioned to keep their animals either inside their houses or in secured buildings when no one is home. If any person sees a suspicious vehicle - perhaps driving slowly by the homes of dog-owners and either stopping or watching the dog - these witnesses should contact the police immediately.

Local Student Named Maryland 4-H Ambassador

Jessica Teets, Oakland, has been chosen as one of four Maryland 4-H ambassadors to go to the United Kingdom this summer. This host family experience, coordinated by the Maryland 4-H Program and the Young Farmers Organization from the U.K., is scheduled from June 10 through July 18. The Ambassador program is an educational experience designed to promote international friendship and understanding.

Ms. Teets, a 10-year Garrett County 4-H member, has participated in the 4-H Camping program, served as president of the Monte Vista 4-H Club and carried public speaking, leadership, and babysitting as her major projects.

A 1993 graduate of Southern High School, Ms. Teets is attending the University of Maryland, College Park, as a second semester freshman, majoring in government and politics. Her favorite activity is Maryland Student Legislature, of which she serves as secretary. Jessica was awarded academic honors for the fall 1993 semester.

Funding for the Ambassador programs is from several sources. The participants are required to pay one-half ($500) and one-fourth ($250) each comes from the Garrett County 4-H program and the Maryland 4-H Alumni Association. Donations towards the county share of the trip expenses are being accepted and handled through the Garrett County Extension Advisory Council Account. Upon completion of the exchange, the participants are required to make a presentation concerning their trip to at least three civic groups.

For additional information on the exchange program, donations, or to arrange for Ms. Teets as a speaker, persons may contact the Extension Office at 202 S. Third St., Oakland; telephone 334-1990.

BEACH TO BE AMONG CONTRIBUTORS IN THIS YEAR'S GLAF GALA - The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's benefit committee has announced that "Totally Tropic" will be this year's theme for the yearly fund-raiser. The event, from which proceeds fund the season of arts offerings of GLAF, is planned for Saturday, June 25, at the McHenry House at the Wisp Resort. Among the contributing artists involved in the yearly general auction will be Bob Beach, a photographer whose works are mainly informal, candid photographs of children. Beach resides in Reisterstown with a second home in Thousand Acres, Deep Creek Lake. "After the hard winter we've experienced," Beach said, "I can't imagine anything nicer than a Totally Tropic party." Excited about the development of the arts festival, Beach said he has watched the benefit grow from a small vaudeville production into a spectacular fund-raiser. "I hope for the day GLAF can bring the Baltimore Symphony to Deep Creek Lake," Beach urged anyone interested in the arts to organize a table of friends for the benefit to "have a great evening and support GLAF at the same time."

Bloodmobile To Visit Oakland

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will visit Oakland this Friday, February 25. Blood will be collected from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the National Guard Armory.

The blood donated on Friday will help replenish the blood inventory, decreased because of weather related blood drive cancellations and poor donor turnout, according to an ARC spokesman.

Because of winter storm cancellations in January the Johnstown Region was unable to collect over 1,600 potential units of blood (a two day supply). Johnstown officials believe it will take several weeks for the regional blood center to rebuild its inventory.

Everyone age 17 or older, who weighs at least 105 pounds, and is in generally good health is urged to give blood.

Food For Thought

Chef Francesco Pisano
McClives Restaurant

Don't you love the no-fuss dinners that cook in one pan while you do something else? Put chicken in to roast, then parboil root vegetables--potatoes, carrots, onions and such--about 7 minutes. Toss vegetables in a little oil, put 'em around chicken--and see ya later!

Rich 'n easy - add flavor to mashed potatoes (instant or from scratch) by beating in 4 ounces of soft cream cheese with chives & onions

To dress up refrigerator biscuits, mix together 1 tsp coarsegrind pepper and 1/4 cup sesame seeds on a sheet of wax paper, press the top of each biscuit in the mixture before baking

More on biscuits - use them to make fruit cobbler. Micro-cook fruit, sugar and spices in a baking dish, then top with biscuits, melted butter and a sprinkling of sugar. For a pretty touch, snip edges of biscuits to within half an inch of center to create flower petals

Cutting back on fat? Skim chicken broth and use it to "saute" vegetables in a nonstick skillet

Swanton Man Pleads Guilty To CDS Charge

A Swanton man pleaded guilty to charges of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week. A related charge of driving on a suspended license was not prosecuted.

John H. Hovatter, 34, received a six-month jail sentence from presiding Judge Ralph Burnett for the CDS charge. All of that sentence, except seven days, was suspended and a $150 fine imposed. Hovatter was also placed on one year of supervised probation.

The charges stemmed from Hovatter's arrest on Aug. 25, 1993, after he was stopped by Garrett County Sheriff's deputies for driving on a revoked license. Following a search of his vehicle, deputies found a pipe, a bag of marijuana and several pills and capsules.

An Oakland man pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty of charges filed against him in district court. Charles P. Haeck, 30, was subsequently sentenced to six months in jail for a felony theft charge. A motion for a new trial was denied by Judge Burnett.

Haeck was arrested for the theft of two saw blades belonging to Floise Sisler on the Cranesville-Sang Run Road, on Sept. 7, 1993. He later reportedly sold the blades to someone else.

Haeck's six-month jail term was set to be served concurrent with a 30-day sentence imposed from a Sept. 15, 1993 arrest by Det. J.D. Murphy of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, for CDS possession. According to court records, Det. Murphy had been sent to arrest Haeck on the strength of an arrest warrant issued from a grand jury indictment. During the arrest, the detective noticed Haeck trying to remove a smoking pipe, fashioned from an arrow, from his pocket. An examination of the pipe revealed a residue and odor of marijuana. A charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney's office.

Probation before judgment was granted to John M. Coll, 31, Germantown, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of malicious destruction of property. He was charged with the offense on May 1, 1993, after reportedly damaging a door at the Wisp Resort Hotel. Charges of breaking and entering and petty theft were not prosecuted, because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney's office.

In other district court proceedings, a plea agreement resulted in charges of CDS possession not being prosecuted against Stephen W. Carson, 24, Bowie. He had been arrested at Swallow Falls State Park by park rangers on July 31, 1993, after he was found to be in possession of suspected marijuana.

A charge of felony theft was not prosecuted against Michael V. Sebree, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney's office. He had been charged with stealing a 1991 Chevrolet, valued at $5,600, and forging the name of Tammy J. Murphy on the title. According to court records, Sebree and Murphy were co-owners of the vehicle and, when their relationship ended, she refused to sign the title so he could sell or trade it. Sebree had some one sign Murphy's name on the title and then traded it for a new Eagle Talon, at Shaffer Ford Sales.

DNR ARRESTS

Several citations were issued recently by Department of Natural Resources police officers. Among those was one involving Richard J. McKenzie, 30, Oakland, who was cited for being in possession of a loaded weapon in his vehicle. He had been charged with the offense Nov. 27, 1993, resulting in a $120 fine.

A Mtn. Lake Park man was also fined $120 by DNR police, following a Nov. 27, 1993 incident on Pleasant Valley and Smouse Roads. Keith A. Beckman, 25, was charged with hunting deer from a motor vehicle.

Idon J. Petersheim, 28, Oakland, paid a $120 fine for his charge by DNR officers. On Nov. 27, 1993, he was cited for possession of a loaded weapon in his vehicle, on a road near Rt. 219.

A Swanton man was cited for being in possession of a deer during a closed season. Stancie E. Esenwein, 30, was fined $310 by DNR officers after he was stopped on Nov. 6, 1993 on Rt. 135.

A total of $420 was paid in district court last week by Glen R. Otto, 23, Oakland, following his arrest by DNR officers for hunting deer during closed firearm season and hunting on private property without permission. The charges resulted from an incident Nov. 5, 1993, on the Blue Ribbon Road.

DWI ARRESTS

Several DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol) cases were heard in district court last week.

Dewey M. Warnick, 29, Md., was arrested for DWI on Sept. 6, 1993, by Tfc. D. Broadwater of the Maryland State Police. He pleaded guilty to the offense and was sentenced to one year in jail (with all being suspended except 30 days). He was also fined $550 and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Probation before judgment was granted to Robert V. Winters, 23, Ky., on a DWI charge. He had been charged on June 16, 1993.

Richard N. Paugh, 30, W.Va., was found guilty of violation of probation on an earlier DWI conviction. His 18 day jail sentence was reimposed, probation was terminated, and he was fined $510. Paugh's initial arrest was on Dec. 1, 1990.

Amondo R. Polke, 21, Md., was found guilty of violation of probation on a DWI conviction. He had been originally granted probation before judgment following his June 27, 1992 arrest, and the judge's original verdict was subsequently reinstated.

A DWI charge against Rodney T. Pike III, 23, Md., was dismissed. He had been arrested by sheriff's deputies on July 10, 1993.

Local Hospital

ported by tax dollars. The last time Garrett Memorial received any county tax money was in the early 1970s.

The HHSRC report also reviewed the change in cost per admission from fiscal year 1992 to fiscal year 1993 at hospitals throughout the state. The average cost per admission statewide increased 9.6 percent, about 2.4 percent higher than the national average of 7.3 percent.

This represents the first time in 18 years that the average cost per admission in Maryland increased in one year faster than the national average. Despite this, costs in Maryland remained approximately 11 percent below the national average.

While the average cost per admission statewide increased 9.6 percent in fiscal year 1993, the average cost per admission at Garrett Memorial increased by just six tenths of one percent. The report showed that Garrett Memorial's average cost per admission for fiscal year 1993 ranked as the fifth lowest in the state of Maryland, among over 50 hospitals.

Meanwhile, at neighboring Memorial Hospital in Cumberland, which posted a net income of $3.8 million for fiscal year 1993, the average cost per admission increased 11 percent, ranking the hospital as the 22nd lowest in the state.

Sacred Heart, also in Cumberland, had a surplus of $5.5 million and the average cost per admission increased 7.2 percent. Sacred Heart posted the 11th lowest average cost per admission in Maryland.

Frostburg Hospital posted a loss of $122,000. The report provided no data on the hospital's average cost per admission.

He also reported this week that a proposal by the federal government to reduce funding for mass transit is in the offing, and explained that his agency is already experiencing problems in trying to respond to the numerous emergency transportation calls received this winter.

"I'm not sure we can keep responding to these calls without seriously interfering with our work," he concluded.

Health Funding Bill
Also during this week's staff meeting, Garrett County Health Officer Dr. Rex Archer requested that the commissioners endorse a bill introduced in the Maryland General Assembly that would establish a partnership between the state and local governments (or a case formula) as the required method of funding local health services in the counties.

According to a memorandum sent from the Health Program Alliance at Johns Hopkins University to all local health officers, "Without passage of the bill, state funding for local health services will grow to $39 million by FY 1996, and perhaps stay at that level. With passage of the bill, the case formula will gradually be phased in to 100% funding by FY 1997. This would mean a dramatic

Accident Couple Honored For Canadian Rescue

Steve and Debbie Friend, Accident, were honored in Canada recently for their efforts at the scene of a car wreck that occurred in that country on July 4, 1992. The Friends were vacationing in Canada at that time when they came upon the car accident in which the vehicle had left the roadway, gone over an embankment, and rolled over into the median. The Friends stopped at the scene and administered first aid and CPR to a seriously injured passenger until an ambulance crew arrived.

The Friends, who are both certified emergency medical technicians (EMTs) and members of Northern Rescue Squad, were invited back to Canada in November 1993 to receive an award for their efforts. An awards ceremony held at the Venture Inn in Burlington, Ontario, the Ontario Provincial Police presented the Friends with the St. John's Ambulance Award, a certificate of commendation for their actions.

The Friend family, including daughters Emily, Larah, and Audrey, were guests of the Ontario Provincial Police during their stay in Canada.

Steve Friend is a manufacturing supervisor at Bausch & Lomb and Debbie is employed by the Garrett County Memorial LOCAL "GOOD SAMARITANS" HONORED IN CANADA - Steve and Debbie Friend, Accident, were honored recently in Burlington, Canada, for their "good Samaritan" act in July 1992. The couple was vacationing in the country at that time, and came upon an automobile accident on Queen Elizabeth Way, south of Toronto. The Friends, both active EMT's with Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, stopped immediately and administered emergency care until an ambulance crew arrived on the scene. The two were asked to return to Canada in November 1993, when they were presented with the "St. John's Ambulance Award" for their good deeds. See story for more details. Disturbing Trends...

The results of a survey of local middle and high school students recently completed by the Garrett County Health Department's Healthier Year 2000 Committee reveals some rather disturbing trends.

The data revealed that one fourth of our high school juniors and seniors smoke cigarettes, one third of our students in ninth through 12th grades drink beer and/or wine, and nearly 60 percent of our juniors and seniors have had sexual intercourse at least once. About 40 percent of our high school freshmen and sophomores have had sexual intercourse.

While these numbers fall slightly below the national averages, they nonetheless are, or should be, of great concern to local parents and society in general. It is frustrating that, despite all of the media coverage, the many educational programs, and various public campaigns that point out the dangers involved with the use of tobacco, drugs, and alcohol, and the potential consequences of sexual activity among young people, the message is just not getting through, or more likely, it is simply not being heard by our youth.

It is easy to blame government, health officials, and our educators for these negative trends. Heaven knows there is a tremendous amount of money being spent on programs and awareness campaigns. However, as much as we usually delight in slamming government for all of its shortcomings, we believe the source of these trends lies not with government, nor with our health officials, nor with our educators, but within the family unit.

The sad fact of the matter is, too many of our parents are failing miserably at the extremely difficult job of parenting. The dysfunctional family seems to be more the norm than the exception. Some parents are trying and failing for a variety of reasons; others simply are not trying and don't particularly care. Far too many of our children are lacking direction, self-esteem, and good values. How can we expect them to respect themselves if they have none of the above instilled within them?

We families, individually, have a lot of work to do, and we cannot sit back and expect the government, nor our health agencies, nor our educators to solve the problem. The bulk of the work must be done inside each and every household in our society.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Recently I visited my sister, who is very ill, in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. I was very much taken by the staff on the second floor. They were short-staffed because of the virus they had. They made sure my sister had her medicine on time and took care of all her needs. They made sure I was treated very kindly and did everything to make my stay more pleasant. They were so very nice and kind.

I applaud the staff on the second floor from the bottom of my heart. I can't thank them enough. So, to all the staff on No. 2 floor, you're No. 1 with me!

Thanks again.

To the Editor:

The letters I read in the Feb. 17 issue of The Republican were great, expressing thanks and praise to everybody who was involved in fighting the terrible fire Sunday, Feb. 13. It was good news and bad news. The bad news first: the building burned. The good news: everybody got out of the buildings. I want to thank everybody. I also want to say that Oakland, Maryland is the greatest town in America. The people make the town. God Bless!

To the Editor:

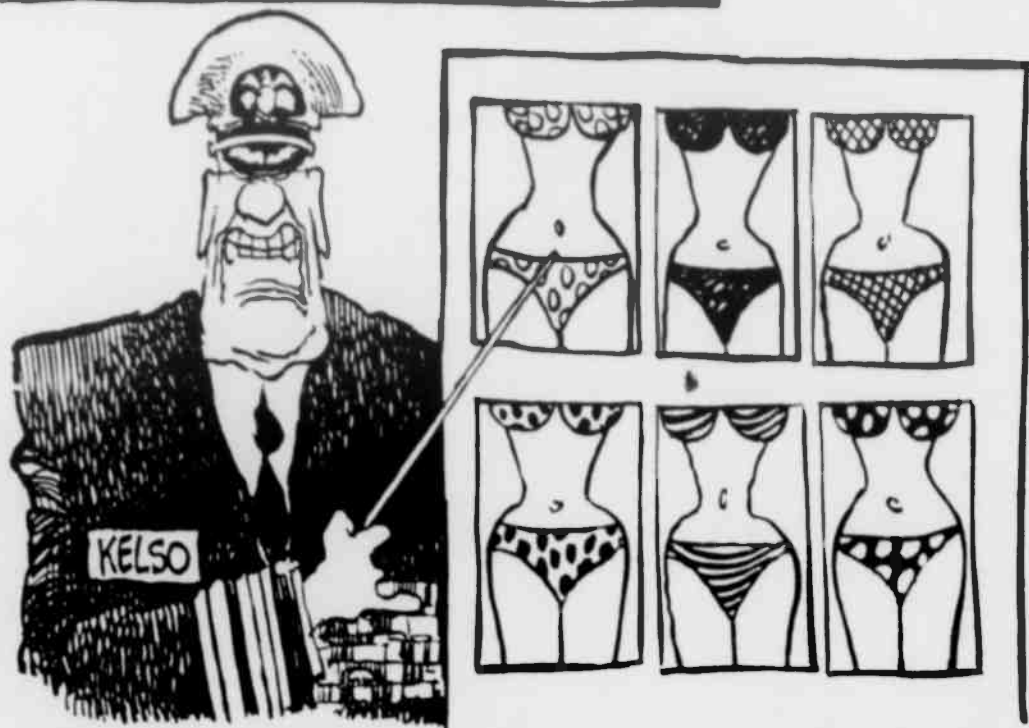

I am writing partly in regard to a February article in a major magazine that talked about medication commonly used in the treatment of depression. I feel the article made light of the seriousness of the illness (depression). I have spent the last two months in a mental facility and can tell you first-hand depression is real and so are the symptoms such as loss of sleep, loss of appetite, feeling useless and like a failure, forgetting things, not being able to think straight, and express yourself, not knowing what you are saying or doing, thoughts of committing suicide (not wanting to live). It feels like you are in a deep black hole, and you just can't do anything and do not care if you don't do them.

In my case, the depression has gotten better because of medication and therapy, prayers, and the help and understanding of friends and clinical staff. This is the real reason I am writing.

Thanks to all the people who took the time to visit me, drive me to and from the center on my passes, and just understanding and being there with a helping hand.

These people know who they are and are the kind neighbors to help, to give money, food, clothing, housing, and especially, love and understanding. That's what's so wonderful about living in a community like this.

I'm sure most Americans have heard something about the Asian sense of honor. But I doubt if we really understand the full complexity of those feelings; I certainly don't pretend to. I heard that because the fire was discovered to have started in the Shanghai kitchen, the Jings feel as though the community might think they were responsible (maybe they feel responsible themselves), and that they might even leave here because of this. This would be a terrible tragedy! We need them here, and not just for the moo goo gai pan. They add a difference in the tomorrows of our children's education. Please vote YES on March 5th!

To the Editor:

There are more people in Garrett County who cannot read than we are aware of.

To these people the word "garbage" means a place to dump animals and the word "animal" means trash, waste, anything worthless or offensive. The Standard Encyclopedia Dictionary defines garbage as "something worthless and offensive." It defines animal as "any such creature distinguished from man -- a bestial human being."

This brings me to the story of Valentine. Valentine is a very beautiful female cat with huge yellow eyes and long silk hair. She was dumped at the Friendsville garbage dump. Sherry Friend and Shellie Rodeheaver, Humane Society president and board member, fed her for about a week. A box with a soft towel was put under the recyclable dumpster for her to sleep in as there was no place for her to sleep except in water, ice, and snow. In the past week the weather has not been fit for "man or beast" to sleep outside.

The cat was named Valentine because on Valentine's Day she finally decided she had to make a choice of being wet, cold, and hungry or take a chance that this human being feeding and caring for her would not abuse her as the other human beings had.

She let Sherry pick her up and put her in the car, but then she became panicky. We were not sure how to get her out of the car. Finally my husband, Bud, slowly opened the door, reached in with one hand and touched her. After some petting, she let him pick her up and put her in a cat carrier. Soon the fear left her eyes and she purred. After being fed, petted, and assured she would never be cold or hungry again she curled up on a warm blanket and went to sleep.

Valentine is one of seven cats we have rescued from the local dump.

Four were tiny black kittens Jane Frazee and I rescued -- their eyes were not even open. I fed them with an eye dropper until they were old enough to eat. One was a tiny gray kitten Shellie rescued. She is growing fat and beautiful; the last one died of exposure, but in a warm, loving environment.

To the Editor:

As March 5th draws near, I would like to ask all Preston County voters to put aside all feelings regarding what has happened in the past years in our school system and think about the future of our children when they vote on the special school levy.

We must keep our school system moving forward, not backward! The school budget already faces cuts because of other factors. A defeat of the tax levy will cause additional cuts and be a very major setback in keeping quality education available for all students.

We can't change our yesterdays, but we can make a difference in the tomorrows of our children's education. Please vote YES on March 5th!

P.S. According to Article 27-Section 60 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, it is unlawful to abandon animals and one can be fined $100 if found guilty in a court of law.

At least one-third of the animals the Humane Society has rescued and many the Animal Shelter has rescued have been at the county garbage dumps. This situation needs to be taken care of.

CDS ARREST

Terry W. Sharpless, 33, Frostburg, and Steven R. Thomas, 31, Cumberland, were arrested for possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) by Cpl. Randy Sines and Deputy Jeff Green of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. They were assisted by 11c. Mark Rodeheaver and MSP K-9 Deek.

The arrest was made following an automobile accident, Feb. 19, on Old Rt. 38, near Rt. 135. The dog reportedly alerted the officers to the vehicle, and a subsequent search revealed suspected marijuana.

The two men were later released on their own recognizance.

DWI ARRESTS

Four motorists were charged with DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) this past week by state police.

Glen Allen Durst, 48, no address given, was charged with DWI on Friday by 11c. G.S. Becker.

Steve Carlton Bittinger, 28, no address given, was charged with DWI on Saturday by 11c. Becker.

Charles Lee Headley, 55, Sistersville, W.Va., was stopped Saturday and charged with DWI by 11c. W.L. Mowbray.

Kerrie J. Kinnard, 23, no address given, was charged with DWI on Sunday by 11c. Becker.

SKIS STOLEN

State police are investigating the theft of a pair of white Elan 175cm skis with purple trim from the Wisp Resort.

Deborah Brooke, Ash-ton, reported her skis were stolen at approximately 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, when she left them unattended.

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of Feb. 28 - March 4 is as follows:

Day 1 - Liver & onions, buttered potatoes, carrots, oat bread, peaches w/pudding sauce.
Day 2 - Apple juice, meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, stewed tomatoes, rye bread, hot fudge cake.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

OAKLAND UPDATE

by Mayor Asa McCain

Municipal Election Coming Up - The Town of Oakland will hold its annual municipal election on Monday, March 14, 1994. Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. to elect three councilpersons, the mayor, and the treasurer. Open registration will continue until 4:30 p.m. on Friday, March 4. The last day to file for office is also Friday, March 4, but must be done before 4 p.m.

While in the process of moving from the old City Hall building into the new Municipal Building, we found a glass ballot box, dating back to the turn of the century. We thought it might be nice to utilize this voter box in our upcoming election. In checking with our attorney and the Maryland Municipal League, we found it still appropriate to conduct the Municipal Election using this type of ballot box. If you are a registered voter for the Town Election, you may take part in this "step back in time," and participate in using the old glass voter box.

If you will not be in town on the date of the election, you are permitted to obtain an absentee ballot. Applications for obtaining absentee ballots must be received at City Hall by Monday, March 7, by 4:30 p.m.

Any questions regarding the election should be directed to City Hall, at (301) 334-2691.

Fire Disaster Update - Officials from various state agencies were in Oakland on Thursday, February 17, to express their concerns and to offer assistance within their agencies. The meeting was well attended, and hopefully some will be able to benefit from the informational session.

A fund-raiser is being scheduled for Thursday, March 3, at the Oakland Elks Lodge. The purpose of the event is to raise money for those persons who were victims of the recent fire. The "Garrett County Fire Victim Fund" is being established by concerned businesses and individuals, with the goal of maintaining the fund in the event of future fires.

Voice Concerns

were on hand at the hearing to answer questions and to provide background information on both PENELLEC's and DNR's roles at the lake.

Responding to Belmonte's concern that the state no longer sets aside money for the lake, Dunmyer explained that over $500,000 is provided by the state but that DNR's budget (which has undergone cuts in recent years) "cannot afford the $105,000."

Dunmyer also told the group that, in negotiating the water appropriations permit with PENELLEC, DNR could find no precedent in state law to condition the permit and that, by law, the water permit is reviewed every three years, so it would not have made sense to run the five-year management agreement with the water permit.

Dunmyer also noted that DNR is still negotiating its lease agreement with the utility company and the final contract is contingent on approval by the Maryland Board of Public Works.

Atherton then presented an overview of PENELLEC's position and history at the lake, saying, "People tend to forget that until 1968 the lake was operated under a state permit. The concerns and goals to continue that recreational use without drastically destroying the framework developed over the last 12 years have continued. We are now facing competition, however, and we looked at Deep Creek Lake and decided the recreation here had to be self-supporting. We could no longer subsidize it."

Atherton then pointed out that the fees proposed at the lake are not out of line with other lakes in the region, and emphasized that Deep Creek Lake is unique in some respects because at similar recreational facilities only dock spaces are available at much higher rates.

"There are some places where you can't build houses; you can only have docks," he said. "One of our goals in developing the fee schedule was to figure out who pays for what they get -- the benefits derived as a class."

Atherton did tell the group, however, that "We are not convinced that what we've put forth to you is the best fee schedule. We still have concerns about what's equitable, and we want to put together a package that is acceptable to everyone."

Speaking again for the DCI POA, Roger Titus told the group, "The real reason for this hearing today is that the property owners hired a lawyer to represent us. This should be a wake-up call to the county commissioners and others. The commissioners were nowhere to be found when we were doing all this."

"We disagree with the state. They can impose conditions on the water use permit. Our board talked to the Board of Public Works and that's why they haven't signed the agreement yet."

Other factions represented at the hearing included bass fishing associations whose various representatives specifically opposed the proposed $25 ramping fee.

Richard Cline, director of the Western Regional Bass Casters Association, said, "We oppose the $25 boat fee. We already pay a lot of fees to DNR and we bring a lot of money into Garrett County."

Another advocate for lower boat fees, Steve Stallings of the Allegany Bass Casters, said that he is a property owner at the lake as well as a fisherman. "My family acquired the property back in 1950, and we've seen lots of changes here in the form of development," he said, adding that he had detected some "minor signs of hostility" from other lake property owners at the hearing.

"We now pay $2 each time we launch a boat at the state park," he said. "Under the new proposal, we'll pay $3, and we will also pay approximately 40 cents a day for your docks. There is a way to work this out if you think about it logically. We spend thousands of dollars up here -- please respect our opinion."

Concerns from other interest groups, such as the Deep Creek Lake Sailing School, were also presented at the hearing that attracted nearly 300 people.

Atherton told the group at the end of the hearing that PENELLEC would agree to hold the record open for comment until March 5, as was requested by county officials and interest groups.

Gypsy Moth

Update

by James W. Simms
Extension Agent, Agriculture

Cooperative Extension Service
Letters to Landowners

Within the next week or so all landowners in the designated gypsy moth spray area will be receiving official written notification from the Maryland Department of Agriculture and the Garrett County commissioners. It is extremely important that the landowner reviews the information carefully and responds accordingly. It was originally estimated that the cost to the landowner would be $3 per acre, however, the lowest of the spraying bids was higher than expected, which has increased the landowner's cost to $3.50 per acre.

Alternative for Landowners not in Designated Spray Area

The Garrett County Gypsy Moth Task Force will assist landowners, who are not included in this spring's suppression area, in making contact with a certified aerial spray company. Landowner not included in the designated spray area, but interested in the possibility of contracting privately with an aerial applicator company, should call the Garrett County Extension Office at (301) 334-1990 giving your name, address and telephone number. The task force will arrange a time and place for those interested to meet with a certified aerial applicator.

Edwards Co-Sponsoring Variety Of Legislation Including Crime Bills

District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards recently signed on as a co-sponsor of various bills in the Maryland General Assembly, a number of which deal with the prevailing issue of crime -- some that attempt to stiffen certain penalties and others that are aimed at victims' rights.

House Bill 465 seeks to require that a felon serve at least 70% of the sentence imposed before becoming eligible for parole. Edwards explained that the measure is a result of the public perception that criminals, generally, end up not serving enough of their sentences.

Opponents of the bill have reportedly said that the measure would require more prisons to be built but the delegate responded that it would not require more spending for prisons than has been spent by the state during the past decade.

House Bill 826 would alter a provision of law concerning homicide by motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol by increasing the penalty. Specifically, the bill states that "a person who causes the death of another as the result of the person's negligent driving, operation, or control of a motor vehicle or vessel while under the influence of alcohol is guilty of a misdemeanor..." and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than three years or a fine of not more than $1,000 or both.

The original law specified the maximum term of imprisonment as one year. Edwards explained that the three-year sentence was not meant to be mandatory but just to allow a judge the latitude of increasing the sentence to three years. He added that the new law would prove to be more of a deterrent.

Yet another crime-related bill (House Bill 827) would increase the maximum penalty a court may impose on a person who is convicted of the misdemeanor of harassment from 30 days to 18 months and the maximum fine from $500 to $1,500.

A total of three bills aiming to further protect the rights of victims has also been endorsed by Edwards. House Bill 380 would establish a Victim and Witness Protection and Relocation Fund.

Edwards is also backing House Bill 387, a measure stemming from a request by victim's rights groups, that would further define the enforcement and collection of restitution orders under the Criminal Injuries Compensation Act.

House Bill 423 would add a new article to the Maryland Declaration of Rights establishing that a victim of crime has "a constitutional right to be treated with dignity, respect, and sensitivity during all phases of the criminal justice process; establishing that a victim of a crime has a constitutional right to be informed of the rights established in this amendment and, under certain circumstances, to be notified of, to attend, and to be heard at a criminal justice proceeding, as these rights are implemented and certain terms are specified by law..."

House Bill 1067 was introduced for the purpose of specifying that the State Fire Marshal conduct a criminal record check on an applicant for employment or appointment as a volunteer or paid fire fighter, rescue squad member, or paramedic.

Edwards explained that the impetus for the bill came because the state charges a fee to perform the background checks and, with the passage of the bill, would charge nothing for the service.

Edwards has also agreed to co-sponsor two bills that address the sensitive issue of school employees intervening in fights on school

Assisted Suicide Bill Being Heard

Senate Bill 343 -- a bill that would make it a felony to assist in a suicide -- was heard this week by the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee. The measure also provides that anyone convicted of the felony would face up to three years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Opponents of the bill, however, have reported that a recent poll reveals Marylanders would rather opt for legalizing such assistance, by a margin of 3-1.

The random survey of 500 Marylanders was conducted by a Towson marketing firm.

According to reports, a total of 35 states currently have laws on the books that specifically make assisted suicides a crime.

property. House Bill 1148 would provide civil immunity for school employees under certain circumstances, and House Bill 832 would require that charges being filed against certain school personnel for alleged criminal offenses be "immediately forwarded" to the State's Attorney's office for investigation before charges may be filed.

HB 1148 specifically states, "A public school employee who, in good faith, intervenes in a fight or physical struggle that takes place in a school building or on school grounds between students or other individuals may not be held civilly or criminally liable for that action or any injury that may result from it."

The text of the bill further states that the school employee would be held harmless from any award or decree unless the employee's conduct at the time was considered to be "reckless, wanton, or intentionally tortious."

Edwards said he felt that some school employees are afraid to intervene because of possible repercussions. "This allows them to intervene as long as it's in an appropriate manner," he said.

In other news from the legislators' office, Edwards has also joined a large number of delegates who are calling for a constitutional restriction on state-imposed mandates that require additional funding from the local jurisdiction.

House Bill 1063, a Constitutional amendment, would prohibit the state from implementing any law or regulation that requires additional money from the local jurisdiction until the General Assembly appropriates money from the state treasury to the affected jurisdiction or until the General Assembly provides that the locality secure a local revenue source.

House Bill 1114 -- another Constitutional amendment -- seeks to establish limits on state spending. "This bill ensures that the state will stay within the spending affordability formula," said Edwards. "It's also a question of whose numbers you use."

The delegate has also co-sponsored House Bill 947, which states that, beginning with the 1995 regular session of the General Assembly, an economic impact analysis rating and an economic impact analysis, as appropriate, shall be prepared by the appropriate executive branch agency for each bill that is introduced at the request of the administration or a department, agency, or commission of Edwards noted that, when bills are introduced into the General Assembly, the cost to state and local government is always examined but the impact on the executive branch of state government -- small business is not.

Finally, Edwards and a handful of other delegates are sponsoring House Bill 941 -- a Constitutional amendment -- that is designed to establish a constitutional guarantee of the right to keep and bear arms for certain purposes, including self defense, and hunting and recreational use. Edwards explained that Maryland Constitution is one of the few that does not specify that right

Boy Scout Troop 70, Mtn. Lake Park, is sponsored by Bethel United Methodist Church. The scouts meet every Thursday at 7 p.m. in the basement of the church. The scoutmaster is Carl Friend; committee chairman is Tim Switzer; assistant scoutmasters are Charles Teets, Bill Freyman, John Furr, and Philip Liller; committee treasurer is Jane Friend; committee secretary is Sadie Liller; committee member is Debbie Brown.

Cub Scout Pack 95 is sponsored by Bausch & Lomb and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Deer Park. Adult leaders are: David Spirk, of B&L; Dale Simpson, Deer Park VFW; Ronald Rhodes, cubmaster, and Danita Rhodes, committee chairman. Tiger Cub Adult Partners are: Diane Everd, Glen Sanders, Rhonda Savage, and Dee Dee Thorn.

Tiger Cubs are: Chad Everd, Travis Sanders, Matthew Savage, and Jared Thorn.

Cub Scouts are: Daniel Brenneman, Daniel Glotfelty, Guy Miller, Zachary Rhodes, Zachary Savage, and Brandon Wilt, with den leaders Ron and Danita Rhodes.

Webelo Scouts are: Tyler Friend, Andrew Harvey, Eric Jacoby, Brett Lambert, Coy Miller, Nathan Murphy, and Keith Steyer, with den leaders Scott and Sandy Harvey.

Some of the annual events of Pack 95 include: the popcorn sale, a BB shot, swimming at Alpine Lake, a winter klondike, Blue and Gold Banquet, pinewood derby, a bike safety show, cub scout day camp, and webelos camp.

and assistant junior scoutmaster is Mark Sweitzer.

Scouts include: Chris Friend, Paul Liller, Josh Teets, Scott Shillingburg, Mark Sweitzer, James Reed, Rodney Moreland, Brent Furr, Derrick DeWitt, Lee Brown, Tommy Crocco, John Boone, and Chris Beitzel.

As a troop, the scouts have gone caving, backpacking and hiking on the Appalachian Trail, participated in the spring and fall camporees at Camp Potomac, and Scout Sunday at church. They have gone to Pittsburgh Pirates baseball games, skied at the Wisp, and will take a bike trip along the C&O Canal this year. In the area of community service, the scouts have participated in the House of Hope food drive, Scouting for Food, and spring outdoor clean-up activities at the church.

February Is Boy Scout Month

In observance of Boy Scout Month, The Republican is publishing information about the various local boy and cub scout troops. We conclude the feature this week with a look at Cub Scout Pack 95, Oakland; Boy Scout Troop 70, Mtn. Lake Park; Cub Scout Pack 31, Oakland; and Cub Scout Pack 33, Friendsville.

Cub Scout Pack #31

Cub Scouting is a lot of fun. You can ask Pack 31!

Blue/Gold Banquet on February 19.

There will be more badges than you've ever seen!

February 21st to Wisp, scouts go to ski.

One of their best nights, it is going to be!

The scouts hope their ears move at a fast pace.

On March 26th, at the Pinewood Derby race.

April 17th, the scouts and some of their friends, Will go to Seneca Rocks and Smoke Hole Caverns.

May 22nd will make a good story.

As the scouts go to root Pirates onto glory!

On the C&O Canal, scouts will watch the tide.

Because June 21st is their bike ride.

You can be a Cub Scout, too!

Read on, and see what Pack 31 Dens do.

-- Kathy Shaffer

The Tiger Cub Scouts are led by Lisa Livengood, and they are Tyler Graham, Andrew Murray, Jared Feather, Michael Fowler, Jermie Hamilton, and Corey Tressler. Some of the things they have done are visiting the rescue squad, and going on a hayride.

Wolf Den #4 has Rob Michael as their leader. Craig Conroy, Joshua Harris, Christopher Hoff, Emmett Michael, Michael Nelson, Kenneth Noland, Torrey Poholsky, and Brandon Proudfoot have enjoyed making several things, like a bird house and a bird feeder.

Kathy Shaffer is the leader of Bear Den #1. Bart Shaffer, Andrew Hill, Andrew Feather, Chris Lantz, Anthony Oliverio, Ben Stone and Christopher Stover have visited many interesting places, such as The Republican newspaper and Shaffer Ford/Mercury Sales Dealership.

Bear Den #2 is led by Carol and Dorian Peracchio. One of the places they have visited is the Garrett County's Sheriff's Office and they are planning a sled party soon. These scouts are Benjamin Peracchio, Clinton Durham, Mark Kight, Brand Loudon, Nathan Swartzentruber, and Wesley Thomas.

Arlene Murray, assisted by Mark Marucci and Brenda Burner, led the 1st-year of Pack #5. Patrick Murray, Michael Murray, Regis Marucci, Joshua Partridge, Bryan Schwalm, Nicki Gangler, Matthew Bruner, and Matthew Sines plan to visit the Radio Station in the near future.

Den #3's leader is also Pack 31's Cubmaster, Tim Taylor. Bryce Taylor, Matt Gordon, and Eric Archer are in their last year of Webelos and will be moving up to Boy Scouts next year!

Pack 31 is a chartered Pack of the Potomac Elks, Deep Creek District, sponsored by Oakland BPO Elks Lodge #2481. Some of its other outstanding volunteers consist of Robert Hesson, as Exalted Ruler; Tim Taylor as cubmaster, assisted by Jim Murray; Sharon Schwalm as secretary; Mary Lantz as committee chairperson; treasurer is Kathy Eiswert; and Mary Mosser as den coach.

Benefit Planned

of Elks #2481.

"Fire strikes indiscriminately, without warning, and through no fault of one's own," said Connie Margison. "Please come to the charity. The next fire victim may be you."

Cub Scout Pack 33

Cub Scout Pack 33 of Friendsville was organized in October 1992 and is chartered by the Grace Lutheran Church of Friendsville.

Committee members are: Linda Oester, secretary; Paula Spear, cubmaster, Leah Huber, fifth grade Webelo leader; Diane Wampler, fourth grade Webelo leader; Sherry MacLane, treasurer; Jerry Sisler, Bear leader; Terry Spear, Wolf den leader; Terri Nottingham, Tiger cub leader; and Doug George, Wolf cub leader.

The captions under the photos of the various dens reveal the activities of those particular groups. In addition, Friendsville Pack has also participated in the Friendsville Day Parade, planned picnic and games, a DNR sponsored Black Bear program, Trails End popcorn sale, Scouting for Food, and after-school movies. Pack 33 collected over 700 pounds of food for the House of Hope this past year.

Among scheduled activities are the Blue and Gold Banquet and Pinewood Derby. The Friendsville scouts invite all boys from grades one through five to join them.

Engineers' Week Celebrated By Local UM Grads

Engineers' Week 1994, Feb. 20-27, is being celebrated locally by University of Maryland engineering graduates, who are also noting the centennial of the university's college of engineering. Two area graduates are speaking in the public school system today to inform students of the many opportunities available in the engineering field.

William D. Buckel, a civil engineer from Accident, and Robert Hughes, a local mechanical engineer, are both graduates of the university's engineering school, and are jointly observing the centennial with Engineers' Week. Buckel will be speaking today at Grantsville Elementary, Northern Middle, and Northern High schools. Hughes will be visiting Fort Hill and Allegany high schools.

"We want to tell the students of the opportunities available to them should they choose engineering as a career," Buckel said. "They may be surprised to find out how far-reaching this area of study can be."

The college of engineering at Maryland began in 1894 as a small private college that focused on farm machinery and road construction. It has grown to be among the top 10 percent of the nation's 300 engineering schools, according to Dean George Dieter, complete with a small-scale nuclear reactor, a bio-process scale-up facility, a neutral buoyancy tank that simulates the weightlessness

YOUNG ENGINEERS OFF TO BALTIMORE FOR CHALLENGE - Several students from area schools including Broad Ford Elementary, Swan Meadow, and both Northern and Southern high schools will compete this weekend in the 1994 Engineering Challenge competitions, held at the Baltimore Museum of Industry on Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. The challenge for elementary school competitors was to design and develop a Mars landing vehicle that will protect astronauts "Chuck Egger" and "Egglebert Humpardink" (two uncooked eggs) during impact when the vehicle is dropped down a 12-foot rope to land on the irregular surface of a Mars model. The high school students were challenged to design and build a cargo airplane that is capable of flying with a full load. The challenge coincides with National Engineers' Week, Feb. 21-27, and this year 158 teams from around Maryland are registered for the various competitions over the weekend. Over 800 students participated in last year's event, and 3,000 spectators attended. Local resident Carl Rebele has helped coordinate the project at Broad Ford School, and is pictured above at right as he oversees the students as they work. The landing vehicle designed by the young engineers is pictured below as it undergoes one of its first test landings. Egger and Egglebert reportedly remained hard-shelled and unscrambled in the touch-down.

Receives Award For Attendance

Thomas Friend, Oakland, was recently awarded a Certificate of Outstanding Attendance for his perfect attendance at Herrington Manor State Park over the past five months.

Friend is a participant in a new Work Experience Program in Garrett County, which is jointly operated by the Western Maryland Consortium and the Department of Social Services. The program is designed to give work experience, job training, and current references to those people who are receiving public assistance, but would like to become self-sufficient and able to support their own families.

Friend volunteered to participate in this new program, and was the first person in Garrett County to begin working under it. The supervisor at Herrington Manor, Roger Riley, said he is "very pleased" with the work attitude and abilities demonstrated by Friend.

"This has really made me feel good about myself again," Friend said.

Application For State Scholarships Deadline Noted

The deadline for applying for Maryland State Scholarships is March 1, according to Crystal Filer-Ogden, financial aid coordinator at Garrett Community College.

Interested students can receive further information and assistance by calling the GCC financial aid office at 387-3012 on weekdays during business hours.

On Dean's List

A student from Oakland has been honored at David Lipscomb University, Nashville, Tenn., for academic achievement during the fall semester.

Tara Lynn Wildesen has been placed on the dean's list for earning perfect grades during the semester, said Dr. James T. Arnett, vice president for academic affairs.

Wildesen, a general studies/interdisciplinary studies teaching major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Franklin Wildesen, Star Route 2, Oakland. She is a graduate of Southern High School.

Students at Lipscomb University earn bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees in nearly 100 major programs of study.

Lipscomb is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern

Legal Aid Bureau Announces March Outreach Schedule

Staff members of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., will be available to discuss legal problems with persons during the month of March 1994 in Oakland on Tuesday, March 1, and Tuesday, March 15, at the Community Action Center, 104 East Center Street.

The Legal Aid Bureau representatives will be available from 10 a.m. until noon on those dates.

The Bureau provides legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland office of the Legal Aid Bureau is located at 100 Greene Street in Cumberland. The office can be reached in Garrett County by calling 334-8832.

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for the Outreach location or for an appointment at the Cumberland office.

There will not be a representative available in Oakland if Garrett County schools are cancelled because of bad weather. Persons should always call the Cumberland office at 334-8832 by 10 a.m. each scheduled Outreach day to confirm whether the representative will be available.

last year, according to the dean, including a record 91 doctorate degrees.

"The college is among the best, with highly competitive admissions standards and a rigorous academic curriculum," Dieter said.

County Humane Society Named A Supporting Agency

The Garrett County Humane Society has been recognized as a supporting agency of the American Humane Association, according to AHA spokesperson Betsy Tyus.

Some benefits of a supporting agency include a subscription to the quarterly magazine Advocate and the eligibility for the local agency to apply for the Meacham Foundation Memorial Grant. This grant provides money for shelter expansion or improvements.

The Garrett County Humane Society, Inc., has qualified as a supporting agency because it is a non-profit organization, it has a spay/neuter program for all adopted animals, provides foster homes for abandoned and unwanted animals, and does not euthanize animals.

Bernadine Friend is the director of the local Society, and said she is grateful for the help of contributors.

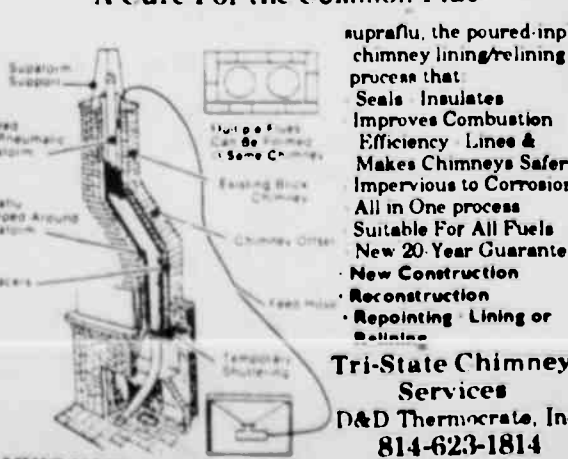

"Without the help of local caring people, the efforts of the organization could not be continued," she said.

TEXAS EASTERN DONATES TO LOCAL GROUPS - The Texas Eastern Corporation, which employs 20 persons in Accident to manage the natural gas storage fields in that area, recently conducted an in-house fund drive with the company matching any employee donation at 100%. The money raised in the effort was then donated to two local groups, as the workers at Texas Eastern expressed their wish to keep the donated funds within Garrett County. Checks were presented to Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Garrett and Allegany counties and to the Domestic Violence, Sexual Assault Resource Center. Pictured above, left to right, are Dan Seib of Big Brothers/Big Sisters; Sue Alexander, administrative analyst for Texas Eastern and an active Big Sister; and Debbie Holler of the domestic resource center. Texas Eastern maintains a gas storage field with 83 wells in an approximate 25,000 acre area surrounding the town of Accident. Gas is pumped into these wells during the summer when gas demand is low, and then used during the winter months when more gas is needed for heating.

Sap Into Syrup Demonstration Slated In Parks

The Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls state parks will host a "Turning Sap Into Syrup" demonstration March 12-13.

Maple trees will be tapped and sap gathered and boiled down to make syrup. The demonstration will be held Saturday at Swallow Falls State Park and Sunday at Herrington Manor State Park, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day. There will be a demonstration and products will be offered for sale. Admission to the syrup-making demonstration is free.

A pancake breakfast will be held Sunday at Herrington Manor State Park from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., and the cost is $5 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

For more information, persons may call (301) 334-9180 or contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, 200 South Third St., Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1948.

Eastern Star Chapter Meets

Oakland Chapter met Tuesday, February 15 at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple. Rosemary Harvey, Worthy Matron, opened with a reading, "What is a Valentine," and then greeted Archie Minor, Worthy Grand Patron of Maryland; Wilda Hille, Deputy Grand Lecturer of Maryland; all officers and members and Brothers holding Masonic honors.

Mrs. Harvey presented each with a Valentine card and a gift. A program was presented in honor of Mrs. Harvey and Worthy Patron Lewis Marks by the officers and presented each with a gift, after which Lillian Reckner and Deborah Raynovich provided music, "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands."

Announcements were made for installation practice for February 28 for all officers and prompter at 7 p.m.; and for Grand Chapter Sessions in Hagerstown, April 24-27. The next meeting will be March 1 for installation of officers for 1994-95.

Mrs. Harvey closed with "Special Valentine." Refreshments were served by Thelma Henshaw, Phyllis Winkelvoss, and Elizabeth McComas.

Area Schools Begin Dental Health Program

Accident and Loch Lynn Elementary schools recently joined seven other local schools in providing preventive education in dental health to area students. The fluoride rinse program is funded by local PTA organizations and coordinated by parent volunteers under the supervision of Elaine Marple, Dental Hygienist for the Garrett County Department.

"This program is carried out during the school year before class time begins on designated days, with parental permission, and provides a 0.2 percent solution of neutral sodium fluoride for a one-minute rinse once a week," explained Marple. "Studies show that children using this fluoride rinse on a regular basis have 20 to 50 percent fewer cavities."

Fluoride is a natural mineral that, when supplied to developing teeth, becomes part of the enamel structure of the tooth. This process makes the tooth harder and more resistant to the constant acids which cause cavities. The most effective way to get fluoride into enamel is to have it present while teeth are forming. After teeth appear, outer surfaces of the enamel acquire fluoride from water or from supplementary sources, such as fluoride toothpaste, tablets, or rinse, Marple explained.

"Currently, only the Oakland water system provides fluoride to residents through their drinking water," she continued. "The school fluoride rinse program provides students throughout the county with a topical, or directly onto the tooth surface fluoride product, that is rinsed within the mouth, but not swallowed."

In addition to supervising the fluoride rinse program, Marple visits each class twice a year to educate students on tooth brushing, braces, and dental visits, as well as fluoride.

The Garrett County Health Department's Dental Health and Fluoride Rinse program locally recognizes February 1994 as National Children's Dental Health Month. For more information on this health department program, persons may contact Marple at 334-8111.

Blue Mountain Academy Bell Choir To Perform

La Sonnette Ensemble, the bell choir from Blue Mountain Academy, Hamburg, Pa., will be in concert at 7 p.m., Friday, March 4, during the Mountain Top Seventh Day Adventist Church's vespers program.

The bell choir, under the direction of Nancy S. Edson, consists of 10 players, David Becker, Lisa Farkash, Amy Felker, Ellen Ford, David Greene, Sandy Hutchinson, Tara Lehman, Mark Loney, April Russel and Andrew Van Arsdale, who all have previous keyboard experience.

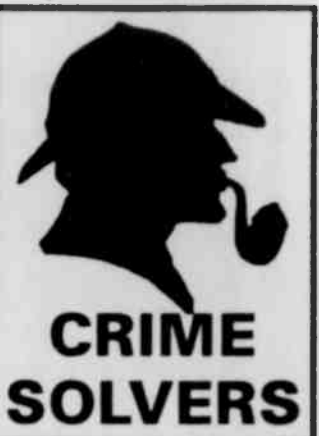

Edison teaches piano, organ, Dimensions of Music, Music Theory, and handbells at the academy, where she has been a teacher since 1959. She attained a bachelor of science degree in music education at Atlantic Union College, South Lancaster, Mass. She also has her master's degree in organ performance from Coombs College of Music, Philadelphia, Pa. She has studied organ with Dr. Robert Elmore of Philadelphia, and Eugene Roan of Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N.J., where she has done extensive post-graduate work.

Seven years ago, Edison and her husband donated a three octave set of Malmark handbells to Blue Mountain Academy in memory of her parents. Since then, through donations, this organization has added the fourth and fifth octaves.

The ensemble practices 80 minutes, two or three days a week, plus extra rehearsals when necessary, according to a spokesperson for the group. It travels extensively throughout the state of Pennsylvania, as well as the neighboring states of Maryland, Virginia, New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Maine, giving concerts. The ensemble's repertoire includes numbers by Linda McKechnie, Arnold Sherman, Michael Keller, Hart Morris, and many other composers. A favorite is "Rondo Passacaglia" by Cynthia Dobrinski, the spokesperson said.

The congregation of the Mountain Top Seventh Day Adventist Church invites the public to attend.

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information on a case of costly property destruction in the Friendsville area.

On Jan. 23 between the hours of 8:45-11 p.m., unknown suspects broke into a trailer located on Rt. 53, one mile north of Friendsville. The residence was being rented by Sherry Snyder. The culprits destroyed all the furniture and belongings of the victim, according to the Crime Solvers report. The loss in this case was estimated to be in excess of $4,000.

Any person with information about this or any other unsolved crime should contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

The Northern High School girls' varsity, which was supposed to have faced the Southern Rams last night, breezed to a 73-35 victory Monday evening at home. The contest with the Rams had to be postponed because of bad weather which forced the cancellation of school.

The win over Hyndman gave Northern a 15-4 mark. Following the make-up with Southern and a game at Bishop Walsh on Saturday, the Huskies will play in the Region I Class A playoffs next week, where they could meet the Rams a third time. Southern won the first game.

Lisa Stephens had one of her best performances for Northern, as she scored 24 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. Becky Uphold also reached double figures with 10 points.

The Huskies were ahead 20-5 at the end of the first period, held a commanding halftime lead of 43-9, and were up by 35, 60-25, after three quarters.

Danell Kennell led winless Hyndman (0-20) with 18 points, with half of her points being recorded from three-point range.

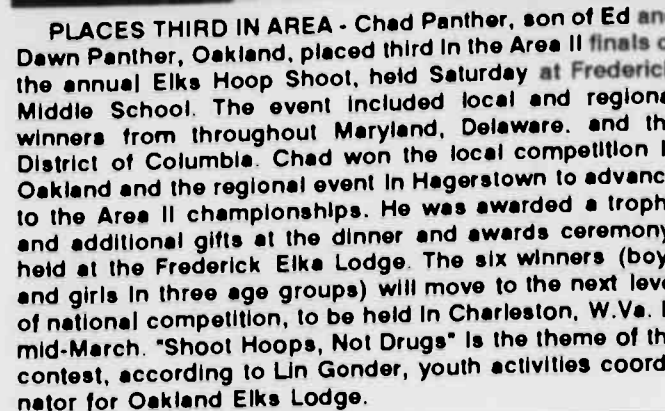

The Northern junior varsity girls won their 12th game in 15 starts by whipping the Hyndman jayvees in the preliminary game, 45-24. Leah Stanton scored 12 points to pace the Huskies.

Rams Win Three Straight, Eye Position In Playoffs

A three-game win streak with just one game remaining in the regular season is presently being enjoyed by the Southern High School varsity boys, who are positioning themselves for the Region I, Class A playoffs slated for next week.

Coach Tom Bosley's team rolled over Petersburg Friday evening, 60-43, on the Vikings' floor, ripped visiting Keyser Saturday evening, 60-44, and then defeated arch rival Northern, 71-60, Tuesday evening in Oakland. The Rams will put their 13-7 mark on the line at home this Friday when they host Frankfort.

Southern took control of the game early against Petersburg as they jumped out to a 21-7 advantage by the end of the first quarter and were up 29-18 at halftime. The Rams led 45-29 after three periods.

Jeremy Sanders and Doug Copeland spearheaded the Southern offense as they finished with 18 and 17 points, respectively. Mark Dawson also reached double figures with 13 points.

Courtney Cooper was the only Viking to reach double figures with 10 points. It was the 12th loss in 16 games for Petersburg.

The Southern junior varsity team also won that evening, defeating the Petersburg jayvees in the preliminary game, 37-26. Scott Shahan led the Rams with 20 points.

Dawson and Mark Elliott paced the Rams the following evening in their comeback from behind win over the Golden Tornadoes of Keyser, as Dawson pumped in 18 points and Elliott finished with 16.

The Rams started slowly and were down 12-6 at the end of the first quarter. They out-scored the visitors in the second period to take a 21-20 halftime lead, stretched their advantage to 37-33 by the end of the third quarter, and poured it on in the final period to win by 16.

Leading Keyser (4-14) in scoring were Eli Rhodes with 13 points and Chad Wilt with 12.

Coach Jim Bosley's junior varsity won again in the preliminary game, rolling over Keyser's jayvees, 52-36. Scott Shahan again led the Rams with 16 points, while Joey DiSimone and Jim Pamepinto each netted 10.

Tuesday evening's game against the Northern Huskies was the rubber game of that series this season, as the Huskies won the first meeting between the two schools by one point back in the Snowball Classic. The Rams won the second contest in double overtime.

Tuesday's game was different from the first two, however, as the Rams got the lead early and never relinquished it. Their win was actually recorded at the foul line, though, from which Southern converted 24 of 27 opportunities, compared to a 12-for-19 effort by the Huskies. Both teams finished with 23 field goals.

The Rams held a 19-12 lead at the end of the first quarter, were on top 31-24 at halftime, and led 52-40 after three periods. The Huskies narrowed the Rams lead on several occasions, but could never get closer than five points in the second half.

Dawson played one of his best games of the season for the Rams, as he scored 19 points and grabbed eight rebounds, while Elliott recorded 16 points, five assists, and five steals.

Jeremy Sanders also finished with 16 points and Brian Reams scored eight points and pulled down eight rebounds.

Leading the Huskies and all scorers was senior point guard Rob Speicher, who finished with 20 points. Jon and Tim Hinebaugh contributed 10 points each.

A full-court press helped the Rams build their lead in the first half, as the Huskies had problems getting the ball down the floor; however, Coach Tom Bosley thought both teams played well and teams evenly.

Keyser (44)
Cory Shoemaker 3 2-4 8, Eli Rhodes 4 3-3 13, Robert Radman 1 2-2 4, Chad Wilt 4 2-2 12, Jammie Fields 1 0-0 2, Aaron Sanders 1 0-0 2, Nathan Melody 1 0-1 3. Totals: 15 9-12 44.
Southern (60)
Brian Reams 21-15, Mark Elliott 4 8-13 16, Mark Dawson 7 4-5 18, Joe Tuomisto 1 0-0 2, Brian Carlson 2 0-2 4, Jeremy Sanders 2 0-0 4, Doug Copeland 0 2-2 2, Jason Hamrick 3 2-3 9. Totals: 21 17-26 60.
Three-point goals: Keyser (Rhodes 2, Wilt 2, Melody 1), Southern (Hamrick 1). Total fouls: Keyser 22, Southern 14. Fouled out: Shoemaker (Keyser).

"Northern was well prepared and played a very good game," he said. "One of the differences was that Jeremy Sanders did a good job for us in defending against Tim Hinebaugh. Plus, we were able to get the ball inside against them a little better this time, especially when some of their inside people got into foul trouble."

Bosley noted the performances of Elliott and Dawson. "Mark Elliott played with a lot of confidence and Mark Dawson played extremely well inside," he said.

It was only the fifth defeat in 19 games for the Huskies, who will host Mount Savage this evening.

The Rams and Huskies could meet again next week in the playoffs, as both will qualify.

The Southern junior varsity won its seventh game in a row and 12th of its last 13 games by defeating the Northern jayvees in the preliminary contest, 43-33.

Pamepinto poured in 22 points to lead the Rams and Joe Layman netted 14 to pace the Huskies.

The Potomac Valley Conference Division I title is also on the line Friday when the Southern varsity plays Frankfort. With a win, the Rams would be guaranteed at least a share of the title with Tucker County, as both teams are currently 6-1 in the PVC standings.

Northern (60)
Rob Speicher 9 1-2 20, Jon Hinebaugh 5 0-0 10, Jeremy Brenneman 1 0-0 3, Chris Wright 0 4-6 4, Tim Hinebaugh 3 4-5 10, Alan Sebald 3 3-4 9, Justin Younk 1 0-2 2, Chris Elliott 1 0-0 2. Totals: 23 12-19 60.

Laker Women Prepare For JUCO By Winning Three

The Garrett Community College women's basketball team built up a head of steam for this weekend's Maryland JUCO Tournament by winning their last three regular season games this past week and improving their record to 9-5.

The Lakers recorded a 68-58 come-from-behind win over visiting Hagerstown Junior College Hawks last Wednesday evening, topped host Penn State York Campus Friday evening with another rally, 64-57, and then earned a 61-54 victory over Essex Community College Saturday in Baltimore.

Michele Duling, one of the nation's top Division II scorers, finished with 21 points to lead the Lakers against Hagerstown. Missy LaRue was close behind with 18 points and Keisha Slayton netted 11. Duling and LaRue each hit four three-point buckets.

The Lakers were behind 24-20 at halftime, but pulled ahead midway through the second half. After moving out in front 49-44, LaRue nailed a three-pointer to stretch the lead to eight points and the Lakers led the rest of the way.

Duling was held to three points in the first half, but then scored 18 in the second half, while LaRue recorded 11 of her total in the second half.

Slayton also pulled down eight rebounds and LaRue also dished out two assists and had three steals.

Leading Hagerstown in scoring were Melanie Moser and Mary Louk with 19 and 12 points, respectively. It was the 14th defeat in 20 games for the Hawks.

Duling poured in 29 points Friday night against Penn State-York, with a dozen of them scored from three-point range. She also recorded six of her team's 13 steals.

The Lakers took control of the game early, jumping out to an 18-2 lead, but they let the home team come back. Garrett led by seven, 31-24, at halftime and York stayed close throughout the second half. Nicole Burg led York with 19 points, Beth Colim netted 12, Jessica Shue scored 11, and Amanda Pross finished with 10.

only Laker to reach double figures in scoring, Slayton grabbed 13 rebounds.

Wanda Swartzwelder, former Northern High standout, blocked three shots.

Jamie Workman, assistant coach, filled in for the regular head coach, Dennis Gibson, who was coaching the GCC men's team at the Maryland JUCO Tournament.

Duling again paced the Lakers Saturday evening at Essex as she netted a game-high 23 points and led the Lakers in a second-half rally.

Garrett trailed 26-21 at intermission, but chipped away at the deficit and took the lead midway through the second half.

Duling was also credited with four rebounds, while Swartzwelder pulled down eight of her team's 36 rebounds and LaRue dished out eight assists. Dawn DeShong recorded five rebounds.

Leading Essex in scoring was Carmen Hutchins with 19 points. Tina Lotz and Leigh Biggeman each finished with 13 points.

The Lakers will go into this weekend's JUCO Tournament as the fourth seeded team and will first play Catonsville at 8 p.m. Friday evening. Because the GCC men's team will also be playing that evening, Workman and assistant Marsha DeBerry will coach the women in that contest.

The best finish ever for a Garrett team was several years ago when the Lakers placed second in the JUCO tourney.

Huskies Win Easy Ones Before Losing To Rams

The Northern High boys' varsity recorded a 73-61 victory over visiting Union High School last Thursday and then embarrassed Oldtown Friday night, 61-17, also at the Cove before losing in Oakland to county rival Southern on Tuesday evening, 71-60 (see separate story).

The results left Coach Harv Speicher's team with a 14-5 record. The Huskies will host Mount Savage this evening and could meet the Rams a fourth time this season next week in the Region I Class A playoffs.

Jon and Tim Hinebaugh powered the Northern offense last Thursday against Union High School, as they scored 22 and 19 points, respectively. Hinebaugh was also credited with seven assists.

The Huskies jumped out to a 15-4 lead before the Tigers rallied to tie the score just before halftime. Northern was on top 21-15 at the end of the first quarter, but Union knotted the score at 35-35 late in the second quarter. A three-point bucket at the buzzer by Tim Hinebaugh gave Northern a 38-35 lead at intermission. The Huskies gained some breathing room in the third period and led 51-45 going into the final eight minutes.

Jon Hinebaugh led the Husky offense in the final period, when he scored 12 of his 22 points, including a six-for-six effort at the free throw line in the final 1:30. Denny Kosanic led Union and all scorers with his total of 23 points. Kenny Hawk and Chris Evans finished with 16 and 14 points, respectively. The loss dropped the Tigers' record to 7-8.

The Northern junior varsity won the first game, 47-31, over the Union jayvees. Andy Brenneman scored 12 points to lead the Huskies. Mark Hinebaugh added 11, and Aaron Stanton netted 10. Willie LaRue paced Union with 15 points.

Rob Speicher and Tim Hinebaugh each scored 15 points in the easy win over Oldtown on Friday.

The Huskies were never threatened in the game, as they held quarter leads of 14-6, 28-12, and 43-16, allowing Coach Speicher to clear his bench.

James Lease, Joe Lease, and Steve Swick each scored four points for the 2-15 Indians.

The Northern jayvees also won again, ripping the Oldtown junior varsity, 55-20, behind a 12-point effort by Joe Layman. Junior Alt scored seven to pace Oldtown.

Resurrected Rams, Experienced Huskies To Be Among Favorites At Regionals

by C. Speicher

It's time to kill Or Die. That is the gut gouging reality that 14 special athletes from Garrett County will have to grapple with at this weekend's Region 1A2A wrestling playoffs at North Hagerstown High School, where many are called, but few are chosen — the elect who conquer hell to advance to the heaven known as the Maryland Public Secondary School Athletic Association's championship finals.

Speaking of heaven, please also consider miracles; specifically, raising of the dead. Who would imagine that a resurrection could occur in Garrett County? Only someone with the kind of faith that moves mountains. Someone like Southern High School Wrestling Coach Dan Clark, who has ridiculed the odds while bringing back to ferocious life a sports program that before, even the most optimistic could hardly call viable.

Already this year two county high school varsity teams have left their permanent stamp on history: the gallant conquistadors of the Southern Rams state champion cross country team, and only the third regular-season undefeated varsity team in Northern High history, the 1993 volleyball squad.

The third sports "miracle," perhaps the greatest of all, belongs to Clark and his assistants. Working with a team that had not won a dual match in over half a decade, Clark led the Rams to a dual meet record of 10-2 this year. Yes, 10-2.

You're still not impressed? Wait until you hear this:

It is evident of state-class coaching when a team can boast of having the state's highest ranked wrestler in a given weight class. It raises the hair on your neck and arms when a team can brag of having two of the top ranked matmen in the state. When it just so happens that a school which had not won a dual match in five years suddenly emerges with two of the 13 highest ranked mat menaces in the state, things like logic, reason, and reality seem to dissolve into an Unsolved Mystery that will never be explained.

Nonetheless, reality rules. Southern Rams Pete Strawser (weight class 145, season record 23-1) and Jason Burgess (125; 22-2) are the final selections of the Md. State Wrestling Association ranking committee's highest rated competitors state-wide in their respective weight class divisions (2A1A) as playoffs begin.

Joining these mat masters at Hagerstown will be Northern terror Tirrell Burdock (112 pounds; season record 20-2), who placed their last year at states, and is currently state-rated second highest in his class divisions.

These favored three wrestlers, the county's best bets for state titles, will be accompanied in competition by many of their teammates, who have also qualified for playoffs.

Numerous other contenders, although unranked, merit attention:

For Southern, Mike Liller (130 pounds; 18-4) and Sonny Livengood (171; 21-2) may establish whether this has been a real or a fluke season of success for Southern. And up and coming freshmen Paul Tappan (103; 12-6) and Nathan Rickman (119; 18-7), who have wrapped semiprecocious regular seasons, could well burst into open flames and fame if they do well at their pivotal moments.

As for Huskies Dean Green (140; 17-03), Rich Bowser (152; 18-5), Matt Wolf (119; 11-4), Aaron Hordubay (103; 17-6), the command is "Mush!" Can they pull their own weight, or have they just had easy seasons? Bowser, Wolf, and Hordubay will come out with fangs bared. But Dean Green has a deep reservoir of power that he may not be aware of. If he taps it at his worst moment of need, he can call down thunder upon the opposition.

Corey Geis (12-8) and freshman Cody Brenneman (14-6) belong in a special class. Geis has performed nearly a 180-degree reversal since last year, and also has vet to "peak" Brenneman has done well as a freshman, but, as with Southern's Tepper and Rickman, it will be interesting to see how he copes as a freshman under playoff pressure.

Dark horses for Northern will be Lee Collins (189; 14-8) and Steve Savage (275; 14-6); for Southern, Howard Crocco (135; 18-8), each of whom will be aiming for major upsets, and are all quite capable of recording them. Because in the playoffs, it's a brand new season, and the major factor is not your previous conquests, but your current courage.

Ram Grapplers Edge Sentinels For 10th Win

The Southern High School wrestling team improved its regular season mark to 10-2 last Thursday evening with a big 34-32 victory over visiting Fort Hill.

The Rams won most of the lower weight class matches and then held on in the later bouts as the Sentinels closed the gap.

Recording pins for the Rams were Paul Tepper in the 103-pound weight class, Jason Burgess at 125, Mike Liller, 130, and David Crocco, 160.

Pete Strawser won the 152-pound division with a major decision, while Nathan Rickman, 119, and Kevin Andrews, 145, also won on points. Rickman's win was in overtime.

Winning via pins for Fort Hill were Andy Christ in the 112-pound class, Nathan Jenkins, 135, and Gary Malley, 171. Tom Brown won the heavyweight bout by technical fall. Steve Allen won by decision in the 189-pound division, and Louis Schadt was awarded a forfeit win in the 140-pound class.

The Rams, coached by Dan Clark, will compete this weekend at Boonsboro in the Regional Tournament.

SHS Freshmen End With Loss

The Southern High School freshmen boys' basketball team, coached by Mike Hill, concluded its season Saturday night with a 57-46 loss to the Beall freshmen.

Dave Stephens and Aaron Newcomb led the Rams in scoring with 14 and 12 points, respectively, while Nick Zaloga scored 19 and Chris Grimes netted 13 for the Mountaineers.

The Rams finished with a record of 7-4.

DNR To Stock Trout During Spring Months

Maryland Department of Natural Resources Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., announced this week that nearly 330,000 trout will be stocked this spring in lakes and streams across the state.

DNR's Freshwater Fisheries Division will stock mostly rainbow trout that range from 10 inches to 17 inches in length. Of the trout to be stocked, 45,000 brown trout will be placed in some of Maryland's better areas where long-term survival is expected.

Garrett County waterways slated for stocking are the following: Bear Creek, 9,000 trout; upper Savage River, 9,000; Savage River Reservoir, 4,000; Youghiogheny River, 3,000; Youghiogheny River, 3,000; Youghiogheny River, 3,000; Mill Run, 3,000; Muddy Creek, 2,000; Herrington Creek, 600; Little Youghiogheny River, 3,000; North Branch Potomac River, Barnum, 10,500; North Branch Potomac River, Kitzmiller, 4,000; Deep Creek Lake, 18,500; Piney Reservoir, 4,500; Broadford Lake, 1,500; Herrington Lake, 2,000; Accident Pond, 1,000; and Jennings Randolph Lake, 4,500.

"Marylanders can be very proud of this stocking program," said Governor William Donald Schaefer, "because it is a highly successful product that uses license revenues only -- no general tax dollars."

Dr. Brown added, "We expect trout anglers to be very pleased with this trout stocking. New stocking areas are included and the placement of brown trout in certain areas will provide good fishing well into the summer months."

The stocking schedule includes a listing of the rivers, streams and lakes that will be stocked, the number of trout to be stocked and the weeks in which stocking will take place. Information regarding stream closures, so that officials can stock trout, is also provided in the schedule. Inclusion in the "Put-and-Take" trout (stocking) areas means that an angler with a freshwater fishing license and trout stamp may keep up to five trout per day, instead of the general statewide limit of two trout per day.

New local stocking areas include the North Branch of the Potomac River from Jennings Randolph Lake upstream to the boundary of Potomac State Forest and the Youghiogheny River (Garrett County) from the bridge at I-68 downstream to the Youghiogheny Reservoir.

This year, good bets for early summer fishing for brown trout include the North Branch Potomac River at Barnum, W.Va., opposite Garrett County, and the Youghiogheny River near Friendsville.

The spring stocking schedule is available at most sporting goods stores or by calling the DNR Freshwater Fisheries Division at (410) 974-3061.

To the Editor:

I have a concern that's also a growing concern in America...welfare reform.

I am in a job where I hear a lot of problems and concerns every day. This one just keeps popping up in my daily life.

I am 25 years old. I have worked since I was 17. I now own my own business.

The working person pays for all the welfare in this state and in every other state in the country. I think it's time for the working person to take a stand.

I would like to address one situation I often hear about. For example: a woman with a couple of children gets a divorce. She receives child support based on her ex-husband's income. She receives that check once a month -- no taxes withheld. Then she receives her food stamps. What's next? But, of course, the welfare check. If her ex-husband doesn't carry health insurance, she will also receive a medical card -- all tax-free income.

Then, come January 1, she is really on pins and needles, waiting for her W-2 form. When it arrives, off to the accountant she goes, to file for her earned income credit. Why is this? Because she only wants to work six months out of the year to make sure she gets that extra money. Whose extra money? Yes, ours, the working people's.

If she gets lucky, she will go to the courthouse, file all the necessary papers, and the state will pay her property taxes. Ask yourself one question...Is this fair?

This state and county need welfare reform desperately. If every hard-working taxpayer out there would write to his congressman, senator, and the president, maybe they would take this matter a little more seriously.

I will be the first to admit there are people who need financial help -- like laid off coal miners and people who are recuperating after illness. Do these people ever get help? I believe not. Why? Because all their lives they have worked and put maybe $25 a week in savings to help put their children through college, or to retire. They go to ask for food stamps or a medical card and guess what they hear? "You have too much money in savings."

There are schools, streets and government offices to be cleaned. Let these welfare recipients who can work. Why should we carry their load?

A taxpayer.

P.S. What would this county be like without the taxpayer?

To the Editor:

In 1970, the Maryland General Assembly adopted an amendment to the State Constitution creating the General Assembly Compensation Commission which was charged with making recommendations to the legislature regarding all compensation matters.

Every four years, these recommendations are automatically adopted by the House and Senate unless a member of the Maryland General Assembly introduces a resolution to change any of the provisions recommended by the Commission.

On Monday, January 24, 1994, the General Assembly Compensation Commission Report was introduced and adopted in the House of Delegates. On February 3rd, I introduced a resolution (HJ 11) to the House of Delegates rejecting the three most disturbing aspects of the Commission's Report.

The Commission's recommendations are as follows: 1) The salary for members of the House and Senate will be raised from $28,000 to $29,700 over the next four years; 2) The pension will be raised from 2.5 percent to 3 percent per year of member's service; 3) The meal allowance will be lowered from $40 to $30 per day; however, the money will be disbursed to the members as an automatic per diem, as opposed to a reimbursement for actual expenses incurred. The 211 page report outlined numerous other recommendations for changes in the compensation package for items such as out-of-state travel, lodging, etc. These are also addressed in my resolution.

House Joint Resolution 11 will freeze the General Assembly salary at the 1994 level, freeze the pension at the 1994 level, and accept the recommendation of the Commission to decrease the meal allowance to $30, but will keep the current reimbursement schedule for actual expenses (not disburse an automatic $30 to each legislator per day).

Jim Portis Jr., Delegate

I feel very strongly that the Commission, which is made up of nine members selected by the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House, should not have the sole authority to make decisions regarding compensation for members of the Maryland General Assembly. I think elected officials should be responsible for making these decisions and held accountable for their votes on raising their own levels of compensation i.e. pay raises and pension levels. As state legislators, we need to lead by example. Why should we allow ourselves to accept a pay raise, an increase in the pension benefits, and an automatic meal allowance when state employees and workers in the private sector have not received pay raises for the past few years?

The U.S. Constitution was written so that members of the U.S. Congress are required to vote on their salary increases and compensation package, as well as suffer the consequences if they make irresponsible decisions. There is no reason why Maryland State legislators should be any different. We need to be accountable to our constituents when making all decisions, especially ones involving our salaries. Our constituents deserve the right to know how each of their elected representatives vote on a pay raise and total compensation package.

The resolution was submitted to the Speaker of the House before the courtesy bill filing date while another resolution regarding the Judicial Compensation Package was submitted several days earlier. Since the Judicial Compensation resolution was assigned to the House Appropriations Committee, it would follow that HJ 11 would be assigned to the Appropriations Committee as well, but it was not. Instead, it was assigned to the House Rules Committee, a committee traditionally known for not allowing any bills to pass favorably and for not even scheduling public hearings on legislation. House Joint Resolution 11 was, however, granted a public hearing scheduled for Friday, February 25th at 11:30 a.m.

If you would like to tell your legislators that you do not want them to accept pay raises, increases in their pensions, and increases in their meal disbursements, call them at 841-3000 or write to them at Lowe House Office Building, Annapolis, MD 21401-1991.

Sincerely,
Jim Portis Jr., Delegate

Wellness Together Represented In "Choose To Lose" Diet Book

The staff members of Wellness Together of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Health Department have learned that they will be represented in the book, "The Choose To Lose Diet: A Food Lover's Guide To Permanent Weight Loss," written by Dr. Ron Goor and his wife, Nancy, authors of the national best seller, "Later's Choice: A Food Lover's Guide To Lower Cholesterol."

A recipe that appeared in a cookbook produced by Kendra Stemple Todd, former health education coordinator at Garrett Memorial and former instructor of Wellness Together's Choose To Lose weight management class, will be published in the forthcoming revised edition of the book, due out in January 1995.

"The recipe for cocoa oatmeal cookies that will be published in the newest edition of 'The Choose To Lose Diet' was taken from a collection of recipes submitted by participants of Wellness Together's first Choose To Lose class. Having a recipe from our cookbook nationally published is an acknowledgement of the efforts of the 'Choose To Lose' class members and the Wellness Together staff to try a new way of eating that is easy, healthy and delicious," said Todd, who now works as a health educator for The Diet Modification Center and Corporate Health Services, both affiliated with the Charleston Area Medical Center in Charleston, W.Va.

Nancy Goor, who received a copy of the "Choose To Lose" class cookbook from Todd, said "What I like about the cocoa oatmeal cookie recipe is that it is very low in fat -- only four or five fat calories per cookie -- as well as easy to make, delicious, and my husband adores them!"

The recipe will be preceded in the book with the following description written by Nancy Goor: "These low-fat cookies are one of the many wonderful recipes found in 'Delightful Dishes by Friends Against Fat,' a cookbook compiled by participants of the first 'Choose To Lose' course given by Wellness Together of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Garrett County, Maryland. Thank you, Kendra Stemple Todd, and your participants!"

"I was very excited to be informed that Wellness Together, as well as Garrett County and its hospital would receive national recognition by being mentioned in 'The Choose To Lose Diet,'" commented Todd. "Wellness Together is a program that is truly dedicated to providing the residents of Garrett and the surrounding West Virginia counties with the tools and knowledge that can result in living a lifetime of good health."

Wellness Together's Choose To Lose program is based upon the Goors' book, "The Choose To Lose Diet." Kelley Nestor, instructor for the class, said, "Choose To Lose is a proven weight loss program that is geared toward people who want to lose weight as well as learn better eating habits. The program places an emphasis on learning to make educated choices regarding food intake and incorporates the role of exercise in weight loss and weight maintenance."

For more information about the Choose To Lose program, persons may contact the Wellness Together office at (301) 334-2155, ext. 443.

New Special Interest Classes Slated At GCC

In an effort to appeal to a variety of interests with the late spring semester scheduled to start at Garrett Community College the week of March 21, a number of special interest courses have been included, according to a college spokesperson. Most of these courses will be offered for the first time. They will end the week of June 6.

Among these new courses is Computer Assisted Design (ART 293), to be taught by Marne Hornum, graphic arts technician, on Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. In this course students will learn to use Pagemaker to design and produce their own brochures, flyers, newsletters, and specialized printed materials. No previous experience is necessary.

A new history course, The Reformation (HIS 293), will be taught by Rev. Steve Yelovich on Tuesday evenings from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. In this course students will study the political, religious, and intellectual upheaval of western Europe from the 15th to 17th centuries, including the Lutheran and Protestant revolt and the Roman Catholic counter reformation.

Watercolor Painting (ART 292), will be taught by Jim McNeill on Friday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon. In this course, students will learn new techniques and styles of painting with the delicate watercolor medium.

Registration is now being taken for these courses at the Registrar's Office of the college weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Students may also register by phone by calling 387-3044. Tuition will be waived for persons 60 years of age or older. Anyone desiring further information may call Joan Crawford at 387-3046.

Earns Degree

Michelle D. Proudfoot received a bachelor of science degree in graphic design and a minor in art history from Frostburg State University in December.

Ms. Proudfoot is currently working for Allegany Community College in Cumberland. She is a 1989 graduate of Southern High School.

She is the daughter of Linda Little, Keyser, W.Va. and Milton Proudfoot, Oakland.

Snowmobile Trails Closed In State Forest

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) State Forest and Park Service has announced that the snowmobile/ORV (off-road vehicle) trails at Potomac/Garrett State Forest in Garrett County will be closed until further notice.

The recent ice storms have caused severe damage and created hazardous conditions from a large number of trees and branches falling across about 25 miles of trails.

"We are seeking volunteers to assist the staff in this clean-up effort," said Steve Hamilton, manager of Potomac/Garrett State Forest. "If anyone is interested, please contact us."

Citizens are encouraged to contact the Potomac/Garrett State Forest Office at (301) 334-2038.

In the meantime, snowmobilers may use the trails at Savage River State Forest, which consists of 12 miles at the Meadow Mountain Trail and eight miles at Bowman Hill. Anyone interested in learning more about the trail at Savage River State Forest may call (301) 895-5759.

Cook Places Third In Md. Regional Poetry Contest

Local artist and poet Donald Cook, Oakland, recently shared third place honors in a poetry competition sponsored by the Western Maryland Writer's Workshop, in conjunction with Frostburg State University's (FSU) "Voices of the Land" and "Arts Alive" projects. The competition was judged by nationally known poets Marvin Bell, Barbara Goldberg, Maxine Kumin, and Marge Piercy.

"Both a poet and a visual artist, Cook searches for points of empathy and translation between local culture and the larger world, exploring, for example, the connections between ancient myths of the underworld and the omnipresent sense of underground in coal-mining regions," according to a spokesperson.

Speaking about Cook, Marvin Bell stated, "This poet's imagination is embedded in the reality of every poem. A clear intelligence. A fine ear."

In addition to receiving a stipend, the winners will join Bell, Kumin, and Piercy in a series of Frostburg and Hagerstown poetry readings and panel discussions focusing on the role of poetry in a time of increased ecological awareness.

More information may be obtained by contacting Barbara Hurd, Department of English, FSU, at 301-689-4221.

Flows To Fluctuate At Jennings-Randolph

Officials of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers have announced that flows from the Jennings-Randolph Lake will fluctuate significantly over the next several weeks while maintenance is being performed at the project.

Between the approximate hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., flow will be reduced to the minimum necessary to maintain proper water quality standards below the project, according to a spokesperson. Between approximately 4 p.m. and 8 a.m., flows will be increased substantially to release water which was stored during the day.

Those interested in using the river below the project should be aware of the possibility of significant rises in the river when the flow is increased in the late afternoon. The magnitude of the evening and overnight flows will depend on the rate of inflow during the day, but they should be expected to be considerably higher and swifter than normal, said the spokesperson.

The maintenance work began on February 15 and is expected to be completed early April.

BARTLETT AWARDS NHS STUDENT WITH FLAG - Teresa Knox, a Junior at Northern High School, was recently given a United States flag that had flown over the Capitol Building. Miss Knox, who is an Accident resident, was awarded the flag by Sixth District Congressman Roscoe Bartlett in recognition of her attainment of the school's highest average - 96% - in the contemporary problems class. Pictured above, left to right, are Bartlett, teacher George Schramm, and Miss Knox.

Rabbit Farming Prospects

Director of the Garrett County Department of Economic Development Tom Jones this week reported that "a tremendous amount of interest" has been shown by local residents regarding the possibility of growing rabbits for food during a meeting held last Thursday at the Northern Community Center with KLPCCO Foods, Inc., a West Virginia based company.

Jones estimated that nearly 200 prospective rabbit producers from all over the county turned out to learn more about the operation which is expanding its product line. He said that former veal producers could easily, and with little expense, convert their farms to rabbit-growing operations.

GCC Enrollment Decline

Garrett Community College President Dr. Stephen Herman reported that there has been a slight enrollment decline for the spring semester because of the unusually bad weather that has recently occurred. He reported that a total of 20 FTE's has been lost which represent primarily part-time, one-class enrollees.

In response to that decline, a "Spring has Sprung" semester will begin in March, he said.

Landfill Bids

Director of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling Rodney Giotfelty informed the commissioners this week that a bid opening for the construction of the new landfill will be held February 28 in Annapolis, and that another bid opening will be held Tuesday for the removal of timber at the King's Run dumpster site for expansion purposes.

Giotfelty then stated that the projected date for the opening of the new Delsignore landfill is late April or early May depending on the weather conditions.

MT. GROVE VFD NEWS

Larry Shaffer was given the nod for the position of chief of Company 7 Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Department in Horse Shoe Run, as elections were held recently. Shaffer, who led the fire fighters in that position in the late 80's, returns to the post with the task of conforming the department to the new Fire Commission mandates handed down to all fire departments in the state. Shaffer said compliance with the new rules are necessary for the department to retain proper state recognition which affects insurance premiums for homeowners in the Mt. Grove service area.

One of the requirements include the members successfully completing the WVU Firemanship course. Shaffer cites this as a strength of the department as new members Duane Ball, Scott Evans, Dan Hammel, Harlin Wolfe, Jeff Steele, Jeff Burdock, and Mark Knapp join the officers and other trained members: John Calcamp, Ellen Harsh, Mark Harsh, Tracy Harsh, Roger Helmick, Don Knapp Jr., Don Knapp Sr., Orville Knight, Shirley Knight, Neil Lewis, Andy Mathes, Robert Shaffer, Gary Shaffer, Guy W. Shaffer, Russ Simmons, and Judy Stemple.

The membership returned the following administrative officers to their posts: Dennis Roth, president; Mark Teets, treasurer; and Rod Stemple, sgt. of arms. Also installed were Brad Shaffer, secretary, and Bob Helmick, vice president.

Line officers for the year include: Jeff Harsh, assistant chief; Butch Wilson, fire captain; and Richard Helmick, rescue captain.

All officers are currently participating in Incident Command training classes being held at Parsons Fire Department.

In other news, Company 7 members are continuing to collect data for the Preston E-911 system. They made a door-to-door survey in the Horse Shoe Run-Mt. Grove area. Residents not yet contacted should see a fire fighter and supply this needed information.

Recent donations have been received from Willard Roth, Marie Teets, Ralph Gatto, O.B. Collins, and Miners and Merchants Bank of Thomas.

The annual Ramp Dinner will be held Sunday, May 1. The Potato Festival events will be increased to a two-day event this year: Saturday, Sept. 10 and Sunday, Sept. 11.

SOUP, SALAD SUPPER
An all-you-can-eat soup and salad supper will be served at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren on Saturday, Feb. 26, from 4 until 7 p.m. There will be vegetable soup and chili. Donations for adults will be $4 and for children, $3. Proceeds will be used to finance National Youth Conference attendees.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

Church Women United will observe World Day of Prayer on March 4 at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora. A covered dish dinner will be served at noon with the host church providing bread and beverages. Theme for the 1 p.m. program is "Go, See, Act," written by Christian women of Palestine.

MOUNTAINEERS LEARN ABOUT HEART HEALTH

Devotions for the Feb. 14 meeting of the Egdon Mountaineer 4-H were led by the Health Committee Lindsey Teets, Christopher Mullenax, Jeremiah Leather and Dana Leather using "Love" as their theme. Adam Bachtel led the pledges.

Linda Lewis, organizational leader, presented facts concerning activity and diet which make members "Heart Smart."

Becky Snyder reported that Club Congress, held in Chicago, encouraged friendship and provided opportunity to meet members from other states as well as providing a chance to see such places as Sears Tower, the planetarium and Museum of Natural History as well as the large stores: Marshall Field and Carson, Pierces Scott. It will move from Chicago for the first time next year when it will be held in Orlando.

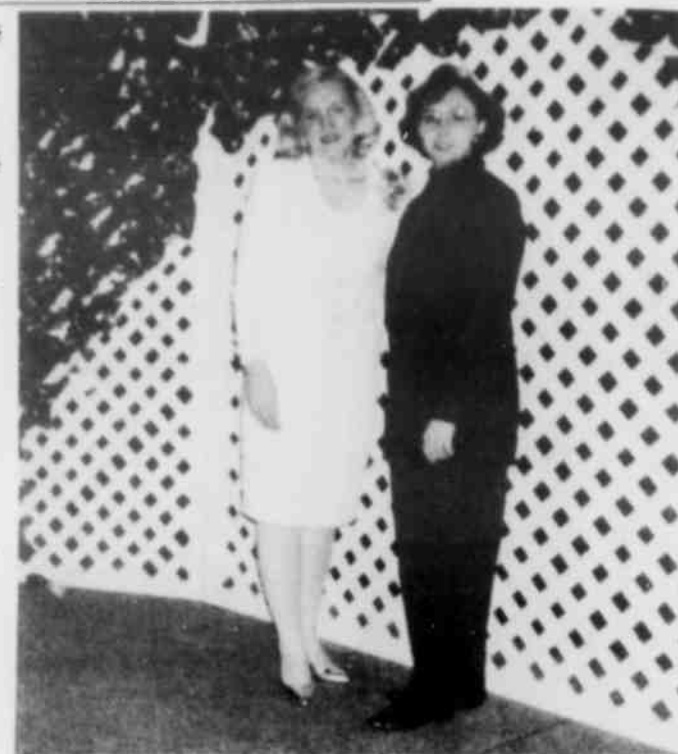

In reporting on the Dec. 30 trip to Cortland Acres, it was noted that those who haven't contributed the $2.50 cost share for the birthday gifts are asked to bring it to the next meeting.

Also, those who have not paid for their insurance should do that. New names for Cortland patient "grandparents" were distributed for members to send cards.

Upcoming dates to remember are March 11-13 camp for teen leaders and charters at Jackson's Mill and March 18-20 Dance Training weekend there. County Roundup will be at Kingwood April 16; talks or demonstrations need to be prepared.

Demonstrations and talks were given by Lindsey Teets, Sarah Snyder, David Collins, Dawn Rembold, Malinda Mayne, Brian Corbin, Jeremiah Leather, and Maria Harsh.

The next meeting will be March 14 at 7 p.m. with the program on parliamentary procedure and the music committee in charge of devotions. There were 21 members and six adults in attendance, including the four first-year members who participated in a workshop prior to the meeting. Maria Harsh and Jessica Shaffer provided recreation for concluding the meeting. By Kelly Kowalkoski, reporter.

AURORA SCHOOL NEWS

In addition to the elementary students previously mentioned who participated in the recent Math Field Day, those for the junior high were Justin Harsh, grade 7; Tina Fint, grade 8; and Courtney Fint, grade 9. Aurora eighth graders Brian Gatto and Adrian Stemple are the Golden Horseshoe participants this year.

School winners who will be participating in the March Regional Spelling Bee are Anna Poling from grade 5 with Matthew Mayne the alternate; Meghan Durst from grade 8 with Malinda Mayne from grade 7, the alternate.

A special PTO meeting to consider the school excess levy will be held Friday, Feb. 25, at 7 p.m. in the school double-wide. Each family should have received the report card showing the school's placing in standardized testing as compared with the county and state and may wish also to discuss that. It shows that local students are "doing very well."

Preliminary plans for next year include the housing of grades K-6 at the Aurora site with 7-9 at Albright. This includes the loss of teachers and three split classes. A very limited program will be offered in the junior high because of the loss of faculty.

All grades have been participating in candy bar sales, with proceeds going to the school. Top prize winners will be announced on Monday, Feb. 28, although some prize monies have already been awarded.

Aurora School recently completed the Partners in Excellence program and noted appreciation to all who helped in this project. As a result, the school received one new set of World Book Encyclopedia, a set of the Science Encyclopedia, two science reference books, and 10 student dictionaries. Students participating in the program by reading 10 books and having 10 sponsors were: Adrian Gatto, Ryan Feather, Billie Moats, Sharon Fajardo, Amanda Burgess, Max Fajardo, Nicole Britner, Shelly Fajardo, Melissa Deal, Keith Swift, Homer Huffman, Melissa Morris, and Bryan Pase was given a certificate of achievement for reading seven books and having seven sponsors.

The school also noted appreciation to all who have helped support the junior high basketball team.

Weekend guests of Herb and Jean Starr, Stemple Ridge, were Linda Ayers and granddaughter, April Lily, and Dan Liston, all Farmington, Pa.; Richard Harsh, Mrs. Starr's brother, Shirley Poling, and their daughter, of Ohio. They above also visited with their grandfather or father, Harold Harsh.

Trevor Spaid returned last week to the home of his parents, Ronnie and Angie Spaid, Egdon, but, after his hospitalization at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, was taken Monday to Cumberland for insertion of tubes in his ears.

Pat and Adrian Stemple, Frank and Wilda Stemple, Charlie and Lurleen Knotts have all returned to their homes after spending much of the winter at Hunter's Island, S.C.

Marie Mullenax is recuperating well from recent heart surgery at Monongalia General Hospital and expects to return mid-week to her home at Horse Shoe Run.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Higberger and friends of Latrobe, Pa., were Saturday visitors with Mrs. Louella Fike at her home. On Sunday evening, Mrs. Fike and her grandson, Brian Fike, of Terra Alta, attended a birthday party for 4-year-old Amanda Beckman at the home of her mother, Sylvia Beckman, Loch Lynn.

Ted Stieringer of Aurora was a surgical patient last week in Morgantown.

Albert "Corky" Wiles was a recent surgical patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, but has returned to his home near Aurora.

Kathryn and Ross Harvey of Clarksburg were Friday visitors at Aurora with her brothers, Elmer "Pete" Stemple, Paul Stemple, and Frank and Wilda Stemple.

Mrs. Gladys Lockhart of Amboy was admitted last week to Preston Memorial Hospital for observation. She underwent surgery and expects to return home this week.

Mrs. Deloris Slawter of Aurora was a Monday surgical patient at Garrett Memorial and returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Teets of Silver Lake were weekend visitors in Virginia with their daughters and families, the Don Shepherds at Salem and the Merlin Reish family at Harrisonburg.

PROMISE Plans Upcoming Events

Prestonians Reaching Out Meeting Individuals for Support and Enrichment (PROMISE) met Feb. 16 at the Preston County Sheltered Workshop, Reedsville. President Evelyn Bishoff conducted the meeting.

Members of the group plan to participate in a craft show for non-profit organizations, March 18-19, at the Mountaineer Mall, by making Easter eggs to sell. Employees, parents and caregivers of the Preston County Sheltered Workshop will be contacted to see if they are interested in making crafts or volunteering to help at a booth. Tables may be rented for $2.

Group members Evelyn Bishoff, Shirley Feather and Harvey Burke will assist with the Sheltered Workshop's upcoming bowl-a-thon fundraiser at Pineview Lanes, on Feb. 25. During the annual National Night Out, PROMISE members will participate by selling pop, sloppy joes, and funnel cakes, and by providing games.

An item on the meeting's agenda was to check a local building to see if clothes are still stored there, and to make arrangements for their possible distribution.

The next meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 16, in the lunchroom of the Sheltered Workshop.

T/EP Students Recognized For High Achievement

East Preston Junior High School, combined with One Valley Bank of Terra Alta, has announced the Blue-Gold Club for Academic Achievement for the first semester of the 1993-94 school year.

All students who obtain a 3.7 GPA or above for the semester will be issued a plastic card indicating membership. This card will allow free admission for the member to all East Preston-sponsored events, including athletics, drama, music, dances, etc., when presented at the door.

If a student who is a member of the Blue-Gold Club should fall below the necessary 3.7 GPA, he/she will return the card to the office upon request.

"The Blue-Gold Club is an attempt to recognize and reward, in a meaningful way, those students who spend the long hours necessary to achieve such a high grade average," said T/EP Principal David L. Toothman.

Household Help

by John Amantea

The magazine ad has the window of your dreams but will the treatment work in your home? You need answers. What colors does it come in? How does it operate? Is it easy to clean? Does it come with a guarantee? Where can I buy it? Will it fit my odd-shaped windows?

If you've ever tried to track down additional product information from most home furnishings advertisers, you probably know how frustrating it can be. Studying the fine print in the ad, you find the manufacturer's phone number. You finally get through only to discover that the operator cannot answer your queries and isn't sure who should speak to you. After a series of switches, you wind up in the voice mail of someone who "may" know the answers, but will be out of the office for an indeterminate amount of time.

Fortunately, one manufacturer — Hunter Douglas Window Fashions — has addressed this problem by establishing its own "Customer Information Center." Unique in the window coverings industry, this service was created specifically to answer questions about all Hunter Douglas products from consumers responding to advertised toll-free numbers. For general information, they can call 1-800-937-7895.

As a follow-up to the call, the consumer is sent within 24 hours a "full-filler package," containing product samples, brochures, and a copy of the Hunter Douglas Lifetime Guarantee, plus the names of authorized local dealers.

My wife and I recently had our living room picture window replaced with a bay window. Having had no experience with such a window, we had no idea what to purchase as a window covering.

We shopped around and got some good ideas from a local Hunter Douglas dealer. Admittedly, we didn't go with their product for budgetary reasons but we did get some wonderful ideas which we implemented.

I will not and cannot recommend brand names in this space but I will tell you that services such as the toll-free number instituted by Hunter Douglas are invaluable to the consumer. You can pick the brains, so to speak, of the experts for ideas on what you need and you are under no obligation to buy anything from them. When all is said and done, you may decide to do so. If not, you at least come away with some useful information. Kudos to Hunter Douglas for providing this service to the public!

Home Tips

EXTRA BUTTONS — Here's what I do with those extra buttons that come with new garments. You can never find them when you need them.

I stitch one of the buttons to the inside of a pocket on the garment or under a collar. When a button gets lost and needs replacing, a replacement is handy. Be sure to keep other loose buttons secured in a jar with a lid or in a plastic container. Myrna T. West Trenton, N.J.

HARD WATER FIGHTER — Another use for white vinegar is to add one tablespoon to the bottom of the dishwasher and you can use any dishwasher soap.

The dishes come out sparkling clean, even where I live where water is hard and has many mineral deposits. Stephanie V., East Fishkill, N.Y.

LABEL IT — Label all containers with leftovers by using masking tape and a felt-tip pen. This way, there will be no surprises in the refrigerator. Ann P., Hallieville, Ark.

Geography Bee Winner Noted

Haley Gillespie, a fifth grader at Broad Ford Elementary, was the winner in that school's first-round Geography Bee. The contest is sponsored nationally by National Geographic World, the National Geographic Society's magazine for children.

In the first round, the students answered oral questions. Miss Gillespie has since competed in the second round, which was a written test. The results of this contest, in which the individual winners from each local school took part, will be released this week.

The winners from the second round will move on to the state Bee, which is scheduled for sometime in April.

New Horizons Slates Career Planning Classes

The New Horizons Program, providing services for single parents, homemakers, displaced homemakers, and sponsors of The Caring Connection Program, which serves adolescent single parents and pregnant teens, in cooperation with the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College, will offer a spring series of Career Planning classes beginning in March. The classes are offered in five-week increments, meeting twice weekly on Monday and Wednesday, from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. at the McHenry Campus of GCC. The next scheduled class for spring will be held from Monday, March 21, through Wednesday, April 20.

This career assessment course is designed for students to identify their training needs and to prepare for employment. Topics to be considered include skills assessment complete with interest testing, career information, resume writing, job applications, job search strategies, and interviewing techniques.

Participants of the New Horizons Program are encouraged to take this class before pursuing other vocational training. Tuition assistance is available to those who qualify for New Horizons. Transportation assistance is also available to income-eligible single parents and homemakers who are part of the New Horizons Program, and child care to adolescent single parents and pregnant teens through The Caring Connection Program.

Interested persons may register for either class through the New Horizons office. Information on eligibility for the program and its services, as well as tuition availability, may be obtained by calling New Horizons at 387-3071, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays. New Horizons is located at the McHenry Campus of Garrett Community College in the Center for Community and Continuing Education in Room 302.

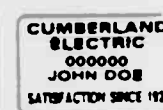

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is 75% of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,000, which is 11% of the total program budget.

Southern Band Members Play In WV Honor Band

Six members of the Southern Garrett Band were selected to participate in the 16th annual West Virginia University Honor Band. The students went to Morgantown, W.Va., for the event over the weekend of Feb. 10-12. More than 300 students from a five-state area were involved in the event.

These students auditioned on Thursday evening to be placed in one of three bands. Megan Price, oboe, and Jennifer Wilson, clarinet, placed in the West Virginia band. Carrie Clever, bassoon, Crystal Stacy, flute, and Kendra Switzer, trombone, placed in the Japan band. Keela Pike, tenor sax, placed in the Florida band.

tenor sax, placed in the Florida band.

These bands were named for their conductors home state or country. The conductors included Louis A. Casine, W.Va.; Dr. Robert Ryker, Japan; and Dr. David Waybright, Florida.

The musicians spent Friday in rehearsals and master classes presented by the WVU music faculty. A concert by the WVU wind ensemble was presented Friday night, under the direction of Dr. Don Wikox.

The band finished rehearsals on Saturday morning, and presented a concert in the afternoon in the WVU Music Center.

Duet To Perform

The Menders, a gospel duet from Burnside, Ill., will be sharing their musical ministry during the 10:45 a.m. service at the Oakland

Church of the Nazarene, 203 South 8th St. Host pastor, Rev. Bruce Knorpp, invites all who enjoy gospel music to share this service. Subscribe to The Republican "Brighter Than Snow"

It's a Saturday morning in February. As you languidly stretch and open your eyes, bright light meets your reluctantly rising lids.

Yet, the sky, from your horizontal position, is a solid blanket of gray. Puzzled, you arise to find a white covering of snow reaching the horizon...so bright as to illumine the entire room as would the noonday sun. A perfect bright, snowy Saturday...a reflection of the icy weather, no less.

Can you imagine a light more perfect than this? In Psalm 136:2, we read, "the perfection of beauty, God shines forth." Even through cloudy circumstances, God's brightness abounds, disguising the chill.

God is with you always...in dark times as well as joyous ones. This Sabbath, may we remember the words of the Psalmist David, as he praises our Heavenly Father: "even the darkness is not dark to Thee, the night is bright as the day; for darkness is as light with Thee" (Psalm 139:12).

THE WAYSIDE INN
February 27, 1994

Background Scripture:
Luke 23:32-47, 24:13-35
Devotional Reading:
Mark 15:33-37

I have caught myself saying "If I die...when, of course, I should have said, "When I die." Whether that is just a habit of speech or an unconscious slip that betrays an inner and latent hope that I might personally escape what is the destiny of every living creature, I am not sure.

Maybe it is that, having lived with fears and crises throughout my life and been spared many "close ones," I now unconsciously hope that I shall get through this one, too. Rationally, I know better. No amount of cleverness, will, luck or even good contact can intervene because it is part of God's plan.

Recently I found these words of St. Augustine: "There is only one thing you can be sure of that you will die, everything else in this life, good or bad, is uncertain except death." At first, I was uncomfortable with these words, but I soon realized my discomfort is only the result of a limited perspective.

A MATTER OF HOW
So, it's not a question of whether we will die, but how. Look at the way Jesus died! Betrayed by one of his disciples, railroaded on a trumped-up charge, tortured and denied virtually any shred of human dignity, he nevertheless died in a way that put to shame the living of all others. "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do" (23:34). With those ten words he made himself victor instead of victim. People did their worst, but their worst was not strong enough to overcome his best. In the midst of his agony and degradation, he was magnanimous to repentant thief he promised, "Truly, I say to you, today you will be with me in paradise" (23:43). And, at that final moment he took himself out of the hands of those who nailed him to the cross. "Father, into thy hands I commit my spirit!" In the street vernacular, "Man! That's living!"

The death of Jesus stands in stark contrast to the living that many of us do during World War II, Robert D. Abrahams wrote:

For some men die by shrapnel And some go down in flames, But most men perish inch by inch.

In play at little games Dying "inch by inch" allows us to continue under the delusion that we are living, that we are escaping death. Like the epitaph I copied years ago, "Died at 45, buried at 62." We all know someone like that, don't we? As someone has said, "Some die without having really lived, while others continue to live, in spite of the fact that they have died."

THE WAYSIDE INN
Basically, we can die more victoriously if we accept that death is part of God's plan for life. Life on earth is not intended to last forever. Life, as we know it now, and death, as we perceive it, are only stopping places along the way to our ultimate destiny. Recently, my wife and I were forced to quickly find another house to move into for at least three months because of substantial water damage to the underside of our house. In the hurried preparation to move out of the house where I expected to spend the rest of my life, it dawned on me that that house is only a stopping place on my journey—even when we move back into it.

Cicero said, "I depart from life as from an inn, and not as from my home." And St. Augustine wrote: "the man journeying to his own country must not mistake the inn for his home." That's the mistake we make—mistaking the inn of earthly life for our home country. When we see it as only a stopping place along the way, we can say with Jesus, "Father, into thy hands I commit my spirit!"

WEPCO Reps Participate In Mortgage Program

Vicki Thayer, Karen Moran, and Sue Fazenbaker, representing WEPCO Federal Credit Union, Bloomington, attended the 1994 Mid-Atlantic Regional CUNA Mortgage User's Conference held January 27, in Williamsburg, Va. A total of 75 mortgage loan officers and management personnel from participating credit unions in Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia, the District of Columbia and North Carolina attended.

During the conference, CUNA Mortgage management representatives announced the region's "remarkable increase" in production over the past two years. Mortgage loan production in the region had increased over 433% in the past two years, with 1993 production reaching $130 million in mortgage loans to members. Eight mortgage loan officers/management personnel were recognized as professional mortgage counselors, including David H. Lucas, III, vice president at WEPCO and a resident of Keyser, W.Va. An award that is presented in recognition of continuing education and dedication to professional mortgage loan services within the credit union system.

Thayer, Oakland branch manager/vice president, Moran, Bloomington, mortgage loan officer, and Fazenbaker, Oakland mortgage loan officer, are all continuing their education with CUNA in order to attain their designations as professional mortgage counselors.

Glimpse Of The Past ...

FLOODING struck Crellin in recent weeks, and before the construction of several flood control dams around Oakland, the downtown of the county seat was flooded on a number of occasions. These photos of the Second Street Liberty Street Green Street Intersection were taken

Some Maryland Schools Already Meeting Standards

State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick recently released the 1993 results of state tests designed to drive school improvement in Maryland's public schools. School-by-school data, which provide the basis for school improvement decisions, show that although schools are not expected to meet rigorous state standards until 1996, a number of schools have already met these standards in one or more of the curriculum areas tested. Grasmick said that the Maryland School Performance Assessment Program (MSPAP) provides information to each school on how well it is helping its students apply knowledge learned in the classroom to real-life problems and to use higher order thinking skills. The results of the 1993 MSPAP administration also provide baseline data that will be used to identify elementary and middle schools eligible for possible reconstitution, starting in 1995.

Grade 3 results show 29 out of 782 elementary schools have met at least one of the three standards for that grade. Seventy-one elementary schools have met at least one of four standards at the grade 5 level.

Data also show that schools in 21 out of 24 local school systems have met or are close to meeting standards. For example, while only 20 elementary schools have met the standard in grade 3 mathematics, 92 elementary schools show at least half of their students scoring at a satisfactory level in that subject area. In grade 5 mathematics, 70 elementary schools have met the standard, and an additional 171 schools show at least half of their students scoring at the satisfactory level. While five out of 230 middle schools have attained the mathematics standard, 52 schools have at least half of their students scoring at the satisfactory level and are within reach of the standard.

"With continued progress in curriculum and instruction reform, most of these schools that are close to reaching standards will likely begin reaching satisfactory standards in the 1994 and 1995 MSPAP administration," Grasmick said.

"The Maryland School Performance Program and the performance assessments represent a far-reaching system of reform that requires deep commitment on the part of every school and classroom in Maryland," she said. "We are encouraged by what we see in the 1993 results. Many individual improvement efforts are taking place in schools across the state. When we are able to organize these individual changes into total, systemic changes in instruction -- and in training for better instruction -- we will see real gains in the MSPAP."

Maryland teachers administered the MSPAP in May 1993 to students in grades 3, 5, and 8. The tests assess specific, high-level learning outcomes set by Maryland educators and the Maryland State Board of Education in 1990. Results are based on standards of satisfactory and excellent performance set by the state board. Scores are divided into five performance levels, with level one being the highest and level five the lowest. The Satisfactory Performance standard for schools means that 70% of students scored at level three or better. Excellent Performance has 25% of students scoring at level two or better.

In releasing the data, Grasmick expressed encouragement that a significant number of schools are within reach of attaining a satisfactory standard of performance. She emphasized that when the Maryland Functional Tests, which mean basic levels of performance, were introduced in the 1980s, the ninth grade pass rates were often below 50%. The pass rate in most subject areas is now in the vicinity of 90%.

"Although the MSPAP is a very high level test," she said, "our experience with the functional tests gives us reason to believe that schools will make major strides in the coming years. It is important that parents and communities support teachers and principals so that schools can help their students move to higher performance levels."

Maryland has been among the first of 22 states that are beginning to use extended-responsible, open-ended testing programs. It is being administered in both Taiwan and Germany, and Maryland is using these results to help interpret the state's scores in relation to the instructional program.

February Is Senior Assisted Housing Month

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging (AAA) has joined the Maryland Office on Aging and AAA's throughout the state in observing February as "Senior Assisted Housing Month."

Senior Assisted Housing is a level of housing between independent living and institutionalization. It combines housing with services for frail elderly who require assistance with daily activities and who are unable to live independently.

In Garrett County, available senior assisted housing is known as "group model." Similar to a personal care home, "group" assisted housing utilizes small facilities (often personal homes) where four to 15 frail elderly persons share a single household. Residents have a private or semi-private bedroom and share common rooms of the home. Included in the monthly fee are all meals, laundry, assistance with medication, personal care and 24-hour supervision.

Senior Assisted Housing is a service administered by the Maryland Office on Aging. Homes are certified yearly by the office and are monitored quarterly at the local level by the Area Agency on Aging. Senior Assisted Housing is a viable option to nursing home placement for many frail elderly. State subsidies are granted to support the cost of providing services to eligible, low-income elderly persons.

Certified homes in Garrett County include Grant View and Totten View, owned and operated by Paul Tasker, at 334-3387; and Truesdell Home for Seniors and Rose Terrace, owned and operated by Community Action Committee and AAA, at 334-9431.

For more information about assisted housing, persons may contact AAA at 334-9431.

A special thanks to: Brownings Deep Creek Quarry, who donated a load of gravel; Royal Oaks Inn, who donated bedrooms; Dreamland Motel, who discounted bedrooms; American Rent All Sales, who donated tents; Dr. Dona Alvarez, Dr. Jerry Adams, both of Oakland, and Kathy Tschiegg, R.N., of Orrville, Ohio, who is involved in medical outreaches in Central America. They flew to Tegucigalpa, Honduras and escorted two of the injured girls back to the U.S. where Martha was admitted to Ruby Memorial Hospital, in Morgantown, W.V., and Mary Kay was released to come home. After a week at Morgantown, Martha was transferred to the Garrett Co. Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

Martha has been released from the hospital and is recuperating from second and third degree burns, fractured pelvic, and a fractured neck.

Mary Kay is recuperating from a fractured back, ribs, and elbow, and also her neck needed surgical attention.

The Lord has been very good to us as a family, and we desire that God's name would be uplifted through this experience in the home, church, and community.

Previous Oakland Fire Reported

With the major structure fire in downtown Oakland on February 13 still fresh in the memories of our readers, we decided there would be significant interest in this account of a similar fire on the same block in Oakland that occurred in July of 1898. Seven business locations were destroyed in that place. The story appeared in the Thursday, July 14, 1898, issue of The Republican.

THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1898.

The Oakland fire of yesterday contained the following very pertinent remarks concerning the fire in Oakland on Tuesday. We trust the same may be read and thoroughly digested by those of our citizens who have always been, and probably are yet, opposed to anything approaching adequate fire protection for the town.

The conflagration which visited a neighboring city in Western Maryland elicited the prompt and hearty response of the firemen of this city and the cooperation of the business and other citizens. The aid was cheerfully extended and gratefully received. But Oakland's fire fighters with such inferior means as they possessed had already staved the ravages of the devouring element. They made a splendid fight, and doubtless the same spirit manifested in conquering the fire will be shown in reducing the property destroyed.

The penalty for not having appropriate fire apparatus has been paid by many a Maryland town. Too many lessons have been taught in this line to allow them to pass unheeded in places yet unheeded.

LEWIS HOBSON FREE.

Lieutenant Aires and Lieutenant Men Given for the Merrimac Heroes.

The Spanish authorities consented last Wednesday morning to exchange Lieutenant Hobson and his men, and a truce was established for that purpose. The place selected for the exchange was under a tree between the American and Spanish lines, two-thirds of a mile beyond the entrenchments occupied by Colonel Wood's Rough Riders and near General Wheeler's headquarters.

The American prisoners left the Reina Mercedes hospital, on the outskirts of Santiago, where they had been confined, in charge of Major Irls, a Spanish staff officer, who speaks English well. The prisoners were conducted to the meeting place on foot, but were not blindfolded.

Col. John Jacob Astor and Lieutenant Miles, accompanied by Interpreter Maestro, were in charge of the Spanish prisoners who were to be given in exchange. These consisted of Lieut. Amelio Velez and Lieutenant Aurelius, a German, belonging to the Twenty-ninth Regular Spanish Infantry, who were captured at El Caney last Friday. Lieut. Adolfo Aires of the First Provisional Regiment of Barcelona, one of the most aristocratic military organizations of the Spanish army, and thirteen non-commissioned officers and privates, Lieutenant Aires and a number of the men were wounded in the fight at El Caney. The Spanish prisoners were taken through the American lines mounted and blindfolded.

The meeting between Colonel Astor and Major Irls was extremely courteous, but very formal, and no attempt was made by either of them to discuss anything but the subject in hand.

Major Irls was given his choice of the three Spanish lieutenants in exchange for Hobson, and was also informed that he could have all of the fourteen men in exchange for the American sailors. He selected Lieutenant Aires, and the other two Spanish officers were conducted back to Juraguá.

Just as everything was finished and the two parties were separating, Major Irls turned and said courteously enough, but in a tone which indicated considerable defiance and gave his hearers the impression that he desired hostilities to be renewed at once.

"Our understanding is gentlemen, that this truce comes to an end at 5 o'clock."

Colonel Astor looked at his watch, bowed to the Spanish officer, without making a reply, and then started back slowly to the American lines, with Hobson and his companions following.

As Hobson and the other men of the Merrimac approached to the first line of entrenchments occupied by the Rough Riders, low murmurs ran from one end of the line of cowboys and frontier athletes to the other. By the time the returning party reached them every man was on his feet, cheering wildly and rushing over every obstacle that chance had in their way in their efforts to reach Hobson and his party and grasp them by the hand.

The released prisoners were soon surrounded and compelled to stop to receive the greetings, congratulations and vigorous heartfelt handshaking of men they had never seen before. Submerged cavalrymen, who had spent their lives in the saddle, on the plains of Arizona, New Mexico or other Western States or Territories, and who did not know the difference between a ship's masthead and keel, threw their arms around the sailor boys and literally dragged them over the entrenchments, all the time sending out yells that under other circumstances would have struck terror to hearts even as gallant as those of the Merrimac heroes.

No mountain fastness of the West ever resounded from an Indian war dance that equaled the wild outbreak of American spirit which occurred at this meeting of the sailors who did their duty with every Spanish gun in the harbor trained upon them, and the hardy men who, from the day of their arrival in Cuba, have fought their way over the bodies of their own dead and wounded to the very gates of the city which they will gladly storm again when ordered to do so.

The Seventy-first New York Volunteers, near the Rough Riders, was the next regiment to fall upon Hobson and his men, and almost immediately the Ninth and Tenth Cavalry, both colored regiments, joined in the general enthusiasm. Cheer after cheer arose as Hobson and his companions forced their way through the lines of white and colored soldiers.

Hobson, as far as possible, grasped each hand extended toward him, and neither he nor his men made any protest against the incontinent crowd and jostling which they had to undergo.

The young officer grasped the hands of the colored troopers of the Ninth and Tenth Cavalry and expressed his thanks for their patriotic welcome with as much heartiness as he showed toward men of his own race. He and all his men were overcome by the reception accorded them, and tears rolled down their cheeks as the soldiers crowded around them.

CONGRESS HAS ADMIRER.

Cheers in the House for the President, Admiral Dewey and General "Joe" Wheeler—Patriotic songs.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The House adjourned precisely at 2 o'clock. Immediately there were cheers, followed by singing of patriotic songs. Representative Brownwell of Ohio proposed three cheers for President McKinley, which were given twice, over by the republicans. Then followed cheers joined by the entire House for Admiral Dewey and General "Joe" Wheeler.

The whole House was one vast demonstration and flags were passed about to every member and were enthusiastically waved while the members sang the close of the Fifty-fifth Congress.

The Senate adjourned sine die at 2:00 p. m. In executive session all nominations sent in by the President today were confirmed.

DEAR GENERAL.—Please take notice that the great victory at Santiago on Sunday, July 3rd, which has brought such rejoicing throughout our country, was won under the command of Commodore Schley, a citizen of the Sixth Congressional District. Please do not kick yourself on account of this another laurel won for the Sixth District.

The children from the Fresh Air Society will arrive in Oakland on Friday, the 15th, on the 6:30 p. m. train. The bodies who have kindly consented to take them will please meet their charges at the depot. Dr. J. Lee Robinson will give any medical aid desired. A. C. Tasker.

SOME persons say it is natural for them to lose flesh during summer.

But losing flesh is losing ground. Can you afford to approach another winter in this weakened condition?

Coughs and colds, weak throats and lungs, come quickest to those who are thin in flesh, to those easily chilled, to those who have poor circulation and feeble digestion.

Scott's Emulsion

of cod liver oil with hypophosphites does just as much good in summer as in winter. It makes flesh in August as well as April. You certainly need as strong nerves in July as in January. And your weak chest and lungs should be healed and strengthened without delay.

OAKLAND'S BIG FIRE.

Seven Buildings Totally Destroyed.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $30,000.

D. E. Offutt & Sons' Big Store, the Oakland Pharmacy, the Malette and the "Democrat" Buildings Among those Burned.

WORK OF FIREMEN UNEXCELLED.

Where those Burned Out are now Located. Business Complexion in the Town Somewhat Changed.

On Tuesday morning of this week at a few minutes before four o'clock Mr. C. L. Haight, a clerk in the employ of Mr. Joseph E. Harned, proprietor of the Oakland Pharmacy, was aroused from his sleep by a roaring and crackling noise under his window and a flare of light in his room. He hastily arose and upon investigation he discovered that the saloon owned by James J. Reynolds, adjoining was on fire. He immediately gave the alarm and in a few minutes he was joined by Dr. Henry W. McComas, who had been out on professional business and had just returned to his office. Shortly after this a general alarm was given by the blowing of the electric light plant whistle and the ringing of the Lutheran church bell. This had the effect to arouse the whole town and in a remarkably short time hundreds of people were at work vainly striving to check the rapidly advancing flames and in saving goods from the burning buildings and those which were in danger of burning.

As above stated the fire originated in the Reynolds saloon and almost before any thought could be done the flames had reached the way to the east. The Democrat building on the east, the Offutt building on the north and the Ravenscroft building on the south, but owing to the extremely dry weather which has prevailed here for the past three or four weeks these buildings burned like tinder and in a remarkably short time they were in ashes. The flames from the Offutt building on the north communicated very quickly to a two-story frame structure in the rear of the Garrett County Bank and a new two-story and basement building belonging to Mr. D. E. Offutt, situated on Railroad street and occupied by Mr. J. Forward as a dwelling and confectionery store and Mr. W. A. Daily as a law office. Both these buildings it was almost impossible to save and they soon burned to the ground. On the south adjoining Senator Ravenscroft's building was the new structure erected about a year ago by Mr. W. H. Malette and occupied by John Feltz, jr., as a general store; M. Cohen, tailoring establishment and H. C. Smouse, jeweler, on the ground floor, and Miss Mrs. Spindler, seamstress, on the second floor. This building was built against the Ravenscroft building and it could not have been saved even had a dozen streams of water been turned on it.

The Ravenscroft building was occupied by Mr. Joseph E. Harned as a drug store on the first floor and as a dwelling on the second floor. When the alarm was sounded he and family were asleep and they had but time to escape from the building in the clothes they could grasp as they hurried from their rooms. Mr. Harned's little boy was carried out wrapped in a blanket with no clothing on except his night dress and was taken to a neighbor's house where he was found later by his mother who was almost crazed with the fear that he had been left in the burning building.

Robert Shirer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Shirer, of Oakland, who is also employed as a clerk by Mr. Harned, probably had the most narrow escape with his life. He was sleeping in a room at some distance from Mr. Harned's bedroom and when he was awakened the foot of his bed was in flames. He escaped with slight burns to his lower limbs and the loss of his wardrobe.

All the buildings burned were on the south side of Second street and when it was seen that none of them could be saved from the fire willing hands were turned to the north side of that thoroughfare in the hope that by keeping the flames from the store building owned and occupied by Messrs. J. M. Davis & Son as a hardware establishment the greater portion of the business and resident part of the town could be saved. Here the fight centered and for half an hour through smoke and flame, with arms and faces blistered from the intense heat, fighting against almost a forlorn hope, with increasing tension to the nerves but with no flagging or waning backward, men and women, boys and girls, gave willing assistance and after the front of the Davis store had been burned through in a number of places with broken glass falling and cinders hurtling through the air, men of bravery and with that determination of purpose which has always denoted the citizens of Oakland, the victory was won and thousands of dollars' worth of valuable property, and probably valuable lives, were saved.

Shortly after the fire broke out Mayor Janssen telegraphed to Mayor Kern, of Cumberland, for assistance, and as soon as possible twenty-five men, along with the engine and hose reel of the Pioneer Company were placed on board a flat car to which a passenger coach was attached. The train from Cumberland was in charge of Mr. T. R. Williams, train master; Conductor D. Maloney, Engineer C. R. Boyles and Fireman C. E. Wilmoth. The train left Cumberland at 6:05 and arrived in Oakland at 7:30, making the run of 34 miles in the remarkably short time of 1 hour and 25 minutes. At Piedmont the fire company of that place joined the Cumberland company with a hose and reel and rendered valuable assistance while in town. The Pioneers were in charge of W. R. Johnson, chief, assisted by J. R. Madore, with Charles Ferguson as engineer. Upon the arrival of the company here the engine and reel were unloaded from the car, a line of hose laid from the Little Yough in the rear of the Glades hotel to the scene of the conflagration and for two or three hours a constant stream was kept pouring into the smoking embers and charred remains of the buildings consumed, the train with the company having arrived too late to be of assistance in saving the burned buildings. They were none the less heartily greeted by our citizens and royally entertained during their stay here. They returned to Cumberland late in the afternoon. Among the members of the Pioneer company was "Dody" Combs, son of Mr. John S. Combs, formerly editor of the Mountain Democrat.

The losses and insurance were as follows:

J. J. Reynolds, building, stock and fixtures, $2,500; no insurance.
D. E. Offutt's store building, Second and Railroad streets, $5,000; insurance $4,000. Also another building fronting on Railroad street, $3,000;

no insurance.

D. E. Offutt and Sons' mercantile stock, $23,000; insurance $10,000.

Democrat building, $1,500; insurance $1,300.

Democrat office, machinery, type and books, $3,500; no insurance.

Cornell & Crane, millinery goods $1,500; insurance $1,000.

D. Durst, shoe shop, $100; no insurance.

Senator Ravenscroft's building, occupied by Harned's drug store, $2,500; no insurance.

Joe E. Harned, drug store and residence in Ravenscroft building, $4,500; insurance $3,500.

Malette building, $3,000; no insurance.

John Feltz, jr., dry goods and groceries, $4,000; insurance, $1,000.

Cohen's tailoring establishment; no loss.

H. C. Smouse, jeweler; no loss.
J. Forward, confectionery and dwelling, $150; no insurance.

Two-story addition to Garrett County Bank, $400; no insurance.

Besides the above Messrs. J. M. Davis & Son sustained a loss of about $400 to goods and buildings.

The Central Hotel, owned by Mr. Samuel E. Boyer, was damaged to the extent of $150.

THE REPUBLICAN building will have to be repainted and a number of glass replaced, which will cause a loss of $150 or more.

In the three it was of damage named above the insurance is ample to make the necessary repairs.

The Garrett County Bank building proper, which was attached to the frame building in its rear, suffered damages to the extent of probably $100, with no insurance.

The fire protection afforded Oakland consists mainly of a chemical engine manned by as brave a set of young men as ever held a nozzle, as the work of Tuesday morning will show. They deserve and have received the hearty commendations of everyone who witnessed their work. But none the less brave and hard working were men composing the bucket brigade. Not a moment was lost; not a movement was made but what was worthy the planning of a general on a battle field and they worked in harmony as though they had been drilled for months for just such an emergency. It was due greatly to the exertions of the bucket brigade that the Davis building was saved, as at the most dangerous time during the progress of the fire the chemical engine ran dry and was being refilled.

The losses by the fire have been receiving the sympathetic words of all who have become acquainted with their losses. Mr. Littinger, the proprietor of the Mountain Democrat, in the loss of his plant, has sustained a monetary loss aggregating $3,000, which includes his books, papers, machinery, building, etc., not taking into consideration the loss in business. Elsewhere in these columns Mr. Littinger makes an appeal to his friends and patrons, fully setting forth his losses and his future plans.

The buildings burned were in close proximity to the railroad, a boardwalk separating them. Three telegraph poles were burned down, cutting off telegraphic communication with points both east and west for more than an hour. The ends of the cross-ties were burned badly and the fire was so close to the tracks that it was deemed unsafe to run trains, thus delaying all traffic for three or four hours.

The Central Hotel, owned by Mr. Samuel E. Boyer, was saved by the large trees growing in front of it, the foliage keeping the heat from striking it and setting it on fire.

By reason of the fire the business complexion of Oakland has been changed somewhat. Messrs. D. E. Offutt & Sons, having purchased the stock of goods belonging to Mr. Geo. O. Malette in THE REPUBLICAN building, who are now engaged in making an inventory preparatory to transferring the business to its new owners, who will immediately take charge and transfer the goods saved from the fire to the new quarters.

Mr. John Feltz, jr., has purchased the stock of groceries owned by J. H. Carroll in the Feltz building, who are also making an inventory and when finished the remaining stock saved from the fire belonging to Mr. Feltz will be moved into the building and the business resumed.

Mr. Morris Cohen has moved his goods and fixtures to a room over Nelson's meat market on Alder street and is almost ready to resume business.

Mr. H. C. Smouse, jeweler, is installed in a room in the Central Hotel building.

Mr. J. J. Reynolds is preparing to erect a new building, on the site of the one destroyed.

Mr. Joseph E. Harned has removed his saved stock to rooms in Dr. Henry W. McComas building adjoining THE REPUBLICAN building and will in a few days be prepared to accommodate his trade.

Mr. James M. Littinger, of the Mountain Democrat, will be found occupying quarters in THE REPUBLICAN office where he will issue his paper until new material and machinery can reach him from the manufacturers.

Mr. J. Forward has removed his family and household effects to the Lutheran parsonage which he will in the future occupy.

Mr. William A. Daily has secured a room in the opera house.

Cornell & Crane have moved their remaining stock to the store room in THE REPUBLICAN building now occupied by Messrs. D. E. Offutt & Sons.

Mr. W. H. Malette, whose household effects were in his burned building, but who was living at Pittsburg with his family, lost none of them, they having been removed to Mrs. Russell's home on Water street.

The reports sent to the Baltimore Herald concerning the origin of the fire making the direct charge that it was of incendiary origin has no foundation in fact and was nothing more nor less than the silly vapors of a hair-brained reporter who desired to stir up at the expense of the property owners. Such reports have a tendency to run up insurance rates and a reporter who sends such communications to his paper should be speedily called down by a righteously indignant public.

A Card to the Public.

By Tuesday morning's fire the Mountain Democrat office, with its entire contents, was completely destroyed—building, presses, type, books and all.

We have already opened negotiations for a new plant, which we hope to have in operation in the course of a couple of weeks. In the meantime, through the extreme kindness of Mr. B. H. Smeed, editor of THE REPUBLICAN, we have secured temporary quarters at THE REPUBLICAN office, where we shall be glad to see all our friends and patrons.

The Democrat will be issued next week as usual from its temporary quarters and we are sure our patrons will excuse the entire omission of this week's number.

All the books of the Democrat office having been destroyed in the fire, and loss on the plant having been heavy, those of our patrons knowing themselves to be indebted to us are urgently requested to come forward and settle what they think or know they owe us, so as to make the heavy burden we are called upon to bear as light as possible, and we trust no one with the least spark of humanity in his breast will ignore this appeal.

Expecting to greet its numerous and esteemed readers next week, risen phoenix like from its ashes, the Mountain Democrat remains,

Respectfully,
J. M. LITTINGER, Editor.

SPEAKS TO GRANTSVILLE ROTARY - Kelly Friend, a senior at Northern High School, was the guest speaker at last week's meeting of the Grantsville Rotary Club. Miss Kelly was the club's representative to the annual World Affairs Institute, held last fall in Pittsburgh. The Institute, which is a community service project of Rotary and the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh, was attended by over 300 student delegates primarily from Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio. Held at the David L. Lawrence Convention Center, the theme of the Institute was "East Asia Unleashed: Challenges for the U.S." Miss Friend was accompanied by Tatum Shomo, a senior at Southern High School and representative of the Oakland Rotary Club. Both were transported to the Institute by Carl Rebele, Deep Creek Lake. Miss Friend, daughter of James and Esther Friend, spoke of her experiences at the Institute and noted her appreciation for the club's sponsorship. She is pictured above with her mother, Esther, and below with her mother and Ken Durst, vice president of the Grantsville Rotary Club. GCC Offering New Outdoor Activity Classes

Two new courses designed to serve the needs and interests of area residents who enjoy engaging in seasonal outdoor activities are being offered in the late spring semester scheduled to begin at Garrett Community College the week of March 21. These courses will meet for 12 weeks, ending the week of June 6, according to a college spokesperson.

Vegetable and Flower Production (AGM 291) will be taught by Willie Lantz, instructor of agricultural management, on Monday evenings from 6:30 to 8:40 p.m. For persons who want to have their own home gardens, this course will cover the fundamentals of crop production for home consumption and commercial sales, including soils, fertilization, insect and disease control, varieties and marketing. Growing flowers for landscape will also be covered.

Field Ornithology and Natural History: Identification of Resident and Migrant Birds (BIO 296) will be taught by Kevin Dodge, assistant professor of wildlife and biology, on Tuesday evenings from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. and some Saturday mornings. Persons who enjoy bird watching further will learn to identify birds by sight and voice through classroom lectures with slides, tapes and actual field experience as conditions allow. On Dean's List At St. Mary's

The dean's list for the fall semester of 1993 at St. Mary's College of Maryland has been announced by Dr. Melvin Endy Jr., Provost of the College.

Three hundred forty-five students, including four from Garrett County, were named to the list, representing 26 percent of the College's 1,315 full-time students.

Local students on the list are: Erin M. Sines, freshman, Friendsville; Susannah G. Mathews, freshman, McHenry; and David J. Eiswert, senior, and Amber W. Johnson, sophomore, both of Oakland.

Students named to the dean's list must earn a semester grade point average of 3.50 or better on 12 or more regularly graded credits. A student posting straight "A" grades earns a 4.0 GPA. Those students on internships or student teaching for the semester are not eligible for the dean's list because they are graded on a credit/no credit basis.

Farm Bureau Urges Passage Of Balanced Budget Amendment

Farm Bureau reiterated its strong support for a balanced budget amendment to the U.S. Constitution in testimony last week before the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on the Constitution.

William Sprague, a grain and livestock farmer from Sturgis, Ky., testified on behalf of the American Farm Bureau Federation. He serves as president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

Sen. Paul Simon (D-Ill.) held a series of hearings on the legislation (S.J. Res. 41) to require a balanced budget amendment. The chief sponsor of the amendment, Simon chairs the Judiciary subcommittee. Simon said he called the hearings to "offer some balance" to separate hearings held by Sen. Robert Byrd (D-W.V.). Byrd, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, is opposed to the balanced budget amendment.

Farm Bureau has endorsed S.J. Res. 41, which provides the parameters for Congress to rein in all federal spending.

"Farm Bureau members are concerned that unless discipline is restored to federal spending and taxation, an insurmountable burden will be placed on future generations," Sprague said. "This is why Farm Bureau has worked hard for the past 15 years to enact a constitutional amendment to balance the budget."

"Agriculture in particular has carried a disproportionately large share in the deficit reduction effort for the last several years and will continue to do so until a permanent provision that encourages fiscal restraint is put into place," the farm leader testified. He said Farm Bureau believes that until all entitlement spending laws are changed, federal spending will remain out of control, and appropriated funding -- much of it in agriculture -- will continue to bear the brunt of deficit reduction.

"This amendment can make a difference in the economic health of our country. Its provisions are sound," Sprague said. "As a farmer, I have to balance my own budget and pay back whatever money I borrow. The federal government should do no less."

Under the proposed amendment Congress could not spend more than it takes in unless three-fifths of the members in each house vote to do so. The debt limit also could not be increased without a three-fifths majority vote.

The balanced budget amendment must be approved by two-thirds of the House and Senate. It must then be ratified by 38 state legislatures.

Companion legislation (H.J. Res. 103) is sponsored by Reps. Charles Stenholm (D-Texas) and Bob Smith (R-Ore.).

Stenholm said the amendment "would force Congress to tackle in earnest its chronic institutional deficit spending problem, by controlling the growth of mandatory spending. This approach would prevent Congress from balancing the budget on the backs of farmers."

Since 1982, federal interest payments on the debt have increased 61 percent and entitlement spending has increased 31 percent. In addition, non-defense discretionary spending has increased 17 percent since then.

At the same time, more than $53 billion has been cut from production agriculture. Since 1982, the portion of agriculture spending derived from mandatory funds has decreased 36 percent.

"The continued resistance to reforming the growing mandatory spending programs in favor of new budget agreements that attempt to reduce the deficit out of only discretionary spending leaves agriculture more vulnerable," Stenholm said. "Until the deficit-reduction burden is spread to include non-discretionary spending, agriculture will remain a primary target."

Agriculture Still Maryland's Number One Industry

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker has announced that recent reports from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Economic Research Service confirm the importance of agriculture to Maryland's economy.

"In our highly urbanized state, agriculture is still Maryland's number one industry. According to USDA, farm and related industries in Maryland still employ some 12.7 percent of the work force or 336,347 jobs," Walker said.

Agriculture, along with agriculture dependent businesses, generates more than $11 billion in annual revenues. There are approximately 15,000 farms in Maryland on about 2.5 million acres. This accounts for 40 percent of the state's arable land.

"Every measure we have continues to show that a healthy agriculture is important both to our state's economy and quality of life. The strength of agriculture in Maryland is a tribute to our farmers who toil daily to provide us with a bounty of unparalleled diversity and quality," said Walker.

Maryland's leading agricultural commodities in terms of cash receipts are broilers, greenhouse and nursery items, dairy products, soybeans and corn.

Feed Grain Program For '94 Announced

The 1994 Feed Grain Program sign-up will begin on March 1 and end on April 29.

There are no set-aside acres required for any crop for 1994. Producers can request an advance payment based on 40 percent of the estimated deficiency rate.

The final provisions and rates will be announced at a later date.

MDA Invites Public To Open House

On Saturday, March 19, the Maryland Department of Agriculture will be holding its 7th Annual Open House from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at its headquarters building on 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis.

The day will begin at 9 a.m. with a "Maryland With Pride" Four Mile Run.

More than 300 runners are expected to compete in the race, co-sponsored by the Annapolis Striders. In addition, this year there will be a kids' Fun Run.

At 10 a.m., Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker will kick-off the Open House by unveiling a sign dedicating the headquarters to former Secretary Wayne A. Cawley, Jr.

"Our open house has grown each year and this time we are planning our best party ever. We invite the entire family. Admission is free and there will be plenty of free parking," Walker said.

Throughout the day there will be live entertainment, tasting of Maryland food, as well as farm and craft demonstrations. The laboratories will be open so that visitors can learn firsthand about the department's consumer and research programs. In addition, there will be a petting zoo, face painting, music and food.

For more information on the Maryland Department of Agriculture Open House on March 19, those interested may call (410) 841-5770.

Youth Dairy Group Being Organized

All area youth with an interest in dairy are invited to a get-acquainted meeting to explore the possibility of forming a Youth Dairy Group. The meeting will be held Monday, March 7, at 7:30 p.m., room 306, Continuing Education Building of Garrett Community College, McHenry.

The initial plan for the Youth Dairy Group is to provide educational experiences and activities related to the dairy industry. These could range from selection and care of animals, animal health, fitting and showing, or using dairy products. A youth need not own an animal to participate. During the coming months youth may want to participate in county, district and state events like Dairy Bowl, shows and fairs or Judging Contests. As a fun introductory activity youth will be invited to test their knowledge by participating in a Dairy Quiz Bowl scheduled for the first meeting.

Several adults have offered to work with the youth as resource persons, these include: Robbie Anderson, Agway feed sales specialist; Dr. Ron Kling, veterinarian; and Robert and Alice Bender, dairy farmers. The organization of the group is being coordinated by the Cooperative Extension Service 4-H Program.

Parents and other adults are invited to the meeting. For additional information contact the Extension Office, 202 S. Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550 or call 334-1990.

FDA Says BST Labels Can't Be "Misleading"

Guidelines on the voluntary labeling of milk and milk products from recombinant BST-treated cows were issued last week by the Food and Drug Administration.

The commercial sale of the genetically engineered growth hormone for dairy cows began on Feb. 3. FDA is seeking to prevent false or misleading claims regarding the product.

The new guidelines draw heavily on the FDA conclusion that milk from treated cows is safe for human consumption and that there is no significant difference between milk from treated cows and milk from untreated cows.

FDA had previously concluded that based on these facts, which were reaffirmed by the American Medical Association and the American Dietetic Association, it had no authority to require special labeling. After pressure from critics of the hormone, however, the agency said it would permit voluntary labeling but that labels must be "truthful" and "not misleading."

All milk contains natural BST, so a "BST-free" label would not be allowed.

FDA said neither the presence of nor the absence of information on a label is a determinant of a misleading label, so additional wording may be needed to prevent a label from being misleading. A label stating, "From cows not treated with BST," for example, should be accompanied by the statement, "No significant difference has been shown between milk derived from BST-treated and non BST-treated cows."

The agency recommends that states require maintenance of records and consider third-party certification programs to substantiate labeling claims.

The guidelines will be published in the Federal Register and will be subject to a 30-day comment period.

While the American Farm Bureau Federation took no position on the approval of the product, it strongly supported the science-based decision-making process employed by FDA.

In a letter to FDA Commissioner David Kessler, AFBF President Dean Kleckner said FDA's reli-

Century Farm Program Established

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced the creation of a Maryland Century Farm program to recognize Maryland farms that have stayed in the same family for a century or more.

"Our century farm families need to be recognized. They represent a durability and love of the land that is the heritage of Maryland," said Governor Schaefer. "Agriculture continues as Maryland's leading industry because of the hard work, dedication and innovation of our long time farm families."

The Maryland Century Farm Program will honor families whose farms have been in the same family for more than 100 consecutive years, contain at least ten of the original acres and gross more than $2,500 annually from the sale of farm products.

"I urge all those who think they may qualify to fill out an application. Century families will participate in an annual awards ceremony and receive a certificate from the Department of Agriculture and recognition by the governor," said Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker.

Applications may be obtained from the Maryland Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401.

GSC District Board To Hold Meetings

"Leadership For America" Theme For National FFA Week

More than 417,000 FFA members will promote FFA, agricultural education and the food and fiber industry during National FFA Week, which is being held February 19 through February 26.

FFA members in 7,545 chapters across the U.S. as well as Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands will be organizing events and activities to foster awareness of agricultural education and support for FFA. This year's theme, "FFA: Leadership for America," will be seen through communities nationwide through promotional efforts of local members. FFA activities and agriculture classes emphasize leadership skills, analytical thinking and the application of both to the industry of agriculture.

Larry Case, national FFA advisor, said that today's young people are aware of their responsibilities as agricultural leaders for tomorrow. "Our members realize the world in which we live is growing larger and more interdependent," he said. "These young people will be leading the effort to provide food and fiber for a growing population, as well as to keep America competitive in the global marketplace."

National FFA Week is held each year during the week of George Washington's birthday to recognize his leadership and commitment to American agriculture. Both the National FFA Center and National FFA Hall of Achievement are located on part of Washington's original Mount Vernon estate near Alexandria, Va.

FFA is a national organization of 417,462 members preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business and technology of agriculture. FFA's mission is to make a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success. Local, state and national activities and award programs provide opportunities for students to apply knowledge and skills acquired through agricultural education.

Mushroom Growing Kits Available From Local Conservation District

To help raise funds for natural resource conservation work, the Garrett Soil Conservation District is offering mushroom-growing kits for sale to anyone who wants to improve the local environment and to provide a fresh supply of mushrooms for the table.

Shiitake, hericium, somoma brown, blue oyster and golden oyster mushroom kits are ready for delivery, with prices from $12.95 to $15.95 per kit plus shipping expenses. The easy-to-use kits are produced by Gourmet Mushrooms, Inc., a recognized leader in innovative mushroom cultivation. They have developed The Mushroom Pot, which lets you grow mushrooms indoors easily and occupies only a 6"x6" space. It requires no more care or knowledge than a common tropical plant and it comes with complete instructions.

The Garrett Soil Conservation District will also be offering more mushroom kits for spring and summer delivery at a price of $23.95 plus shipping. These mushrooms are meant to be grown outdoors, and an area as small as 4 to 6 square feet can produce up to 10 pounds of morels in the second year.

The district's fund-raiser

By calling this same number, you may request a detailed order form and either mail or fax your order per the specified instructions. All mushrooms are guaranteed to grow.

Proceeds from the sale of the mushroom kits and the tree and shrub packets will help fund conservation education activities carried out by the local conservation district.

District Offers Tree Packets To Community

As a service to the community, the Garrett Soil Conservation District is offering an assortment of tree and shrub packets for sale to urban and rural landowners. Purchase of the packets not only helps local citizens do their part to beautify the community and help conserve soil and water resources, but it also helps fund conservation education activities carried out by the local soil and water conservation district.

The plant varieties offered in the packets are selected for their popularity and hardiness in the region where they will be sold, and the packets come in several sizes. The basic packets offered -- called Hlabipaks are Homeowner Hlabipaks, Wildlife Hlabipaks, Flowering Shrub Hlabipaks, and Evergreen Hlabipaks. The plants are shipped directly to the buyer at the appropriate time for planting and come with a one-year guarantee that any plant which fails to grow will be replaced.

"Planting trees and shrubs is a project that is healthy for both you and the community," said George Bishoff, district chairman. Bishoff noted that an increase in environmental awareness among Americans is a positive sign that many people are taking responsibility for the stewardship of the nation's natural resources. The local district is one of nearly 3,000 conservation districts nationwide that works with the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) to make sure the nation's natural resources programs meet local needs. NACD, in cooperation with the nursery industry, sponsors the tree sale program.

For Hlabipak prices, contact the Garrett Soil Conservation District, Courthouse, Room 208, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, MD 21550, 301/334-1900.

New Use For Soybeans Explored

There's an old saying: "You can't get a silk purse from a sow's ear." A chemist on Maryland's Eastern Shore, however, is convinced he can get nylon from soybeans.

Dr. Fred Kundell, the chemistry department chairman at Salisbury State University, says he's been bombarding edible soybean oil with oxygen molecules -- a process called "catalytic oxidation" -- in an effort to produce "nonanedioic acid," a basic component of some types of nylon.

For much of 1993, Kundell and senior undergraduate student Keith Helinsky have been running some basic tests which indicated to them that the reaction would work. Now they're testing which temperatures and pressures produce the best results.

A $3,000 grant of checkoff funds from the Maryland Soybean Board is helping Kundell continue his work. Other support for his research -- in the form of equipment and supplies -- has come from Perdue Farms Inc.'s local soybean oil refinery and DuPont, he says. While he's grateful to them for their support, he needed cash to continue his work.

"We were literally running out of money," he says, "so we're very grateful for the checkoff funds. This is not a terribly expensive project, but the money was needed for chemicals and analyses."

His project will be re-evaluated by the Soybean Board by February to determine if his progress merits further funding. "The key criteria for using soybean oil for the production of nylon is price," he says. "We have to make it competitive."

If Kundell's experiments are workable at industrial levels, the payoff could be realized by more than soybean growers.

Today, most commercial nylon is made from petroleum products. Soybean-based nylon, because it's made from a renewable resource, would be more environmentally sound, he explained.

The soybean-based nylon will have different properties from today's petroleum-based nylon as well, Kundell says. "For example, it will be more stain resistant and it will have a lower melting point - which may or may not be an advantage," Kundell points out. "It will also be more elastic. The different characteristics mean, under different situations, the new nylon may have different applications."

There's no way of telling how much this technology can increase demand for soybeans this early in the game, he notes. It's possible the bean-based polymer could be used along or blended with other polymers to make fabrics, carpets and other nylon-based commodities, he says.

Question: "What's Going To Happen To Milk Prices?"

The above question is the most often asked to me almost in any given year. Predicting what is going to happen in the milk market is risky because the variables that affect the price of milk keep changing. Through my nationwide computer Dairy-L hook-up I have found a source which seems to be reliable. This source is Dr. Bob Cropp, dairy marketing and policy specialist at the University of Wisconsin. As you are aware, our prices for the most part are controlled by Wisconsin and Minnesota (M-W). The following is the latest quote of information from Bob. "The considerable less milk being produced in Minnesota and Wisconsin is adding strength to farm milk prices. The January Minnesota-Wisconsin Price (M-W) declined just 10 cents from December to $12.41 per cwt. This is $1.52 per cwt. higher than last year. The major driver of the M-W is cheese prices. Although more than an adequate supply of cheese is available, the anticipation of a continued decline in milk production and in turn cheese production in Minnesota and Wisconsin, compared to last year, is holding up cheese prices. Cheese prices could hold and even increase for the immediate months ahead. This means that the M-W price could possibly decline some (10 cents or less per cwt.) in February, but

USDA Reorganization Bill Clears Ag Subcommittee

A bill to reorganize the Agriculture Department (H.R. 3171) cleared its first hurdle last week when it was approved by the House Agriculture Subcommittee on Department Operations and Nutrition.

A substitute amendment to H.R. 3171 proposed by subcommittee chairman Charles Stenholm (D-Texas) made several changes in the Clinton administration's original restructuring plan submitted by Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy last fall.

The bill to restructure USDA would create a new Farm Service Agency (FSA). The FSA would oversee farm programs, the conservation cost share and demonstration programs of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and the Farmers Home Administration, the agricultural credit programs of FmHA, and the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Committee members, on a 10-15 vote, turned down a Farm Bureau-backed amendment that also would have moved the Soil Conservation Service into FSA.

Delegates to the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting felt strongly that SCS should be incorporated into FSA. In a letter to Stenholm, Farm Bureau said this move would provide a direct line of authority over all farmer programs, eliminate the need for multiple agency involvement in numerous programs, and bring consistency that could not be achieved with separate agencies involved in farm commodity and conservation programs.

A spokesman said Farm

Bureau will continue the effort to place SCS in FSA when the legislation goes before the full Agriculture Committee, the next step in the process. It is unclear how soon that will happen.

The panel approved creation of a National Appeals Division, independent from the agencies administering the programs, to replace existing FmHA and ASCS appeals procedures.

Stenholm said the legislation "requires increased coordination and communication on conservation matters" affecting farmers and ranchers. It requires county and area committees to be elected by farmers.

The measure also requires personnel reductions of 7,500 staff years over five years, with twice as many headquarters positions eliminated as field staff positions. It allows USDA to offer incentive payments of up to $25,000 to employees who voluntarily separate from service for at least five years. It also requires field office consolidation to provide "one-stop shopping" and computer information sharing.

The bill calls for a new under-secretary for food, nutrition and consumer services to replace the assistant secretary for food and consumer services and for a new under-secretary for food safety. FSA would be supervised by a new under-secretary for farm and foreign agricultural services.

Stenholm said the substitute amendment, which he proposed after holding three hearings in Washington and nine field hearings, "reflects the six missions of the department spelled out by the secretary." He said "increasingly important functions such as nutrition, food safety and the environment" are elevated and put on an equal level with production agriculture.

When he submitted his reorganization plan, Espy emphasized that USDA's Washington headquarters be reorganized before changes were made in its field structure. Stenholm said the legislation "provides as much flexibility and secretarial discretion as possible."

"Too many times, we in Congress tie the hands of the secretary by trying to micro-manage the department from this committee," he said. "When we try to cross every 'i' and dot every 'i' in the legislative language, we create more problems than we solve. This amendment gives the secretary flexibility to do his job."

Since the turn of the century, the farm population has declined from 29.8 million to less than 5 million today.

then increase and remain well above year ago levels through at least April. If the new forage supplies this spring are excellent and summer weather is favorable for milk production, cheese prices and in turn the M-W price may not decline until June or July. If forage quality and weather are not favorable, cheese prices and the M-W could remain stronger perhaps into October or November. Regardless, it now appears that average milk prices for the entire year may be very close to the 1993 average of $11.80 per cwt. for the M-W price and $13.00 per cwt. for the all milk price."

COVER STORY

Romance runs rampant in 'North and South'

BY JEFF PLASS

When it comes to off-screen romance, few movies or mini-series can hold a candle to the "North and South" trilogy, based on books by John Jakes.

At least three marriages have come out of the epic Civil War saga whose long-awaited conclusion, "Heaven and Hell: North and South, Part III," comes to ABC this week, beginning Sunday, Feb. 27, and continuing on Monday, Feb. 28, and Wednesday, March 2.

Actor James Read, who reprises his role as George Hazard, met and married co-star (and on-screen wife, Constance) Wendy Kilbourne while filming the first "North and South." Read sheds some light on the somewhat unique situation.

"I think the fact that (the production process) was so long," he says, "gave us enough time to have the sort of initial ga-ga stage wear off. Even before you return home, you get a sense of what the other person is really like."

Lesley-Anne Down, who returns to her role as Madeline, the widow of Orry Main (Patrick Swayze), is another cast member who got bit by the nuptial bug while working on the film - marrying director of photography Don Fauntleroy. In addition, Jonathan Frakes ("Star Trek: The Next Generation") met and married his wife, Genie Francis, while working on "North and South."

"There were also a lot of the unsung heroes, the crew members, who got married and brought various attractive Southern ladies back to Los Angeles," Down says. "I think if you added up everybody (the number of couples) would come out nearer to 10."

With so many wedded couples interacting and intermingling in front of and behind the camera, some of the more romantic scenes had an added element of intrigue to them. Read, in particular, suffered some confusion while filming a love scene with Down.

"I was very nervous thinking about that aspect of our working together," Read says, "and I went to Lesley and she said 'Don't worry, darling. I'll tell you exactly what to do.' And she did ..."

"And that was fine until I realized that it was her husband standing behind the camera watching every second."

"There was this weird deja vu about the whole thing," Read continues, "because, in character, I'm making love with my best friend's wife. In reality, her husband's standing behind the camera. My wife is over off somewhere else and it's kind of the nature of the whole enterprise, I guess, that lent itself to 'Who am I?' and 'What am I doing?'"

Yes, the cast and crew of "Heaven and Hell" have gotten to know each other fairly well over the past decade.

"For me it's been like a marriage," Down explains. "We've all been together now for nearly 10 years. If you work at a marriage, it gets better and better and I think everybody really, really worked hard at 'North and South, Part III.'"

"And so in that respect, I happen to think that it's better than the other two, because we worked at it so very hard and we were very comfortable with each other."

Holbrook returns to 'Another World'

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Dear Candace: I would like to know if the new cook on "Another World" is portrayed by the same actress who played the part of Sharlene. The character was John Hudson's wife, and she died in an explosion. -Vi Doer, Ormond Beach, Fla.

Dear Reader: You have very good eyes. Anna Holbrook was Sharlene and now portrays Kate the cook.

Kate is actually another one of Sharlene's personalities, but she has not realized it yet. Remember when she was the trampy Sharly?

This third personality is much more in control than the other two and is a much calmer person.

The personality disorder is not the focus of the story right now, but it will be sometime soon. It will be interesting to see what happens with John and Kelsey's relationship when they discover that Sharlene, who was the love of John's life, is back.

Dear Candace: I would like to know if there is an address to write to "The Young and the Restless." -D.R., Bardonia, Ky.

Dear Reader: You may write to "The Young and the Restless," C/O CBS-TV, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

Dear Candace: Could you

Anna Holbrook

please tell me about the actress who portrays Blair Buchanan on "One Life to Live"? She looks familiar, and I wanted to know if she had been on any other television programs or movies. -R.P. in Ohio.

Dear Reader: You may remember Kentucky-born Kassie Wesley (Blair, "OLTL") from her stint as good girl Chelsea Reardon on "Guiding Light" from 1986 to 1991.

Wesley has also appeared on "Melrose Place," "Baywatch" and "Time Trax." She was in the feature film "Evil Dead II."

An avid golfer, Wesley serves as co-host for the syndicated television golf show "The Pro Shop."

Wesley and her husband, production designer Richard Hankins, recently returned to New York City. She also is pursuing a singing career.

Grammy show hasn't always had glamour

BY JOHN CROOK

With six nominations from his album "Ten Summoner's Tales," Sting leads a diverse pack of artists in this year's 36th annual "Grammy Awards" lineup. The ceremonies will be carried live by CBS from New York's Radio City Music Hall on Tuesday, March 1.

Garry Shandling ("The Larry Sanders Show") is host for the evening's program. Producing the telecast, as he has every televised Grammy ceremony since 1971, is Pierre Cossette.

The glamour and glitz that greets the Grammys these days is a far cry from the reception the producer got when he first pitched the idea, he recalls.

"In 1971, television people looked at rockers with their spiked heels and hair ... and earrings and painted faces, and they refused to deal with that," Cossette says. "This was before the real revolution started ... Before that they were still working on (shows with) Andy Williams and Perry Como. They were very leery."

He professes to love almost every moment of his Grammy chores, citing memories like the moment presenters Ella Fitzgerald and Mel Torme unexpectedly favored the audience with some impromptu jazz scat-singing. Of course, some of the moments, like one involving a lavish 1974 luncheon party, are less golden.

"Chasen's catered it, with champagne and caviar," he remembers. "At 12 o'clock, I went out to greet the limos. Then I went back in and - I was stunned. The entire crew, 100 guys, were sitting around drinking the champagne, eating the caviar, you know, and going, 'Man, this is the best (expletive deleted) company we've ever worked for!'"

Garry Shandling is the host of the 36th annual "Grammy Awards," the recording industry's most prestigious ceremony. The program airs Tuesday on CBS.

CABLE OVERVIEW

'Assault' misses target; many Saturday choices

BY SUZANNE GILL

Sam Waterston and Samuel L. Jackson star in the courtroom drama "Assault on West Point: The Court-Martial of Johnson Whittaker," debuting Sunday, Feb. 27, on Showtime. Whittaker, the first black West Point cadet, was beaten unconscious two months before his intended graduation then court-martialed on grounds that he must have attacked himself.

Besides portraying a thrilling chapter in history, the film features a supporting cast including Mason Adams, Al Freeman Jr., and John Glover as the military prosecutor. Yet "Assault" is less than the sum of its parts.

The fault is mainly with the script, by producer-director Harry Moses ("The Trial of Bernhard Goetz," "60 Minutes"). Respecting the social conventions of 1880, when the film is set, Moses' teleplay puts his characters' tongues in check, but he neglects to compensate for these economies with his direction. Glover, usually riveting, is stifled here. Playing the chief defense attorney, Waterston is a cardboard figure. As his gadfly, Jackson has the best-rounded and central role.

The fascinating courtroom scenes, which are the core of the piece, were extracted by Moses from the 120,000-page transcript of the five-month trial. They would be incredible if they were not true.

A familiar plot device surrounds the main story with a visit 40 years later from a sympathetic reporter. At the film's conclusion the old Whittaker shrugs off the actions of those who used him to advance their own causes (including both his defense attorneys) as well as those who robbed him of a diploma and military career, saying, "It takes all kinds." This one line deflates 94 minutes of drama.

The second annual ESPY sports awards ceremony, with host Dennis Miller, airs Monday, Feb. 28, on ESPN.

Ann-Margret stars as a Detroit woman who adopts a Romanian baby, in "Nobody's Children," a TV movie airing Thursday, March 3, on the USA Network.

Loretta Lynn is the featured guest on "The Statler Bros. Show," Saturday, March 5, on The Nashville Network.

One hour: 450 cats. Saturday afternoon: USA offers 60 minutes of "The Houston CFA Cat Show."

Also Saturday, "Jim Henson's The Secret Life of Toys" debuts on The Disney Channel. USA introduces two comedy series: "Weird Science" is aimed at a teen audience, while "Duckman," an animated underground comic, will appeal to an older crowd.

James Read, Lesley-Anne Down and Kyle Chandler (from left) star in "Heaven and Hell: North and South, Part III," airing on ABC Sunday, Monday and Wednesday.

IN FOCUS

Little Richard and Ianva Tucker are just two of the artists paired together in PBS' "Rhythm, Country & Blues," airing Wednesday, March 2 (check local listings).

The one-hour special is part of PBS' "In the Spotlight" series. It combines the talents of country music artists with their R&B counterparts.

Other notable pairings include Al Green and Lyle Lovett, Natalie Cole and Reba McEntire, and Sam Moore and Conway Twitty.

MOVIE MARQUEE

USA's 'Children' gives tragedy a human face

BY TED KUSIO

Tragedies such as the Holocaust are sometimes difficult to comprehend because of the scale; one death saddens, but millions of deaths overwhelm. Films such as "Schindler's List" and the USA Network's "Nobody's Children" help humanize tragedies by bringing them to a personal level. This helps people deal with these horrors while reaffirming the cries of "Never again!"

The fact-based "Nobody's Children," which premieres on USA Thursday, March 3, takes place after the fall of communism in Romania in 1990.

As a result of President Nicolae Ceausescu's desire for a large and strong country, and bans on contraception and abortion, orphanages became full of unwanted children.

When their plight is publicized, Carol Stevens (Ann-Margret), who in real life started the Help the Children of Romania Fund, travels to Romania with her husband to adopt a child. When bureaucracy meets with the Stevens' persistence, the tragedy takes on a more horrifying aspect.

Carol discovers Romania's "unsalvageable" children, physically deformed, mentally retarded and in some cases infected with the AIDS virus. Stevens' footage of actual visits to some of these places, where children were treated like animals, is incorporated into the film.

"Nobody's Children" succeeds because it gives this tragedy a human face: the face of an innocent child who is a victim of a cruel government. It also touches upon the idea that although communist rule resulted in a greater sense of order, it was an illusion, behind the scenes the rulers were committing unbelievable crimes to maintain the illusion.

As a film "Nobody's Children" is flawed: Some tender moments are lost due to poor editing, and trivial American desires are occasionally placed ahead of Romanian needs. But the heart of this film is strong, insuring that the plight of these children will never be forgotten.

Other films this week include ABC's "Heaven and Hell: North and South, Part III," airing on Sunday, Feb. 27, Monday, Feb. 28, and ending Wednesday, March 2. Showtime premieres "Assault on West Point: The Court-Martial of Johnson Whittaker" on Sunday. Fox presents "Rise & Walk: The Dennis Byrd Story" on Monday, while "One Woman's Courage" airs on NBC. And Bill Murray celebrates "Groundhog Day" again and again, starting Saturday, March 5, on HBO.

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: For 12 years I have hoped to read what is the name of the area that serves as the picturesque Cabot Cove in "Murder, She Wrote." Will you answer? -M.R., Honolulu, Hawaii.

A: It only seems like 12 years, M.R.: "Murder" begins its 11th season next fall. Most of the exteriors for Cabot Cove, Maine, actually are filmed in Mendocino, Calif. Jessica Fletcher's bike ride in the opening credits was shot on Main Street, and the outside of her home is Blair House. The shot of Jessica returning from a fishing trip and waving to someone was filmed at Fort Bragg, a town a few miles north of Mendocino.

Q: Where can I write to David Hasselhoff and the rest of the cast of "Baywatch"? Do they usually write back? -Seamus O'Reilly, El Cerrito, Calif.

A: Write Hasselhoff and the rest of the cast C/O All American Television, 875 Third Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. They have a good track record for answering letters.

Q: With the Sci-Fi Channel airing "Battlestar Galactica" reruns, I was wondering what R. Lee Ermey's (Pollack) has been doing since that show left the air. Also, how many episodes were filmed? -Kathy Reem, Stratford, Conn.

A: "Galactica" was Hatch's last TV series to date, following his work on "Streets of San Francisco" and a recurring role on "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman." His post-Apollo movies available on video include "Charlie Chan and the Curse of the Dragon Queen," "Prisoners of the Lost Universe," "Party Line," "Heated Vengeance," "Ghetto Blaster" and "Delta Force Commando."

Angela Lansbury

Q: He has no current projects that I was able to find. By my count there were 26 episodes of the original series, but some are being combined for syndication. Only the pilot is available on video.

Q: In the 1960s, I saw the last part of a movie - I didn't get the name of the picture or actors (no big-name stars). A killer took over a small roadside area consisting of a cafe, a gas station and a wrecking yard (I think), in what looked like Southern California or the Arizona desert. The killer humped off everyone he met, including a busload of tourists and two patrolmen, except for one girl. As he was chasing her, he fell into a hole; that was full of rattlesnakes. What was the title? -R. Sherman, Atascadero, Calif.

A: I haven't a clue, but it doesn't sound like a musical. If anyone else can verify the title, I'll print it here, as long as this doesn't turn into "Petticoat Junction Dog, Part II: The Nightmare Continues."

TIME OUT

The agony and the ecstasy of the ESPYs

BY JEFF PLASS

In the high-profile, big-money world of professional sports, some awards carry a little more weight than others. There's the Heisman trophy, the Cy Young award, the Wimbledon Cup and then there's the ESPYs.

Monday, Feb. 28, ESPN presents "The American Sports Awards, The ESPYs." Comic Dennis Miller serves as host for the extravaganza.

"If you see our promos, you see Evelyn Ashford," says ESPN Sportscenter anchor Robin Roberts, "who's won four gold medals, saying 'Hey, this is better than a gold medal.'"

"I think they're quite unique," Roberts says. "Some people might think 'Oh, no, another awards show,' but I know firsthand about the athletes. Last year, we had an athlete who was not nominated for a particular ESPY, and got wind of it and really pitched a fit."

He ended up winning the doggone award even," she continues, "but he was fired up. It's really important to the athletes because they look to us as the authority of sports."

Athletes are nominated in various categories that range from most outstanding to most outrageous sports plays. Viewers can phone in their choices via a 1-800 number. The proceeds from these calls benefit The V Foundation, which was established last year by ESPN and the late Jim Valvano to raise funds to further cancer research.

"It is kind of like the People's Choice Awards," Roberts says,

Robin Roberts

"because the viewer calls in and makes the choice, so they feel like they're a part of the awards ceremony."

This year's candidates to garner the dubious honor for the most outrageous sports play are Dallas Cowboys defensive lineman Leon Lett, whose last-minute blunder against the Miami Dolphins cost his team a Thanksgiving Day victory, former University of Michigan basketball star Chris Webber, who called one too many timeouts in the NCAA championship and Texas Rangers outfielder Jose Canseco, who let a potential fly-out bounce off his head and over the wall for a home run.

"Ouch, babe! Literally," Roberts exclaims. "Each are deserving in their own right, but that'll be funny, to see which one wins out of that."

But that's the beauty of it. We make fun of ourselves here at ESPN, so for the athletes, usually you see them hitting home runs and slamming stuff, it's only fair that we get to show those shining moments."

IN FOCUS

Peter Berg stars in a fact-based drama of courage and perseverance in "Rise & Walk: The Dennis Byrd Story" on Fox Monday, Feb. 28.

Told in flashback, the film traces Byrd's simple beginnings as the son of an ordained minister in Oklahoma, through his days of college football glory to his tragic accident as a member of the New York Jets.

The film then depicts the months of agonizing rehabilitation that led to his triumphant recovery over total paralysis.
